A Friend

Wishes to speak through the Register of the beneficial results he has received from a regular use of Ayer's Pills. He says: "I was feeling sick and tired and my stomach seemed all out of order. I tried a number of remedies, but none seemed to give me relief until I was induced to try the old reliable Ayer's Pills. I have taken only one box, but I feel like a new man. I think they are the most pleasant and easy to take of anything I ever used, being so finely sugar-coated that even a child will take them. I urge upon all who are of a laxative to try Ayer's Pills."—Boothbay (Me.), Register.

In Need

"Between the ages of five and fifteen, I was troubled with a kind of saltrheum, or eruption, chiefly confined to the legs, and especially to the bend of the knee above the calf. Here, running sores formed which would scab over, but would break immediately on moving the leg. My mother tried everything she could think of, but all was without avail. Although a child, I read in the papers about the beneficial effects of Ayer's Pills, and persuaded my mother to let me try them. With no great faith in the result, she procured and I began to use them, and soon noticed an improvement. Encouraged by this, I kept on till I took two boxes, when the sores disappeared and have never troubled me since."—H. Chipman, Real Estate Agent, Roanoke, Va.

"I suffered for years from stomach and kidney troubles, causing very severe pains in various parts of the body. None of the remedies I tried afforded me any relief until I began taking Ayer's Pills, and was cured."—Wm. Goddard, Notary Public, Five Lakes, Mich.

TAX REFORM DEPARTMENT.

INDIRECT TAXATION AND PAUPERISM.

By Prof. Richard T. Ely, of Chicago University, in Taxation in American States and Cities.

There is a connection between indirect taxation and pauperism which is worthy of notice. All direct taxation places a limit below which it will not go, usually varying in American states between one hundred and five hundred dollars; in other words property of a lower valuation is not taxed.

Indirect taxation does not discriminate between the last dollar of the poor widow and the dollar which is only one in an income of a million. It raises prices, reduces the value of income, and forces some who are already near the awful line of pauperism to cross it, and thus puts to death higher aspirations in a class of citizens and lowers the level of civilization. But the absurdity of the thing is seen in this, that when the tax has destroyed the value of a man as an industrial factor in the community, what is taken away is given back in alms.

Tax Wealth, Not Poverty.

(R. White in the American Bookbinder.)

To encourage and facilitate the acquisition of homes by those who now rent, all dwellings occupied by their owners, or those depending on such owners for support, should be exempt from taxes to the amount of one thousand dollars on its assessed value.

This would relieve from taxes those who live in humble homes on slender incomes, and would not affect appreciably those having liberal incomes and elaborate homes. It is assumed that dwellings are assessed at seventy per cent. of their value, admitting this to be true and if there are any exceptions, they are in favor of the more expensive homes.

At this ratio of taxation, homes valued at about three thousand dollars are now enjoying exemption from taxes the amount suggested in this communication, and the palatial homes of the wealthy are released from taxes many times over what is here asked, thus it is that the practice of undervaluation discriminates against the poor.

* * * * * * *

The deficit thus caused is largely met by increased burdens on the homes of the city, this is greviously unfair but the exemption here claimed would be equal, for it would exempt all homes alike.

It would give the owner of his home an advantage over the speculator and landlord, the amount of this exemption.

The homes of the common people are a matter of vital importance to the community and are as conducive to the substantial welfare of the country, as are the houses of the clergy and office holders who occupy homes provided for them free of taxes; therefore the poor man's home should not be taxed.

Government is a necessity and revenue must be provided sufficient to defray all necessary public expenses; taxes for this purpose should be levied in a manner to bear as lightly as possible on the productive enterprises of the people who give employment to labor, while taxes could and should be increased on that unproductive wealth held out of use for speculative purposes and thus force such property into use (vacant land.)

This subject should be brought before our legislators for their consideration and action, they could hardly do less than grant this exemption asked on behalf of the toiling masses who are the wealth producers of the country.

The industry of owning other peoples' homes may be pleasant and profitable for those engaged in it, but it contributes nothing to the wealth or happiness of the community.

The system of landlord and tenant is inseparable from civilization, but the opportunity for men to escape this humiliating condition of dependence on landlords should be increased by offering all tenants, on becoming owners of their homes, exemption from taxation at least one thousand dollars.

The remission of taxes, on the many small and inexpensive homes of our people, would necessarily increase the rates on the larger aggregations of wealth; this would be adjusting taxation on the lines of justice and equity.

The expedients resorted to, under the name and forms of taxation, are mostly of the character that seek to satisfy their wants on the lines that offer least resistance: therefore the poor, and because poor also helpless, property owner, falls an easy prey to those maudlin methods and pays a much higher tax rate than his well-to-do and powerful neighbors.

The taxing power of the government should be used for the same purpose as all its other functions, viz: for the greatest good to the greatest number.

Homes appraised at one thousand dollars have nothing but the plainest necessaries of life which are usually obtained by severe toil. These are ample reasons why the tax collector should never enter the poor man's door.

Just Taxation is Civilization's Foundation.

Next to efficient and stable government the question of taxation is of vital importance to all classes of the community, and the present loose and haphazard system, managed as it too often is by ignorant and grossly incompetent boards of assessors, is productive of a glaring injustice and a train of evils that entail serious injury to all, the laboring masses of the country particularly feeling the weight of the heavy hand of unfairness and unwarranted discrimination.—Star, Long Island City.

Only the Truthful Pay It.

The taxation of personal property is such an unjust, disappointing and uncertain source of revenue that it is regarded with more and more disfavor. It is easily evaded, and only the exceptionally scrupulous owner will disclose its possession to the assessor.—Press, Troy, Rensselaer County.

Double Taxation Condemned.

The scheme of taxing evidences of debt (which is done under the personal property tax law), is wrong and unjust, because it is in all cases a scheme of double taxation, and in not a few cases of more than double taxation. Every evidence of debt, of whatsoever kind or character, is an evidence that the holder has parted with property, and that the property, if it still exists at all, is in the hands of some one else. That property is itself subject to taxation wherever it may be found. If the evidence that some one has parted with it is taxed also, then the same identical property is necessarily taxed twice. If it has changed hands twice without an equivalent being tendered, it is taxed three times; and so on. For instance:

If Smith sells a horse to Jones for $100 and takes the latter's note for the sum the transaction does not make two horses of the one, nor does it create any value whatever in addition to that of the horse. If Jones in turn sells to Brown and takes his note the two transactions do not make three horses, or create one cent of value additional to that of the horse. When the horse is taxed in the hands of Brown all that property is taxed, just as it would have been if Smith had not sold the horse at all. To tax the horse and the two notes as worth $300 is to tax the same horse three times, because the two sales did not create one cent's worth of property of any kind. The law unjustly and ridiculously assumes that somehow the two sales have made two more horses or some equivalent values, and directs that three horses, or the values of three horses, be taxed.

Rich Men Avoid the Personal Tax-Gatherers.

The problem of tracing personal property is a vexed one in Duchess county, New York. In the village of Millbrook alone a score of residents represent an aggregate of $30,000,000 personal property, but nothing like that amount appears on the assessment rolls.

The assessors of the town of Red Hook placed the name of Johnston Livingston, a large land owner and of the oldest family in the county, on the assessment rolls as the possessor of $100,000 personal property. Mr. Livingston declares that he is not a resident of Red Hook, but of New York. He has procured a writ of certiorari, requiring the assessors to show cause why the assessment should not be stricken from the rolls. F. J. Allen, of the Astor house, New York, has secured a writ of certiorari to review an assessment of $6,000 on his clubhouse at East Mills.

Mr. Chamberlin Must Pay His Tax.

John F. Chamberlin, the well known Washington hotel man, does not feel that he is able to pay the $214.40 that he has been assessed in this city for personal taxes. His personal property, as shown by an affidavit handed up to Justice Andrews, of the supreme court, consists of clothing worth $300. Justice Andrews yesterday decided that the affidavit was insufficient, and directed that, unless Mr. Chamberlin paid the amount which the personal tax collector was striving to collect, he would have to go to Ludlow street jail for contempt of court.

THE idea of imposing solely upon real estate, is attacked by the advocates of what has been humorously called the collar-button system of taxation. This system has prevailed in various states, Pennsylvania among the number. It tries to tax every form of property, and has been called the collar-button system of taxation, because one of its most enthusiastic advocates insisted that he would tax everything down to a five-cent collar-button. The system is annoying, oppressive, unjust, expensive and unscientific. It involves inquisitorial visits to the house upon the part of the assessor; it results in perjury on the one hand by those who seek to escape taxation, and on the other unfair burdens upon honest men who give a truthful inventory of their possessions. When, at various times there has been a partial application of this system it has been shown to be absurb. In big and prosperous cities and towns where a tax on watches has prevailed, it had been discovered that there are only a few dozen watches carried by members of the community. Special taxes upon dogs result in the sudden shrinkage in the canine population, and so of all such special taxes upon personal property, the more you tax them the less you find to tax. The first requirement of a tax is that it should be just. The next that it shall be certain. No tax upon personal proptyer is either of these things.

Lands and houses can not be concealed, and are not easily undervalued. These considerations help to make them particularly suitable objects of taxation. The effect of imposing a tax solely upon real estate would be greatly to lessen the labor of assessment, and to make less people mad at the tax collector. The value of land and houses are easily ascertained, and if the assessor makes a mistake, such a mistake is easily corrected. Under a fair assessment much land that now lies vacant or is only half used, because it is held for speculative purposes, would bear a considerable share of the burden of taxation. This is a more important consideration than many may suppose, since most of the land about cities and towns and even villages is thus held out of use. It could not profitably be held in such fashion if it were subject to a fair assessment along with other land.

It is sometimes urged in behalf of farmers against real estate taxation, that farm lands in many parts of the country are really worthless; that when sold they bring little more than the value of their buildings, indeed, less than the value of the buildings, if these structures are at all costly. Well, the taxes must be assessed upon value, and if lands have no value, of course they will not be assessed. If it can be proved that farm lands of a region are actually without rental value, their owners will establish a good case for exemption from taxation upon the lands.

OPENING THE GATES.

The following in regard to opening the World's fair on the Sabbath day is taken from the Detroit Free Press:

The question of opening or closing the great fair on Sunday has been discussed extensively during the past year, and it was thought by some that when Congress passed the bill authorizing the coinage of five million half dollar souvenirs to aid the fair, with a provision that it be closed on Sunday, the question was settled, especially by those in favor of Sunday opening, to a greater extent than ever.

During the last session of Congress petitions were presented for and against the closing in great numbers, and it is reported on good authority that those in favor of closing have presented more names than the census of 1890 gave as the total population in several of the states, Michigan being one of them. And the latest report is that the little State of Rhode Island is in the list.

The petition for Sunday closing have been and are almost exclusively gotten up and circulated by Christian organizations, and it is passing strange that as they emanate from those who claim to be patterns of morality and truth, the latter should so belie their calling as to resort to such methods.

No one who is well versed in the Bible—if honest—will pretend that Sunday is "the Sabbath" according to that Book.

Constantine, Emperor of Rome, about A. D. 325 proclaimed Christianity the religion of the empire, and, probably in order to pacify the Pagan element, Sunday which was their holy day or Sabbath was made the Christian Sabbath instead of Saturday, as in the Bible.

Within the past few weeks those who are in favor of opening the fair on Sunday are renewing the agitation of that question, and are developing more strength and through the press and otherwise are more outspoken than before.

The board of directors of the fair recently voted in favor of Sunday opening with only one dissenting voice.

The Mayor and City Council of Chicago have also made a strong appeal in favor, and in that city there seems to be a prevailing sentiment in favor of Sunday opening.

It is said that consistency is a rare jewel, but it seems that those who are so anxious to have the fair closed on Sunday, on account of Sabbath desecration, are very inconsistent, for work on the buildings and grounds has been going on Sundays as well as other days since it commenceed, and never a word of expostulation to Congress, or disapproval from any source apparent to the public, from those who are so afraid that the sanctity of the Sabbath will be, or has been, desecrated by so doing. The moral sentiment of Christian people would certainly seem to be hurt as much by the manual labor and running of machinery in building those magnificent structures—the grandest the world ever saw—as they will be if the fair is open for people to pass in and out to view the exhibits from all parts of the civilized world.

A lady from Iowa who was in Chicago the next Sunday after the recent dedication, told me that laborers were at work and machinery running the same as on other days. And during the past season visitors have been charged twenty-five cents for admission to the grounds on Sunday and no protest from those who are so anxious to have the gates closed on Sunday after the 1st of May next. Why is it that those people were so anxious about Sunday mortality then and seem to care so little about it now? Our good people should be more consistent and give heed to reason and common sense.

A strong and growing sentiment is now manifest for the repeal of the Senate's amendment to the bill appropriating $2,500,000 for the fair, with the proviso that it be closed on Sunday.

At the time the bill was passed an election for a new Congress was near at hand, and many members probably feared what "Mother Grundy" would say in regard to their votes. Therefore a large number feared to put on record their true sentiments, and were either paired or absent. On the passage of the bill, 129 voted aye, 81 no, 52 were paired, and 68 absent, thus showing that 120, being thirty more than one-third of the whole number, dodged the question. Now election is over and perhaps members may be more willing to express their opinions on a bill to repeal the closing clause.

JUSTICE.

Grattan, November 30, 1892.

For Better Roads.

The bicycle blesses both the rider and the road. At least it is bound to benefit the latter and every person who walks or travels in any fashion over the roads. If the money spent for drink could be used for improvement of highways what a changed condition would result. The bicycle is one of the most charming inventions of the age. People who can hardly hope for a pair of wings in the next world actually fly in this. When all nature is listening so intently that not a leaf is stirred by the gentlest of zephers, the bicyclist mounts his wheel, stirs up the atmosphere and gets cool. The boy and girl who havn't got wheels are looking forward to the day when they will have them, and that day to most of them is bound to be realized.

Every wheelman at once begins to see the necessity of bettes roads. The farmer may squander his time his road taxes and not discover, when he draws his grain to market or takes his wife to church how he cheats himself by so doing; the love-sick swain holds his reins in one hand and uses the other to keep himself in the buggy, while his "best" struggles hard to sit upright, and he never thinks of using gravel on the roads; but the wheelman (of both masculine and feminine persuasion) have no poor, dumb brute to pull them through the mud, their minds are full of the charms of cycling and bad roads destroy the charm. Hence all bicyclists are in favor of orgauizing for better roads and we are glad to note that a movement is already on foot to secure better roads by establishing a road department in Washington as well as a comprehensive exhibit of road construction and maintenance at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. An opportunity can be had at our office by those interested to sign a petition to congress for the fulfillment of such plans.—Charlotte Tribune.

The New Celery Culture.

Much is being written about the enormous yields from small tracts by this method, and I propose to give it a thorough trial this season, that is, my elder son proposes to and asks me to assist him. Shortly stated, it is done in this way: Ground is made as rich as possible, thoroughly prepared and set to celery in straight rows six inches apart each way. Cultivate thoroughly with hand cultivator until plants get too large, and keep thoroughly soaked with water all the season through.

T. Greiner gives some hints regarding the method in American Gardening, which will be of use to intending growers:

Of course we have tried it. It is a success? Yes; perhaps not an unqualified one, but a success nevertheless. The amount of celery produced on a few square rods of land was simply incredible. We shall certainly plant more largely another season.

There are, however, some conditions without which the new method would be risky, and probably unsuccessful. The land, in the first place, must be made exceedingly rich. If we attempt to grow the same crop on one acre, that good celery growers have heretofore grown on five or six acres, we must concentrate the manure allowance of five of six acres upon one.

Next, celery needs a bountiful supply of water. An enormous amount of moisture is pumped up by the incomplete net-work of roots, and breathed into the air by August. We may pour water about celery plants until we think the whole ground must be soaked full, and yet the very next day soil and plants are again thirsting for more water.

The bulk of the celery crop is produced during the heated term. We would not advise the home-grower to plant early celery as closely as this new method requires unless he is willing to give water freely, nor any one to plant largely for market in this manner unless the land can be irrigated. Water, water—that seems to be the constant cry. Rain, to do much good, must come in torrents or in a long-protracted steady stream.

The late crop does not need so much irrigation. The plants are set at the beginning of the heated term, and make the most of their growth in September and October, when rains usually are more frequent, the atmosphere cooler and evaporation much slower. The new method certainly affords an easy and sure way of growing celery for winte use. The plants grow upright, needing no handling, and the final bleaching can be done in cellars or trenches.

With the proper facilities for applying water, however, the early crop will be the most profitable and satisfactory. We use White Plume altogether, although Golden Self-Bleaching is good, and may be most desirable in certain localities, where that variety has become a favorite in the markets. The only trouble with White Plume is that so many of the plants, reverting to the original type, lose their self-bleaching character, and even by close planting we cannot make ordinary varieties give us the desired snowy white stalks without additional manipulation. The true White Plume, even when planted six inches apart in rows one foot apart, will come out in good shape and moderately well bleached, provided it has been given manure and water enough to produce heavy growth.

Still Bright and Booming.

Many bright and useful publications come round to us annually and the sight of them is as refreshing and welcome as the faces of friends on New Year's Day. Friend's faces are kept in remembrance; good books for reference, inasmuch as they lead and teach us what is to be done in many painful straits. One such publication, always foremost, is before us, brimful of sound advice and the raciest bits of fun, original copyrighted, from the pens of such noted humorists as Bill Nye, Opie P. Read, Danbury-News-Man and others. It is a free gift of the season at the Druggists' counter, and will be sought for as the highly popular St. Jacobs Oil Family Almanac and Book of Health and Humor, 1893. The work differs somewhat from its former editions, but is none the less attractive and in many of its features is the superior of former numbers. One special feature is the "Offer of One Hundred Dollars," open to all contestants, the details of which a perusal of the book will more fully give. The almanac is sent forth by the Chas. A. Vogeler Co. Baltimore, Md., proprietors of some of the best known and most reliable medicinal preparations. A copy will be mailed to any address on receipt of a 2-cent stamp by the above firm.

The Botany Class is becoming very much interested in studying the growth of plants from seeds.

The pupils displayed their patriotism by appearing in school decorated with their National colors.

The Geometery class has completed the subject of plain Geometry and is now reviewing it perparetory to examination.

Harry McClure and Earnest Albaugh, of the class of '91, graced the A room with their presence Wednesday afternoon.

Democratic County Convention,

The Democrats of Lenawee county met in convention at Adrian, Wednesday, February 21st., with very near a full delegation.

The convention was called, at Dean's opera house, by county chairman, L. W. Hoch.

Joseph H. Smith, of Tecumseh, was made temporary chairman, and Ira Waterman, Secretary.

Committee on credentials was then appointed, composing the following gentlemen:

C. F. Burroughs, Clinton.
C. W. Selleck, Adrian.
F. L. Pierce, Hudson.

On permanent organization:

Dr. Catlin, Tecumseh.
H. C. Hall, Hudson.
Geo. S. Moore, Medina.

On resolutions:

W. S. Westerman, Adrian.
Dr. H. S. Wyman, Morenci.
C. E. Hutchins, Rollin.
C. E. Cheeny, Ogden.
Frank Sheeler, Cambridge.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The committee on credentials reported full delegations from all townships except Blissfield, Riga, Dover, Medina and Ridgeway.

The committee on organization submitted a report, which continued the temporary officers.

C. F. Field, of Tecumseh, was named by Alfred James, as candidate for county school commissioner; L. H. Salsbury and W. H. Wiggins supported the nomination, and as there was no other candidate, Walter Westerman moved that it be made made the choice of the convention by acclamation, which was done.

After which delegates were elected to the State Judicial Convention.

L. H. Salsbury asked that the convention instruct for Geo. H. Durand for supreme judge.

It did not want to, but before it so recorded itself he accepted an amendment which bound the delegates to vote as a unit for supreme judge in the state convention.

An attempt to instruct for Salsbury for circuit judge brought out the statement from him that he was not a candidate, and as the motion to adjourn had previously been made, the chair would not put the instructing resolution and an adjournment was taken.

Don't suffer with indigestion; use Baxter's Mandrake Bitters.

Republican County Convention.

The Convention met last Saturday at Adrian, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for county commissioner of schools and to elect delegates to the State and County Judicial conventions.

The convention was called to order by county chairman B. F. Graves, and Albert Deyo, of Seneca, chosen temporary chairman. Henry Pratt, of Fairfield, was chosen secretary.

A committee on credentials, composed of J. C. Winne, Adrian, R. H. Rogers, Medina, and Dan Staniger, Morenci, was then appointed.

A committee composd of Alfred Lewis, Medina, J. D. Shull, Tecumseh, and Nathan Shumway, Franklin, was then named upon permanent organization.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The report of the committee on credentials was presented, adopted, and then delegates to the State and Judicial conventions were elected.

The nomination of a candidate for county school commissioner was next in order. J. C. Winne, J. N. Sampson, Clark Swick, G. L. Acker and C. L. Mulrix were appointed tellers. 126 votes were cast on the first informal ballot, of which Bert E. Richardson received 66, Will E. Strobeck 43, and Edward Keeler 17. On motion the informal ballot was declared formal and Mr. Richardson was made the unanimous nominee of the convention. Mr. Richardson responded to the call for a speech and thanked the convention for the honor it had conferred upon him. The convention then adjourned.

Notice to the Electors of the Village of Tecumseh.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Robert Stretch is in town this week.

A little more of the beautiful. Tuesday for a change.

W. Wightman was in Adrian Monday on legal business.

Mrs. Geo. Everett is visiting Mrs. C. Burlingame in Coldwater.

Albert Clark, an Adrian attorney, was in town on legal business, last Thursday.

The Lake Shore will build a new depot about forty feet South of the old one.

Thirty-five tramps have slept on the city's feather(?)beds, so far this month.—Adrian Telegram.

Charles Hopkins, of Battle Creek, is looking after his Tecumseh acquaintances this week.

A large number of dry people in town yesterday, cause Washington's birthday saloons all closed.

Frank Allen, formerly of this place, has been promoted to position of train dispatcher of the C. J. & M. R'y.

The Physical Culture Class will meet at Arcanum hall, adjoining the Ladies' Library, Friday evening, February 24, at 8 p. m.

The world has gone on laughing more and more, the better that Marshal P. Wilder was known; go and hear him Friday eve., March 3rd.

Evening News: A Tecumseh dry goods man slyly tucks an 'ad' in the Adrian (10 miles distant) papers and declares $10,000 worth of Adrian trade each winter.

Albert Blood, who has been employed by Anderson & Co's for the past two years, left Monday morning for Toledo, where he has secured a position in Simson Bros' dry goods house.

Fred M. Griswold, of VanWert, Ohio, is visiting with his uncle, George Griswold, this place the first of the week. Mr. Griswold is a passenger conductor on the Ohio Division of the C. J. & M. railway.

Dignity finds the ground suddenly shot from under its feet, and melancholy is startled out of its self-possession, where the little jester has fairly opened his mouth. In short, Wilder is a humorist. Do not fail to hear him.

The Chalk-talk, given by a representative of the Detroit Evening Journal, at the Opera house, Tuesday evening, was attended by a good house, and he entertained his audience and also advertised the merits of The Hon. T. Palmer's news-paper to their satisfaction,

One of the worst storms that has visited this section this winter, arrived in force last Sunday morning, and after a days visit took its departure, but left gentle reminders behind, in the shape of impassable roads, blockaded paths and sidewalks. Taking the day, all in all, it was quite enjoyable to those who sat within a warm dwelling beside a pleasant fire, (coal at $7.00 a ton) and not without at the whirling snow.

We now have a prospect of cheaper coal since the great Reading coal combine, the greatest combination ever attempted by a centralization of Corporate interest. Now we are told that freights are cheaper, that coal will be cheaper. This is the surest sign yet that warm weather will be here in due season and that the diminished necessity for coal will be met by greater inducements to buy it.

Now is the time to renew.

Cloaks lower than ever at Anderson & Co's sale.

Pay for your HERALD at once and get a souvenir coin, while they are going.

Grover Cleveland will pay $4.75 a day for hotel accommodations in Washington.

Willis Finch left yesterday for Lansing to take a course in the Agricultural College.

One year's subscription to the HERALD and a World's Fair Souvenir coin for $2.00 spot cash. Now is the time to secure a coin.

The Cosmopolitan Magazine is clubbed with the HERALD for $3.00. which is the regular price of the magazine alone. A sample copy can be seen at this office.

The Hawkins House ran out of napkins to-day and used Columbian stamps. The guests objected, however, claiming that they didn't want table cloths on their laps.—Ann Arbor Times.

Now is the time when the gay and festive sleigh load hies itself to the homes of the friends at a distance. and after enjoying the hospitality of ye kind friend, return in the wee small hours, that is, if they are lucky enough to escape a tip up in the snow.

Good roads will increase the value of a farm, shorten the distance to market, save time, wagons, harness, horses. enlarge the territory which contributes to the home market, quicken social communication, and add to the wealth of the individual and the state.

This is the blacksmith's harvest. When the roads are so icy that a horse must be sharp shod to travel, the knight of the anvil has little time to play, for there is always a crowd to be waited upon which in numbers reminds one of a barber shop on Saturday night.

The papers in neighboring towns are sad because Hudson has 111 widows. There is no use to mourn, for it is not the fault of all of said widows that their conditions are not all changed. Wealthy, good looking and amiable men can lessen the number upon application.—Hudson Post.

Two lonely Adrian travelers met a a man on their way to Tecumseh, last night, who shouted as he passed them at a spanking speed. that he had a log on which scaled 1,200 feet. His team jogged along with the heavy load as though it was nothing but a cutter.—Adrian Times.

Unless the weather during the remainder of the winter gets more severe than it has been, fruit will not be injured by the frost. Peaches have been examined and found in a most healthy condition. The county has the prospect of producing one of the largest crops of fruit this year it has ever yielded.

The Editor has been confined to the house since Tuesday, and we must apologize for a lack of local news, as we were called upon suddenly to assist in getting out this week's edition of the Herald. We have used the Editor, (shears) very freely and the exchanges have suffered correspondingly, but we hope it will not occur again.

There has been introduced in the two houses of the State Legislature, this session, a total of 796 bills, and there has been but a very few measures passed excepting those repealing the Minor law, and Democratic measures passed by the last legislature; and they have been in session fifty-one days to-day. How is this for the short business session promised by Republican speakers last fall.

Five dauntless Hudson young ladies, the Misses Daisy, Hattie and Eva Wenzel, Lulu Ellsworth and Alice Crosby, drove to this city Thursday to spend the day with a girl friend. They left Adrian for home about 9 o'clock that night, and through the lack of a guiding masculine hand they came to grief and lost their way. From what can be learned it would seem they traversed a large portion of Lenawee and Hillsdale counties, as they were twelve hours on the road, and did not reach home until 9 o'clock the next morning. The girls' adventure highly pleases the malicious Hudson young men as they now believe they will be invited on future excursions taken by these easily misled maidens.—Adrian Times.

Clement Carpenter, of Toledo, and L. H. Salsbury, of this city, were counsel for the farmers who sought to gain possession of the abandoned section of the old Canada Southern track, from which the Lake Shore company has just removed the old rails, thereby giving up the right of way. This case has been in the courts about seven years. According to the contract between the farmers and their attorneys, if the suit should end in their favor, three-fourths of the property would go to the latter. Now the suit is ended, Mr. Carpenter claims to be a part owner of one of the queerest shaped farms in Michigan It is in all six miles long. For five and a half miles it is 100 feet wide, and the other half mile is 400 feet wide, and runs diagonally across some of the best farming land in the state.—Adrian Times.

Washington, if living, would be 161 years old yesterday.

The work of delivering the County atlas is nearly completed.

Raynor Anderson is so far recovered from his recent accident as to limp down town.

Mrs. Henry Jacobs is calling on friends in Tecumseh and Clinton for a few days.

The Post Office and Bank observed the birth-day of the Father of our Country, yesterday.

David Burger, of Elgin, Ill., was shaking hands with old acquaintances in town yesterday.

Chas. Montgomery has returned from Cleveland and will run the engine at the Tiffany Iron Works.

Soldiers state that the snow is six feet deep on the level at Fort Brady Hights, Sault Ste. Marie.

Country roads are so drifted with snow in some places, that teams are driven through the fields.

"Why did he call his new hotel the Columbus?" So he could use one of the new Columbian stamps for a sign.

Scove Walker went home last Saturday, and is likely that he may conclude to run the old farm this summer.

The next regular meeting of the order of Eastern Star will occur March 2d. The Worthy Matron desires the attendance of every member.

Dressmaking—Mrs. Frank Lamkins will do dressmaking, having located in Tecumseh, at the house of Mrs. Frost, one door eas of Theo. Crane's.

Will Ingersoll has been assisting, this week, during the unavoidable absence of the Editor, by sickness, in preparing the material for this week's issue.

Tha Ladies Social of the Universalist church will meet at the residence of Jas. Montague, Chicago street, Friday, Feb. 24th, afternoon and evening. All are invited.

The negro who was recently tortured and burned to death in Texas, was at one time a resident of Jackson, this state, and for a time sojourned at the Ionia House of Correction.

Miss Carlotta Gilman has an exquisite voice of great range and pleasing modulation. She is handsome and has an excellent stage prescence. Her solos were warmly received.—Chicago Tribune.

On account of the storm no meeting of the Tecumseh and Franklin Farmers' club was held Feb. 17. The next meeting will be held at the same place, Mr. Payne's, with the same program. We hope the weather will be more favorable.

E. S. Ferguson was to-day appointed under-sheriff by Sheriff Wilson. Mr. Wilson has make a ten strike in this choice. Under-Scriff Ferguson is a gentleman, a magnificent officer and will be an honor to the administration of his chief.—Adrian Times.

E. L. Teeple, the photographer, now runs a branch studio in Plymouth. Mr. Teeple is an artist in every particular, and the people of Plymouth are to be congratulated in being able to secure the benefit of his services. Teeple & Co., also carry on a picture framing business there.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Ide are in Detroit looking after the welfare of that young grandson, who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ide on Feb. 20 This also the date on which the grandfather made his first appearance. Edgar don't feel any older, and judging from the all-wool-yard-wide smile which illuminates his countenance, he don't look it.

Miss Ida Hewitt, of Cairo, W. Va., said to be the only female locomotive engineer in the world, has been engaged by the woman commissioners of the World's Fair to run the first train over the grounds on the opening day of the exhibition and will leave for Chicago about a week before the day appointed for the opening.

Tom Navin, Adrian's Ex-Kid-Mayor, is becoming one of Detroit's leading criminal lawyers. He is assisting in some of the great criminal cases on trial there. He has just secured the acquittal of "Buck" Muray, who was tried for the murder of Patrolman Shoemaker, and has just completed the defence of Edward Liddell, charged with the murder of Chas Salter, at the Hotel Cadillac, Nov. 7th, 1892, and who was convicted.

Washington's birthday was celebrated by the High School yesterday. The holiday which has heretofore been granted to the pupils on the 22d. was given them this year on on the 2d., of January. A number of visitors were present and a very entertaining program was presented. During the exercises a collection was taken up for the purpose of buying new music for the singing classes. The program was as follows:

Chorus—The Natal Morn.
Declamation—Washington, George Bond.
Reading Exercise—Washington's Early Life, Ninth Grade.
Chorus—God bless our Native Land.
Recitation—Mary Wagner.
Essay—Washington's Military Career, —Walter Burnett.
Essay—Washington's Civil Career—Willie Elliot.
Trio—Violin, Cornet, and Piano, Iva Elliot, Dr. Woodward, Edna Potter.
Recitation—Building of the Ship, Uena Stewart.
Recitation—The Sword of Washington, the Staff of Franklin. Andrew Kehoe.
Chorus—Freedom's Flag.
Address—Rev. J. P. Varner.
Chorus—America.

Gen. Russell A. Alger is an entertainer, and he has not forgotten the Michigan legislature, along with the newsboys, etc.

The Bank which has been operated at Grand Ledge, under the name of DePuy Bros. has been reorganized as a State Savings bank.

Wm. Kyle, a cigar maker, of this village, died suddenly last Sunday, of heart failure. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Edwin F. Kendall displayed wonderful powers as a pianist, playing compositions of his own with a great brilliancy and good execution.—London Daily Telegraph.

The fact that the new postoge stamps are backed with a mucilage that is a health producing article is not generally known. It is claimed by John Wanamaker that a constant use of these stamps will cure bronchitis, consumption, liver complaint, neuralgia, toothache, ingrowing toe nails, a swelled head after a night with the boys, and any and all cases of domestic troubles can be easily and quickly settled by a liberal use of these stamps. The demand is so great that it is feared that the stock for 1893 will prove insufficient and another grind will become necessary.—Exchange.

Commissioner Field is making preparations for an interesting program, to be given at the teachers, meeting, to be held in Tecumseh on Saturday, March 4th, 1893. Experienced teachers have promised to present papers on the following subjects, Geography, Number work, Kindergarten work, and Music and he assures us that other topics will be presented making this one of the most profitable educational meetings held in this part of the county. Let every teacher in this part of the county and all others interested in education endeavor to attend this meeting.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

MICHIGAN MATTERS.

WOLVERINE NEWS IN BRIEF BUT COMPREHENSIVE FORM.

Belknap, Republican, Receives a Certificate of Election to Congress From the Fifth District.—Young Woman Dies at a Gold Cure.—Scarlet Fever Epidemic.

Belknap Wins Again.

A short time ago the supreme court ordered the Ionia county canvassers to recount the vote cast for congressman in that county. The canvassers cast out the vote of the Second precinct of Lyons township on technical grounds, thus giving Richardson, Democrat, a plurality in the Fifth district. The friends of Belknap, Republican, protested against this action and petitioned the supreme court for a mandamus to compel the Ionia canvassers to make the returns exactly as the votes were cast. The mandamus was granted and as this gives Belknap a plurality of 19 votes in the district the state board issued him a certificate of election.

A Novel Suit for Damages.

Suit for $10,000 was commenced at Lansing by Alexander Jeffrey, of that city against the Detroit, Lansing & Northern Railway company, for injuries received on Christmas Day. Jeffrey was employed by the city to clean snow from the sidewalks. While crossing the company's tracks the nose of the plow struck the rail, hurling him to the ground against the plow, breaking several ribs and otherwise seriously injuring him. He is confined to his bed and his recovery is extremely doubtful.

A Faithless Husband.

A. W. Armstrong has again proved false to wife No. 1. Armstrong was arrested in St. Louis, Mo., charged by the Hammel Cigar company, of Ionia, with embezzlement. He was living with a women not his wife. His own wife sold property she owned and secured his release on bail. Armstrong borrowed some money from his wife and skipped. He has been located in Elgin, Ill., and is with the other woman.

Young Woman's Sad Death at a Gold Cure.

Mrs. G. Thomas, a patient at the Hillsdale gold cure institute recently established at Hilisdale is dead. She was the wife of a commercial traveler at North Adams. The remains were taken there immediatly after death. She had been addicted to the morphine and chloral habit four years and went to Hillsdale for treatment, but from the first her case was pronounced hopeless. She was only 26 years old.

Died While Smoking His Pipe.

While reclining on a couch, reading a newspaper and smoking his pipe, Patrick O'Connell, ex-sheriff of Dickinson county, died of heart disease. He was thus found by his wife, who returned from nursing a sick neighbor. Deceased was one of the best known residents of the upper peninsula, and stood high in the councils of the democracy. He was certain of being appointed postmaster of Iron Mountain.

Scarlet Fever Epidemic in the Normal.

Scarlet fever has broken out among the normal students at Ypsilanti and 20 cases have already been reported to the health officer. The disease appears in a mild form, but some alarm is felt by the normal authorities. Mr. Hyser and Mr. Bradley, the last to contract the disease, attended school as usual, thinking they had only slight colds.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Hood's Cures.

In saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, its proprietors make no idle or extravagant claim. Statements from thousands of reliable people of what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them conclusively prove the fact—Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

Reggy: I hear there is to be a dreadful row in society. Cnolly: Yes; Mrs. Montchesington is about to see Mrs. Montdeley for alienating the affections of her pet pug dog.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I grew gradually grew worse until they decided that they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends pursuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years. I am now sixty years old, but feel like a young as at thirty.

An obedience to the simple laws of hygiene and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will enable the most delicate man or sickly woman to pass in ease and safety from the icy atmosphere of February to the warm, moist days of April. It is the best of spring medicines.

Great Oaks

From little acorns grow, so also do fatal diseases spring from small beginnings. Never neglect symptoms of Kidner Troubles; if allowed to develop they cause much suffering and sometimes Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm is a certain cure for any disorder or weakness of the Kidneys. A trial will convince you of its great power.

Edw. C. Cook, 513 Adams Ave., Norriston, Pa., states, that he considers Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup the most effective remedy for coughs, colds, etc., he has yet found.

Many things which are advertised possess no value; but who would assert that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup possesses no merit? It is the standard remedy of our age.

PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

SENATE.—Forty-seventh day—The bill for the construction of the Nicaragua ship canal occupied the attention of the Senate. It provides that 3 per cent bonds of the company to an amount not exceeding $100,000,000 shall be guaranteed "principal and interest" by the government of the United States—these bonds to be issued according as money is actually paid out and expended by the company in the construction of the canal. The government is to own the capital stock of the company with the exception of $12,000,000 of it which is to be retained by the company and except the shares to be delivered to the governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The bill was laid over. A motion to call up a bill admitting four territories as states was voted down. Executive session. Adjourned. HOUSE.—The bill was passed authorizing the Union Railroad company to construct a bridge across the Monongahela river in Allegheny county, Pa. The District of Columbia committee occupied the remainder of the day.

SENATE.—Forty-eighth day—The sundry civil appropriation bill was considered and disposed of with the exception of the World's Fair and river and harbor improvements. The Nicaragua canal bill was the source of considerable discussion between Mr. Sherman, Mr. Teller and others. No action was taken. HOUSE.—The invalid pension bill and the pension appropriations occupied the entire day. No action.

SENATE.—Forty-ninth day.—The sundry civil appropriation bill was considered and all the amendments disposed of with the exception of river and harbor improvements. The President's message favoring the annexation of Hawaii was read in executive session. The diplomatic and consular and the military academy appropriation bills were reported and placed on the calendar. A resolution was agreed to for the reading of Washington's farewell address at the session of the 22d of February. Tribute was paid to the memory of the late Representative McDonald, of New Jersey, and the Senate adjourned. HOUSE.—The invalid pension appropriation bill occupied the day. Mr. Boutelle and Mr. Oates had a tilt over the attitude of the Democratic party on pension legislation. The general debate was finished and the bill read for amendments. The first offered was one transferring the pension bureau from the Interior to the War department. Points of order were raised and the bill went over without action.

SENATE.—Fiftieth day—The sundry civil appropriation bill was under consideration when Mr. Vest took occasion to score the present administration for the depleted condition of the treasury and also twitted Mr. Chandler for his energetic work to get half of the movement prohibiting immigration for fear of the cholera and then suddenly urging the annexation of Hawaii with 80,000 foreigners and 10,000 natives and leprosy firmly established there. Mr. Vest thought Mr. Chandler inconsistent, to say the least. The amendments reducing the appropriations for Bay Lake channel, St. Mary's river, Mich., from $500,000 to $225,000; for St. Mary's river, Mich., from $2,000,000 to $1,250,000, and the appropriation for the channel connecting the waters of the great lakes between Chicago, Duluth and Buffalo from $1,000,000 to $875,000 were agreed to; an amendment involving the continuance of the office of supervisor of elections brought on an acrimonious discussion which occupied the remainder of the day. HOUSE.—The pension appropriation bill was resumed in committee of the whole. Mr. Tarsney, during the discussion, accused Mr. Morse of attributing insulting language toward veterans to him (Mr. Tarsney). Mr. Morse denied the assertion and matters began to look warm when Mr. Turpin asked leave to speak. Upon leave being granted Mr. Turpin inquired if Mr. Tarsney was aware of the fact that there stood today upon the pension rolls an ex-soldier, a citizen of Indiana, who was drawing a pension of $19 a month for total deafness, who was receiving a salary of $1,800 a year and who was employed at the telephone. Mr. Waugh advanced to the arena in front of the speaker's desk and in a loud voice called for the name at the same time saying he did not believe the assertion. Mr. Turpin also started to the front and said the pensioner's name is "W. F. Davis." Mr. Waugh declared the assertion false. Excitement was at fever heat as the two men advanced toward each other and blows were about to be exchanged when several members rushed forward just in time to prevent a more disgraceful scene. The speaker rapped the members to comparative order and the House adjourned.

SENATE.—Fifty-first day.—The sundry civil appropriation bill occupied the day and no progress was made with it. HOUSE.—The pension appropriation bill was passed. The postoffice appropriation bill was under discussion when the House adjourned.

SENATE.—Fifty-second day—After a debate which lasted for six hours the Sherman amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, providing for issue of 3 per cent bonds, was passed—yeas, 30; nays, 16. In executive session the nomination of Judge Howell E. Jackson, as an associate justice of the U. S. supreme court, was confirmed. HOUSE—mendments to the postoffice appropriation bill were considered and the bill gave way, without being acted upon, to memorial services as a tribute to the memory of the late Representative Warwick, of Ohio.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, February 20.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says: There is a little easier feeling regarding the gold export and the treasury reserve, over $100,000,000 has not been diminished. Moreover, quite large purchases of securities on foreign account are reported, which would cancel heavy adverse merchandise balances, and to that extent prevent gold shipments. Speculative markets have been comparatively quiet in view of uncertainties and somewhat weaker, excepting that oil has risen 4½c and lard nearly ½c. Wheat is ⅛@⅛c lower, corn is 1¼c lower and cotton ⅛c lower, though the receipts continue small. Oats and coffee are each ⅛c lower. In stocks the market has been somewhat depressed by disappointment about bond issues. The fact that the imports for January, 1893, exceeded those for the same month in 1892 by over $17,000,000 will partially explain the outgo of gold. In February exports from New York will be little below last and meanwhile imports show an enormous increase, over 30 per cent. But those who dread disaster may well remember the rule that panic that is expected never comes. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days number 233. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 209.

THE HOME RULE BILL.

Ireland's Legislature to be a Council and Assembly.

Mr. Gladstone's home rule bill for Ireland has been read in full in the House of Commons. The seven schedules are here given:

Whereas, it is expedient that without impairing or restricting the supreme authority of Parliament an Irish Legislature be created for such purposes in Ireland as are in this act mentioned; be it therefore enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords spiritual and temporal and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows:

Part 1. On and after the appointed day there shall be established in Ireland a legislature consisting of her Majesty the Queen and two houses, a legislative council and a legislative assembly.

2. With the exceptions and subject to the restrictions in this act mentioned, there shall be granted to the Irish legislature power to make laws for the peace, order and good government of Ireland in respect to matters exclusively relating to Ireland or some part thereof.

3. The Irish Legislature shall not have the power to make laws in respect to the following matters or any of them:

The status or dignity of the Crown or the succession of the Crown or regency; the Lord-Lieutenant as Representative of the Crown; the making of peace or war; matters arising from a state of war; the naval or military forces, or the defense of the realm; treaties and other relations between the different parts of her Majesty's dominions, or offenses connected with such treaties; dignities or titles of honor; treason or treason-felony, alienage or naturalization; trade with any place out of Ireland; quarantine or navigation, except in respect to inland waters; local health or harbor regulations; beacons, lighthouses or seamarks, except so far as they can consistently with any general act of Parliament be constructed or maintained by local harbor authority; standard weights and measures; trade marks; merchandise marks; copyright of patent rights. Any law made in contravention to this section shall be void.

4. The powers of the Irish Legislature shall not extend to the making of any law respecting the establishment or endowment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, imposing any disability or conferring any privilege on account of religious belief or abrogating or prejudicially affecting the right to establish or maintain any place of denominational institution or charity, or prejudicially affecting the right of any child to attend a school receiving public money without attending the religious instruction at the school, or whereby any person may be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

5. The executive power of Ireland shall continue to be vested in the Queen. The Lord Lieutenant, on behalf of her Majesty, shall exercise any prerogatives other than the executive power of the Queen, which may be delegated to him by her Majesty, and shall in her Majesty's name, summon, prorogue and dissolve the Irish Legislature.

6. The Irish Legislative Council shall consist of forty-eight councilors. Each of the constituencies mentioned in the first schedule of this act shall return the number of councilors named opposite thereto in the schedule. Every man shall be entitled to be registered as an elector, and when registered to vote at the election of the councilor for a constituency, who owns or occupies land or a tenement in the constituency of the ratable value of more than £20, subject to like conditions as the man who is entitled at the passage of the act to be registered and to vote as a parliamentary elector with respect to ownership qualification; or provided that a man shall not be entitled to be registered nor if registered at the election of a councilor in more than one constituency in the same year. The term of office of every councilor shall be eight years. They shall not be affected by dissolution. Half the councilors shall retire every fourth year and their seats shall be filled by a new election.

7. The Irish Legislative Assembly shall consist of members returned by the existing parliamentary constituencies of Ireland of the existing divisions thereof and elected by parliamentary electors in those constituencies.

Princess Kailuna Coming.

The Princess Kailuna, heir presumptive to the Hawaiian throne, who is now in London, sends the following address to the American people: "Four years ago, at the request of Mr. Thurston, then Hawaiian cabinet minister, I was sent away to England to be educated privately and fitted for the position which, by the constitution of Hawaii, I was to inherit. For all these years I have patiently and in exile striven to fit myself for my return this year to my native country. I now am told that Mr. Thurston is in Washington asking you to take away my flag and my throne. Have I done anything wrong that this wrong should be done to me and my people? I am coming to Washington to plead for my throne, my nation and my flag. Will not the great American people hear me?"

ALL KANSAS IN ARMS

POPULISTS AND REPUBLICANS IN BATTLE ARRAY.

The Bone of Contention Is—Which Part Legally Controls the House of Representatives?—Thousands of Citizens in Arms Throng the Capital City.

At the last election the People's party in Kansas elected a governor and a majority of the state Senate. The Republicans claimed the election of 63 members of the House of Representatives—a majority of one—but the Populists declare that three of these were given certificates of election by mistake. The result was the organization of two distinct Houses—each claiming to be legal. This caused a constant conflict. It was agreed to leave the decision to the courts, but the Populists would take no action to test the matter and the Republicans decided to arrest Populist Clerk Rich for interrupting the House (the Republican House). The arrest was prevented by a guard being appointed for Rich and Gov. Lewelling ordered the Republicans excluded from the hall. The doors were barred and guards stationed at every entrance.

The Republican leaders determined to force an entrance and with sledge hammers a side entrance was demolished and the Republican members quickly entered the hall. Doors and every available entrance was barricaded from within. Gov. Lewelling, as soon as notified, called out the militia with the intention of ejecting the Republicans. Several companies of troops were soon around the capitol, two cannon were run out of the arsenal, loaded, and after all this warlike preparations it was decided to establish a seige. A squad was stationed at each side of the capitol, sentinels were posted and no one was allowed to enter or leave the lines. The Republicans were caught in a box. Only a few sandwiches had been provided and the Populists had severed the steam heating connections, thus leaving the Republicans to freeze and starve.

The telephones had been unmolested and the beseiged statesmen soon had dispatches rushing over the state for volunteers to dislodge the troops and uphold the Republican House. These telegrams met with quick responses and it was soon known that thousands of Republicans were hurrying to Topeka. To meet this Gov. Lewelling issued a call for 500 more troops to aid those about the capitol building. This was a serious state of affairs and no one would dare predict the outcome of a single day or hour.

Gov. Lewelling became impatient on the second day of the seige and ordered Col. Hughes, in command of the troops, to drive the Republicans from the capitol. Col. Hughes refused. Three times the order was given and three times disobeyed. Then the governor relieved Col. Hughes of the command and assumed personal charge of the troops. Sheriff Wilkerson now came to the front and declared that he, as peace officer, had charge of the state militia in the county and proceeded to take charge of the capitol. He swore in over 1,000 deputies, armed them with base ball bats and stationed them about the building. The militia submitted and the governor was left without support with the exception of a handful of armed Populists.

This state of affairs altered matters and Gov. Lewelling offered a proposition of peace on the basis of allowing each party to conduct their House without interference. The Republicans made a counter proposition agreeing: first, to dismiss all contempt proceedings; to arrest the clerks of each faction in order to give the matter a legal test; the governor to dismiss and discharge the state militia and the provisional guard; the sheriff to dismiss all deputies; the Republicans to have control of Representative hall until the controversy was settled by the courts. The proposition was submitted to the governor who asked time to consider. Again the opposing armies rested on their arms.

Finally the compromise was signed by the governor and the Republican committee. The state troops were sent home; the sheriff's deputies were dismissed and peace reigned supreme. The Republicans became very jubilant while the Populists did not attempt to conceal their chagrin at what some termed the weakness of the governor. by the terms of this proposition the Republicans secure undisputed possession of Representative hall in the capitol, the main point for which they have been struggling. The Populists secure the hollow privilege of meeting undisturbed in some other place. There will be no amalgamation of the parties. The courts will decide which is the legal House, but the Populists say the Populist House will go right ahead making laws the same as if there was no such things as courts, no matter what the courts may do. The Senate will combine to recognize the House and the governor will sign the bills passed by it. Should the bills be declared to be invalid by reason of having been passed by an illegal house, then, say the Populists, the blame will rest upon the court. In case such a thing comes to pass the state institutions, the colleges, asylums, schools, etc., would doubtless have to close.

The Greatest Man of the Century.

Hon. James G. Blaine has passed over to the great majority, and the world is mourning the loss. Mr. Blaine was the idol of sixty millions of people, the towering giant of American statesmanship, the defender of American honor and institutions, the matchless orator of the United States Senate, the greatest American of the age. Upon his eloquent tongue our National Congress hung for thirty years enrapt, and his every public utterance the nations of the earth inclined their ear to catch. In summing up his wonderful powers and public virtues, it is but just to say, he was as wise and diplomatic as Benjamin Franklin, as patriotic as George Washington, as versatile and eloquent as Henry Clay, as profound and powerful as Daniel Webster. In a word he was the greatest American who has ever lived. He came from the ranks and he rose from obscurity to the pinnacle of fame, and his distinguished services in both houses of Congress, and in the cabinets of two presidents has made his name famous through-out the world, and every person is anxious to read the story of his wonderful career. T. C. Crawford Esq., who has so ably prepared the life of Mr. Blaine, has enjoyed the confidence of Mr. Blaine for upwards of twenty years, and was his most confidential friend and companion in years past; also passed through political campaigns and in travels abroad has made him eminently fitted to prepare this work better than any living man.

The book is endorsed by those from political and literary life, and there is not a doubt but what Mr. Crawford's Life of James G. Blaine will have a phenomenal sale as it should. Published by E. R. Curtis & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, who will take pleasure in mailing copies, postage prepaid on receipt of $2.00.

because the alleged steel wheels put out by inexperienced manufacturers have gone down in ordinary winds. A feeling has grown that the Steel Wheel is unsafe. Judge it only by the Aermotor.

In this year's blizzards and cyclones the Aermotor loss is proportionately much less than any wooden wheel, while the loss of the imitation steel ones has frequently been total.

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90

60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes.

These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country."

Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 8 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, extensive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For '92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

The Aermotor Pneumatic Water Supply System enables you to supply every part of your house with water without a Steel Tank, being entirely protected from rust and decay.

Cameron Bastedo, general agent for the Chicago Phosphate Co., called on his aunt, Mrs. Jacob Arner, Friday of last week.

The members of the Epworth League gave their President, E. Lowe, a surprise on Friday night and spent a very pleasant evening.

The L. C. S. will be held at the home of Mrs. Ella Curtis, east of the village, to-morrow evening, when a short program will be carried out.

Dr. Nelson was bitten quite badly on the fingers by Chas. Smith's dog Monday night and had a hard time to keep him from catching him by the throat. It was necessary for Mr. Smith to keep the dog back with a pitchfork.

That two-cross, double-seamed, triple-soldered, fourteen-quart pail which W. L. Jones' cow kicked across the stable, splitting a white oak board, when Bill Barrett was milking the other morning, was one of Tink's every-day pails, such as he furnishes all his customers.

The Ridgeway butter factory began operations Monday by taking in over half a ton of milk, from which forty-two pounds of a very fine quality of butter was made Tuesday morning. The management are to be congratulated on the fact of having secured the services of a first-class man in the person of Mr. Glines, from Breesport, N. Y. The New York City butter men say he is a "superb butter maker" and are always ready to take his make, for which top prices can always be secured. The prospect for a large supply of milk is very encouraging, and at least one and a half tons three or four times a week are already in sight. The farmers in this whole community have an opportunity for gain which some of them are not inclined to encourage until some other farmer has tried it. Some will risk nothing that is not actually before their eyes or to be felt in their pockets. Others will venture off-hand and sometimes lose, but to co-operate in the manufacture of butter on the part of farmers has not yet been found to be a losing game, for all the profits above actual cost, up to one hundred and fifty pounds a day, go to the patrons. We are pleased to know that there is a general tendency on the part of all to encourage the enterprise. Dr. Loree has leased the plant for a term of years, and Mr. T. H. Temple and Mr. Glines will look after the interest of patrons as well as that of the proprietor.

For the benefit of readers of the Rambles, especially the friends of Mr. G. P. Waring, we clip the following article from the Harvey Citizen. It seems he is up up to his old tricks in Harvey as well as when he was in our village, and fearing his brother's schemes would be a failure without his assistance, did a little hustling. We, in behalf of his many friends here, extend our best wishes and hearty congratulations and should like to have seen him when he turned to his wife and asked her to kick him for being so blind.

A GENUINE SURPRISE.

On Wednesday evening the home of G. P. Waring was the scene of a real, genuine, old-fashioned combined New York-Vermont-Pennsylvania-Michigan-Indiana-Wisconsin-Minneapolis-Illinois surprise party.

Several days ago, in order to insure his remaining at home, his brother, C. L. Waring, wrote him stating that on Wednesday evening he would bring a friend to try a new piano, and reminded him of it by mail every day since. In order that others of a musical turn of mind might enjoy the evening also, G. P. skirmished around and invited many of the neighbors, all of whom were among the prime movers of the surprise, but as all managed to keep mum he never suspected. The party was so adroitly planned and managed by A. S. Reynolds that when his family sat down to a late supper, some of them having been to the city, a surprise was furthest from their thoughts. The crowd gathered at J. R. Green's at 7:15 sharp and proceeded en masse to the unsuspecting diners. When Ed Cowan blew a bugle call outside the house G. P. thought it might be a special excursion to sell Academy lots, but at sight of baskets the mission was clear.

The first part of the program was musical and consisted of instrumental music by Prof. Hankey, of Chicago, and also by Mrs. C. R. Morrison. Walter Reynolds then gave a baritone solo, with chorus by the Green Family. After this the baskets were opened and a feast of such abundance was enjoyed that more than the proverbial twelve baskets remained in spite of there being four superannuated Methodist preachers present.

After the speeches which followed the spread the host was called upon and he gave a very neat impromptu speech of appreciation for the neatly arranged surprise, especially the basket part of it. Among other things he referred to surprises in general, and admitted that it was one to him to know how the secret was kept so successfully, especially when so many women were in possession of it. One remarkable statement made by him was that a year ago Academy Addition had less than six families and now it has nearly a hundred.

Such gatherings are what a town like Harvey needs, that strangers may become better acquainted. About midnight the party broke up, after passing a very pleasant evening.

BRITTON BUDGET.

Regular review of Hendershot Tent K. O. T. M. next Tuesday evening.

Bring your invitations and come to the Inaugural hop to-morrow night.

Geo. Allison has moved onto the Andrew McKinney farm on the Ridge.

About twenty-five cousins of John Wiggins surprised him at his home Tuesday night.

Messrs. Smith and Kniffen passed Sunday at home, returning to their school Monday.

Those desiring their souls patched or made new will find the wherewithal at W. J. Helm's harness shop.

A number from here will attend the Marshall P. Wilder entertainment at Tecumseh to-morrow evening.

The school flag floated from the mast on the 22d and 27th, in commemoration of the birthdays of Washington and Longfellow.

About 35 members of Beers Post and the W. R. C. of Tecumseh gave James Eaton Post a pleasant surprise last Saturday evening.

Don't forget the monthly dinner at G. A. R. hall next Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the home missionary society. Dinner 10c.

The postponed Valentine social at G. W. Smith's last Friday was a success socially, as well as financially, about 90 revelers being present. The receipts were $10.45.

Reported that the Peninsular Car Works of Detroit are contemplating a removal to our city. We understand that some of our most influential men have gone down into their pockets and therein found "a half" to start a bonus.

Rev. E. W. Borden, quietly passed away to the other life Monday afternoon at 6 o'clock, aged 71 years. The funeral was held at the residence on Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, and the remains will be interred at Ann Arbor Thursday.

The W. R. C. will give a prize quilt drawing and masked box social at their rooms, G. A. R. hall, next Saturday evening. Every purchaser of a ticket of admission is entitled to a ticket on the quilt drawing. Admission 10 cents. A. E. Palmer, auctioneer.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

Joe Hartman is to be a widower for a few weeks, his wife having gone to Hillsdale to visit relatives. Joe is keeping bachelor's hall.

Austin Hall returned from Detroit Sunday, where he has been taking a course of treatment at Harper hospital. We have not been able to learn his condition yet.

Last Friday afternoon the ladies of this village and vicinity met to organize a ladies' hive in the Tent of Maccabees. They will have about 25 or 30 charter members.

The masquerade social at K. O. T. M. hall was well patronized. The hall was filled with maskers, some coming from Adrian, Britton and other towns. It was impossible to estimate the attendance but all report a good time.

We understand that Will Begel is in for a steady job now, beginning the first of April, or sooner if called upon, as fireman in L. E. Winship's saw-mill for one year. Will is a good fireman, although he got an all-fired cold at Portage, Ohio, and is now home on the sick list.

Dr. Begel has operated on three or four persons this week for troubles with the eye, one party coming from Adrian. We predict for the doctor a lucrative future. Every one is interested in the operation on Harvey Hartman's little boy and all are watching the outcome, which at present looks very favorable.

Last Friday night we were awakened from our deep and solemn slumbers by a great commotion in the outside world which we in our dazed and comatose condition, on first awakening, supposed to be feathered songsters proclaiming the advent of an early spring; or that Uncle Sam had "annexed" the canary Islands and all the canaries had broken loose at once; upon further investigation, however, we were quickly undeceived, as it was the pupils from the singing school, exercising their voices in the open air after the first lesson given by Miss Grayson of Tecumseh. Miss Grayson will teach a series of lessons here during the rest of the winter. The big boys and girls will receive instructions Friday evenings of each week and the "wee little folk" well have Saturday a. m. devoted exclusively to the interests of their vocal culture. Let every one go and enjoy himself, for rain, hail or snow, we all must go, to singing school of course; But never, never sing till you are hoarse.

He bravely seeks to know the worst;
He pauses many a rip to note,
And wonders which will give out first,
The weather or his overcoat.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

David Lavery has rented Cab Davenport's farm.

S. C. Easlick and wife visited at Dundee Sunday.

Lenna Miller has bought 120 acres of his father's farm.

Mrs. Angelette Osgood has leased her farm to Will Avery.

The ... tipped ... twelve Monday—sdowdrifts.

There was a Cap social at the DeSpelder church on the evening of the 22nd.

W. D. Easlick has a very lame colt, from being kicked on the gambrel joint.

The next Prohibition meeting will be at James B. Hatch's March 22d, when a township ticket will be nominated.

There was a surprise social at J. F. Gilmore's Friday night, also at C. Shaler's Wednesday night. But keep still—they are all the rage now.

John Wonderly, who has been sorely afflicted in one of his limbs the past year, is improving so as to be able to walk across the room. Mrs. Wonderly, who has been very sick the past week, is some better.

The club meeting at N. C. Miller's the 22d was well attended and the program was excellent. The reading by Dr. Loree, "A Moral Issue Wanted," from Chairman Dickie's Journal of Political Progress, with comments lasting half an hour, was good.

There has been considerable trouble and annoyance from open keys on the telegraph line north and west of the postoffice the past week—careless operators. To insure good service and save expense of line men, each operator should see that his instrument is in working order.

The western two-thirds of the nation get the go-by in the new Cabinet, except as to farming. It looks as though the new administration is going back on the "dollars of our daddies." There will be a rupture unless something is done on finance besides issuing gold bonds. It looks squally to a man up a tree, when the shifting of a few dollars will cause a panic. Mighty poor foundation that can slip out from under at will.

RAISIN RACKET.

John Richards spent Friday in Toledo.

Fred Kopke went to Portage, Ohio, Saturday.

Charles Bidwell and family have moved to their farm in Raisin.

Hiram Bowerman went to Hillsdale Tuesday to spend the summer.

George Westgate and wife spent Saturday with friends in Palmyra.

Mrs. A. C. Green gave a tea party to a number of her friends Wednesday.

Mr. Theodore Green, of New York, is visiting his brother, Jonathan Green. He has not been here for 35 years.

Arbuckle & Ryan's agent, of Toledo, Ohio, was in this vicinity Monday and expects to sell A. H. Kelly a steam engine.

Three young ladies started for church Sunday and collided with a snow bank. The horse and cutter went on without them till stopped.

Sanday and Alice Miller started for Washington Tuesday to visit their brothers and take in the inauguration of President Cleveland.

Sixty-one R. V. S. students and friends had a surprise party for Miss Mabel Graves at J. H. Green's Monday night. A very enjoyable time is reported.

MACON MUSIC.

Mrs. Anna Britton, of Battle Creek, is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ace Smith.

Ed Osgood is feeling rich nowadays over the arrival of a fine boy at his house. Surely the Prohibition ranks are swelling.

Mrs. Edmund Hand, while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Hendershot, last week, had the misfortune to fall on the ice and break her leg just below the hip joint. She is quite comfortable at present writing, but being an old lady, 78 years old, it will be some time before she recovers.

TIPTON TOPICS.

We learn that Laverne Roberts is a resident of Franklin again, having returned from Chicago, where he has been for nearly a year, for the purpose of working his father's farm.

W. J. Hampton is beginning to make preparations for his Inaugural ball, which will occur March 3rd.

Wm. Haines has moved his goods to Tipton, where he will live, he having purchased the John Burtless place.

As Miss Edith Burns was attempting to light a lamp last Sunday evening the head of the match flew off, striking a curtain, which immediately took fire. What might have been quite a serious blaze was prevented by the young lady smothering the flames before any damage was done beyond slightly burning the curtain.

Snowdrifts have been worse the past week than for ten years past, it being found necessary to turn out in force with shovels to clear the highways for travel.

W. H. Parsons of Geneva, is trying to organize a Maccabee Tent here, it is thought with success, he having secured quite a number of names. The Tent will probably be organized this week.

The Art Loan social of the Epworth League was postponed on account of sickness and bad weather, but will probably be held next week at W. J. Hampton's Hall, a good time is anticipated. All are invited.

FARMERS' EXCHANGE.

FOR SALE.—Two Durham Cows; one span horses; and Scotch Collie Puppies.
F. W. YATES, Lake Ridge, Mich.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE.—For a house and lot in Tecumseh, ten acres choice land containing barn, pleasantly located, one mile north of Pennington's Corners.

Music—Mr. and Mrs. Poucher.
Charade—Mrs. Blood.
Dec.—Jared Van Vleet.
Question—Resolved, that dancing and card playing are beneficial to society. Affirmative, W. F. Raymond; Negative, B. F. DePuy.

Still Bright and Booming.

Many bright and useful publications come round to us annually and the sight of them is as refreshing, and welcome as the faces of friends on New Year's Day. Friend's faces are kept in remembrance; good books for reference, inasmuch as they lead and teach us what is to be done in many painful straits. One such publication, always foremost, is before us, brimful of sound advice and the raciest bits of fun, original copyrighted, from the pens of such noted humorists as Bill Nye, Opie P. Read, Danbury-News-Man and others. It is a free gift of the season at the Druggists' counter, and will be sought for as the highly popular St. Jacobs Oil Family Almanac and Book of Health and Humor, 1893. The work differs somewhat from its former editions, but is none the less attractive and in many of its features is the superior of former numbers. One special feature is the "Offer of One Hundred Dollars," open to all contestants, the details of which a perusal of the book will more fully give. The almanac is sent forth by the Chas. A. Vogeler Co. Baltimore, Md., proprietors of some of the best known and most reliable medicinal preparations. A copy will be mailed to any address on receipt of a 2-cent stamp by the above firm.

Dr. Price's Baking Powder.

The purchasing agents of the United States Government ordered nearly one hundred thousand pounds of Dr. Price's Baking Powder in the first five months of 1892.

The government exercises great care in selecting its supplies of all kinds, rejecting everything that is not of the best, and the very fact that it has adopted Dr. Price's Baking Powder is proof that it has found it the best of all the baking powders. Dr. Price's is peculiarly adapted for export, as neither long sea voyages nor climate changes affect it, this brand keeping fresh and sweet for years while other baking powders deteriorate rapidly.

It is guaranteed to the government to be a pure cream of tartar powder free from ammonia, alum, or other harmful substances, and it is also the only baking powder prepared by a physician of high standing.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"I had a beautiful dream last night," said Mrs. Newbride. "I can guess the subject of it," replied her husband. "What?" "A spring bonnet."

TECUMSEH, MICH., MARCH 2, 1893.

Next Saturday will witness the most imposing inauguration ceremonies ever seen in Washington.

Mr. Cleveland follows the example of President Fillmore, who was a Buffalo man, and took into his Cabinet, as Postmaster General, his own law partner.

If Mr. Quay can keep the Sabbath from being desecrated by the World's Fair, and Mr. Spreckels can save Hawaii from the "lottery and opium sharks," '93 will be a proud year for the Western Hemisphere.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the political lecturer, is a handsome woman in the early autumn of life; has smooth, bright brown hair, a fair complexion and grey eyes. She is clever as a lecturer and irresistible as a conversationalist.

Mrs. Whitney's will, leaving $3,500,000 to her husband, was written upon a single sheet of paper. If a cloud of lawyers had been allowed to draw it up it would have been as bulky and verbose as an anniversary newspaper.

The Chicago Herald says: "Our pension system has some objectionable features already, but what will the American democracy say to Ben Harrison's attempt to place the royal family of Hawaii on the roll for $20,000 a year.

The New York Journal says: Uncle Jerry must go and Mr. Cleveland's nomination of J. Sterling Morton, of Nebraska, as successor to the great rainmaker will give general satisfaction. Certainly a Secretary of Agriculture who last year raised nearly 1,600 bushels of corn on a twenty acre lot ought to inspire the farmer, if only by his example.

A philosopher rises to remark that "no man ever yet has been convicted of a crime committed with a cigar or a pipe in his mouth." The weed seems to lead to thoughtful contemplation. If you feel like getting mad light your pipe or touch a match to your cigar, and its soothing effect to the base of the brain is at once perceived. Even the wildest savage knows this fact.

The formal proffering of the hospitalities of the White House to President-elect Cleveland by President Harrison prior to the inauguration ceremonies is a gratifying indication that the ceremony of transferring the reins of government from one party to another on the 4th of March will not be lacking in the courtesies appropriate to the great occasion.

The Democrats have gained another Senator in North Dakota, William N. Roach having been chosen on the sixty-first ballot. Mr. Roach has been a resident of Dakota for the past thirteen years, coming to Grand Forks county from the district of Columbia. He was born in London county, Va., and is now 53 years of age. He opened the first mail route to Fort Fettin from Grand Forks.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: When Cleveland wants to take a fish he will find his Secretary of State just as good with a bamboo pole and a Frankfort reel as he will be in the State Department. There is no better man on a fishing jaunt or in the tent than Gresham, and none who enjoys the sport more keenly. With Partner Bissell and Dan along to make up "a four-handed game" it almost seems that the Cabinet might have some fun mixed up with statecraft after all.

President-elect Cleveland has let the Cabinet-makers have their own way about suggesting who might, could, would or should be called to the various responsible stations to be filled. He has the last say about the matter, however, and has gone about the work of choosing his advisors in his own way and yet in a way that has commended itself to the common sense of all honest people. He has filled the Cabinet slate by the selection of Congressman Hillary A. Herbert for Secretary of the Navy and Richard Olney, of Massachusetts, for Attorney-General. It is superfluous to say that the two last appointments are of the best and in entire accord with the high standard shown in the selection of the rest of the Cabinet. Mr. Cleveland having selected his Cabinet for himself, the gratuitous Cabinet-makers may now take a much-needed rest.

THE NEW CABINET.

Grover Cleveland has finally announced his completed Cabinet as follows:

Secretary of State—Walter Q. Gresham, of Indiana.

Secretary of the Treasury—John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky.

Secretary of War—Daniel S. Lamont, of New York.

Secretary of the Navy—Hillary A. Herbert, of Alabama.

Secretary of the Interior—Hoke Smith, of Georgia.

Postmaster General—Wilson S. Bissell, of New York.

Attorney General—Richard Olney, of Massachusetts.

Secretary of Agriculture—J. Sterling Morton, of Nebraska.

A careful and critical examination of the list discloses the fact that it will be a body of strong men—men of commanding ability intellectually and of peculiar fitness for the positions they have been called upon to fill. True, there are no politicians on the list. Many names which the public expected to see are not found there. Some of the appointees are men who have no national reputation. Others are among the best known and most highly respected of the men now in public life. But all enjoy Grover Cleveland's personal acquaintance and confidence and all are thoroughly equipped to assume their respective portfolios.

Judge Gresham needs no introduction to our readers. He is one of the ablest men now in public life and he is a popular favorite. He could have headed the Populist ticket in the last campaign, had he consented to accept the nomination. He represents thousands of Republicans in the Northwest who rebelled against the force bill and the McKinley law. Upon all the great issues now dividing the parties he is essentially a Democrat. He is also in favor of free silver coinage and his presence in the Cabinet will be a great help to the cause of bi-metalism. All things considered, we doubt if a better man could have been found in the whole country to place at the head of the State Department.

Ex-Senator Carlisle is universally conceded to be the very best man for Secretary of the Treasury. He will approach the solution of the great tariff problem with a trained intellect and the ripest experience. His appointment is a guarantee that the great cause of tariff reform and tax reduction will not move backward during the next four years.

The choice of Col. Lamont for Secretary of War is a very happy one. During the four years he acted as Cleveland's private secretary he displayed executive talents of the highest order. In a personal sense he will be Cleveland's right-hand man around the Cabinet table. In him Cleveland will have a staunch friend in every emergency that may arise.

Congressman Herbert for Secretary of the Navy is a model appointment. It has not provoked the least shadow of criticism in any quarter whatever. He has enjoyed a long term of service in the House, and for the past four years has been chairman of the naval committee. He is thoroughly equipped to discharge the duties of that department in a most satisfactory manner, and his appointment will give great satisfaction throughout the South.

Hoke Smith for Secretary of the Interior is comparatively an unknown man nationally considered, but in Georgia, his native State, he is recognized as one of the strongest and ablest men in the Gulf States. He is a representative of the young Democracy of the South, as distinguished from the "Old Bourbon element, and he was one of Cleveland's most ardent supporters during the last campaign.

Wilson S. Bissell of Buffalo, the man named for Postmaster General, is a former law partner of the President-elect. Although not a politician or office-seeker he is regarded as a very able lawyer and a man of wonderful executive ability—exactly the qualifications needed at the head of the postoffice department. His thorough knowledge of New York politics will also be a great help to the President in adjusting the factional trouble that is certain to arise in that State.

Richard Olney, as Attorney General, will be the one member of the Cabinet from New England. He is not a national character, as he has never held public office, but he is known as one of the ablest lawyers of Boston. He has frequently declined judicial honors in his own State and was one of the candidates for Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court when Melville W. Fuller was appointed. He is a man of Websterian intellect and will add force and strength to the Cabinet.

The list is most happily completed by the appointment of J. Sterling Morton as Secretary of Agriculture. He is an able lawyer, a successful business man and a practical farmer. He owns a large ranch at Nebraska City. He is the author of "Arbor Day" and is an enthusiast on tree culture. His appointment gives the far west a place in the Cabinet and the place which the West most needs.

In this list of official advisers Cleveland will have a harmonious, able and faithful Cabinet. It will be the strongest Cabinet that any President has appointed since Lincoln's first.

Open the Doors.

The executive session of the Senate is an abuse that comes down from the times of the Monarchists and Federalists, who thought it unsafe to allow the people to know too much about public affairs. It is in harmony with the view that the great majority of people are so ignorant and so inherently vicious that they will go to the dogs at once unless they are made subject to a few good and wise men, anointed by divine right to rule over them.

The great majority of people are by no means what they ought to be. This hardly needs to be argued. It is a self-evident fact. But how much chance would there be for the final elevation and salvation of the world if it depended on the U. S. Senate? How much better, wiser, more patriotic, more disinterested are the majority of the United States Senators than the rest of us?

The same reasoning that closes the doors of the Senate to prevent the people from knowing what is done in their name and by their authority, would abolish the Senate itself. Either the Senate represents the people from whom all powers of government are derived, and because of acting thus as an agent, exercising derived powers, is fully accountable, or else it constitutes an oligarchy, members of which by their virtue and wisdom become entitled to master the rest.

While this latter view would justify the Senate in closing its doors; it would justify the people in finding which Senator is the best and wisest, that, by putting the entire Government into his hands, the expense of supporting the other Senators might be avoided. If irresponsibility in officeholders is not to be avoided, common sense shows that the single absolute ruler is preferable to the absolute oligarchs.

The sole reason for closing the doors of the Senate is to absolve from responsibility to the people. In a popular government, any step that is taken without the knowledge and consent of the people is a wrong step, and it is always in the nature of a usurpation because it is an attempt to evade responsibility.

The members of the Senate are either agents of the people or they are autocrats. If they acknowledge that they are agents of the people, let them abandon the unworthy attempt to keep the people in ignorance of public business of the most vital importance. We ought to do justice among ourselves and to all the world. If we do that—if we try to do it—we will not have to hide while making the attempt.—St. Louis Republic.

Secretary Thurber.

President Cleveland has selected Henry T. Thurber, of Detroit, as his private secretary.

Mr. Thurber is Don M. Dickinson's partner in the law firm of Dickinson, Thurber and Stevenson. He was born in Monroe 39 years ago, his father being Jefferson G. Thurber, ex-speaker of the state house of representatives and ex-state senator. He was graduated from Michigan university in 1874. Thereupon he came to Detroit and entered Mr. Dickinson's law office. Two years later he was admitted to the bar and he was admitted to the partnership shortly afterwards. In 1880 he married Miss Elizabeth Brady Croul, granddaughter of Gen. Hugh Brady and niece of Col. Jerome Croul. Mrs. Thurber is well known as a society favorite and one of Detroit's beautiful women.

Since his admission to the bar Mr. Thurber has confined his attention very closely to his law business, excepting when traveling in the old world. He has already made eight European tours. His appointment will form his introduction into politics. He will not be long in acquiring adeptness, however, for he is distinguished for his ability to adapt himself to any kind of surroundings, and he is the possessor of great amiability and tact.

He has an income from his business amounting to $10,000 or $15,000 a year. He will not be required to sacrifice any of his interests, as Mr. Dickinson and Mr. Stevenson have made arrangements to do all his work for him during his absence. The date of his departure has not yet been fixed, but matters are so arranged that he can go as soon as Mr. Cleveland needs him.

As the President's private secretary, Mr. Thurber will have $5,000 a year and horses and carriage. He will be one of the President's official family and will stand in line with the cabinet officers at state receptions.

Mr. Thurber says the appointment was entirely unexpected. When he was asked if he could afford to go he said: "Afford to go? There is nothing to be considered except Mr. Cleveland's call. I hope he is not mistaken in his confidence in and judgment of me, but he thinks that I can serve him and I shall go. I would rather leave my children the record that he summoned me, that I accepted, and above all, that I, in some measure, fulfilled in his service his expectations of me, than to leave them a great fortune."

His partners, also, advised him that his acceptance was not a matter of inclination, but of duty.

Don M. Dickinson said yesterday: "My boys (Stevenson, by the way, is 38 and Thurber 39 years of age) are a part of my life, and I would not give up either of them on any other demand than that of the chief. Mr. Stevenson and I have agreed to buckle to it, and do Mr. Thurber's work, as well as our own, and we will keep his office, his chair and his desk ready for him. His place in our hearts will not be vacated. Thurber always does everything well. He has an extra sense—tact; and that temperament of his is a sure comfort to all about him in time of perplexity and trial."

ASTHMA CURED.

Dr. Taft, proprietor of Taft's Asthmalene, Rochester N. Y., will send to any of our subscribers suffering with asthma, a trial bottle of Asthmalene Free, who will send him their post-office address. The Doctor is known to be reliable and his remedy a most valuable one; it is endorsed by many medical publications and used in all parts of the U. S., Europe and Australia.

"Yes, but that was before hoopskirts come in."

People troubled with sick and nervous headaches will find a most efficacious remedy in Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They strengthen the stomach, stimulate the liver, restore healthy action to the digestive organs, and thus afford speedy and permanent relief.

In his speech at the Michigan Club banquet Stephen A. Douglas Jr., son of the great Illinois Senator, paid the following merited complimen to the character of Grover Cleveland: Gentlemen, I confess that for years I had no admiration whatever for Grover Cleveland. But when I saw him in the face of a presidential election declare for tariff reform, force his party to adopt that principle, meet the enemy and go down in disastrous defeat, rise again and shake from his clothes the dust of disaster with nothing of apology, nothing of explanation; for four years, in season and out of season, maintain with tongue and pen the same doctrine, seemingly, but growing stronger in the faith; again force his party to adopt that principle, again force his party to accept him as its leader and the apostle of that doctrine, again seeking the enemy upon their chosen ground upon an issue which no other man had dared force before the country, and upon which he had met only defeat, and by sheer force of his own energy, persistence, courage and individual force of character, recapture more than what was lost and replace himself at the head of the nation, I was forced to give him the unwilling meed of my earnest admiration.

I've tried all sorts of blood-purifiers, said an old lady to a cutter, and you can't persuade me that any other Sarsaparilla is as good as Ayer's. There's where she had him. She knew that Ayer's was the best—and so did he, but it paid him better to sell a cheaper brand.

Few people realize that the nervous system has more to do with health of the body than has stomach, liver and all the organs of the body which are so much doctored. They forget that the nerves reach and control all parts of the body. Hence many cases are misunderstood and wrongly treated. Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer is a nerve remedy of recent discovery by an eminent specialist, which acts directly and correctly on the nervous system to cure any nerve disorder. Is backed with an offer of $500 for an incurable case. $1.00 bottles or trial samples free at Jno Orr's.

After the Grip

In Miserable Condition

"I take this opportunity to speak my mind on the virtue of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have found that the grip uses elderly people pretty severely. I am sixty-nine years old, and when the grip attacked me last winter I came very near dying. I was all broken down and Reduced to a Mere Skeleton.

I could not seem to gain any strength or get any medicine to help me. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me; built me up so that I do not feel any effects of the disease left. My son is taking Chicago's Population.

There is probably no city of importance in the world that can show such rapid and wonderful growth as Chicago since its destruction by fire. To-day its population is about 1,200,000. Mr. Peter Van Schaack, one of the leading merchants of that city said in conversation, that a large number of his personal friends, as well as scores of representative men throughout the Northwest with whom he had conversed upon the subject, had found St. Jacobs Oil a pain-curing and healing remedy of the most extraordinary efficacy. It is the Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Backache, Bruises, Burns, Swellings etc.

THOMAS MINCHIN. MAJOR W. A. SIMFIELD.

Before Treatment. After Treatment. Before Treatment. After Treatment.

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 118 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simfield says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the St mach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Blotches on the skin looked horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in all. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I cannot say too much for those scientific doctors who have been in Detroit for fourteen years. I conversed with hundreds of patients in their offices who were being cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians."

STRONG WITNESSES.

Among the thousands of testimonials of cures by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is that of Nathan Allisons, a well known citizen of Glen Rock, Pa.; who for ten years had shortness of breath, sleeplessness, pain in left side, shoulders, smothering spells, etc.; one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and one box of Nerve and Liver Pills, cured him. Peter Jaquet, Salem, N. J., is another witness, who for twenty years suffered with Heart Disease, was pronounced incurable by physicians, death stared him in the face, could not lie down for fear of smothering to death. Immediately after using the New Cure he felt better and could lie down and sleep all night, and is now a well man. The New Cure is sold, also free book, by Baker & Hall.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Hamilton, Leading Basso of the C. D. Hess Grand Opera Co.

Cures Others

Will cure You, is a true statement of the action of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, when taken for diseases originating in impure blood; but, while this assertion is true of AYER'S Sarsaparilla, as thousands can attest, it cannot be truthfully applied to other preparations, which unprincipled dealers will recommend, and try to impose upon you, as "just as good as Ayer's." Take Ayer's Sarsaparilla and Ayer's only, if you need a blood-purifier and would be benefited permanently. This medicine, for nearly fifty years, has enjoyed a reputation, and made a record for cures, that has never been equaled by other preparations. AYER'S Sarsaparilla eradicates the taint of hereditary scrofula and other blood diseases from the system, and it has, deservedly, the confidence of the people.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

"I cannot forbear to express my joy at the relief I have obtained from the use of AYER'S Sarsaparilla. I was afflicted with kidney troubles for about six months, suffering greatly with pains in the small of my back. In addition to this, my body was covered with pimply eruptions. The remedies prescribed failed to help me. I then began to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla, and, in a short time, the pains ceased and the pimples disappeared. I advise every young man or woman, in case of sickness resulting from impure blood, no matter how long standing the case may be, to take AYER'S Sarsaparilla."—H. L. Jarmann, 33 William st., New York City.

OPPOSITION TESTIMONY.

A Western Republican Paper Tells Why the Party Was Swamped.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat is one of the oldest, ablest and most important republican papers in the land—a paper that has never faltered in its party allegience, and whose political orthodoxy has in no instance been questioned. That paper now says, in view of the late election:

"The republican party was beaten because it had taken a wrong position on some of the leading questions of national concern. It was wrong on the federal election matter, it was emphatically and fatally wrong on the tariff. The passage of the McKinley law of 1890 was the greatest blunder ever committed by any party since the democratic crime of secession. It overwhelmingly defeated the party in the congressional election of that year, and it was the leading cause in the overthrow this year. Many republicans who were never in favor of the act believed after the setback of 1890 that the popular hostility to it would subside by the time the presidential election came around, and that the party might then retain its supremacy in the executive branch of the government and regain control of the legislative branch. The returns show how completely and conspicuously these hopes have been blasted.

"This thing called McKinleyism—this advancing of duties on articles which have been on the dutiable list for from a third of a century to a century—has been condemned finally and eternally by the people. This verdict has been rendered twice, and after an interval of two years between judgments. The first verdict may have been hastily given, and without sufficient examination of the evidence, but the second was recorded after reasonable deliberation, and it was more pronounced and emphatic than the first. If the republican party is to win any victories in the future it must drop McKinleyism immediately and permanently, and send all the men who cling to it to the rear. The party must, of course, adhere to the protective policy, but it must be protection of the rational kind—the protection, which keeps the interests of consumers, as well as those of producers, in view."

We could not possibly find stronger language in which to portray the completeness of the revolution that has been wrought than is furnished by this republican paper.—New Age.

AN OPEN CONFESSION.

Sound Tariff Reform Sentiment From an Ante-Election Protectionist.

"When the devil was sick
The devil a monk would be.
When the devil got well
The devil a monk was he."

Some of the best expressions of tariff reform sentiment we have read of late have been uttered by men and journals since the election who before the election were giving ardent support to the most nearly ideal protective tariff this country has ever had.

From a recent interview with Clarence A. Black, comptroller of Detroit, and chairman of the republican congressional committee of the first district, published in the Evening News, we clip the following:

"1. Reciprocity to the greatest extent. To my mind, everything comes right down to the boy with the jack knife and the one with the marbles. He with the jack knife wants the marbles; he with the marbles wants the jack knife. It's a trade, and what earthly right has anyone to put a tax on either? Trade with the world. Tax only where there is no fair exchange.

"2. Tariff for revenue only. We have had protected material and free labor. It is time to protect the man against his pauper rival at home, and let the material take its chances in the market of the world. A trust could be formed, killing effectually all home competition, and a government would foster it by shutting out the world. But once let labor form a trust, the militia is called out, laborers are imported, and yet politicians claim there is no inequality.

"There, gentlemen, is my platform. To you it may appear raw, crude and fanciful—the result, perhaps, of indigestion, caused by a heavy diet of crow for the past few weeks. But these are my sentiments, at any rate. I am not a political seer. I am not coddling the dear people for honors or position. I am not flopping into the democratic party. My opinions may be those of a Waterlooed Napoleon, as one good friend termed me, but they are honest, just the same."—N. Y. Evening Post.

TRUSTS.

What Prominent Republicans Once Thought of Combines.

"Trusts are private affairs with which neither President Cleveland nor any private citizen has any right to interfere."—James G. Blaine, November 3, 1888.

"I admit that prices for agricultural productions have been abnormally low, and that the farmers of the United States have suffered greatly from this cause. But this depression of prices is easily accounted for by the greatly increased amount of agricultural implements, the opening of vast regions of new and fertile fields in the west, the reduced cost of transportation, the doubling of the miles of railroad and the quadrupling capacity of railroads and steamboats for transportation, and the new fangled forms of trusts and combinations which monopolize nearly all the productions of the farms and workshops of our country, reducing the price to the producers and in some cases increasing the cost to the consumer."—Hon. John Sherman, June 5, 1890.

"I had an opportunity to take some stock in the combination [national harvester trust], and I know what inducements were offered. An investigation will show that this same combination is now selling, or offering to sell, machinery in Russia and Australia and other wheat-growing countries at a lower figure than they do in this country."—Hon. Jeremiah W. Rusk, 1890.

"The public may regard trusts or combinations with serene confidence." Andrew Carnegie, November 3, 1888.

"Protection offers us inducements to trusts, but if they are formed we can control them."—American Economist, March 4, 1892.

"Whenever this free competition is evaded or avoided by combination of individuals or corporations the duty should be reduced and foreign competition promptly invited."—Senator John Sherman, October 15, 1890.

"There is nothing to prevent this defendant (the harrow trust) at any time from raising prices at will. It is hard to conceive how a monopoly could be more firmly entrenched, or how competition could be more effectively strangled. * * * Nor can this defendant shield itself under its corporate rights. When the fact appears that the forms of law are being used to accomplish a legal wrong, a court of equity is potent to release a suitor, and if necessary to rend asunder the legal veil which covers the iniquity."—Judge Walter Lloyd Smith, New York Supreme Court, February 13, 1891.

CHEAP TIN PLATE.

Will President Harrison Sign a Bill For Consumers' Relief?

Among the other "selfish consumers" whose spirits have been raised by the election are the directors of the Tin Plate Consumers' association. They make a report in the last number of the National Provisioner, in which they hold out the hope that there may be speedy relief from the futile tax on tin plate. They say:

"The directors have been in close consultation with the leading statesmen of both parties, and it seems to be generally thought that, as the people of this country have pronounced so emphatically against the McKinley tin plate duty, the senate will undoubtedly take up and pass the Bunting and Shively bill, which was passed by the last session of the house of representative, reducing the duty to the former rate of one cent per pound. It is thought that the president will sign any measure of relief of importance to American industries such as are represented in our association, providing such a measure is passed by both the house and senate."

We confess that this view seems too sanguine, and we prefer to see Mr. Harrison signing such a bill before believing that he will do it.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Anxious to Pay High Wages.

The "wage-earner" is now being afforded another object lesson as to the "shelter" which the beneficent manufacturer wishes to provide for him. No further concealment is attempted of the fact that the republicans mean to deprive the opposition of control of the senate if they can steal enough seats. Moreover, the motive for this action is openly confessed. A Washington dispatch to a republican organ says that "it is a settled thing that the republicans are not going to let the democrats get a majority in the senate if it can be helped," and explains that "the influence of some of the manufacturers, who are not willing to trust to reaction to restore to them what they would lose from democratic legislation unhampered, is being exerted to induce the republicans to extra efforts to hold the senate." Of course the only motive of these manufacturers is their desire to pay high wages to their employes, and yet we fear that these ungrateful employes will only be the more resolved not to "even walk under the same umbrella" with their would-be benefactors.—N. Y. Evening Post.

Strength of Tariff Reform.

The strength of tariff reform as an issue was well illustrated in two Ohio districts where Tom L. Johnson and Michael D. Harter were elected. These two men are absolute free traders in principle, and they conducted their canvasses on the most radical lines of tariff reform, not fearing to declare their utmost convictions. The republican gerrymander was designed to make the return of either an impossibility, as their aggressive ways in congress did not please the attorneys of special interest occupying seats there. But both were re-elected, large republican majorities being wiped out. The democratic gains in the two districts were tremendous, hardly equaled elsewhere in the entire country. These results prove that the people are not afraid of "free trade," and that aggressive courage on the right side in good politics.—Quincy Herald.

The Turning Point.

Mr. Charles Macbeth, the greatest manufacturer of glass lamp-chimneys in America, takes the ground that prosperity will follow the dethroning of the republican idea. He says: "Heretofore this government has been run on the policy that it should help individuals in their business. Now after this the individual will run his business for himself, and the government will have no right to interfere in any man's private affairs. We shall never go back to the old policy again; November 8 was a turning point in the history of this nation. Since the war we have been going in the one direction, but at the late election the people woke up and turned right about, and from this time on will go in the direction indicated by reason and intelligence, and that which will bring the most good to the most people.

—One of the ways in which the McKinley tariff operates against the trade of this country is witnessed in the duty of 1½ cents a pound on the lead contained in silver ores. Formerly these silver-lead ores were exported in large quantities from Mexico to the United States, to be refined in St. Louis and Kansas City. But now, in consequence of the McKinley duty, the Mexicans, taught by necessity, separate the ores themselves, and the business has been lost to this country. As a further consequence, the trade in corn, which was shipped from Kansas and Missouri in exchange for the lead ores, has declined.—Philadelphia Record.

—Four short years ago the protectionist organs gravely declared the question of protection was settled in America for twenty years to come. But nothing is settled unless it is settled right, and the majority against protection at the recent election was about 2,000,000.—St. Louis Courier.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Pimple to the worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood" in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you. It will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

DR. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP.

A large party of Adrian's musical people attended the Paderewski concert, at Detroit, Monday evening last.

Two hundred and twenty-five persons have been naturalized in this county in the past two years.—Adrian Telegram.

Miss Cecelia A. Woolsey's playing is wonderful, and readily won the admiration of everybody in the house.—Baltimore American.

Jackson is all stirred up over the discovery that there are a large number of people there who have become confirmed cocaine fiends.

E. L. Hough's jewelry store, at Ypsilanti, was damaged by fire to the extent of $1800 on the evening of Feb. 24th.—caught from the furnace in the cellar.

An aluminum violin has been constructed by a Cincinnati musician, and tried in concert as well as in private. It cannot be distinguished by its tone from the wooden instrument.

The mercury this winter has not been as high as 60 but once since the 22d of last October. We have therefore experienced the steadiest cold weather since fifty years ago. In the remarkably severe winter of 1842-3 there was not a thaw from the 17th of November until April 1.—Adrian Times.

The case of Curtis vs. Witt, township treasurer of the township of Ridgeway, was called up in Justice Burridge's Court last Friday. This case was one brought to recover the value of certain personal property taken by the township treasurer to satisfy a drain tax, which many have refused to pay. Owing to the lateness of the C. J. & M. trains, one of the attorneys did not arrive until 6:30 p. m. and the trial was not fairly started until 7 p. m. and at 2 a. m. the jury returned a verdict of a disagreement. F. P. Maines, of Homer, and Walter Burridge, were attorneys for the Plaintiff and Walter Westerman of Adrian, appeared for the defendant.

There is a movement on foot among the Democrats of this Judicial circuit to place in nomination at the coming convention, the name of Mr. Walter Westerman of Adrian, for Circuit Judge. He has the support of a great many democrats, and they are pushing him for the position. They claim for him that he is better qualified than any young man in the county, and as Mr. Salsbury absolutely refuses to accept the nomination, Mr. Westerman should receive it. Mr. Westerman studied with the late Hon. F. C. Beaman and the late Judge Stacy. He has been in constant practice for the past 16 years, associated with his brother, Wallace Westerman. Mr. Westerman has enjoyed a large practice in all the courts of the State He is now the city Attorney for Adrian, and for the past two years Assistant Prosecuting Attorney.

Those in position to know assert that the most novel and interesting feature of the Columbian Exposition will be The MacKaye Spectatorium, and the production that will be given therein. The enterprise is of such moment that it has brought to the front men of prominence in the money world whose names have never been found in any connection with the stage or its work. These men, who have been successful in the world of business, were first approached about a year ago by Steele MacKaye, who unfolded to them a daring and original plan whereby an adequate and noble presentment might be given of the great event which the Fair is to celebrate. In this plan there was much novelty and unique interest, and they were prompt to see its good points and to offer to the inventor ample financial backing; about $1,500,000, to perfect the dreams of a life time. All the details of that production and the building are approaching completion. The building itself is described as a model of architectural beauty and is a fit companion for the most artistic and handsome building in The White City. This structure, with its vast power houses and studios covers an area of nearly nine acres. A model has been constructed at a cost of $30,000, and those who have seen it operate are pronounced in their opinions that the practical working of the plans will be the greatest wonder and most strangely interesting feature of the Fair. The presentation to be given in the building will be as grand and complete as money, time, labor, artistic skill and human ingenuity can make it.

The Review for March contains a number of important articles on subjects that are now engaging public attention. The Hon. J. M. Rusk, Secretary of Agriculture, contributes an interesting paper on American Farming a Hundred Years Hence, a subject on which he peculiarly well fitted to write. The question of Hawaiian annexation is treated from two different points of view. Dr. Cyrus Edson writes entertaingly of the different cure-alls and patent medicines which have from time to time enjoyed an ephemeral popularity. Modern Insurance and Its Possibilities is duscussed respectively by the Presidents of four of the leading insurance companies of this country. Among other articles are the claims to Statehood of New Mexico and Arizona are advocated by the Governor and ex-Governor of those Territories; the nature and extent of the Spanish exhibit at the World's Fair; high buildings and earthquakes; the beneficial results of British rule in India; the Canadian question, and Migrations of the Brahman.

A New Prophet.

Philadelphia, Jan. 12.—A new prophet has arisen in our midst, and has sprung at once into popularity. Mr. Benjamin Rush Davenport, the well-known journalist and magazine writer, has just completed a new book, entitled "The Crime of Caste in our Country," which has set everybody to talking, filled the newspapers with reviews and criticisms, and caused the dudes, "chappies," and sham aristocrats, and also the politicians, to do considerable hard thinking.

Mr. Davenport is a broad man, a deep thinker, and a forcible writer. He handles his subject without gloves. No wonder the sham aristocrats, the would-be "lords and barons," are squirming under his withering sarcasm and the unwelcome truths he hurls at their pretensions of superiority over the "common people." The heart of every patriotic American will glow with satisfaction when he reads the pages of this [illegible] book, and realizes that the "common people" have at last a champion fearless enough to assail the vices and immoralities of the so-called upper classes, to attack the fortresses of wealth and monopolizing "trusts," and to warn the haughty rich in trumpet tones, that the downtrodden poor—the workman at his bench, the farmer in his field—constitute the majority, and can, if they will, make and unmake laws so that taxes may be equalized and vast accumulations of wealth prevented.

Mr. Davenport characterizes the election of November 8, 1892, as a "political revolution," similar to that of 1860, when the "mudsill," Abraham Lincoln, was placed in the Presidential chair by the power of the "common people" against the oligarchy of the South. In 1892 the victory was that of the "common people" over a new-made sham aristocracy, and he shows some good reasons for the change. "The Crime of Caste" is, in a broad sense, a political book; but neither Democrats nor Republicans can claim it as their own. It is written to plead the cause of the "common people;" to teach them their power; and shrewd politicians predict that it will have no small effect upon the result of the Presidential election of 1896.

The author demands an equalization of taxation, and shows how the "common people" may enforce such equalization. He shows the futility of strikes and the impotence of labor organizations, and furnishes a plan whereby the working classes can right their wrongs without bloodshed, and cause the would-be "barons" to tremble in their shoes. He also shrewdly points out to the leaders of the two great parties, the fact that the People's party, or Populists, made a better showing in 1892 than did the Republicans in 1856. And yet, in 1860 came the deluge!

That "The Crime of Caste" has struck a popular chord is evidenced by the fact that the entire first edition of 25,000 copies was sold, from prospectus alone, before a book was finished, and the second edition of 50,000 copies is soon to be followed by a third and larger edition. The book is sold by subscription, and the publishers, Keystone Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, are contemplating the establishment of branch offices in the various Western cities to facilitate its distribution.

Constrictor and Canary.

When the boa-constrictor fixes his glittering eye on the canary-bird, the canary-bird becomes exceedingly restless, and flutters and tries to get away, but it does not succeed. It cannot escape the boa-constrictor's fascinations, and in spite of all its shuddering struggles, it stays where it was and gets swallowed up.

There could hardly be an apter illustration of the attitude of the gentler sex toward crinoline. The intelligence has gone out that crinoline is coming. All Caucasian woman-kind has heard the news, and believes it, but we have not learned of any woman (not deformed) who is pleased at the prospect. The American girl shudders at it. There is anxious eagerness in her vision as she picks up the newest fashion paper and looks at the pictures. "See," she says, "how skirts are spreading already at the bottom. It has begun to come. It will reach the knee by June, and the waist by Thanksgiving." She thinks, with a grimace, of the inconvenience of hoop-skirts at horse shows and football games; but not to wear them if they come, does not enter her mind. If the big shops once sell them, and the people of high fashion once put them on, that settles it. In the matter of garments her duty is perfectly simple, and free from complications. It is to buy what is sold in the big shops and worn by the people of the first fashion. If she hesitates, what happens? The big shops start a sacrifice sale, and offer bargains. Then there is no hope. She is gone. Bargains and the height of fashion at the same time! Resistance is worse than vain; it is extravagant. A fortnight later it is done, and three girls abreast measure precisely the width of the sidewalk on Fifth Avenue.

Yet it is a solemn thing to revive such a monstrosity as the hoop skirt. Think of the effect of such a radical change of fashion on the value of half-worn gowns! Think how it will work in the town of Boston, where some of the most crowded throughfares have sidewalks only five or six feet wide. In a year's time, when the mode shall have environed the indispensable order of serving maids, think of the resulting inconvenience to people with small diningrooms!

It is a pity that all women should think it necessary to keep in the fashion. That is well enough for people who are chiefly concerned with the ceremonial side of life, to whom garb is an amusement, and bedizenment a recreation. But it would seem as if woman to whom gowns appeal in some measure as clothing, and who have to wear their clothes out, might feel somewhat less constrained to rehabilitate their wardrobes according to all the casual fluctuations of modish apparels.

But it does not work that way. The canary has wings, to be sure, but once the boa-constrictor's eye is on it, it cannot fly away.—Harper's Weekly.

Good Looks.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive you have a Bilious look, if your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic look, and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and tonic which acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at J. J. Orr's drug store, 50c. per bottle.

Something New.

"Flowers are words which even a baby may undestand."—Bishop Coxe.

We have heard of all sorts of catalogues, but a Poetical catalogue is something entirely new. In reading Vick's Floral Guide for 1893, on every page one comes across happy and appropriate quotations from prominent authors. Whether it takes the mind off from the work of making out a list of Flowers and Vegetables, or makes the Guide more fascinating, will have to be decided after a trial, by the publishers, James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y. Another novel feature is the family of Pansy Sailors who appear on the cover and through the book. It contains five colored plates, hundreds of illustrations and lists, with descriptions of everything required in the garden. This work is really given away free, as the 10 cents asked for it may be deducted from the first order sent the house.

Progress of the World's Fair.

The Buildings of the Exposition are being rapidly completed as the opening of the Exposition draws near.

In the February issue of the "Worlds Columbian Exposition Illustrated" now the Authentic Organ of the Exposition (after the Fair it will be known as Campbell's Columbian Journal), contians many full page illustrations of the buildings as they appear when finished. There are many elegant Photographs of the Statuary that is to adorn the buildings, beside several views of the grounds as they appear in midwinter. An interior view of the treasurer's office, showing the distribution of the souvenir coins, forms an interesting feature. A full account of Utah with cuts of the officials and building, occupies several pages. Among the most important articles is a full account of Transportation for the Fair, Agricultural Exhibit, College Boys at the Exposition, Catholic Congresses at the Fair, Relics of Columbus, etc.

This February issue is the Second Anniversary of this publication. Its object is to make a complete Authentic Historical Record of the Exposition, to be handed down for ages to come. The first two Bound Volumes are now ready. As the Exposition draws near it increases in interest and value. It contains rich illustrations of the buildings and exhibits. By reading it you can visit the Exposition at home, and a person can become familiar with the Fair before going to Chicago.

One issue alone is worth a years 'subscription. Good Agents are wanted in each town. Single copies 35 cents.

It fills the wants of every member of the family, and should be read in every household. You can get three subscribers for it, by a few minutes' effort. Try it, at once, and see how easily it can be done. If you wish a package of sample copies, write for them. Cut out this advertisement and send with your order. Address The Republic, St. Louis, Mo.

That he was deeply pained was evidenced by the pallor of his face and the heaving of his bosom.

With one hand he pressed his brow while with the other he clutched the arm of the chair. His breathing was labored and tumultuous and in less than three seconds his necktie had worked itself above his collar.

He was obviously distraught.

"Yes," the girl repeated, gently, "I am going to marry another."

He groaned.

"Will you"—

He bent an appealing, moving glance upon her.

—"tell me who he is?"

"Yes."

She bent forward and whispered a name.

"Thank"—

The anxious foreboding in his face instantly gave place to an exultant joy.

—"heaven. I feared he might be a friend of mine. I congratulate you with all my heart."

And when he left the house his step was light and elastic.

School Sketches.

The Philosophy class is studying magnetism this week.

Mr. Fish spent Wednesday morning in Miss Gray's room.

The Senior class will commenee solid geometry next week.

Eddie Corey is absent this week. Tonsilitis is responsible.

Mr. Toms, of Williamston, gave the A room a call Wednesday morning.

The long-dreaded examination in plane geometry will take place Friday afternoon.

An unusually large number of invitations were issued for the examination last Friday. It is needless to say they were heartily responded to.

One of the festive Freshmen boys, who has been taking a few days' vacation at the advice of his preceptors, returned to school this week, and in a neat little speech expressed his contrition for past misdeeds and promised never to do so any more.

The schools have been quite unfortunate lately, having lost two teachers by resignation—Miss Ross and Miss Burt, of the Fifth and Seventh grades respectively. Miss Douglas has been secured to fill Miss Burt's place, but Miss Ross' place is still vacant.

By some accident the knob of the large south door came off last Wednesday afternoon, and one of the high school girls is now perfectly able to explain the principle of the mouse trap, except that in this case, however, it was reversed.—it was very easy to get out but hard to get in.

Surprise parties have been right in style during the sixty days good sleighing we have enjoyed, but Mr. and Mrs. Terry surprised the Methodist Sunday school when they extended an invitation to 160 children and teachers to partake of farm hospitality. It is needless to say they got there last Monday evening and enjoyed the trip and entertainment immensely. It was a rich treat to old and all, and will be happily remembered.

Tuesday morning, as the rays of the sun began to thaw the ice in the gutters on the North side of Chicago street, it was discovered that the culvert under the intersection of Chicago and Evans streets was frozen, and the water accumulated in such quantities as to flood the cellar of Avery & Co. Mr. Avery and clerks got out and with pails bailed out the water from time to time, while Street commissioner Hyde and his men worked to make a passage through the ice. About 3 o'clock they got the dammer out and by forcing live steam into the culvert, in about half an hour, much to the relief of those above, succeeded in thawing the ice.

Now is the time to renew.

It is thus spoken of one of Marshall P. Wilder's entertainments: "Indeed, nothing short of sudden paralysis could prevent the success of one of his entertainments. That marvelously mobile face, with its fine eyes and forehead and white teeth, which seem to have an expression of their own, would alone iterpret the funny stories, though the spectator was deaf and dumb. A blind man, listening to those irresistible stories, jokes and vocal imitations, would see the fun in his mind's eye, and laugh himself into convulsions."

Rev. Gorton will preach next Sunday evening at the Universalist church on the following subject: "The science of comparative religions," or, "Are there other Bibles and other religions besides our Old and New Testaments? Are these other Bibles and religions older than ours? Are these other Bibles and religions entirely heathen, profane and false; or are they sacred, and do they contain much of divine truth from God? Are all religious truth and revelation from God limited to our Bible?" This sermon is one of a series on "The Bible of to-day, or what is the Bible?" The public welcomed and cordially invited.

Miss Jennie Wirts a popular young lady of Clayton, and daughter of John R. Wirts, station agent at that point, died this morning.—Adrian Telegram. Miss Wirts, whose death we chronicle above, was well known in Tecumseh, she having been a teacher in the Tecumseh public schools for some two years. Her sad demise will be a shock to her host of Tecumseh friends, and they are all who knew her. She was loved by all for her sweet, sunny disposition and pleasant ways. She has been ill for the past year.

Tecumseh is again honored, by the nomination of Charles F. Field, the present incumbent, at the Democratic convention last week to the important office of County School Commissioner. The ticket and the people of Tecumseh were honored. Mr. Field has, in the past term displayed his talent and and ability for the position. The position is one of great importance to all, concerning as it does, an interest of vital importance, not alone to the county, but to the parents, children and and future greatness of the nation. It is his duty to hold, at certain stated intervals, conventions at which those who have an ambition to teach the young idea how to shoot, and those whose ambition has been fulfilled by an appointment, are examined as to their fitness for the high and responsible position they hold. It can be seen that it is a position which requires a man of talent, and a studious mind, to fill it. In Mr. Field we find all of these qualities, which a candidate for this office should possess. We say again, it is an honor to Mr. Field and to Tecumseh.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Do you Know?

That more ills result from an Unhealthy Liver than any other cause—Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, and Malaria usually attend it. Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator is a vegetable specific for Liver Disorders and their accompanying evils. It cures thousands why not be one of them? Take Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator. Your Druggist will supply you.

CANDIDATES NAMED.

POLITICAL PARTIES MEET TO SELECT THEIR LEADERS.

Republican State Convention at Detroit---Prohibition Convention at Lansing---Michigan Club Banquet at Detroit---Other Matters at Other Places.

Secretary W. R. Bates called a goodly number of delegates to order at the state convention of Republicans in Harmonie hall, Detroit. Rev. Dr. Radcliffe opened the proceedings with prayer. Judge Victor H. Lane, of Adrian, was made temporary chairman and W. A. French temporary secretary. Committees were organized and a recess taken.

At the afternoon session the temporary secretary was unable to act and Burton A. Parker was chosen to fill the place. The temporary organization was then made permanent. The credentials committee reported no contests, but delegates from 15 counties were absent. Nominations were declared in order and Delegate Colgrove, of Barry county, at once moved the renomination of Frank A. Hooker by acclamation and he had scarcely concluded his talk when the vote was taken with great unanimity and enthusiasm. The nomination of two candidates for regents of the State university were next in order. Frank W. Fletcher, of Alpena; Dr. Herman Keifer, of Detroit; Henry S. Dean, of Ann Arbor; Edwin E. White, of St. Johns, and Dr. Donald McLean, of Detroit, were named and the balloting began. The first ballot nominated Fletcher and it was made unanimous. All the other candidates withdrew and left the second choice open to Dr. Keifer and Col. Dean. Two ballots were required, the second showing a small majority—451 to 446—in favor of Dr. Keifer, who was declared unanimously renominated. The report of the resolutions committee was adopted. It declared for protection; commended President Harrison's administration; mourned the deaths of Blaine and Hayes; prayed for honest principles as a guidance for the supreme courts of the land; praised the Michigan university and rejoiced that Michigan is again under Republican rule.

Cold Water Men.

About 150 delegates gathered at Lansing in convention to select Prohibition candidates for a justice of the supreme court and two regents of the Michigan university. Rev. H. B. Webster offered prayer and chairman Charles P. Russell called the convention to order. John Geberson, of Clare, was made temporary chairman and E. L. Parmenter, of Hart, temporary secretary. Committees were appointed and a recess was taken.

After dinner the temporary officers were made permanent. Myron H. Walker, of Grand Rapids, was placed in nomination for supreme justice and was chosen by acclaimation. Robert C. Stafford, of Plymouth, and J. F. McCollough, of Adrian, were nominated for regents without opposition. Resolutions were adopted and the convention adjourned.

In the evening Samuel Dickie gave an address on prohibition.

The executive committee of the Grand Lodge I. O. G. T. held a meeting to devise ways and means to procure funds for the erection of a Good Templar's temple at Hackley Park. The building will cost about $5,000.

MICHIGAN CLUB BANQUET.

Speeches by Prominent Men and a Splendid Spread Made all Happy.

The annual banquet given by the Michigan club at Detroit is an event to remember and the eighth gathering of this kind on Washington's birthday was ahead of any of any of the previous efforts. At least 1,000 guests were seated at the tables in the large Auditorium at this spread. On an elevated stage were seated the speakers and honored guests, among them Senators Higgins and Stockbridge, Gen. R. A. Alger, Gov. Rich, Hon Stephen A. Douglas, James F. Burke, Hon. R. G. Horr and Gen. Gibson. Considerable disappointment was felt at the absence of Secretary of the Treasury Foster—detained by official duties—and Secretary of Agriculture Rusk—detained by sickness in his family. Nevertheless the disappointment was soon forgotten when Senator Higgins began a strong address on the annexation of Canada. Hon. R. G. Horr followed. After music James Francis Burke, president of the National League of College clubs, spoke of "The Dangers and Duties Before Us." S. A. Douglas, son of the famous Democratic orator, made the speech of the evening. His toast was "Stand by Your Guns." He said he is and always was a Republican. A Republican today was far different from the Republican of Fremont's day—made so by the events of 1860-'65. He despised the Republican who could be severed an iota from the party principles because of the sneers and carpings of his opponents. He applauded Judge Gresham for his manly change of party affiliations because it was honest and open. He admired Grover Cleveland for "standing by his guns" in the face of defeat to carry his party through to victory with a battle cry which was his firm belief of what was right.

Gen. W. H. Gibson, of Ohio, responded to the toast of "Our Country." Rev. Howard Duffield to "Our Distinguished Guests." The audience joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne" and dispersed.

Clinton was all aglow when the municipal electric lighting plant was started for the first time. The band was out, and the people were admiring both the arc and incandescent systems.

The Lake City bank is now open for business in that town. A. C. Lewis, the cashier, resigned the postmastership to accept a position in the bank. Editor Stout is said to have a "cinch" on the postoffice.

The 33d annual observance of Washington's birthday was made at Ann Arbor under the auspices of the law department. The speaker engaged for the occasion was Hon. Stephen A. Douglass, of Chicago. The exercises were held in University hall, which for the first time this year was crowded to its greatest capacity with an audience of 3,000.

THE LEGISLATORS.

SENATE—Thirty-third day.—Bills introduced: Fixing a limitation of time in which claims of suits for personal injuries may be entered; providing for the selection of candidates for all elective officers; establishing fares for sleeping cars; making an appropriation to aid the State Horticultural society in making an exhibit for the World's Fair; authorizing guardians to have appraised and sell on private sale the interest or share in real estate of minors; amending law regulating telephone companies; amending law relative to the voluntary dissolution of corporations; for the establishment of an asylum for the incurable insane; amending the law relative to the registration of electors in townships; amending law relative to contracting for payment by municipal authorities of cities for improvements, etc.; providing that a watchman be kept at every regular station for the prevention of injury to cattle, horses and other domestic animals; providing for the purchase of additional land for the asylum for the dangerous and criminal insane; amending law relative to public instruction and primary schools; amending game law; amending act for winding up of mining and manufacturing companies; amending liquor law; amending law relative to the care and management of the insane; amending law incorporating sporting associations. HOUSE.—Bills were introduced for the government of the school for the blind, the Ionia asylum for criminal insane, the State Public school at Coldwater, the Reform school and the State Industrial home for girls. Other bills introduced: For a license on sleeping cars, regulating the fare charge and the method of operating the berths; making the age of commitment to the Reform school ten years; for a woman's department at the State Agricultural college; establishing a tax of one-twentieth of a mill for the State Agricultural college; for the selection by lot of seats in the hall of representatives by members at the opening of the sessions of the legislature; amending laws for a state agency for the care of juvenile offenders; providing for the purchase or condemnation of highways for the right of way of street railways; for the retirement of circuit judges after long service; providing for inspection of illuminating oils; providing the placing on passenger cars of gauges to regulate temperature; amending laws relating to drainage; amending general railroad laws; also, for taxation of railroads; amending laws relating to express companies; amending law relating to labor debts; requiring the teaching of music in the public schools; amending laws relating to insurance business; regulating the business of insurance companies; protecting fish by prohibiting certain deposits in the waters; to prevent the unlawful adulteration or mixture of seeds; amending law relating to the incorporation of libraries for religious purposes; amending the building and loan associations act; amending laws relating to taxation; amending the constitution relative to internal improvements; for the election of a commissioner of railroads; for a series of text books defining the duties of officers; for an appropriation of $2,000 for an exhibit of public school work at the World's Fair; for a revision of the constitution; making an appropriation for a school of trades; for the taxation of sleeping cars; for a commission to locate a state normal school; for an improved ballot; for the payment of the troops who attended the dedicatory ceremonies of the World's Fair; for local taxation of railroads; for an increase in the amounts raised for highway purposes in the upper peninsula; prescribing the manner of conducting municipal elections; No. 952, and last, amending the general insurance laws. An evening session was held and the time occupied by music and the introduction of burlesque bills.

SENATE.—Thirty-fourth day—A bill to incorporate the village of Coloma, Berrien county, was passed and given immediate effect. Senator Mears submitted a resolution commending the President for his nomination of Hon. Benton Hanchett to the vacancy on the bench of the Sixth judicial circuit, occupied. Horse.—Several petitions were sent up, among them a number from upper peninsula towns asking for a normal school in that section. The senate joint resolution providing for a vote on constitutional amendments at the spring election was called up. It had passed the Senate but sweets were discovered, and on motion it was referred to the committee on judiciary for correction. A few bills that had been heaped upon the table during the rush were rescued and referred to committees, after which the House adjourned. The temper is to at once get to work in committees and see how rapidly it can be accomplished.

SENATE.—Thirty-fifth day.—The World's Fair appropriation bill was considered and laid over, but the Senate did not concur in the substitute bill to cut the amount to $20,000 which leaves the sum under consideration at $50,000, as presented. In committee of the whole the bill appropriating $15,000 for the Mining school were approved. Bills passed: Amending the charter of Midland; incorporating the village of Deerfield; incorporating the village of White Pigeon; fixing the salary of the probate judge of Bay county at $2,500; authorizing chambers of commerce to hold property to the amount of $50,000; increasing the salary of the lieutenant-governor to $1,200; superintendent of public instruction to $2,000, secretary of state to $2,000 and commissioner of state land office to $2,000. HOUSE.—The legislative visit to Ann Arbor was changed from March 4 to March 9. The committee on judiciary reported favorably on a bill for the employment of convict labor on streets and highways. Senate bill for admission of insane inmates of the Soldiers' Home to the insane asylums of the state was concurred in. Senate resolution commending President Harrison for his appointment of Benton Hanchett, of Saginaw, to the Sixth circuit judgeship, was adopted. Bills passed: Detaching territory from Germfask and attaching the same to Doyle, Schoolcraft Co.; authorizing Frankenmuth, Bena Vista and Blumfeld townships to borrow money to deepen Cheboygan creek, Saginaw county. The Governor has approved the acts authorizing Ann Arbor to borrow money to build sewers; and to prohibit the sale of liquor on the water—being the tum-boat bill."

SENATE.—Thirty-sixth day.—Bills passed: The appropriation bill calling for $10,000 for the Soldiers' home; the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution relative to the salaries of state officers; the bill changing the name of August Johnson to August Hammer; amending the law relative to the incorporation of boards of trade and chambers of commerce; making an appropriation of $15,000 for the temporary relief of the Mining school. The president announced that he had appointed Senators Earle, Sweetney, Mears, Crane and Hough to visit the Detroit house of correction and the governor made known that he had approved the bills changing the name of the reform school to the Industrial school for boys, and the bill incorporating the village of Deckerville, Sanilac county. HOUSE.—No session.

Michigan Man Gets It.

Michigan is again honored. President Harrison has sent to the Senate the nomination of Benton Hanchett, of Saginaw, as United judge for the Sixth judicial district to succeed Judge Howell E. Jackson, recently appointed justice of the supreme court to succeed the late Justice Lamar. The Sixth district includes Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee. The appointment of Mr. Hanchett is almost a complete surprise. Ever since the elevation of Judge Jackson the Michigan people in Washington have been urging upon the President the name of Judge O'Brien, of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Hanchett went to Saginaw in 1859 and is the head of the firm of Hanchett, Stark & Hanchett, and is regarded as one of the first citizens of the valley. Mr. Hanchett is popular with all classes, though a man of great dignity of bearing. He is president of the Saginaw Bar association. He has never been an office seeker, but is devote to his profession and has just been elected grand counsel of the F. & P. M. Railroad company.

Mrs. Herbert Kimball, who died at Alpena last December, was the victim of foul play. The liver, stomach and intestines were sent to Ann Arbor and the University chemists have discovered plenty of evidence of arsenical poisoning. Mrs. Kimball was buried, and it was some time before the scandal developed and the remains were disinterred. No arrests have been made.

TO GET AT THE FACTS.

Regarding Hood's Sarsaparilla, ask people who take this medicine, or read the testimonials often published in this paper. They will certainly convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses unequalled merit, and that Hood's Cures.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

When a man eloped with Biggs' wife he exclaimed, "Well, I can't blame him, poor fellow! I was awfully infatuated with her myself once."

DON'T GET IMPOSED UPON.

Is a good motto to follow in buying medicine as well as in everything else. By the universal satisfaction it has given, and by the many remarkable cures it has accomplished, Dullam's Great German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure has proven itself unequalled for building up and cleansing your system and for all diseases arising from impure blood. Do not experiment with an unheard of or untried article which you are told is as good, but get sure and get Dullam's. All druggists keep it. For sale by Jno. Orr.

People with delicate stomachs find Ayer's Sarsaparilla agreeable to the taste, and, therefore, prefer it as a blood purifier to any other. This is one reason for its great popularity as a spring and family medicine. Safe, certain, and palatable.

GREAT OAKS

From little acorns grow, so also do fatal diseases spring from small beginnings. Never neglect symptoms of Kidner Troubles; if allowed to develop they cause much suffering and sorrow. Dr. J. H. BRIEF NEWS MENTION

MATTERS OF MORE OR LESS INTEREST TO ALL.

Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, Bankrupted by Trying to Help a Friend.---President Harrison Honors Michigan by Honoring One of Her Sons.

A plan for the adjustment of the financial affairs of Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, decided upon by a conference of some of the governor's friends. It will be remembered that Gov. McKinley indorsed the paper of Robert L. Walker, a banker and a boyhood friend, for something over $100,000. The banker failed carrying Gov. McKinley down with him. The governor makes an absolute and unqualified assignment of all his property. It is a general assignment without reservation, dedicating all the governor's property to the equal benefit of his creditors without preference. Gov. McKinley determined upon this course for the reason, among others, that he feels certain that the trustees, who are gentlemen of experience and ability in business affairs, can realize more from his estate for his creditors than he himself could, pressed as he is with public matters. Mrs. McKinley has strenuously insisted from the beginning upon devoting her property, which came from her father and mother, to the payment of the governor's debts. This her friends and the friends of the governor were determined she should not do, as the sacrifice of her private estate is in their judgement not demanded by any consideration whatever. In order, however, to satisfy Mrs. McKinley's persistent wish, a deed was executed by her, conveying her property to trustees for the benefit of her husband's creditors.

Two Trains Collide.

The northbound express from Washington for New York on the Pennsylvania railroad crashed into the Morton accommodation near Philadelphia. President Harrison was on a special train following the express. His train was delayed about half an hour and then proceeded to New York. The tracks of the central division and the main line cross at the place where the accident occurred. The accommodation had the right of way, but owing to the slippery condition of the tracks the engineer of the express was unable to control his train, and the locomotive crashed into the third car of the commodation, cutting it in two in the middle. No one on the express was injured, and the engine was damaged so slightly that it proceeded to New York with the train half an hour afterward. The express was made up entirely of heavy Pullmans and the light passenger car of the accommodation was hurled fifty feet from the track, broken and smashed by the terrible force of the blow.

Four passengers on the accommodation were instantly killed and 10 severely injured. A number of prominent persons were passengers on the express train, among them Congressmen Dingley and Belknap, ex-Postmaster-General Frank Hatton, Senator Washburn. All rendered what aid they could to the injured passengers, but no one was more energetic than Congressman Charles E. Belknap, of Michigan.

Orders Misunderstood.

A wreck occurred on the Pennsylvania, Schuylkill Valley railroad, between Phœnixville and Spring City, Pa. A shifting engine, going east with an empty train of 40 coal cars collided with an extra freight running west, about one and a half miles west of Spring City. The shifting engine was totally demolised, and both engines lay on their sides with 14 coal cars completely broken up. Watson Weller, John Dennis and Walter Brunner were riding on the shifting engine on their way home to Norristown. Weller and Dennis were killed. Fireman McCord and Flagman Davis, of the shifting engine crew, who reside at Phœnixville, were seriously injured. John Forrester, the engineer of the shifter, was also badly hurt. Fireman McCord died while being removed to his home. The accident was the result of a misunderstanding of orders.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.—Fifty-third day—The sundry civil appropriation bill occupied the day. HOUSE.—The New York and New Jersey bridge bill was passed as were the naval and agricultural appropriation bills. Adjourned.

SENATE.—Fifty-fourth day—The consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed. An amendment appropriating $10,000 for a public building at Jackson, Mich., was agreed to. An amendment to allow $25,000 for a statistical exhibit at the World's Fair illustrating the progress of the colored race was agreed to as were also the following amendments: To increase the appropriation for surveys of public lands from $300,000 to $400,000; appropriating $125,000 for survey of public lands lying within railroad land grants the cost to be reimbursed by the railroad companies; to reduce the appropriation for the expenses of protecting timber on the public lands from $50,000 to $40,000; appropriating $110,000 to reimburse the state of Nevada for money expended in the suppression of the rebellion; permitting the state of South Dakota to select lands in the Fort Randall military reservation as a part of the lands granted to it; to strike out of the bill a provision for the detail of the clerks from the Interior Department to protect timber on the public lands. The bill was then reported to the Senate from the committee of the whole and all the amendments (unreserved) were agreed to. Senate joint resolution to allow Alberto Gutrola, of Salvador, to receive instruction at the military academy at West Point was passed. HOUSE.—Mr. Chipman, of Michigan, offered a resolution to ascertain on what authority the name of Charles E. Belknap had been inserted in the list of members-elect as the representative of the Fifth district of Michigan. The postoffice appropriation bill was taken up, but gave way to the automatic car coupler bill. A motion mas made that the Senate amendments to the bill be concurred in. Then a system of filibustering began. It was found that there was no quorum and the sergeant-at-arms was dispatched to bring in the absentees, but was unsuccessful. Neither side would give in and the House continued in session throughout the night.

SENATE.—Fifty-fifth day—Washington's farewell address was read as a preface to the day's session. The remaining amendments to the sundry civil appropriation bill were disposed of and the bill passed. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was agreed to. The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill was taken up, but no progress was made on it. Executive session. Adjourned. HOUSE.—It was a fight between the postoffice appropriation bill and the anti-option bill. The former was victorious and was passed when the Indian appropriation bill was called up and discussed. No action. Adjourned.

SENATE.—Fifty-sixth day—The diplomatic and consular appropriation bill and the military academy appropriation bill were passed. The legislature, executive and judicial appropriation bill (which carries $22,000,000) was considered but not acted upon. HOUSE.—The sundry civil appropriation bill was received from the Senate and referred. The conference report on the army appropriation bill was agreed to. Mr. Hilary A. Herbert, the newly appointed secretary of the navy under Cleveland was given a cordial reception when he entered the hall. In committee of the whole the Indian appropriation bill was under discussion. No action. Committee arose and the House adjourned.

SENATE.—Fifth-seventh day.—The legislative appropriation bill was considered. No action. HOUSE.—Mr. Hatch made another unsuccessful attempt to secure the consideration of the anti-option bill, but the Indian appropriation bill was taken up instead. The sundry civil appropriation was referred to the committee of the whole. Evening session—private pension bills.

SENATE.—Fifty-eighth day.—No business of importance transacted. Adjourned in respect to the memory of the late representative Spinola, of New York. HOUSE.—There was a sharp fight on the sundry civil bill and a system of filibustering was introduced by the oppenents of the Sherman bond amendment which blocked the proceedings and the bill went over without action. Adjourned as a mark of respect to the memory of the late senator Barbour, of Virginia.

County Treasurer an Embezzler.

A great sensation was caused in Grayling by the arrest of ex-County Treasurer Charles M. Jackson, on a charge of unlawfully appropriating county money to his own use. The special committee of the board of supervisors who had been at work on the books of the county treasurer have finished their work and placed the amount of Mr. Jackson's shortage at $13,000.

Mr. Jackson is one of the pioneers of Crawford county and has held many positions of trust in the county. He was county treasurer for the past four years and has always been highly respected. He is confident that he will be able to set matters all right in a short time.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, February 27.—R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says: While gold exports have been very heavy there is no increase of apprehension about the monetary future and the business world paid little attention to the action or inaction of Congress, though the increasing probabilities of an extra session are regarded with some interest. Speculation in products has not been very heavy. Wheat is a cent lower and corn and pork products scarcely changed. Cotton is an eighth higher, but receipts are small, and the anticipated failure of the anti-option bill effected the trade more than conditions of supply and demand. The treasury has not materially changed its balances in spite of gold shipments, and exports of merchandise from New York are a little more satisfactory, closely approximating last year's for February. Imports continue extraordinarily large, and the outgo of gold must be expected to remain heavy as long as present trade conditions last, unless foreign purchases of American securities should come to balance the account. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the past seven days have numbered 230. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 270.

MICHIGAN MATTERS.

WOLVERINE NEWS IN BRIEF BUT COMPREHENSIVE FORM.

Two Wealthy but Miserly Brothers, Who Lived Alone, Found Dead.---A Farmer Hangs Himself Because His Wife a Baptist,---Port Huron Murder Trial.

Thomas and John Fagan were wealthy farmers and lived on a 200-acre farm near Holly. For several days nothing had been seen of the brothers, and no tracks could be seen about the the place. A neighbor mistrasted that all was not right, and tried the doors of the dwelling house, but found them locked. He then broke in the window, and found the two men dead upon the floor. A search of the premises was made, and up stairs the wool crop for several years was packed away, and on overhauling it about $50,000 in currency was found. The brothers were aged respectively 75 and 80 years, and one had been sick for several weeks, and it is thought the other was also taken ill, and they both froze to death. The money was placed in a large package and taken to the Holly bank. The brothers had lived upon the farm for many years and neither had ever married, and were known as miserly men. They never employed any female help about the house.

WELL-TO-DO FARMER SUICIDES

Because His Wife Becomes a Member of a Baptist Church.

Wesley Hover, aged 45, a well-to-do farmer living one mile south of Unionville, committed suicide by hanging. His wife had recently been baptized at the Unionville Baptist church. Mr. Hover objected to this which resulted in a quarrel, Mrs. Hover packing up and going to live with a daughter at Akron. Becoming lonely Mr. Hover went to Akron and persuaded his wife to return home. The next morning got up as usual, built the fires and went to the barn apparently to do the chores. A short time after his son-in-law found him hanging by the neck dead, with his feet on the floor, the rope used being a little too long. Mr. and Mrs. Hover have been divorced and remarried twice. His father is now in the asylum at Kalamazoo.

They Had only Flour to Eat.

A case of dire destitution has come to light near Hudson. For a long time Charles Dumke, a farm laborer, had lain ill with peritonitis and pneumonia and not a person outside of the immediate family knew his condition until his death. When neighbors went to the house they learned that the family, consisting of husband, wife and six children, were almost destitute of clothing and had nothing to eat but flour. The children could not go to school for thin calico dresses were all they had to wear to keep out the cold. The little boy would sit up at night rather than go to bed under the thin covering. When the neighbors learned the situation, clothing and food were readily secured, but it was too late so far as the father and husband was concerned. Money was raised to give him a decent burial.

KUEHN CONVICTED.

Port Huron's Murder Trial Results in a Finding of a Second Degree Murder.

Thilo Kuehn has been, for the second time, found guilty of the murder of Wesley McDonald, at Port Huron, a jury bringing in a verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree, that being the gravest crime of which he could be convicted. The prisoner listened to the verdict without any outward show of emotion, only turning a shade paler on hearing the verdict announced. His wife and five of his children, who were also in court at the time, did not either appear to be very much affected. The result of the trial meets with general approval.

Senator Burt's Rich Find.

Senator Wellington R. Burt, of Saginaw, has struck it rich again. He purchased some time ago a 40-acre tract of land near Duluth. It has been discovered that the land has for its foundation a mass of iron ore. The ore, which lies only 15 feet beneath the surface, covered with light earth, ranges high to Bessemer and low to phosphorus. There is an immense deposit and holes put down all over the 40-acre tract show 10,000,000 tons in sight and easily accessible. Owing to its softness the ore can be mined with steam shovels. Mr. Burt has leased the land and will receive a royalty of 30 cents a ton. It is likely to net him $300,000 a year.

Agricultural Implement Dealers.

About 100 agricultural implement dealers of Michigan met in Jackson and organized a state association for mutual benefit and protection. The following officers were elected: President, C. W. Young, of Paw Paw; vice-president, A. E. Fitzgerald, of Bellevue; secretary, W. L. C. Reid, of Jackson; treasurer, F. B. Schroeder, of Howell. The constitution as adopted states the objects to be to promote the interests of and secure the friendly relations and co-operation of dealers throughout the state.

Cheap Rates for Vets.

C. V. R. Pond, assistant adjutant-general, has sent out Commander Deane's general order No. 15. It makes known that word has been received announcing the decision of the Railway Passenger Agents' Association of Michigan, to make a one and one-third fare for the round trip to Benton Harbor on account of the department encampment. Tickets will be on sale March 6, 7 and 8 good to return March 10.

A committee appointed by Governor Crapo Post, G. A. R., of Flint, is engaged in raising funds to secure the next state encampment of the G. A. R., for Flint. A determined effort to accomplish this end will be made, and the prospects look bright for securing the encampment.

The Second Michigan cavalry met at Eaton Rapids with 60 veterans present. The following officers were elected: President, H. M. Hempstead, Stanton; vice-president, Robert Mason, Wacousta; secretary, Marvin Edhert Jr., Grand Rapids; historian, Marshall P. Thatcher, Detroit.

STRENGTH AND HEALTH.

If you are not feeling strong and healthy, try Electric Bitters. If the grippe has left you weak and weary, use Electric Bitters. This remedy acts directly on the liver, stomach and kidneys, greatly aiding those organs to perform their functions. If you are afflicted with sick headache you will find speedy and permanent relief by taking Electric Bitters. One trial will convince you that this is the remedy you need. Large bottles only 50c. at J. J. Orr's drug store.

ARE YOU BILIOUS?

Do you suffer from Indigestion, Sick Headache, Malaria Biliousness, Constipation? Parmelee's Mandrake and Dandelion Bitters are intended for just such conditions. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by dealers.

WOULD IT PAY.

It certainly would not pay for the owners of a poor remedy to guarantee it and refund the money if it failed to give satisfaction. That is what the manufacturers of Hamilton's Cough Balsam do. It must be a first-class remedy. 25 cents buys a large bottle. Sold by dealers.

FOR MAN OR BEAST.

Cures all the flesh, bone and muscle diseases in either. Relieves pain. In every respect it is the best Liniment made. Parmelee's Universal Liniment. In 25 and 50c sizes. Sold by dealers.

Do you find it very hard to get your husband through the telephone? Inquired Mrs. Boggs of her friend. Mrs. Scroggs, I never tried it, answered Mrs. Scroggs, he weighs 200.

That old established cough remedy, Downs' Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a home remedy, and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.

"Rather lean on inward worth than outward show." If you trust to Pearline you can do both. It will show its worth in washing clothes and cleaning house, with half of the labor and none of the usual troubles. You will only be "tried" if you try to do without it. Nothing can suffer if you use it; everything will suffer if you don't.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. 223 JAMES PYLE, N.Y.

BUCKWHEAT FOR BREAKFAST.

Early on a winter morning,
When the frost is on the rails,
And we eat by light o' candle
[illegible]
In the savor of the kitchen
How the appetite awakes!
How we gorge the toothsome morsels—
Light and wholesome buckwheat cakes!

Coming on the table steaming,
Stacked up high upon the dish,
Sight to make a sad heart gladden,
What more could a mortal wish?
Forks attack in goodly number,
Everybody likes them hot:
Cook has counted well the noses,
Not a single one's forgot.

Take a cake upon your platter,
Island make of it with cream,
Then a bit of golden butter—
Epicure, it is a dream:
Put a cake upon the butter,
Let the butter melt between,
Trickle o'er a little honey—
'Twere a dish for gods, I ween.

Talk about your land of Canaan!
This is good enough for me;
Give me buckwheat cakes for breakfast,
And I'll quite contented be.
Here's a land of golden butter—
Land of milk where honey flows;
Let me live and die in clover,
In this land where buckwheat grows!

THE MILLINER'S GIRL.

How a Banana Rind Brought Her a Husband.

How it rained, that bleak winter night! How mercilessly the torrents came down, rebounding in sheets of spray from the pavements and swelling the gutters into miniature rivers! Through the whitening mist the shop windows flared dimly and the yellow stars of the street lamps shone like beacon lights far out at sea. There were not many pedestrians on Broadway that night, save those compelled by grim necessity to face the storm; and Guy Moreau, striding down the western side, had the right of way all to himself.

"There's no hurry, no hurry in the world," said Mr. Moreau, calmly, to himself. "My hat is ruined already, and my coat is fit for nothing but the outside pegs of a second-hand clothing store. Consequently—. Hallo, here, what's the matter?"

He stopped short at the sound of a slight scream, close to him. A shabbily dressed young girl carrying a load of oil-cloth-shielded bandboxes had slipped on a piece of banana rind, almost at his feet.

Guy Moreau made no pretensions to the rank of a Chevalier Bayard, but he had a kindly human heart within his bosom, and stepped instantly forward to help the young girl up.

"Not hurt, are you?" he asked kindly.

The girl looked at him with big eyes full of pain and terror.

"My bandboxes!" faltered she, glancing eagerly around. "They're not wet, are they?"

"No—but you are. Look at your shawl, poor thing!"

"Oh, that's no matter," said she. "It was very awkward of me to slip so, and—"

"What's the matter now?" Moreau asked.

For she had stopped short in the attempt to move forward again.

"I'm afraid my ankle is sprained!" she wailed. "Oh, dear, what shall I do?"

"Sprained, is it? (Confound those people who eat bananas and fling the rind on the pavement!" inwardly muttered Guy.). "Let me call a hack," he added, aloud.

"Oh, no, sir!" shrinking back. "I couldn't afford a hack. I'm only a milliner's apprentice and all these hats must be delivered before nine o'clock to-night."

Guy looked reflectively down at the bandboxes, then at the pale, pretty face, with its dark, Spanish eyes and lashes sprinkled with rain.

"I'm afraid you'll hardly manage it," said he.

"But I must!" said the girl, positively.

"Can't you take 'em back to the shop?"

"It's closed for the night, and madame would never forgive me for not delivering the hats. I—I think I could walk very slowly."

But as she made the effort her cheeks blanched once more with pain and a low cry involuntarily escaped from her lips.

"No," said she, "I can't walk. Oh, what shall I do?"

Guy knit his brows and considered a moment.

"How far from here do you live?" he asked.

"On Bleecker street—only a little way—but the hats!"

"Don't fret about the hats," said Moreau. "I'll attend to the hats. How many of 'em are there? Ticketed and labeled all right? Here, lean on my arm, and I'll take the band-boxes in my left hand. Now, then! Not too fast!"

Guy Moreau had never been in a working woman's room before, and as he stood on the threshold he could but marvel at the aspect of utter destitution that pervaded it. A little girl who was making artificial flowers by the light of a kerosene lamp sprang to her feet at the sound of their steps.

"Oh, Nelly, are you hurt? What is the matter?" cried she. "What makes you look so white?"

"It's my little sister," said the girl, turning to her conductor. "We live here together. Oh, sir, I am very much obliged to you!"

But when Guy Moreau was gone, old Mrs. Macrabbin, who had come upstairs to rub Nelly Knox's ankle with camphor shook her head gloomily at the recital of the evening's adventure.

"Wasn't he kind? And a perfect stranger, too," said Nelly, radiantly.

"Poor dear!" said Mrs. Macrabbin. "What do you know about the ways of a city? It's no ways likely that you'll ever see hide nor hair of them bonnets again."

"What do you mean?" cried Nelly, indignantly.

"Mean? Why, that it's a confidence game, to be sure, and your fine, genteel young man has made off with the French bonnets."

"Nonsense!" cried Nelly. "With a face like that—and such a voice, and such a manner?"

"Well," said Mrs. Macrabbin, "we'll see!"

And she rubbed away harder than ever.

"Young man," said Mrs. Petherick soufly, "what do you mean by leaving a white tulle hat here with a water-lilly and three sinful plumes on it? Do I look like a person who wears water-lilies and marabou?"

And Guy, who was walking whistling away after leaving his last bandbox, stopped short at the old lady's shrill voice.

"Hello!" said he. "I've left the Petherick hat at St. James', and the St. James' hat at Petherick's. I must go back."

"I should think so," said Mrs. Petherick. "In my days, errand-men attended to their business. Nine o'clock at night, and my new black velvet hat, with the satin bows, not come home!"

"I'm very sorry, ma'am," said Guy.

"Much difference it makes whether you are sorry or not," said Mrs. Petherick, leveling her blue spectacles wrathfully at Mr. Moreau. "You must be a very presuming young man to have any opinions at all on the subject. I beg that you will set this awkward blunder right at once, and I shall most assuredly report it to Mme. Dunoyer."

And Mr. Moreau had no alternative but to trudge back again through the blinding rain to Miss Honora St. James' brown-stone residence.

"The milliner's man again!" said Miss St. James, sharply. "Well, I should think! To leave me a dowdy old black-velvet thing, instead of my white-crape opera-hat! And to come back at this time of night! I shall certainly let Mme. Dunoyer know what I think of it! Here, you, boy! Is this the way you— My goodness me! It's Mr. Moreau!"

Guy burst out laughing—he could not help it—at the comical suddenness with which Honora's frown melted into smiles.

"I beg your pardon, Miss St. James," said he, "but I am really very deserving of blame. Here's your bandbox, and I've left old Mrs. Petherick's here by mistake."

"Is it a joke," said the bewildered fair one, "or a wager, or what?"

"Neither one nor the other," said Guy. "Sober, serious, earnest. And now, if you'll let me have the other bonnet, I'll get back before Mrs. Petherick's rage waxes any hotter."

He lifted his dripping beaver and vanished with the bandbox under his arm, smiling to himself at the insight he had obtained into Miss St. James' character.

"A regular little virago!" he told himself. "A face like oxalic acid and a voice that would do for a fishwoman! Truly, 'we are not what we seem.'"

He went back the next evening to tell Nelly Knox that he had duly performed her behests.

"Nelly isn't here," said the pale little girl, who was wiring the flowers on stems as diligently as if she had never left off. "She's gone to madame's. She goes at seven every morning, and don't come back till nine at night."

"Oh!" said Guy. "And how's her foot?"

"Very lame," said the child, moistening a fresh wire at her lips and twisting it around until our hero's eyes grew giddy with following her motion. "But she leaned on a cane and— Why, here's Nelly now. And crying, too!"

"Hello!" said Guy. "What's the matter?"

"I'm discharged," said the girl, with a sob in her throat. "Mrs. Petherick has been there, and—"

"Mrs. Petherick is an old cat!" interrupted Guy, hotly. "And, it's all my fault! Don't cry! You're not able to work now," as Nelly sank, white and exhausted, on a chair.

"Yes, I know," said Nelly, "but what are we to do? Fan can only earn a dollar and a half a week, and if I am without work—"

"I can get you work," said Guy. "All you want! Loads of it!"

And, vanishing, he presently returned with a roll of forty yards of Wamsutta, which he flung exultantly on the floor.

"But what am I to do with it?" said bewildered Nelly.

"What? Why, make it into four dozen shirts, to be sure!" said Mr. Moreau.

"But, that is all nonsense," said Nelly, with a quivering lip. "I am poor—but I can't take charity."

"It's not charity," asseverated Mr. Moreau. "I need new shirts, and I hire you to make 'em! Where's the charity!"

"But—four dozen!"

"If I wanted fourteen dozen I've a right to order 'em, I suppose. Besides, I've some notion of fitting out a shipload of missionaries for the San Benicia islands. If you want buttons or needles and thread, get 'em, and charge 'em in the bill."

"Yes; but—"

"Well, what now?" lifting his eyebrows.

"What size, am I to make them?"

Guy looked a little puzzled at this.

"Make 'em four different sizes, and then some of 'em will be sure to suit," said he, triumphantly.

"Wedding cake, eh?" said Mrs. Macrabbin. "Put up in a watered-silk box and tied with white satin ribbon! Stuck full of plums and citron and smelling of spices! Well, it's very good of Nelly Knox to think of me, now that she's a great lady and has a whole house of her own, with velvet carpets on the floor and two maid-servants to wait on her; and little Fan at a boarding-school, too, and going to be brought up like a lady. And it all came from Nelly's slipping on a bit of banana-peel that rainy night. I'd go out and slip down on one myself, if I thought it would do any good. I told Nelly he was a real gentleman the first time I ever set eyes on him."

And Mrs. Macrabbin firmly believed she was speaking the truth.—Amy Randolph, in N. Y. Ledger.

GALVANIZED It is not enough to make portions of a wheel of galvanized metal. That leaves exposed edges and is not so good as painting. The Steel Aermotor is entirely galvanized, being completely and absolutely protected from rust and decay.

Are you curious to know how the motor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 35 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown, except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing to manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by skilled mechanical engineers in which over 5,000 experimental tests were made on different forms of wheels, governed by artificial and natural uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. MACON MUSIC.

Sam Hatch, of Detroit, spent Sunday at home.

Rev. Ramsdell will continue the revival meetings through this week.

Mrs. Lilburn Hatch started for her new home in Jackson Monday morning.

Misses Nettie Crittenden and Carrie Camburn, of the Normal, spent Sunday at home.

Fred Avery, of Traverse City, is the guest of his brother, Will Avery, for a few days.

Little Ernest Burdette has been very sick the past week but is improving at present writing.

Miss Hause and Miss Florence Green, of Clinton, were guests of Edith Cotton from Friday until Sunday.

Miss Ella Mills gave a dancing party last Wednesday evening in honor of her friend, Mr. Cheesbro, of Toledo.

Dr. Coller, of Battle Creek, spent several days with his brother, Lester Coller, returning Monday morning.

Mr. Cheesbro and a friend from Toledo, Ohio, have been spending the past two weeks at the home of Isaac Mills.

Quite a number of our young people attended the entertainment given by the Marshall P. Wilder Co. at Tecumseh Friday evening and were very much pleased with it.

Eighteen members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. of Tecumseh, with several others from our village, spent last Tuesday evening at the home of Milan Sage. An oyster supper was served and the evening pleasantly spent.

Raisin Valley Seminary.

Peter Hansen spent Sunday at Raisin Center as the guest of Mr. E. C. Chase.

About sixty of the Seminary students enjoyed a very pleasant party for Miss Mabel Graves at the home of Arthur Green Monday evening, Feb. 27th.

The teachers' examination at Adrian March 2d and 3rd was attended by quite a large delegation from the Seminary. Look out for some excellent teachers.

The work in orthœpy and Junior German having been completed, those classes are engaged in the enjoyable process of examinations this week. Classes in botany and civil government have been organized.

That wistful, far-away, dreamy expression in the eyes of the half-dozen Sophomores has at last vanished. They imagine themselves in Elysium. They are an organized class with the following able officers in charge:

President—A. G. Swartz.
Vice President—Chas. Robert Burns.
Secretary—Clara Judson.
Ass't Secretary—Henry Ostrander.
Treasurer—John Harvey Burns.

The Seniors have at last organized. As is the custom when a class is organized, the number of officers was made to correspond to the number of members. The following officers were chosen by a rising vote:

President—Frederick E. Hunt, of Rome.
Secretary—Linora Charles, of Tecumseh.
Executive Com.—Dell Vedder, Clarence Burtless, Will Dawson.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

Will Gordon is home from Adrian, where he has been teaching this winter.

Holloway & Florence have received another carload of corn, which sells at 50c. per bushel.

The Free Methodists are holding revival meetings at their church here, which are well attended every night of the week.

Last Friday afternoon Rev. DeHaan was the recipient of a surprise party of about forty or fifty persons. A purse was made up and presented to the dominie as an appreciation of his good work this winter.

Mysterious doings in K. O. T. M. hall will soon be brought before the public. What a nation these Maccabees are! They are not going to be outdone by any of the ladies' hives in the secret art, but a little will leak out here and there in spite of all.

We have been informed that we are soon to have a female trio of milk wagon drivers in this burg. We think it will be a big thing. The sisters and daughters of the patrons of the creamery can just as well help out the men folks when the pressing work comes as not. Here's luck to the enterprise. The fair ones are now being instructed in the management of a team by two of Holloway's most enterprising young men.

Tecumseh and Franklin Club.

The club will meet at the home of C. A. Matthews March 17th 1893, with the following program.

Recitation—Bertha VanValkenburg.
Reading—B. Hurry.
Chip Basket—Mrs. A. Welch.
Charade—Mrs. A. Hair.
Dec.—Floyd Ager.
Dialogue—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Waldron and others.
Dec.—Willie Lambkin.
Five minutes speech—Wm. Waldron.
Reading—Jennie Osborn.
Question:—Is it profitable to use commercial fertilizers? Opened by W. S. Osborn followed by George Swartz and others.
Is the state crop report any benefit to the farmers?—Opened by B. Hurry.

THE MODERN INVALID

Has tastes medicinally, in keeping with other luxuries. A remedy must be pleasantly acceptable in form, purely wholesome in composition, truly beneficial in effect and entirely free from every objectionable quality. If really ill he consults a physician; if constipated he uses the gentle family laxative Syrup of Figs.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

Minnie Sisson returned from Brooklyn Saturday for a month's stay.

A. Russell has rented his farm and moved to Britton.

Henry Karcher has moved onto his farm on the Ridge, bought of Mrs. Beckley.

Frank Miller has moved back onto the farm. His mother, Mrs. Sarah A. Miller, who has been spending the winter at Manton, Wexford Co., returned home last week.

The leading social event of the season was a select party at Isaac Mills' on Wednesday evening, March 1st, in honor of two guests from Toledo—Fred A. Cheesbro and Tona De Angelo, who, by the way, are artists on the guitar and mandolin. "Tripping the light fantastic" was sandwiched in with the evening's enjoyment. There was a bountiful spread of refreshments and the company were highly elated over the magnificence of the entertainment. A. Easlick and family were favored with a musical entertainment by the same parties Saturday evening.

Well, I should remark that Alex Easlick "ought to be posted on the good roads topic." Ten or fifteen years ago, when Scove Stacy was younger and attended parties at the Lake Ridge house, there was a bad piece of highway where the Macon stream cuts the Ridge road near Alex. Easlick's; but about those days there was a $50-job let for gravelling said piece of road 50 rods long, one foot deep and 8 feet wide on top, and ever since then that particular piece of road has been the best part of the historic Ridge, noted for its beautiful driveways and great pleasure resort for wheelmen.

Resolutions of Respect.

At the last regular meeting of Macon Grange, No. 167, held Feb. 25th, 1893, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, in the Providence of God, we as a Grange have been afflicted in the death of Sister Sarah Ann Osgood, who has been a faithful and valued member of Macon Grange for eighteen years, we feel deeply this our loss, while we bow in submission to the will of the Master; yet we remember with sadness that we shall miss her counsel and advice, and her sympathy and her social qualities which so endeared her to us, and realize that we shall see her face no face at our gatherings and our work, therefore we wish to place upon the records of our Grange our high appreciation of her merits and friendships and co-operation, and our sorrow caused by her death. She was an active, efficient member for many years, greatly endearing herself to every member by her gentle deportment and kindness of heart, as well as by her more active service.

Therefore, resolved, that as a Grange in session we unanimously make mention of her rare gifts, personal friendships and her usefulness in the work of the Grange, and that we express our sincere sorrow, and also do send hereby our condolence to the husband and family of our deceased sister, and our heartfelt sympathy with them in this sad bereavement, commending them and ourselves to the tender mercy of our Great Master above.

Done in Macon Grange No. 167, in session Saturday evening, Feb. 25, '93.

CLEVELAND INAUGURATED AS PRESIDENT.

An Interesting Account of the Inaugural Doings at the Capital of the Nation—President Cleveland's Address—Grand Parade—The Ball, Toilets, Etc.

The fourth of March eighteen hundred and ninety-three was a blustery, blizzardy day, ill-fitted for the inauguration of a new ruler for 65,000,000 people. Snow and wind were the only marring features of the great event. Grover Cleveland was on that day given command of the grand called by a majority of the electors of Uncle Sam's glorious domain.

Benjamin Harrison on that day stepped down from the President's chair, which he had occupied for four years—years which to him had undoubtedly been the happiest and yet the most sorrowful of his life.

But the weather did not prevent the grandeur of the inauguration. The parade was not so extensive, and probably not half of the 60,000 men who had intended to march were in line. But the crowds were out on Pennsylvania avenue. The stands at the Treasury building and other advantageous points were crowded and afforded seats for fully 60,000 people. As many more saw the inaugural procession from windows, balconies and roofs, while both sides of the wide, historic avenue were lined with people who stood with wet feet and numbed hands to see the new President.

As early as 7 o'clock large crowds of people gathered about the Arlington Hotel, where the Cleveland party were quartered, and it was not long after that time when Vice-President-elect Stevenson called upon the President-elect. At about 11 o'clock a fine four-in-hand conveyance turned up to the main entrance and Mr. Cleveland, escorted by Senators Teller and Jackson, was seen on the way to the White House. Mr. Stevenson and escort following immediately. At the White House all preparations had been made for the reception of the distinguished people. The President had been at work since 8 o'clock and had met the Cabinet during the morning.

It was shortly after 11 o'clock when President-elect Cleveland and Vice-President-elect Stevenson, accompanied by the Senate committee on arrangements, entered the executive mansion. They were received by President Harrison in the blue room. Five minutes later the President and his successor reappeared, and, entering an open carriage, the march of the procession to the Capitol began. Mr. and Mrs. McKee remained at the White House to receive the President and Mrs. Cleveland upon their return from the Capitol.

At 12 o'clock the party arrived at the east entrance to the Capitol and was cheered by a large crowd as they entered the grand structure. The President bowed to Mr. Cleveland as they entered the marble room and, unattended, walked to the President's where he found sufficient work to keep him busy for some time. The members of the Cabinet were also present. Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Stevenson had been ushered into the private room of Mr. Morton, where a buffet lunch was served.

The Senate in Extra Session.

In the meantime the galleries of the Senate chamber had become packed to suffocation. In the President's gallery were Mrs. and Miss Morton and the party of Vice-President-elect Stevenson, consisting of Mrs. Stevenson, three daughters and several nieces. Mrs. Lamont and Mrs. Bissell were also in the gallery. Mrs. Cleveland, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Perrine and the latter's husband came soon after noon and took seats in the presidential gallery. The first of the distinguished guests to arrive—and to take their positions in the chamber were the members of the diplomatic corps, in the full court uniform of their respective nations. The diplomatic corps was followed by the supreme court. The Senate stood up to receive it, as it had done in the case of the diplomatic corps, and the chief justices in their black silk judicial robes took their seats. At 11:45 (8 nate clock) the speaker and House of Representatives were announced. At this time the general spectacle was magnificent. The galleries were filled with elegantly dressed ladies, with a few gentlemen scattered among them. The Senators from forty-four states were all in their places.

When the Senate clock indicated 11:50, but when the actual time was 12:50, the Vice-President-elect was announced and he took his chair at the right of Vice-President Morton. Immediately afterward the President of the United States and his Cabinet were announced, and President Harrison and the members of his Cabinet entered the chamber. Mr. Harrison was escorted to one of the chairs standing in front of the clerk's desk. Immediately afterward the President-elect was announced, and Mr. Cleveland took the chair next to Mr. Harrison. Then Vice-President Morton administered the oath of office to his successor and yielded to him the chair of the presiding officer.

The special session of the Senate of the Fifty-third Congress was then formally opened with prayer by Chaplain Butler. Vice-President Stevenson rose and addressed the Senate:

"Senators—Deeply impressed with a sense of its responsibilities and of its dignity, I now enter upon the discharge of the duties of the high office to which I have been called. I assume the duties of the great trust confided to me with no feeling of self-confidence but rather with that of grave distrust of my ability satisfactorily to meet its requirements. I may be pardoned for saying that it shall be my earnest endeavor to discharge the important duties which lie before me with no less of impartiality and courtesy than of firmness and fidelity. Earnestly invoking the co-operation, the forbearance, the charity of each of its members, I now enter upon my duties as presiding officer of the Senate."

WILSON S. BISSELL.
(Postmaster-General.)

Secretary of the Senate McCook read the proclamation of the President convening the Senate in extraordinary session and then the Senators newly elected or re-elected came forward, each escorted by his colleague, and the oath of office was solemnly administered by the Vice-President, the Senators afterward subscribing to the same at the clerk's desk.

All the preliminaries having been duly disposed of the Vice-President directed the sergeant-at-arms to proceed to the execution of the order of the Senate relative to the inauguration of the President of the United States. The procession to the east portico of the Capitol was then begun.

The Inauguration Address.

About 1:35 o'clock the doors leading into the rotunda [illegible] the inaugural stand swung open and Marshal Dan Ransdell, of the District of Columbia, and Marshal Wright, of the United States Supreme Court, appeared, heading the procession. Ex-Vice-President Morton and Chief Justice Fuller and the Justices of the Supreme Court, except Judges Blatchford, Field and Harlan, came next. Then came Sergeant-at-Arms Valentine and Senators Teller, McPherson and Ransom, of the committee of arrangements, preceding President Harrison and President-elect Cleveland, who walked side by side.

Behind the incoming and outgoing Presidents followed members of the Senate and an unusually large contingent from the diplomatic corps, members of the House of Representatives, Governors of states and other official persons.

The President and President-elect, Vice-President Morton, Chief Justice Fuller and the committee of arrangements were shown to the front of the platform, where within a railed inclosure had been laid a bright green carpet, upon which had been placed large, leather-covered chairs, several tables, a reading desk and other furnishings which gave a bright touch to the scene.

Mr. Cleveland was warmly greeted by the patient throng gathered about the stand and after a few minutes of delay, stepped to the front and began the delivery of his inaugural address, which was as follows:

My Fellow Citizens—In obedience to the mandate of my countrymen, I am about to dedicate myself to their service under the sanction of a solemn oath. Deeply moved by the expression of confidence and personal attachment which has called me to this service, I am sure my gratitude can make no better return than the pledge I now give before God and these witnesses of unreserved and complete devotion to the interests and welfare of those who have honored me.

I deem it fitting on this occasion, while indicating the opinions I hold concerning public questions of present importance, to also briefly refer to the existence of certain conditions and tendencies among our people which seem to menace the integrity and usefulness of their government.

While every American citizen must contemplate with the utmost pride and enthusiasm the growth and expansion of our country, the sufficiency of our institutions to stand against the rudest shocks of violence, the wonderful thrift and enterprise of our people and the demonstrated superiority of our free government, it behooves us to constantly watch for every symptom of insidious infirmity that threatens our national vigor.

The strong man who, in the confidence of sturdy health, courts the sternest activities of life and rejoices in the hardihood of constant labor, may still have lurking near his vitals the unheeded disease that dooms him to sudden collapse.

It cannot be doubted that our stupendous achievements as a people and our country's robust strength, have given rise to a heedlessness of those laws governing our national health, which we can no more evade than human life can escape the laws of God and nature.

Manifestly nothing is more vital to our supremacy as a nation and to the beneficent purposes of our government than a sound and stable currency. Its exposure to degradation should at once arouse to activity the most enlightened statesmanship, and the danger of depreciation in the purchasing power of the wages paid to toil should furnish the strongest incentive to the prompt and conservative precaution.

JOHN G. CARLISE.
(Secretary of the Treasury.)

In dealing with our present embarrassing situation as relating to the subject, we will be wise if we temper our confidence and faith in our national strength and resources with the frank confession that even these will not permit us to defy with impunity the inexorable laws of finance and trade. At the same time, in our efforts to adjust differences of opinion we should be free from intolerance or passion and our judgments should not be unmoved by alluring phrases and unvexed by selfish interests.

I am confident that such an approach to the subject will result in prudent and effective remedial legislation. In the meantime, so far as the executive branch of the government can intervene, none of the powers with which it is invested will be withheld, when their exercise is deemed necessary to maintain our national credit or avert financial disaster.

Closely related to the exaggerated confidence in our country's greatness which tends to a disregard of the rules of national safety, another danger confronts us not less serious. I refer to the prevalence of a popular disposition to expect from the operation of the government especial and direct individual advantages.

The verdict of our voters, which condemned the justice of maintaining protection for protection's sake, enjoins upon the people's servants the duty of exposing and destroying the brood of kindred evils which are the unwholesome progeny of paternalism. This is the bane of republican institutions and the constant peril of our government by the people. It degrades to the purposes of wily craft the plan of rule our fathers established and bequeathed to us as an object of our love and veneration. It perverts the patriotic sentiment of our countrymen and tempts them to a pitiful calculation of the sordid gain to be derived from their government's maintenance. It undermines the self-reliance of our people and substitutes in its place dependence upon governmental favoritism. It stifles the spirit of true Americanism and stupefies every ennobling trait of American citizenship.

The lessons of paternalism ought to be unlearned and the better lesson taught, that while the people should patriotically and cheerfully support their government its functions do not include the support of the people.

The acceptance of this principle leads to a refusal of bounties and subsidies, which burden the labor and thrift of a portion of our citizens to aid ill-advised or languishing enterprises in which they have no concern. It leads also to a challenge of wild and reckless pension expenditure, which overleaps the bounds of grateful recognition of patriotic service and prostitutes to vicious uses the people's prompt and generous impulse to aid those disabled in their country's defense. Every thoughtful American must realize the importance of checking at its beginning any tendency in public or private station to regard frugality and economy as virtues which we may safely outgrow. The tolerance of this idea results in the waste of the people's money by their chosen servants and encourages prodigality and extravagance in the home life of our countrymen.

Under our scheme of government the waste of public money is a crime against the citizen, and the contempt of our people for economy and frugality in their personal affairs deplorably saps the strength and sturdiness of our national character.

It is a plain dictate of honesty and good government that public expenditures should be limited by public necessity and that this should be measured by the rules of strict economy; and it is equally clear that frugality among the people is the best guaranty of a contented and strong support of free institutions.

One mode of the misappropriation of public funds is avoided when appointments to office, instead of being the rewards of partisan activity, are awarded to those whose efficiency promises a fair return of work for the compensation paid to them. To secure the fitness and competency of appointees to office, and to remove from the political action the demoralizing madness for spoils, civil service reform has found a place in our public policy and laws. The benefits already gained through this instrumentality and the further usefulness it promises, entitle it to the hearty support and encouragement of all who desire to see our public service well performed or with hope for the elevation of the political sentiment and the purification of the political methods.

The existence of immense aggregations of kindred enterprises and combinations of business interests, formed for the purpose of limiting production and fixing prices, is inconsistent with the fair field which ought to be open to every independent activity. Legitimate strife in business should not be superseded by an enforced concession to the demands of combinations that have the power to destroy; nor should the people to be served lose the benefit of cheap-

HILARY A. HERBERT.
(Secretary of the Navy.)

ness, which usually results from wholesome competition. These aggregations and combinations frequently constitute conspiracies against the interests of the people, and in all their phases they are unnatural and opposed to our American sense of fairness. To the extent that they can be reached and restrained by federal power, the general government should relieve our citizens from their interference and exactions.

Loyalty to the principles upon which our government rests positively demands that the equality before the law which it guarantees to every citizen should be justly and in good faith conceded in all parts of the land. The enjoyment of this right follows the badge of citizenship wherever found, and, unimpaired by race or color, it appeals for recognition to American manliness and fairness.

Our relations with the Indians located within our borders impose upon us responsibilities we cannot escape. Humanity and consistency require us to treat them with forbearance and in our dealings with them to honestly and considerately regard their rights and interests. Every effort should be made to lead them, through the paths of civilization and education, to self-supporting and independent citizenship. In the meantime, as the nation's wards, they should be promptly defended against the cupidity of designing men and shielded from every influence or temptation that retards their advancement.

The people of the United States have decreed that upon this day the control of their government in its legislative and executive branches shall be given to a political party pledged in the most positive

Saved His Life

Scrofula—Impure Vaccination—Beyond Hope

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Effected a Perfect Cure

Joseph Harper
Trenton, N. J.

"We are as sure that Hood's Sarsaparilla saved our son Joseph's life as that the sun shines. Five years ago on board ship our three boys were vaccinated. Joseph had a very sore arm, so bad at one time that we were afraid it would have to be taken off. At length it seemed to get well, but about two months after, he began to complain of soreness and pain in the vaccinated arm. He had occasionally shown some signs of scrofula, but nothing serious. His arm, however, grew worse and worse and became swollen and covered with sores. The inflammation and sores also spread all over his body, and he was a mass of corruption,

"The eruption was especially severe back of his ears and over his head and the lower part of his face. We had to cut off all his hair we could, as it was impossible to comb through the mass of hard crust and matter. Physicians did him no good, and three specialists at the Eye and Ear Hospital said

Nothing Could be Done.

They said it was a blood disease caused by impure vaccination. One night I happened to be reading in a paper about Hood's Sarsaparilla, and decided to try it.

"While taking the first bottle, Joseph did not grow any worse; on the second, we noticed that he was improving, and, slowly but surely, the medicine drove away the disease and won a complete victory. The scales and scabs began to fall off; the sores gradually healed up, and

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 118 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simfield says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Blotches on the skin became horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in vain. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I do not say too much for these scientific doctors, who have been in Detroit for fifteen years. I conversed with hundreds of patients in their offices who were cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians

PHYSICIANS PUZZLED.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, sold at Baker & Hall's. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant Book on heart disease free.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. I could hardly articulate, and in less than twenty-four hours the catarrhal symptoms and my hoarseness disappeared and I was able to sing a heavy role in Grand Opera with voice unimpaired. I strongly recommend it to all singers.—Wm. H. Harrison, Leading Basso of the C. H. Hess Grand Opera Co.

HIS POLICY.

It Is Outlined in President Cleveland's Inaugural.

The Silver Question, Economy in Expenditures, Tariff Reform and Other Questions Touched On.

FULL TEXT OF THE ADDRESS.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The following is the full text of the inaugural address of President Grover Cleveland, delivered immediately before he had taken the oath of office:

"MY FELLOW CITIZENS: In obedience to the mandate of my countrymen I am about to dedicate myself to their service under the sanction of a solemn oath. Deeply moved by the expression of confidence and personal attachment which has called me to this service, I am sure my gratitude can make no better return than the pledge I now give before God and these witnesses of unreserved and complete devotion to the interests and welfare of those who have honored me.

"Deeply impressed as I am on this occasion with the solemn sense of responsibility I hold concerning public questions of present importance, I shall not undertake to refer to the existence of certain conditions and tendencies among our people which seem to menace the integrity and usefulness of their government.

Must Be Watchful.

"While every American citizen must contemplate with the utmost pride and enthusiasm the growth and expansion of our country, the sufficiency of our institutions to stand against the rudest shocks of violence, the wonderful thrift and enterprise of our people, and the demonstrated superiority of our free government, it behooves us to constantly watch for every symptom of insidious infirmity that threatens our national vigor. The strong man who, in the confidence of sturdy health, courts the sternest activities of life and rejoices in the hardihood of constant labor, may still have lurking near his vitals the unheeded disease that dooms him to sudden collapse. It cannot be doubted that our stupendous achievements as a people and our country's robust strength have given rise to a heedlessness of those laws governing our national health which we can no more evade than human life can escape the laws of God and nature.

Will Maintain Our Credit.

"Manifestly nothing is more vital to our supremacy as a nation and to the beneficent purposes of our government than a sound and stable currency. Its exposure to degradation should at once arouse to activity the most enlightened statesmanship; and the danger of depreciation in the purchasing power of the wages paid to toil should furnish the strongest incentive to prompt and conservative action.

"In dealing with our present embarrassing situation, as related to this subject, we will be wise if we temper our confidence and faith in our national strength and resources with the frank concession that even these will not permit us to defy with impunity the inexorable laws of finance and trade. At the same time, in our efforts to adjust differences of opinion we should be free from intolerance or passion, and our judgments should be unmoved by alluring phrases and unvexed by selfish interests.

"I am confident that such an approach to the subject will result in prudent and effective remedial legislation. In the meantime, so far as the executive branch of the government can intervene, none of the powers with which it is invested will be withheld, when their exercise is deemed necessary to maintain our national credit or avert financial disaster.

Dangers of Paternalism.

"Closely related to the exaggerated confidence in our country's greatness which tends to a disregard of the rules of national safety, another danger confronts us not less serious. I refer to the prevalence of a popular disposition to expect from the operation of the government especial and direct individual advantages. The verdict of our voters, which condemned the injustice of maintaining protection for protection's sake, enjoins upon the people's servants the duty of exposing and destroying the brood of kindred evils which are the unwholesome progeny of paternalism.

"This is the bane of republican institutions and the constant peril of our government by the people. It degrades to the purposes of wily craft the plan of rule our fathers established and bequeathed to us as an object of our love and veneration. It perverts the patriotic sentiment of our countrymen and tempts them to a pitiful calculation of the sordid gain to be derived from their government's maintenance. It undermines the self-reliance of our people and substitutes in its place dependence upon governmental favoritism. It stifles the spirit of true Americanism and stupefies every ennobling trait of American citizenship.

"The lessons of paternalism ought to be unlearned and the better lesson taught that, while the people should patriotically and cheerfully support their government, its functions do not include the support of the people.

"The acceptance of this principle leads to a refusal of bounties and subsidies, which burden the labor and thrift of a portion of our citizens to aid ill-advised or languishing enterprises in which they have no concern. It leads also to a challenge of wild and reckless pension expenditure, which overleaps the bounds of grateful recognition of patriotic service and prostitutes to vicious uses the people's prompt and generous impulse to aid those disabled in their country's defense.

Economy and Frugality.

"Every thoughtful American must realize the importance of checking at its beginning any tendency in public or private station to regard frugality and economy as virtues which we may safely outgrow. The toleration of this idea results in the waste of the people's money by their chosen servants and encourages prodigality and extravagance in the home life of our countrymen. Under our scheme of government the waste of public money is a crime against the citizen; and the contempt of our people for economy and frugality in their personal affairs deplorably saps the strength and sturdiness of our national character.

"It is a plain dictate of honesty and good government that public expenditures should be limited by public necessity, and that this should be measured by the rules of strict economy; and it is equally clear that frugality among the people is the best guaranty of a contented and strong support of free institutions.

Civil Service Reform.

"One mode of the misappropriation of public funds is avoided when appointments to office, instead of being the rewards of partisan activity, are awarded to those whose efficiency promises a fair return of work for the compensation paid to them. To secure the fitness and competency of appointees to office, and to remove from political action the demoralizing madness for spoils, civil service reform has found a place in our public policy and laws. The benefits already gained through this instrumentality and the further usefulness it promises entitle it to the hearty support and encouragement of all who desire to see our public service well performed, or who hope for the elevation of political sentiment and the purification of political methods.

Monopolies and Trusts.

"The existence of immense aggregations of kindred enterprises and combinations of business interests formed for the purpose of limiting production and fixing prices is inconsistent with the fair field which ought to be open to every independent activity. Legitimate strife in business should not be superseded by an enforced concession to the demands of combinations that have the power to destroy; nor should the people to be served lose the benefit of cheapness, which usually results from wholesome competition.

"These aggregations and combinations frequently constitute conspiracies against the interests of the people, and in all their phases they are unnatural and opposed to our American sense of fairness. To the extent that they can be reached and restrained by federal power, the general government should relieve our citizens from their interference and exactions.

Equal Rights.

"Loyalty to the principles upon which our government rests positively demands that the equality before the law which it guarantees to every citizen should be justly and in good faith conceded in all parts of the land. The observance of this principle is the badge of citizenship wherever found, and, unimpaired by race or color, it appeals for recognition to American manliness and fairness.

"Our relations with the Indians located within our borders impose upon us responsibilities we cannot escape. Humanity and consistency require us to treat them with forbearance, and in our dealings with them to honestly and considerately regard their rights and interests. Every effort should be made to lead them through the paths of civilization and education to self supporting and independent citizenship. In the meantime, as the nation's wards, they should be promptly defended against the cupidity of designing men and shielded from every influence or temptation that retards their advancement.

Tariff Reform.

"The people of the United States have decreed that on this day the control of their government in its legislative and executive branches shall be given to a political party pledged in the most positive terms to the accomplishment of tariff reform. They have thus determined in favor of a more just and equitable system of federal taxation. The agents they have chosen to carry out their purposes are bound by their promises not less than by the command of their masters, to devote themselves unremittingly to this service.

"While there should be no surrender of principle, our task must be undertaken wisely and without vindictiveness. Our mission is not punishment, but the rectification of wrongs. If, in lifting burdens from the daily life of our people, we reduce inordinate and unequal advantages too long enjoyed, this is but a necessary incident of our return to right and justice. If we exact from unwilling minds acquiescence in the theory of an honest distribution of the fund of governmental beneficence treasured up for all, we but insist upon a principle which underlies our free institutions. When we tear aside the delusions and misconceptions which have blinded our countrymen to their condition under vicious tariff laws, we but show them how far they have been led away from the paths of contentment and prosperity. When we proclaim that the necessity for revenue to support the government furnishes the only justification for taxing the people, we announce a truth so plain that its denial would seem to indicate the extent to which judgment may be influenced by familiarity with perversions of the taxing power; and when we seek to reinstate the self confidence and business enterprise of our citizens, by discrediting an abject dependence upon governmental favor, we strive to stimulate those elements of American character which support the hope of American achievement.

"Anxiety for the redemption of the pledges which my party has made and solicitude for the complete justification of the trust the people have reposed in us, constrain me to remind those with whom I am to cooperate that we can succeed in doing the work which has been especially set before us only by the most sincere, harmonious and disinterested effort. Even if insuperable obstacles and opposition prevent the consummation of our task, we shall hardly be excused; and if failure can be traced to our fault or neglect we may be sure the people will hold us to a swift and exacting accountability.

To Defend and Protect the Constitution.

"The oath I now take to preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States, not only impressively defines the great responsibility I assume, but suggests obedience to constitutional commands as the rule by which my official conduct must be guided. I shall, to the best of my ability, and within my sphere of duty, preserve the constitution by loyally protecting every grant of federal power it contains, by defending all its restraints when attacked by impatience and restlessness and by enforcing its limitations and reservations in favor of the states and the people.

Wise and Patriotic Support.

"Fully impressed with the gravity of the duties that confront me, mindful of my weakness, I should be appalled if it were my lot to bear unaided the responsibilities which await me. I am, however, saved from discouragement, when I remember that I shall have the support and the counsel and cooperation of wise and patriotic men who will stand at my side in cabinet places or will represent the people in their legislative halls.

"I find also much comfort in remembering that my countrymen are just and generous and in the assurance that they will not condemn those who by sincere devotion to their service deserve their forbearance and approval.

Conclusion.

"Above all, I know there is a Supreme Being who rules the affairs of men, and whose goodness and mercy have always followed the American people; and I know He will not turn from us now if we humbly seek His powerful aid."

LIVES LOST IN A TORNADO.

The Death-Dealing Storm Sweeps Through Marion, Miss.

MERIDIAN, Miss., March 4.—At 6:10 p. m. Friday a tornado struck Marion, Miss., a station on the Mobile & Ohio railroad 5 miles north of here. It is reported that the cyclone originated just south of Marion in a funnel-shaped cloud, with a bright red light, going northeast, passing through the village and unroofing and demolishing houses and throwing freight cars from the track. Several lives are reported lost. Mrs. Meader and her daughter, Miss Mira Meader, who lived half a mile from the station, were killed. All the houses and fences on their place were destroyed. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harrison, very old people, are believed to be fatally injured. George Taylor and Mr. White were severely injured. A negro is also reported to have been killed.

Goddard Knocked Out.

NEW ORLEANS, March 4.—Joe Goddard, the Australian, was knocked out in the eighteenth round Friday night by Ed Smith, of Denver. The contest took place in the arena of the Olympic club for a purse of $10,000, the loser to take barely enough from the purse to defray his training expenses.

A Farmer's Crime.

HAVANA, N. Y., March 4.—Gould Cogswell, a wealthy farmer living near here, shot and instanly killed his invalid daughter Friday and immediately afterwards hanged himself to a rafter in his barn. Loss of money is supposed to have unbalanced his mind.

Robbed in a Union Depot.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 4.—Peter Carrou, a wealthy lumberman of Chippewa Falls, Wis., was robbed of $5,000 while sleeping in a chair in the Union depot in this city. The thief took the money from his inside vest pocket. There is no clew.

Signed by the President.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Harrison has approved the car coupler bill and the pen with which he signed it was presented to E. A. Mosely, secretary of the interstate commerce commission.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.
The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.
It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.
Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

OBITUARY.

Edmund Woodmansee Borden, the second son of Tyler and Hannah Borden, was born in Monmouth Co., New Jersey, March 30, 1822.

Orphaned by his mother's death when he was but eleven years old, by which event the family was broken up, he was almost immediately thrown upon his own resources. Being drawn by the teachings of his pious mother, he soon left the farm, where he had been engaged for a term of years, and buying up his unexpired time, he went to New York City to prepare himself for preaching the Gospel. This he did by learning the tailor's trade, studying as he worked, and attending night school. He laid [illegible] a substantial basis for a thorough education, which he afterward acquired by private tutors, by a course of study at the University of Michigan, and by a remarkably patient, persevering and thorough reading of the masters of learning in its various branches. His logical and close reasoning powers were always based on verified truth.

When 20 years old he married Miss Margaret Hopper, of New York City, and with her removed to Michigan in 1843, a land then in primeval forest and far away from the City of New York, while as yet railroads were but just beginning to be. Taking up pioneer life at Battle Creek as a circuit rider of the M. E. Church, he was instant in season and out of season to carry the Gospel message to all within his circuit.

After laboring in that church from his 17th year, when he was licensed as an exhorter, his ordination taking place when he was 21 years of age, till 1858, a period of nearly 20 years, his theological views undergoing some change, he united with the Congregational denomination. In this body he continued his ministry about 15 years. In 1873 he transferred his standing to the Presbyterian Church, finding in its polity and system of doctrine a congenial resting place for his inquiring and independent mind. He gave up settled pastoral charge in 1888 but continued to preach till last summer, his last discourse being a funeral sermon on the 27th day of August, 1892. His family consisted of eight children, five of whom, two sons and three daughters, are still living.

The last year showed rapid decline in his health, but he was still happy and fairly well at the anniversary of his golden wedding Oct. 6th, '92. On the 27th of November he sustained a light stroke of paralysis in connection with a development of heart failure. With rapidly increasing infirmity, but with mental powers for the most part unimpaired, he lingered till the 27th of February, 1893, when the heart ceased its action and he was released from bondage. So ended a career of triumph and an active ministry of 53 years in the Gospel.

Mr. Borden never lost a month of service nor was ever absent from his pulpit through sickness. He never took any vacations and as a public servant of Christ was faithful in all his charge.

The funeral services were held at the family residence Wednesday, March 1st, 3 p. m., Rev. F. G. Strickland officiating, assisted by Rev. J. I. Gulick. The remains were taken to Ann Arbor Thursday for interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the kind friends who rendered us assistance in our bereavement: also for the beautiful flowers furnished and the choir for music rendered. May God's richest blessings rest upon all.

MRS. E. W. BORDEN AND FAMILY.

American Gardening for March,

American Gardening for March opens with an entertaining sketch of John Johnston, "the Father of American tile-draining," by L. H. Bailey. Several fine photographic views of the historic old Rose Hill farm are given, and also a photograph of their owner. "Tea-Culture in North America," by C. U. Shepard, is by far the most noteworthy article yet published on this subject. The culture of American teas from seed-growing to picking and pruning, the effect of climate and rainfall upon them, their quality as compared with other teas, their manufacture and grading—all are treated exhaustively in the clear and attractive style which makes all Professor Shepard's notes so interesting. Two good half-tone pictures of the Pinehurst tea-gardens are given with this article. Damson, Native and Japanese Plums is another well illustrated article contributed by orchardists in several different states and Canada. There is an interesting account of Horticulture at the World's Fair, and this somewhat hackneyed subject is made quite attractive with descriptions and photographs of curious and beautiful ferns, bamboos, yuccas, etc. The catalogues of the year are well reviewed by the editor.

Do You Want a Public Office?

There are 180,000 offices within the gift of the new Administration, and those who desire to know what steps to take to secure one of these lucrative positions should send for the U. S. Blue Book, a register of all Federal offices and employments in each State and Territory, the District of Columbia and abroad, with their salaries and duties. It gives questions asked at examinations and complete instructions for the guidance of office-seekers. Handsomely bound in cloth. Price, 75 cents, post paid. Send all remittances by draft, money order or registered letter. Address J. H. Soule, Publisher, Box 43, Washington, D. C.

Democratic Judicial Convention.

The democratic judicial convention for the first judicial circuit, comprising Lenawee and Hillsdale counties, will be held at the opera house in Hudson, Monday, March 13th, 1893, at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, to nominate a candidate for judge, and to transact the usual business of the convention. By order of Com.

JOHN C. PALMER, Chairman, Lenawee.
FRANK THOMPSON, Hillsdale.

THE FARMERS' SOCIAL CLUB.

The meeting at R. B. Gillespie's on Tuesday evening, March 7th, was largely attended, both of members and of visitors. R. B. Gillespie was chosen as a delegate to meet with the Picnic association, March 11th. The Question brought out a lively discussion on both sides and a great deal of interest manifested.

The next meeting will be held at J. F. Schreder's, March 21, and will be a sheet and pillow case social. Each lady is requested to bring a sheet and pillow case and supper for two. Program:

Music.
Rec.—Edna Hendershot.
Reading—Mrs. J. T. Boyce.
Dec.—Ralph Gillespie.
Rec.—Leva Gillespie.
Dialogue.
Music.
Everybody is cordially invited.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of extending to the pupils of the Tecumseh High School our sincere thanks for so kindly remembering us in our recent bereavement.

MARTIN KEUSCH AND FAMILY.

Thomas Q. Seabrooke.

The Thomas Q. Seabrooke Opera Company and ballet in "The Isle of Champagne" will be presented Thursday March 16th, for one night only at the Hibbard Opera House, Jackson, Mich. Mr. Seabrooke has made it the most gorgeously mounted comic opera ever given in America. A particularly inviting idea to the bibuously inclined is that of which the Opera is based. Imagine an Island where nothing but champagne is to be had to drink, where large cold bottles are to be found on every hand and naught but the pop of corks and fizz of wine is heard in the land. A shipwrecked crew bring water to this tipplers Utopia, and the inhabitants become addicted to its use. The Company numbers 80 people and carry three car-loads of scenery, all the electrical and calcium effects, and incidentally introduce full ballet headed by the Premiere danseuse Mille Clara Qualitz. This will be the Society event of the season.

If a sufficient number of the people from Tecumseh desire to attend the Opera and will leave their names with Mr. Baker, at Heesen's Clothing store, arrangements will be made to run a special train to Jackson, leaving Adrian at 4:50 p. m., and returning immediately after the entertainment. Orders for reserved seats can also be left with Mr. Baker, who will see that desirable locations are secured.

The St. Louis Republic Free.

The "Twice-a-Week" St. Louis Republic, will be sent free for one year to any person sending, before April 1, 1893, a club of three new yearly subscribers, with three dollars to pay the same. The Republic goes everywhere, and is the most popular paper published in America. Its readers get the news half a week earlier than it can be had from any weekly paper, while its Literary, Agricultural, Woman's and other departments are unsurpassed. It fills the wants of every member of the family, and should be read in every household. You can get three new subscribers for it, by a few minutes' effort. Try it, at once, and see how easily it can be done. If you wish a package of sample copies write for them. Cut out this advertisement and send with your order. Address the Republic, St. Louis, Mo.

The Arena For March.

The March Arena is particularly inviting to persons interested in vital social problems, and to liberal thinkers. Among the important social and economic problems ably discussed are papers by Alfred Russell Wallace, D. C. S. Helen Campbell, and the editor of the Arena. Dr. Wallace presents a powerful contribution on The Social Quagmire and the way out of it in which he holds that the land question lie at the root of present evil conditions. It is addressed presumably to the farmer, but it should be carefully read by all thoughtful people. Helen Campbell continues her series of wonderful papers on Women Wage-earners of Europe and America, presenting data and facts never before given to the public, and furnishing the ablest discussion of this problem ever made. Mr. Flower, under the title A Pilgrimage and a Vision, deals most vividly with social contrasts in Boston, and shows what might be done if capital were a little less grasping, selfish and short-sighted. He also discusses in a thoughtful, and on the whole an optimistic manner, the present outlook under the caption, What of the Morrow? Dr. Leslie Keeley defends his Gold Cure in a well-written paper on that subject. Louis R. Ehrich deals with the present liberal drift of religious thought in an ably-prepared paper entitled A Religion for all time. Among the other contributors are Prof. S. P. Wait, Helen Gougar A. M. John Franklin Clark, Dr. F. J. Furnival, Will Allen Dromgoole, Cora Maynard and Judge John Keatly. All thoughtful and progressive people should read this Arena.

We know when spring is coming,
Not by the flowers and vines,
But by the paint and polish
That's put on the ice cream signs.

Progress of the World's Fair.

The Buildings of the Exposition are being rapidly completed as the opening of the Exposition draws near.

In the February issue of the "Worlds Columbian Exposition Illustrated" now the Authentic Organ of the Exposition (after the Fair it will be known as Campbell's Columbian Journal), contians many full page illustrations of the buildings as they appear when finished. There are many elegant Photographs of the Statuary that is to adorn the buildings, beside several views of the grounds as they appear in midwinter. An interior view of the treasurer's office, showing the distribution of the souvenir coins, forms an interesting feature. A full account of Utah with cuts of the officials and building, occupies several pages. Among the most important articles is a full account of Transportation for the Fair, Agricultural Exhibit, College Boys at the Exposition, Catholic Congresses at the Fair, Relics of Columbus, etc.

This February issue is the Second Anniversary of this publication. Its object is to make a complete Authentic Historical Record of the Exposition, to be handed down for ages to come. The first two Bound Volumes are now ready. As the Exposition draws near it increases in interest and value. It contains rich illustrations of the buildings and exhibits. By reading it you can visit the Exposition at home, and a person can become familiar with the Fair before going to Chicago.

One issue alone is worth a years subscription. Good Agents are wanted in each town. Single copies 35 cents.

Thomas Q. Seabrooke.

"The Isle of Champagne" overlooked by Geographers, lies upon the billowy bosom of a sea of the choicest vintage. It can be found dotted in the "World's Atlas" at 114 West and 68 North but whether the longitude is taken from Greenwich or Washington, the Explorer does not state. It is a veritable Utopia for the foreign toper. Wine spouts sparkling from its springs and courses and rivulets through this paradise primeval. There is no water not even for the stock purposes in this very "Tight little Isle". If fire breaks out the local department wets it down with a stream of golden fizz, and the laundry work is done by means of the same plentiful fluid. The Opera is replete with topical songs and duets. Mr. Seabrooke and his big Company appear at the Hibbard Opera House Jackson, Mich., one night only, Thursday, March 16th.

If a sufficient number of the people from Tecumseh desire to attend the Opera and will leave their names with Mr. Baker at Heesen's Clothing Store, arrangements will be made to run a special train to Jackson, leaving Adrian at 4:50 p. m., and returning immediately after the entertainment. Orders for reserved seats can also be left with Mr. Baker who will see that desirable locations are secured.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Come and see the Museum at the Library Entertainment, at Mrs. H. S. Lee's, Tuesday evening, March 14th.

The Megalethoscope is something new here. Come to the Library Entertainment next Tuesday evening, and see the wonderful view of Mount Vesuvius.

Look out for the Box Social to be given by the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church, at the church parlors, Thursday evening, March 16th. All are invited.

Harris & Hiteshu are now replenishing their stock with spring arrivals and they will soon have the largest assortment of spring goods ever displayed in the old corner store. They propose to rush business this season.

The entertainment given by the Marshall P. Wilder Co. last Friday evening, was one of [illegible] season. In a popular entertainment course, the first virtue that may be possessed by an amusement organization is that its features, while neither dull nor commonplace, must be comprehensible and amusing to the mass of ordinary, intelligent citizens. That this quality was possessed by the Wilder Co. seems to be the universal opinion. Mr. Wilder is an exceedingly humorous little gentleman. His selections were finely rendered, the musical accompaniment to some being most pleasing and expressive. He is an unique entertainer and the audience attested its delight by frequent and hearty applause. Miss Carlotta Gilman, the soprano, rendered her selections in a very pleasing manner and was frequently recalled. Miss Woolsey is a musical prodigy and genius. The music she rendered on some fourteen different instruments was one of the most pleasing features of the evening. Should Tecumseh again have the benefit of a star course, the engagement of the Marshall P. Wilder Co., if possible, would be most acceptable to our people.

Something New.

"Flowers are words which even a baby may undestand."—Bishop Coxe.

We have heard of all sorts of catalogues, but a Poetical catalogue is something entirely new. In reading Vick's Floral Guide for 1893, on every page one comes across happy and appropriate quotations from prominent authors Whether it takes the mind off from the work of making out a list of Flowers and Vegetables, or makes the Guide more fascinating, will have to be decided after a trial, by the publishers, James Vick's Sons, Rochester, N. Y. Another novel feature is the family of Pansy Sailors who appear on the cover and through the book. It contains five colored plates, hundreds of illustrations and lists, with descriptions of everything required in the garden. This work is really given away free, as the 10 cents asked for it may be deducted from the first order sent the house.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

When a man is through with his day's work and is sitting down and resting in his home, he cannot read the advertisements on the fence, and the handbills and circulars that were left on the doorstep during the day have been blown away or destroyed. He calls for the paper and there finds the merchant's announcement and nothing to bother his mind, he reads it carefully and then calls his wife's attention to it, and they decide to go to the merchant's store and examine what is advertised. How important it is then that your name can be found, the kind of business you are engaged in and the bargains you have to offer, in its columns.

Now is the time to plant spring advertising.

Marshall P. Wilder is a buster, and no mistake.

J. M. Jones is getting on a fine lot of new spring suitings.

O Lenardson Bros., of Britton, have a new ad. on the first page this week. Read it.

It takes a man with a large opening in his face to salivate the new Columbus stamp.

C. A. Sharp, of the Hand Milling Co., Adrian, is visiting old friends in Tecumseh and Ridgeway.

Mr. H. S. Lee has gone to Richmond, Va., for a few days' visit. He expects to return the first of next week.

Dr. Hause has a box of oranges at Marsden's, which where raised on his own Florida farm. They are prime.

Dr. E. Hause arrived home from his Florida orange farm, where he has been spending the winter, last Monday.

D. L. Garritt and grandson, of Morenci, have been visiting the past week as the guests of Mrs. Dr. Hamilton.

While the Stevens hotel cook, at Milan, was preparing a chicken he found that it had two perfect hearts that beat as one.

Dr. and Mrs. Cleveland, arrived from Cleveland, O., on Saturday. Dr. has been taking the "Patent Process" treatment and is much improved in health.

I. S. Osborn and wife take their departure for New Mexico, the first of next week, where they will make their future home. Mr. Osborn has large land interests there.

Tecumseh Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, will perform the work of the Royal Arch Degree, at Adrian, to-night. A special train will leave on the Lake Shore at 6 p. m., standard time.

The Tecumseh Chapter, R. A. M. held two sessions last week. Wednesday evening three candidates rode the goat, and Saturday evening three more were made happy by the same mode of locomotion.

The HERALD job rooms have just turned out a business card for the office, which we consider the best job of artistic printing ever executed in this town. Bring on your job printing if you want it neatly and cheaply done.

A delegation from the Brooklyn Chapter Eastern Star, visited the Tecumseh Chapter last Thursday evening. After an exemplification of the work by the Tecumseh Chapter, a supper was served and the guests after a very pleasant evening, took their departure on the late train for home.

Clever idea that, of the man who carries an expensive umbrella. He has the handle made so that it can be taken off, and whenever he has occasion to leave the umbrella in a public place he takes the handle off and puts it in his pocket. Of course nobody would care to appropriate an umbrella without a handle.

The boom of Walter S. Westerman, for the Democratic nomination for circuit judge, does not seem to have many supporters. One Democratic attorney said: "His nomination is not favored by a single Democratic attorney in the city." J. L. O'Mealey, chairman of the judiciary committee, is reported as saying he would not call the convention unless another candidate was presented. —Adrian Times.

The Teachers meeting held at the High school building, Saturday, March 4, 1893, was exceedingly well attended by teachers from the surrounding towns. Some very interesting papers were read and exercises by classes of the Tecumseh schools given. The class exercise in geography, by class of, and conducted by Miss Minnie Jones, of the East Branch, consisting of map work by children, and questions on same, was of great interest to all and thoroughly enjoyed by those who saw it. Miss Millspaugh of the North branch, illustrating the kindergarten work, and exhibits of work done by her school followed. Miss Edna McClue, of the West branch, followed by an exercise in numbers, assisted by her class. Miss Flora Hartbeck of the High school, gave an interesting paper upon Pestalozzi, the great Swiss educator. A class under the direction of Dora Grayson, gave an exercise in music. A question box and music by the High school choir then followed. A very pleasant and instructive day was enjoyed by all who attended.

The Corporation election held last Monday, shows the absurdity of having only one ticket in the field. It is necessary to have two voting districts in the village, and there were only 21 votes cast in district No. 1, two of which were cast out by reason of not being marked, and in district No. 2, 29 votes were cast, 6 of which were cast out for the same reason, thus making a total of 42 votes counted. In each district it is necessary to have an election board consisting of 7 men, at a cost of $2.00 per day, thus making a total cost of $28.00; rent of voting places, and printing of tickets would bring the total up so that it would cost the village about one dollar per vote. Rather expensive election, considering the number of votes, and interest displayed by the average citizen. Next election should see two tickets in the field. The following is the names of those elected:

President—Joseph H. Smith.
Treasurer—Lester P. Tribou.
Recorder—Walter C. Burridge.
Trustees—James A. Boyd, William Bresie, Theo. H. Crane.
Assessors—Jehiel Davidson, Horace Weller.

WHO PAYS THE TAX?

A Question That Answers Itself When Properly Stated—The Manufacturer Pockets the Tax, the Consumer Pays It.

Let us see:

Manufacturers, says the protectionist, cannot live in this country without the tariff. We do not believe it. But it is, nevertheless, the protectionist's position. Manufacturers cannot live without the tariff. That is to say, they are naturally unprofitable in this country. "We could not sell our goods in the competition of an open market. But put a duty on foreign importation so that we can raise our prices and we shall flourish." But the duty paid on imports goes to the government, and hence does not help the manufacturer directly. His "protection" consists in the shape of an increase of price on goods, which are not imported. But whence comes the bonus?

This is a very simple question; but the protectionist is so dextrous in eluding the point that we may venture to be entirely explicit. There are but three conditions under which the protection bonus can be drawn:

1. Those who pay duties. 2. The protected industries. 3. The unprotected industries.

Now, does the bonus come from those who pay duties? No; the duties collected from them are turned over to the government.

Does it come from the protected manufacturers? No, they get it.

Then it must come from the unprotected industries. The unprotected, naturally profitable agricultural industries are taxed to sustain the protected industries—compelled to make up their losses and pay besides what the protected manufacturers are pleased to call their profits.

The protectionist dissents. Two peas and two peas make four peas, theoretically. But if you rattle them up in a box, and have your box big enough to let them rattle a long way around, you will presently find five peas and maybe a few beans. As thus: It is all very well for doctrinaires to theorize about who pays the deficit. It won't do for plain, practical business men. Why, don't we manufacturers pay our proportion with the rest? The hatter pays his twenty-five per cent. to the shoemaker, the shoemaker pays his twenty-five per cent. to the hatter, and out of the increased prices we are able to pay the farmer more; everybody gets higher profits, and it is a good thing all around."

Again let us be explicit. Suppose we have a community consisting of glass manufacturers, mine owners and farmers. The farmers hoe their own row, asking odds of nobody; but the glass manufacturers and mine owners demand a bonus of $50 a year each. How, on the protection plan, will they get it? It would be too barefaced a steal to levy a tax on the farmer alone. They will not do that. They will avoid the appearance of unjust discrimination by putting a tax on all consumers of glass and coal; they will make all purchasers of glass and coal contribute alike—$100 each—to the protection fund.

Very fair this looks. Every man is taxed $100; $50 to foster the glass trade and $50 to foster the coal trade. But mark the singular result.

The mine owners pay $100; the glass manufacturer pays $100; the farmer pays $100. Every man taxed alike. Total revenue, $300.

But now for the division. The mine owner receives $150, the glass manufacturer receives $150, the farmer—nothing.

Marvelous financiering. All are taxed alike. Yet the glass manufacturer and the mine owner are ahead $50 each, while the farmer—his industry is not fostered.

Again, it is plain that the effective protection received by the mine owner is the $50 that he takes out more than he puts in; and that the glass manufacturer's protection is the $50 that he has taken out more than he put in; also that the farmer's loss is the $100 that he put in but did not get out; that is (even if we leave out of calculation the cost of collection of duties and the extra profits of middle men which are calculated on the prices as increased by the tariff), the "protection" received by the protected industries is paid by the unprotected ones.—Hon. John Dewitt Warner.

SWIFT PUNISHMENT.

The Party That Enacted a High Tariff Law in October Punished in November, and Later Utterly Routed.

"During our brief existence we have seen the republican party lose the national administration for the first time since 1856, temporarily recover power through the aid of the high tariff influence, and finally suffer a disastrous defeat in spite of the utmost exertions of the friends of protection.

"We have seen that party change from the position of favoring reform and the reduction of the tariff, if intrusted to the hands of its friends, to the position of advocating extreme protection for the sake of protection, and enacting the kind of reform which raises duties instead of lowering them.

"We have seen all who held liberal tariff views crowded out of the republican party, and its organization surrendered completely into the hands of the favored benificiaries of protection.

"We have seen the worst high tariff monstrosity in our history enacted into law in October and condemned by an overwhelming popular majority in November.

"We have seen the authors and advocates of this measure telling the people that they were wrong in their first judgment and must reconsider it, and we have seen the people again set their foot upon McKinleyism in a manner that leaves no room for doubt as to their will.

"We have seen a treasury surplus turned into a treasury deficit in order that tariff taxes upon the people might be maintained.

"And upon the other side we have seen the democratic party becoming more and more strongly committed to a genuine reform of the tariff, until it has at last planted itself upon an eternal principle of truth in declaring for taxation for public purposes only, and not for private gain.

SWORN IN.

President Cleveland Has Taken the Oath of Office.

Escorted To and From the Capitol by a Magnificent Pageant—Ceremonies Marred by a Storm.

HE IS PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Grover Cleveland, of New York, thrice nominated for president of the United States and twice elected, has again been inducted into that high office for his second term, with all appropriate ceremonies and the gathering of a mighty multitude, and with the accompaniment of a blinding snow-storm.

Many Did Not March.

Had the atmospheric conditions been anything like favorable, instead of being as bad as could possibly be, there would probably have been 60,000 men and a number of ladies marching or riding in the parade, against 25,000 in reality. They were all here waiting to fall in line, but at the last moment some of the organizations [illegible] ing. Nevertheless, the occasion was memorable by the vast attendance.

Scenes Along the Line of March.

The scene along the line of march was such as no city but Washington and no street but the broad, well-paved Pennsylvania avenue could produce. The public and private stands erected along the line of march from the capitol to a point beyond the white house had an estimated seating capacity of 60,000 persons. Every foot of standing room along the route of the procession, fully 2 miles in length, was occupied; windows commanding a view of the parade brought fabulous prices, and advantageous seats on the public stands commanded prices ranging from five dollars up and down.

The Reviewing Stand.

The main stand from which President Cleveland reviewed the parade was erected immediately in front of the white house. It was decorated with effective taste. In the center was an arch 42 feet high, handsomely draped and surmounted by the arms of the United States. On the extreme right was the coat of arms of New York (Mr. Cleveland's state), on the extreme left was the coat of arms of Illinois (Vice President Stevenson's state), and between them were displayed the armorial bearings of the other members of the thirteen original states. Cushioned seats were provided for the president and his cabinet, who surrounded him, and folding chairs were supplied for the diplomatic corps, who were arranged immediately behind him. On both sides were seats for senators, members of the house of representatives and specially-invited guests.

THE REVIEWING STAND.

Was an Imposing Parade.

Capitol hill, far as the eye could reach from the eastern front of the capitol, was an undulating sea of human faces, assembled to witness the administering of the oath of office to the new president by the chief justice of the United States and to hear, as many of them as could get within ear shot, the inaugural address.

The parade was greater in numbers and more imposing in military and civil display than that of any previous inauguration. Gen. Martin F. McMahon, of New York, the grand marshal, carried out the same admirable methods which made his management of the Columbian parade in New York city last October so successful. He was ably assisted by his adjutant general, Col. N. C. Corbin, United States army.

The Military.

The escorting division, composed of artillery, cavalry and infantry of the regular army, assembled in the neighborhood of the white house and the war, state and navy buildings, and formed in columns of sections of twelve each, promptly at 10:30. They marched down the avenue, accompanying the presidential party from the white house to the capitol prior to the inauguration. All the rest of the parade assembled below the capitol and marched from the capitol 2 miles up the avenue after the inauguration ceremonies were over and disbanded at the Washington circle.

Civil Organizations.

The civic procession, under the marshalship of Col. William Dickson, was in six divisions, and aggregated more than 20,000 men, and quite a noticeable dash of lady equestrians. Tammany, with its gorgeous new banners and badges, held the right of line. The second division was assigned to Pennsylvania; Massachusetts, New Jersey and Delaware had the third division; Maryland the fourth; the fifth was the western division, and the sixth was made up of the later arriving organizations. The bicycle clubs of Washington and Baltimore brought up the rear.

Incidents of the Parade.

A detailed report of the great parade is, of course, impossible, when a mere enumeration of the various regiments, companies, posts and civic organizations participating occupies three newspaper columns. But some of the notes and incidents of the parade are here set down at random.

Among the magnificently mounted special aides who rode behind Grand Marshal McMahon and Chief of Staff Gen. W. D. Whipple were representatives from every state and territory in the union. The guard of honor of President Cleveland consisted of 100 members of the New York Business Men's Cleveland and Stevenson association.

A feature distinctively novel was introduced into the parade by the engineering corps. This was the releasing of a number of carrier pigeons with messages relating to the success of the inauguration, destined for Philadelphia, Baltimore, Annapolis and other points. Still another military feature was afforded by the military bicycle company, who, mounted upon their wheels, and at the same time handling their small arms with dexterity, gave proof that this innovation in military tactics lacked nothing of success.

White House to Capitol.

At 10:30, at the sound of the long-roll beaten by drummers stationed in the little park in front of the white house, the presidential party and its escort started on their journey from the white house to the capitol. There was a wild huzza from a thousand throats as the carriage bearing the president and president-elect came in sight, preceded by Grand Marshal McMahon and staff. President-elect Cleveland and President Harrison both raised their hats in response to the popular salute. Slowly the first brigade of the escort division in advance of the presidential party started in measured tread up the historic Pennsylvania avenue towards the capitol, the vice president-elect and the senate committee on arrangements following in carriages in the rear of the president. Another wild cheer greeted the appearance of Vice President-elect Stevenson. The members of President Harrison's cabinet, Major-Gen. Schofield, commanding the army, and the senior admiral of the navy followed in the order named, and the Second brigade of the Second division brought up the rear.

Fifty Thousand in Line.

It was a splendid procession, too, with more than 50,000 democrats in line. Nothing like it has ever been seen in Washington, so the oldest inhabitant said. Not even the famous review of the returning victorious army of Grant exceeded the pageant. It was somewhat heterogeneous, to be sure, but it was impressive for all that. It was more truly representative of the American people than any merely military columns could have been. It included regiments of regular United States troops, cavalry, infantry and artillery, led by the veteran Scofield, commander-in-chief of the federal army. Then there came detachments of marines, companies of cadets from the naval school and embryo warriors from West Point. To these succeeded the armed forces of the sovereign states, from New York, New Jersey, Georgia, Massachusetts, North Carolina, South Carolina, Texas, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, Wisconsin and Louisiana, companies or regiments of the citizen soldiery, well named the national guard.

Besides this pomp of war and glitter and gold braid and dazzle of gilded epaulets the black costumes of the civic organizations looked tame. But the political clubs were as truly representative of the nation as were the uniformed men, and their absence would have detracted from the character of the procession. There were hundreds of these clubs. They came from many states of the union and celebrate the culminating scene in the democratic triumph of last November. There were democratic associations from Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York,

Cleveland Sworn In.

Arriving at the capitol the soldiers and civilians formed in the streets radiating from the grounds and awaited the time of marching. Each thoroughfare reaching away from capitol hill held a regiment or club of several of them. The place which was assigned was on Delaware avenue directly in line with the platform on which stood President Cleveland when he took the oath of office. Patiently the troops and marching clubs waited. At last the inaugural ceremonies were over. The new president had finished his address, the senators, representatives and diplomates formed in stately procession to return to the capitol. From the west side of the capitol a single gun thundered the welcome signal to start.

The Return.

There was clanking of swords and grasping of guns and hoisting of banners and general "dressing up" of the ranks. Slowly at first and then more swiftly the column of 50,000 men moved to the blare and rumble of bugle and drum from 100 bands. Down the broad, long reach of Pennsylvania avenue it swept and on and up the ascent to the white house, where it passed in review before the president, ex-president and the dignitaries of the nation and of foreign lands. A few blocks further west, to Washington circle, it massed and then disintegrated. All along this route, about a mile and a half, the way was lined with humanity. At any available point stands had been erected and in these thousands of persons were seated. Other thousands stood on streets or sidewalk and watched the civic-military pageant sweep by. It was a splendid parade, well planned and efficiently accomplished.

Grip Among the Indians.

LANDER, Wyo., March 4.—Eleven Arapahoe Indians have died at their substations on the Wind river reservation, near here, within the last week of grip. More than 100 are very ill. The doctors, priests and sisters of charity are giving them all attention possible, but seem utterly unable to make any fight against the disease.

Stayed Under Water Too Long.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 4.—A negro named Pollers jumped into the river at Chattanooga and hid his head under the water in order to avoid the police, who were chasing him. Pollers kept his head there too long. His body was recovered.

Drank Concentrated Lye.

PACKWOOD, Ia., March 4.—Rostus Ramey, a well-to-do farmer, committed suicide by drinking a cupful of concentrated lye. He thought it would kill him at once, but he suffered in terrible agony for several hours. No reason is known for the deed.

LIFE HAD NO CHARMS.

For three years I was troubled with malarial poison, which caused my appetite to fail and I was greatly reduced in flesh, and life lost all its charms. I tried mercurial and potash remedies, but to no effect. I could get no relief. I then decided to try S.S.S. A few bottles of this wonderful medicine made a complete and permanent cure, and I now enjoy better health than ever.

chosen to carry out their purposes are bound by their promises, not less than by the command of their masters, to devote themselves unremittingly to this service.

While there should be no surrender of principles, our task must be undertaken wisely and without vindictiveness. Our mission is not punishment, but the rectification of wrongs. If, in lifting burdens from the daily life of our people, we reduce inordinate and unequal advantages too long enjoyed, this is but a necessary incident of our return to right and justice. If we exact from unwilling minds acquiescence in a theory of honest distribution of the fund of governmental beneficence treasured up for all, we but insist upon a principle which underlies our free institutions. When we tear aside the delusions and misconceptions which have blinded our countrymen to their condition under vicious tariff laws, we but show them how far they have been led away from the paths of contentment and prosperity. When we proclaim that the necessity for revenue to support the government furnishes the only justification for taxing the people, we announce a truth so plain that its denial would seem to indicate the extent to which judgment may be influenced by familiarity with perversions of the taxing power; and when we seek to reinstate the self-confidence and business enterprise of our citizens, by discrediting an abject dependence upon governmental favor, we strive to stimulate those elements of American character which support the hope of American achievement.

Anxiety for the redemption of the pledges which my party has made, and solicitude for the complete justification of the trust the people have reposed in us, constrain me to remind those with whom I am to co-operate that we can succeed in doing the work which has been especially set before us only by the most sincere, harmonious and disinterested effort. Even if insuperable obstacles and opposition prevent the consummation of our task, we shall hardly be excused; and if failure can be traced to our fault or neglect, we may be sure the people will hold us to a swift and exacting accountability.

The oath I now take to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States, not only impressively defines the great responsibility I assume, but suggests obedience to constitutional commands as the rule by which my official conduct must be guided. I shall to the best of my ability, and within my sphere of duty, preserve the Constitution by loyally protecting every grant of federal power it contains, by defending all its restraints when attacked by impatience and restlessness, and by enforcing its limitations and reservations in favor of the states and people.

Fully impressed with the gravity of the duties that confront me and mindful of my weakness, I should be appalled if it were my lot to bear unaided the responsibilities which await me. I am, however, saved from discouragement when I remember that I shall have the support and the counsel and co-operation of wise and patriotic men who will stand by my side in Cabinet places or will represent the people in their legislative halls.

I find also much comfort in remembering

DANIEL LAMONT.
(Secretary of War.)

that my countrymen are just and generous and in the assurance that they will not condemn those who by sincere devotion to their service deserve their forbearance and approval.

Above all I know there is a supreme being who rules the affairs of men and whose goodness and mercy have always followed the American people; and I know He will not turn from us now if we humbly and reverently seek His powerful aid.

The Oath of Office.

At the conclusion of his remarks, Mr. Cleveland turned around to the chief justice, who was attired in the robes of his office, to take the oath prescribed by the constitution. Chief Justice Fuller and the other persons near to the President removed their hats and with bared heads listened to the taking of the oath of office, which was pronounced by Chief Justice Fuller in a clear voice, Mr. Cleveland assenting to it by bowing his head and kissing the Bible. The oath taken by the President is what is known as the constitutional oath, and reads as follows:

"I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

The Bible used in the ceremony was given President Cleveland by his mother forty-one years ago. By his special request it was eight years ago put to the same service for which it was used to-day.

The Parade.

At the conclusion of the inaugural address the firing of a gun brought the commands of the first grand division to attention, and amid the presidential salute of twenty-one guns from the batteries of the Washington barracks, the Washington navy yards and Fort Myer, Va., the procession began to move. President Cleveland and ex-President Harrison returned to the chamber, repairing at once to Mr. Morton's private room. Here an elaborate buffet lunch was ready and was speedily enjoyed. After the lunch Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Harrison emerged from the room. As they buttoned up their coats and started towards the basement stairs, Mr. Harrison said to Mr. Cleveland laughingly: "We will go to the White House now and turn things over to you," and the two central figures of the day's American quadrennial exhibition tripped as lightly as boys down the marble stairway and gained their carriage.

In a few minutes President Cleveland and Mr. Harrison, riding in the latter's carriage, drove under the porte cochere after passing the reviewing stand. After spending a few minutes in the parlor President Cleveland, on the arm of Chairman Barrett and accompanied by Gen. Schofield and Admiral Gherardi, proceeded to the reviewing stand and took his place there. A hearty cheer greeted the President as he appeared and the shouts redoubled as he took his place in the conspicuous projection of the structure, where he stood during the parade. He was soon joined by Mrs. Cleveland and the other ladies of the presidential party.

Had the day been pleasant 60,000 would have been in line, but as it was, many civil bodies declined to brave the elements. The parade was under command of Gen. McMahon, of New York, grand marshal, who was ably assisted. The United States forces which led the parade were under the command of Brig.-Gen. John R. Brook and presented a soldierly appearance.

RICHARD OLNEY.
(Attorney-General.)

Lieut.-Col. P. C. Bainbridge commanded the artillery. Maj. R. W. Huntington, of the United States Marine Corps, commanded the marines and Capt. J. M. Bell, of the Seventh Cavalry, commanded the squadron of light cavalry. One of the features of the entire parade was Tammany Society of New York. Gov. Flower and staff were enthusiastically cheered all along the line. Immediately in the Governor's rear came Tammany's 3,000 braves, bearing the great banner of the society. Among them were Richard Croker and Maj. Gilroy. They lifted their hats to the President and were saluted in return.

The shadows of night were beginning to fall when the Cleveland Democracy of Buffalo passed the presidential stand. Marching proud and erect they presented an appearance that did credit to the President's home. Every head was bared as the contingent went by and the President kept his hat in his hand until the last rank of his ex-fellow townsmen was out of sight. Then came two divisions of the G. A. R. and civil processions of the district, headed by Col. William Dickson with Buffalo Bill as aide. In the procession were hundreds of Democratic clubs from all parts of the country, east, west, north and south. Indeed it would take three columns of a newspaper to merely

BEAUTY AND FAME.

The Ball In Honor of the New President the Grandest Ever Known.

By long custom the inaugural ball has grown to be almost as much a part of the ceremonies of the inauguration day as the inaugural address. It is the quadrennial tribute paid by politics to society.

The Pension building presented a brilliant scene. It is the ball-room of the nation and the splendor of the night's event eclipsed anything of the kind that has ever been held at the capital.

Fancy a chamber nearly a hundred yards in length, more than forty yards in breadth, and fifty yards from floor to ceiling—for such are the dimensions of the great court of the Pension Office building, where the ball was held. Eighty feet from the floor is the framework of the roof, supported by eight pillars, massive in size, wrapped round and round in artistic fashion with bunting and ivy and smilax and studded with numerous electric lights in globes of various colors. Three broad galleries range on all sides of the spacious court, the first twenty feet or so from the ball-room floor, supported by many slender columns of polished granite and the balcony railing capped by huge vases. But the shining surface of the columns and the bronzed coating of the vases are hidden in the masses of floral decoration—the one covered by hanging strings of smilax and other similar pendants; the other filled with growing palms, glittering with thousands of electric beams. Similar treatment is accorded the supports and cappings of the two upper galleries.

White, gold and red are draped about the walls of the entire interior. Wherever the eye wanders these three colors predominate with just enough of floral green to make a pleasing effect. The ceiling, 150 feet above the throng, is a mass of white and gold, a magnificent piece of workmanship that elicited admiration from all beholders. The stars and stripes are everywhere. In the center of the court is a fountain of playing water, translucent in the rays of electric lights of many colors. Two great floral arches, each sixty-five feet in hight, are on either side of the court, while just in front of and surrounding them are the stands for the musicians. They are the crowning features of the room. From the top of one the magic name—"Cleveland"—blazes in electricity; from the other "Stevenson" shines.

It is estimated that 12,000 people attended the affair, but only a small proportion of these took part in the dancing. The throng was too great to admit of freedom in the waltz and schottische and polka, and the pressure about the square sets was so intense that the revelers were given but little space for their terpsichorean evolutions. E. B. Hay, chairman of the committee on the inaugural ball and promenade, was floor manager.

It was 9:40 o'clock when Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland arrived at the Pension Office building, accompanied by a retinue of friends. Without going to the rooms reserved for them the President and his wife started on a tour of the ball-room. The President led the way on the arm of Gen. Schofield, while Mrs. Cleveland followed under escort of Justice Gray, of the supreme court. Following them came Col. and Mrs. Daniel S. Lamont, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson S. Bissell and their daughters-in-law, Mr. Hoke Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Morton, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Benedict, Miss Benedict and a number of others. As the party entered, the Marine Band, at a signal from the doorway, started up with "Hail to the Chief," and this familiar air was the first intimation given a majority of the people present that the guests of the evening had arrived.

The greatest interest was manifested in Mrs. Cleveland and hundreds of women vied with each other in getting to the front of the line where they might catch a good glimpse of her face. A few minutes only were consumed in the circuit of the hall and then Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland and their party went upstairs to their apartments and there received a large number of prominent persons.

The vice-presidential party arrived at the hour of 10, and a circuit of the hall was made in a manner similar to that of the presidential party.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland left the ball-room shortly before half past 10 o'clock. Their departure was made so quietly that but few people were aware of it and a great multitude gathered about the stairway leading to the presidential apartments and remained there for some time after the President and his wife had left the hall. The Stevenson family remained somewhat later, as did also several members of the party who came with the Clevelands. Mr. Carlisle was one of those who remained, and he and Mrs. Carlisle held several impromptu receptions in various parts of the hall.

HOKE SMITH.
(Secretary of the Interior.)

Precisely at 12 o'clock the band struck up "Home, Sweet Home," and the assemblage quietly dispersed. The whole proceedings were marked by a staid and stately decorum more characteristic of an ancient minuet than of a modern ball.

Some of the Toilets.

The costumes worn by Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Stevenson and by the wives and daughters of the Cabinet officers were not the least attractive of many elegant toilets displayed. The gown worn by Mrs. Cleveland was made of heavy white satin, empire front and tight-fitting back. It was richly trimmed with point lace, and embroidered with crystal beads. The embroidery ran up in rays about twelve inches from the bottom of the skirt, which was pointed in the back. The empire front was outlined with the lace and crystal embroidery. The sleeves were large puffs made of satin, dotted with beads and had stiff satin bows at the shoulders. A heavy fall of the lace completed the corsage. The gown was severe in style, but very rich and graceful.

Mrs. Stevenson's gown was a combination of cream and heliotrope of moire-antique and velvet. The skirt and corsage were of cream moire. About the bottom of the skirt was a narrow arrangement of heliotrope velvet. The corsage was decollete, with a rich bertha of rare old duchesse lace, outlined by a garland of velvets. Mrs. Stevenson's gloves and fan matched the velvet, and she wore no jewels.

Miss Stevenson wore pink chiffon embroidered in colors over pink silk. Miss Julia Stevenson white bengaline with full puffed elbow sleeves of rainbow satin and pearl passementeries. Miss Letitia Stevenson, yet a school girl, wore a Josephine gown of turquoise blue faille and lace.

The material of Mrs. Carlisle's gown was a superb brocade, in which pinkish mauve shades predominated. The train was a very long and full court train. The waist was elegantly trimmed with point lace and gold and seed pearls and had high puffed elbow sleeves of the brocade. The neck was finished with rich old lace, sixteen inches wide, caught up on one shoulder with ostrich tips. One end was hidden under the velvet bow at the waist in front, and then carried down the side of the skirt and fastened with a large violet velvet bow. Then it was festooned across the front of the skirt in its full width, and disappeared under the train. Mrs. Wm. Carlisle wore white crepe trimmed with light blue velvet. The low-necked waist was edged with a garland of forget-me-nots and she wore a wreath of the same flower in her hair.

Mrs. Lamont was attired in a gown with an old gold satin front, the back brocaded with terra cotta strips. The sleeves were puffed, of velvet, to match the color in the brocade stripes. The lace was jabotted around the bottom and up the front caught with bows. The bodice was of velvet, trimmed with gold and pearl fringe with fall of lace.

Miss Leila Herbert, daughter of the Secretary of the Navy, wore a gown in the style of 1820. The material, cream satin. The skirt had no train and stood out stiffly at the bottom, where it was flounced deeply with lace over silver gauze and festooned with bunches of cream roses. The bodice had the lace arranged in a pretty bertha fashion. Pearl ornaments were worn.

Miss Wilmer, of Birmingham, Ala., who is Miss Herbert's guest, wore a gown of yellow silk, trimmed with ecru lace.

Mrs. Bissell chose a gown of pale yellow brocaded satin striped with pink and blue, and finished with an abundance of rare old lace.

Mrs. Joy Morton wore heliotrope brocade and velvet, made in the directoire style and trimmed with mink and duchesse lace.

Mrs. Paul Morton, corn-colored brocade combined with pale heliotrope satin and a fall of old lace.

Mrs. Carl Morton, black silk, with white and black lace.

The Ex-President.

Ex-President Harrison left Washington for Indianapolis on a special train over the B. & O. railroad. He was accompanied to the station by Acting Secretary of State Wharton, Secretary of the Treasury Foster, Secretary of War Elkins, Secretary of the Navy Tracy, Secretary of Agriculture Rusk, Postmaster-General Wanamaker and Attorney-General Miller. The Cabinet officers, with the exception of Secretary Noble, were accompanied by their wives. The ex-President's immediate party comprised Mr. and Mrs. McKee, their children, Benjamin and Mary McKee, Lieut. Parker and Assistant Private Secretary Tibbott, Postmaster-General Wanamaker and Marshal Ransdell. Mr. George W. Boyd, assistant passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railway, was in charge of the train. Before leaving the carriage the ex-President bade his old driver and coachman good-bye, shaking hands with each.

The ex-President's train consisted of an engine and three cars, the first a baggage car, the second the New Zealand, in which he made his trip to the Pacific Coast, and the third the combination car, David Crockett. The train arrived at East Liberty, Pa., at 12 o'clock Saturday night and in order not to travel on Sunday a stop was made until five minutes past 12 o'clock Sunday night, or Monday morning, and arrived at Indianapolis, Ind., about noon on Monday.

On Sunday ex-President Harrison attended divine services at the Presbyterian Church at East Liberty, at which Rev. J. P. E. Kumler, Gen. Harrison's former pastor at Indianapolis, officiated. After the services Gen. Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. McKee took dinner with the Rev. Mr. Kumler and the party proceeded on their journey.

The New Administration.

The Democracy of these glorious United States can well rejoice. For the first time in many decades that party has complete control of the national government. The events of the past few months, which culminated in this grand celebration also gave the party a majority of both the House of Representatives and the Senate and President Cleveland has appointed a Cabinet of Democrats who are believed to be stanch and true to the principles of their leader. The Cabinet is as follows:

Walter Q. Gresham, Secretary of State; John G. Carlisle, Secretary of the Treasury; Daniel Lamont, Secretary of War; Hilary A. Herbert, Secretary of the Navy; Hoke Smith, Secretary of the Interior; J. Sterling Morton, Secretary of Agriculture; Wilson S. Bissell, Postmaster-General; Richard Olney, Attorney-General; Henry T. Thurber, President's Private Secretary.

A number of orders have been given to Philadelphia iron workers for machinery to be used in distilling alcohol from sweet potatoes. A gallon of alcohol can be distilled from a bushel of sweet potatoes at a small cost, and there is said to be a good profit in the business. Large quantities of alcohol are made in the Azore islands in this way.

Not every city is as fortunate as the town of Boise City, in Idaho, which has a supply of natural heat ready almost at its doors. It is now proposed to heat the houses of the town by hot water from artesian wells a mile from the city, the water discharged from which comes to the surface in a boiling condition. The main pipe will be six inches in diameter, and distribution to houses will be made by similar pipes. It is calculated that the cost of heating by this system, including a good profit on the original outlay, will be less than half the present cost with

A WOMAN'S DAY.

A hurry to the kitchen, a strife with pot and pan,
A tempting little breakfast set for a hungry man:
A row of fresh-washed dishes put back into their place,
A row of children sent to school, each with a shining face.

A whirl of sheets and pillows, of dustpans and of brooms,
A set of smooth and snowy beds and neatly-ordered rooms,
A rather rapid toilette, within the glass a peep,
A tiny housewife setting forth with market basket deep.

A little rest and reading, a noonday lunch to get,
A rush of school-free children—a hungry, hugging set:
A trim and tasteful street dress, a little hat of brown,
A solemn "Shakespeare Circle," and a little jaunt down town.

A most delicious dinner, served up with love and fun:
A chat—a yawn—a pillow—and then her day is done.

ACROSS THE RIVER.

A Sketch from Life in a Great City.

"Well, Mary Ann Mulligan, is it yerself? Sure it's a cure for sore eyes to see ye. Ye're rosier and fatter than ever ye were. Come right in—let me take the things off this chair—now sit ye down. How's the good man and all the childer? Ah, ha! Ye're puffin' and blowin' like a porpoise. Ye're not the light-footed gyurl that used to skip up Rathfine hill in the good ould days."

"Maggie Bertelli, it — pooh — it ud make inny wan—blow to climb thim stairs. How have you been for the last six months, since you came up to Harlem to see us?"

"We've all been doin' finely. Now take off your bonnet and shawl, and I'll pour ye out a cup o' tay that I'm keepin' warm for Mary aninst she comes home from the cloak shop."

"I'll be deprivin' the child—" objected the visitor.

"Sorra bit. There's enough in the taypot for half a dozen," and Mrs. Bertelli hurried to the stove on her hospitable mission, while Mrs. Mulligan took off her bonnet and shawl, smoothed out the creases in the kerchief that covered her ample shoulders, and surveyed the tidy apartment with an experienced housewife's critical eye.

"Maggie," she remarked to her hostess, "it's beyant me to know how you can live down here in a double decker in Sullivan street among all the dagos—widout manin' offense to your good man—whin you might just as well be livin' up in Harlem among your own kind, where you could get a breath of fresh air now and again."

"Well, Mary Ann, ye see Tony's work is down here, and Mamie sews over in a Broadway cloak house, and its convanient for thim. The neighbors is quiet, harmless folks, and I, not knowin' their talk, have little to do wid thim. As for Tony, he's the best husband and father that ever lived. Now here, take this sup o' tay while it's hot;" and Mrs. Bertilli put the cup of "tay" on the table, in front of her guest.

"You might a' gone furder and fared worse than marryin' Tony," said Mrs. Mulligan, as she sipped the beverage, "but in these barracks, crowded with furriners of all kinds, you run a risk of catchin' some kind o' sickness."

"Thrue for ye. There was two min an' a babe, sick wid smallpox, taken out o' the big tinement next door on'y a couple o' weeks ago," replied the hostess.

"Look at that, now! Sure it's the dirt of the haythens, with their rooms turned into ragshops."

Mrs. Bertelli's information about the sickness seemed to have disturbed her friend, for after a moment's silence she said in a slightly hushed voice:

"I hope you have no smallpox in this house. Me little Tim ain't as hardy as he might be, and I wouldn't want to carry the disease home to him."

"Make yer mind easy," replied Mrs. Bertelli. "There's none av it here. I hear me daughter Mamie's step on the stairs. Wait till ye see what a fine big gyurl she's grown. Good avenin' to ye, miss," cried Mrs. Bertelli as the girl entered. "Do ye see who's here? Me old friend Mrs. Mulligan, from Harlem," and the mother beamed proudly on the tall, pretty young woman who kissed her, and gave welcome to her mother's friend.

"Arrah, Mamie, I wouldn't know you if I met you on the street," exclaimed Mrs. Mulligan. "You've grown so tall and han'some. You've got your father's big black eyes and curly raven locks, and the beautiful rosy cheeks your mother brought wid her from the ould dart."

"She's rosier than usual this avenin'," said Mrs. Bertilli. "Ain't ye feelin' well, acushla? Why, yer hand is burnin'."

"I'm not very well to-night, mammy. I've had a headache all day long."

"Give her a hot cup o' tay, Mary Ann. It'll do her good. Thim cloak shops is so crowded and stiflin' they do give the girls the headache to be in thim all day," said the girl's mother.

"I couldn't eat or drink, mammy. I'll rest awhile on the bed. I'll see you again before you leave, Mrs. Mulligan," and Mamie passed into the bedroom.

"It's a fever she has, Maggie," whispered Mrs. Mulligan, "and as soon as Tony comes in you'd betther sind for the docthor. Now, it's gettin' late," she continued, thinking about little Tim, "who wasn't as hardy as he might be," and the possibilities of Mamie's fever proving contagious. "It's gettin' late, and I have a long journey afore me, so I'll be goin'. Be sure now and come up and see us soon."

"Ye've taken the heart out o' me, Mary Ann, wid yer talk about faver. That gyurl's the apple o' me eye, an' if anything was to happen to her, God help me, I don't know what'd become o' me. An' her father, poor man, his heart an' soul's wrapped up in her. There never was a betther young woman or a betther daughter. Why, she spint the best part of her nights tindin' that sick baby next dure, just to give its mother a chance to get some rest, and now"—the good-natured eyes were dimmed with tears.

"Cheer up, Maggie. The girl'll be all right in the mornin'. Now good-by to you, and come up and see us soon."

"Good-by, good luck to ye, ye always had the cheerin' word for a sorrowin' heart, Mary Ann," and Mrs. Bertelli took the lamp from the table and lighted the way to the long staircase.

When the sound of her visitor's footsteps had died away downstairs, she hurried into the little bedroom and was terrified by the girl's appearance. Mamie's eyes were sparkling, and her face was flushed with fever.

"O, mammy! mammy, I'm so sick, so sick," she moaned, as her mother entered the room.

"I must get one o' the neighbors to go for Dr. McArdle, mavourneen. Won't ye take a sup o' tay, me darlint, or can't I do somethin' fer ye? I'll lay a [illegible] burnin'."

As the mother hurried to the sink to wet a towel she heard the tramping of many feet on the stairs below, and then a loud rapping at the doors of the apartments of the four families on each floor. As she was returning to her daughter's bedside, the footsteps came nearer. There seemed to be at least half a dozen men in the party.

Rat-tat-tat!

They were at Mrs. Bertelli's own door now.

"Who's there?" she asked, with some little perturbation.

"Board of health inspectors," came the prompt answer. "Open the door!"

She turned the key in the lock, the door was flung open, and a stalwart member of the sanitary squad stepped into the room, followed by a tall, kindly faced man enveloped in an ulster. After him came others, until the small room was crowded with men.

"Anybody sick here?" asked the man in the ulster.

"Me daughter, sir," faltered Mrs. Bertelli.

"Let us have a look at her. Where is she?"

Mrs. Bertelli pointed to the little bedroom.

"She's in there, sir," she said, in a voice broken with apprehension of evil.

The big policeman picked up the lamp, and led the way into the apartment, the man in the ulster following. A few moments of silence in the darkness, and then the black figure of the tall man was outlined in the doorway against the lamplight.

"Dr. Raymond," he cried, in authoritative tones, "there's a well developed case here. Send out a call for the wagon. Officer, let no one except our party come in or go out of this room until it has been fumigated. Let me have some vaccine points."

"What is the matter?" cried Mrs. Bertelli, terror-stricken.

"Your daughter has malignant smallpox," answered the man in the ulster, who was the chief inspector, "and we are about to remove her to the hospital on North Brother island."

"Oh! sir, don't take her away from me. She's all I have in the world to love—me joy, me pride! If ye take her from me she'll die in the pesthouse. Oh! my"—

"Stand aside now, my good woman. We'll take good care of her. You wouldn't imperil the health of the two hundred people in this house, would you?"

Day after day, regardless of pouring rain, driving snow or frosty blast, an Irishwoman, followed by a short but brawny Italian, entered an office in the Health Department building and stood aside until the last person had been attended to by the clerk, or until the kind-hearted policeman detailed to the place had approached and asked the couple their business. Then, with sorrowful voice, the woman would say:

"We had a little gyurl, sir, who was sick, and they took her away from us and sint her across the river. Mebbe, sir, ye've got some word from her to-day. Mebbe ye could find out for us how she's gettin' along."

"What was the trouble?"

"Smallpox, sir."

"Hum! Hospital for contagious diseases, North Brother island. What name?"

"Mary Bertelli."

"No. No word to-day."

"Thank you, sir. No word, Tony," and they would walk away.

In the hurry and bustle of a great city's charitable bureau, there is but little time to answer the simple inquiries of simple souls, and no doctor's bulletins are received from the great island hospitals, recording the condition of the thousands of humble sufferers; but there was a look of dumb, patient grief on the faces and attitudes of the Bertellis that touched the hearts of the clerk and the policeman.

One bleak day the couple entered, and in answer to the policeman's questions the clerk's finger, running down the page of his register, stopped suddenly midway, and he said, in a low tone:

"Hum! The little girl is across the river."

His tone was not low enough to escape an anxious mother's ear. She clasped her hands, the tears of joy ran down her cheeks, and she sobbed.

"God be praised. Do you hear, Tony? Our little gyurl is coming home."

"You don't understand, my poor woman," said the big policeman, in a husky voice toned to a whisper. "Your little girl has gone home. Gone across the river, to a home where there's no more sickness or trouble. Quick, Tom! Hand me a glass of water. The poor soul's fainted, God help her."—William Harper Bennett, in Munsey's Magazine.

—A correspondent vouches for the accuracy of the following: "My brethren," said a preacher, "such a man is like the captain of a crewless vessel on a shoreless sea." Happy would such a man be could he bring his men safe to land."—Tid-Bits.

because the alleged steel wheels put out by inexperienced manufacturers have gone down in ordinary winds, a fact that the Steel Wheel is unsafe. Judge it only by the fruits. In this year's blizzards and cyclones the Aermotor has proportionately much less than any wooden wheel, while the losses of the imitation steel ones has frequently been total.

A Steel Windmill and Tower every 3 hours. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, ever-Steel Aermotor. One goes others and we "Take the Cake." Thought, labor, money were unable to make many mammoth windmills as makers combined have ever done. Recently increased our plant and can promptly to plant our increased satisfactory portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the MOTOR CO. is the 6th year? Come to make many mammoth windmills as makers combined? Come to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a town which there had been no [illegible] most for 20 years, and in addition, none has yet been [illegible] except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a mechanical engineer, who for over 5,000 dynamometer tests were made on all the usual forms of wheels, followed by artificial and uniform wind, which conclusively many questions relating to the proper of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions behind wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other questions struck, though not less important questions. The investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the cost of poor ones, we furnish the most perfect bearings, put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive investigation of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor, that will grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone, saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

It is hoped this is the last blizzard of the season.

F. J. Temple has been on the sick list for the past few days

Mrs. E. W. Rappleye went to Dundee Monday to spend the week.

The first thunder showers of the year put in an appearance Saturday.

The usual amount of moving that takes place each spring has begun.

Mrs. Francis Wiggins, who has been sick for several weeks, is able to be out again.

Francis Wiggins left for Harvey Monday, where he expects to secure employment.

Mrs. Emma Ford and daughter, of Tecumseh, visited Mrs. Wm. Larkin over Sunday.

Remember the L. C. S. will be held at the home of Mrs. D. W. Loree to-morrow evening.

F. J. Temple went to Adrian last Thursday night and took the R. A. M. degree in Masonry.

Wm. Beevers, having rented the old homestead, moved his household effects there last week.

Mrs. W. H. Arner left Saturday for a few weeks' visit with relatives at Hudson and Pittsford.

Mrs. I. T. Bush, who has been under the doctor's care for several weeks, is slowly on the gain.

Mrs. Geo. Osgood is moving into R. S. Houseman's house on North street, she having rented her farm,

Mrs. Melinda Bush and son Irving, accompanied by her mother, left for Brooklyn Friday morning.

Leila Sutton went to Toledo Friday to resume her course in music, after a vacation of a few weeks.

Harry Smith has bought the Lydia Miller property of Wm. Beevers, the change taking place Saturday.

Rob Hicks, of Toledo, and Miss Minnie Barrett, of the Normal, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Minnie's parents.

S. P. Smith received his spring order of wall paper and window shades, that are of the latest pattern and style, a few days ago.

The Detroit Evening News has a hustling newsboy in the person of Lawrence Rappleye, who is always on deck with his papers.

C. A. Sharp, of Adrian, visited old schoolmates and friends here last week Wednesday and Thursday. He has a good situation as typewriter in the Hand grist mill office at Adrian.

Willis Palmer, the 3-year-old son of mail messenger A. E. Palmer, fell from a teeter-board Friday, breaking one of his legs near the hip. Dr. Loree set the limb and the little sufferer is doing very nicely.

The firm of Harrison & Bannester having dissolved, they would be pleased to have all who are indebted to them call and settle. Mr. Harrison will continue the business at the old stand and respectfully asks all who need anything in his line to give him a call.

Darius Smith, while floating down the raging Raisin on a raft of ice during the freshet, cut a Robinson Crusoe figure when his raft divided and he slipped in and took a bath, while his man Friday stood on the bank with a broad smile to see him "pull for the shore" while the cakes were gathering round.

The members of the Epworth League will give a social and literary entertainment in the parlors of the church on Wednesday evening of next week. The first part of the evening will be spent in social enjoyment, after which the following program will be presented:

Find Forty-three Skeletons.

ABIQUIU, N. M., March 13.—Captain P. Stanley of Silverton, Colo., Thomas Sewell, C. J. Gavin and J. C. Clark of Denver, while prospecting in what is known as Devil's Gulch, discovered the skeletons of a company of soldiers that had been missing from Fort Marcy ever since the memorable day of the Apache raid on Espanola Sept. 9, 1879. It was supposed they had been massacred by the Indians, but it seems they all must have drunk from the poisonous verdigris spring, where their skeletons have lain bleaching for the last thirteen years. Forty-three skeletons, some of them still incased in uniform; three piles of guns, stacked as they had left them; a lot of ammunition and the skeletons of forty-five horses constituted the extent of the ghastly discovery.

For all derangements of the throat and lungs, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the speediest and most reliable remedy. Even the advanced stages of Consumption, this wonderful preparation affords great relief, checks coughing, and induces sleep.

Wm. McCarthy, 122 E. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio, writes; I used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in my family with good results. We recommend it to all heads of families as the best.

FRANKLIN FACTS.

Robert Davenport is visiting Franklin relatives.

We hear that Ed Spalding has bought out Mrs. Pitcher, on the old Frank Stout farm.

Miss Myrtie and Louis Wisner, of Sharon Hollow, visited relatives here last week.

Elias DePuy expects to move back on his farm in Franklin in the course of two weeks.

Carl Wisner's school closed in the Evans Lake District last Friday. Tom Conlin's school also closed the same day.

Miss Brewster, of the Center school, was taken seriously ill last Tuesday and was forced to close her school. She is reported as being somewhat better.

PENTECOST POINTERS.

Smith German and wife have been visiting among friends in Jackson Co.

Blackbirds, bluebirds, larks, robins, crows and mud indicate that spring is here.

Willard Vanderpool has taken a helpmeet. Success, long life and usefulness attend them.

Mrs. Anne Clement (or "Aunt Ann," as nearly every one calls her) is so much recovered from her recent severe illness as to be up and about the house again.

Mrs. Lamoreaux, of Schuyler Co., N. Y., visited at Mrs. S. German's recently. Her father-in-law, L. Lamoreaux, was well known to many Michigan people who came from Seneca and Schuyler counties.

Mrs. Cynthia Conlin has gone back to Tipton and her son resumes business in the store recently occupied by his mother; and, as he is a faithful follower of Grover C., he naturally expects to fall heir to the postoffice "loaves and fishes."

Lyman Randall is about to move to Quincy with his family, as the doctor has decided that his present location is not beneficial to his health. Mr. Randall has been a sufferer from ill-health for some time, caused partly by malarial surroundings.

NEWBURGH NEWS.

There is a young man in our town
Who is known by fame and renown—
Guess who.

P. J. Farley is again upon the sick list.

Frank Conger was visiting friends here last Friday.

Elmer Forr is moving his family to Norvell this week.

William Brown is still working for Conger and Mattison.

Miss Maggie Smith is visiting relatives at the Lakes this week.

The Newburg mills have been closed for a few days on account of high water.

Chas. McNeil has gone into the colt breaking business. All will do well to call upon him.

Mrs. Mary Mattison and daughter Inez are making a few days' visit with friends and relatives at Concord, Mich.

Sam Haight has rented the E. C. Coryell farm, and is moving his household effects thereon from Tecumseh this week.

We wish to correct a mistake in last week's items. The Baby party, instead of being held last week, will be held this week Friday, at H. A. Stacy's.

Disappearance of an Island.

Expedition Island is no more. Your map shows it lying on the northwest coast of Australia, about 22 miles from the mainland. When it flourished in all its glory, as it has time out of memory, it was a beautiful tract of land, 13 miles long and 1½ to 2 miles broad. The Swedish trader Laemstrom visited it early in the spring of 1892, and the Dutch naturalists of the Thignig gathered rare botanical specimens and collected many hundred sets of eggs, to say nothing of the many other objects of natural history, during the months of May and June last year. A vessel was sailing in those parts quite recently when the officers remarked the absence of the island. The captain ordered that soundings be made. All around thousands of feet of water were found. Finally, upon observing that there were no signs of breakers on the former site of the island he ordered that they sail directly across where the island had formerly been. Soundings were again taken, which resulted in finding that the island had only sunk to a depth of 48 feet below the surface. It was one of the largest islands on the Australian coast and its sudden subsidence is a mystery.—St. Louis Republic.

Sailed the Seas 38 Years.

Capt. A. P. Loud is a prominent resident of Hampden, Me. For 38 years he sailed the seas, and upon retiring from that calling was appointed by the U. S. government to superintend its interests in the Alaska seal fisheries, a position he held five years. In speaking of his experience he says: "For several years I was troubled with nervousness and pain in the region of my heart. It was almost impossible for me to get rest and sleep. Physicians from New York to San Francisco did me no good, but Dr. Miles Restorative Nervine and New Heart Cure speedily and completely cured me. I owe my present excellent health to them."

TECUMSEH, MICH., MARCH 16, 1893.

The present Republican legislature is making an excellent record for the Democracy to win the next State election upon.

The Atlanta Journal says that for the first time since the war there are no colonels in Georgia, because they are all in Washington.

The recall of the Hawaiian treaty from the Senate indicates that Claus Spreckles does'nt enjoy any pull with the present Democratic administration.

The withdrawal of the Hawaiian treaty by the President shows that the new administration is disposed to make haste slowly in the matter of annexation.

An unmuzzled press is the chief bulwark of liberty. Mr. Cleveland has discovered this and he is not going to use the post offices to suppress public opinion.

It is entirely possible that Mr. Harrison thinks he will be renominated and re-elected four years from now. Perhaps he would like for the Democrats to accumulate another surplus for him to squander.

Denver banks have furnished to the Treasury a million in gold in exchange for a like amount in the notes issued under the Sherman act of 1890. That ought to stop all talk of borrowing gold at interest to "secure the credit" of Government paper.

The legislatures of three States—Washington, Wyoming and Montana, have adjourned without electing U. S. Senators, and appointments have been made by the governors. This action raises a nice legal question, and it is more than probable that those appointed Senators will not be admitted.

A prominent Senator, whose relations with the Executive are believed to be more than ordinarily intimate, said: "I can readily see how the withdrawal of the Hawaiian treaty does not mean antagonism by the President to the project of annexation. I can as readily see that its withdrawal means a desire on his part to become more familiar with the contents of the treaty before giving it his approval."

The debts which Major McKinley contracted as a result of too much confidence in his Protective theories have been paid for him by popular subscription among his friends in several States. As a burned child dreads fire, it is fair to presume that Major McKinley will not again "indorse" the tinplate humbug, and this being so it is gratifying to learn that the generosity of the people has saved him from the consequences of his Protectionist folly.

Old Commodore Vanderbilt once said that his son-in-law, Elliott F. Shepard, "could be more kinds of a d——d fool than any other man on earth," and time has vindicated the old gentleman's judgment. Now Col. Shepard is using the columns of the Mail and Express to urge a reform in the calendar. He wants Sunday made Sonday because "Our Lord said 'for the Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath.'" He wants to steer clear of all reminders of the sun worshippers, to step from heathendom into Christianity. He would also like Tuesday called Twosday and Wednesday recognised as Weddingsday, but upon these changes he does not insist at the outset. But "Sonday" he will have, and proposes to use it in his own paper. What the colonel needs is massage treatment for the head.

Without doubt the sentiment of the vast majority of the American people is in favor of throwing open the gates of the world's fair on Sunday. Prof. Felix Adler in a recent address in New York gave clear and cogent reasons why the fair should be open that day to all who desired to visit it. He made a special plea that this great exhibition should not be closed on the day of recreation to the working people. He pointed out the immense educational and uplifting benefits to be conferred upon them. The exhibition would be a great school, not alone in a material way, but from the standpoint of the arts, with all their higher effects. It would give the people new desires, new needs, that would aid in raising the standard of living and of life. And yet the indications at present are that the great fair will be closed on Sunday.

MR. CLEVELAND'S INAUGURAL.

The general tone of the address is such as to convey assurance of the earnestness with which President Cleveland enters upon the fulfillment of his trust, and of his thorough appreciation of the urgent need for sound financial legislation and administration, and for the reform of our revenue system and the retrenchment in public expenditure which have been solemnly promised and are imperatively demanded.—New York Commercial Bulletin.

The effect of the address as a whole must be gratifying to every man who voted for Mr. Cleveland. It shows us the president alive with the sense of duty, under no delusions whatever as to the work which the American people elected him to discharge, and in the enjoyment of perfect physical and mental health which, under the blessing of God, will enable him to perfectly sustain every burden of his great office.—Brooklyn Citizen.

There are no specific recommendations in the inaugural. It is not the place for them. But as a proclamation of Democratic principles—of economy, integrity and self-reliance in the citizen as the only safe foundation of a free government, administered solely for the general good—it is emphatic and unmistakable, and carries the unmistakable application of these principles to the serious problems of the day.—Philadelphia Times.

President Cleveland's inaugural address is the brief outline of purposes which deserve to have, and do have, the support of the masses of the American people. So dispassionate an appeal would not have been possible at a time when party passions run high. President Cleveland has pointed out the evils which his administration purposes to attack. Patriotic Americanism stands behind him in support of his endeavors.—Albany Argus.

Tariff for public revenue only, sound currency and civil service reform are the dominant notes of President Cleveland's inaugural. As the people have placed in control of the government the foremost representative of these policies, he has a just right to expect that they will generously sustain him during the term of his administration.—Philadelphia Record.

No public document has appeared in this country for many a year, so absolutely pervaded with the sanity of statesmanship, so free from the taint of partisan politics, so far above the infected atmosphere of demagogy, as the address which Mr. Cleveland delivered on taking the oath of office for the second time as president of the United States.—New York Times.

It was a democrat who knew why he is a democrat who wrote the address which was delivered to the nation from the capitol steps at Washington on Saturday. No man who was a democrat from heredity, from environment, from impressions or from self-interest, could have put the soul of earnestness and sincerity into the words of the address.—St. Paul Globe.

Constitutional government, strict, impartial, economic and just, is the burden of Mr. Cleveland's speech and the evident purpose of his administration. His fellow citizens believe his words sincere. They are confident that his labors in their behalf will be characterized with zeal, devotion to his party and loyalty to the people's government.—Buffalo Times.

The message is a plain and unpretentious statement of the president's position. It accords with what he has given us to understand before are his honest and influential views. The occasion demanded nothing more elaborate, and its deliverances, except as to the few points upon which the party is not a unit, will secure its hearty acquiescence.—Washington Post.

It is a clear, forceful outline of his political program, which contemplates the fulfillment of his own and his party's pledges to the people. It assumes, rightly, that the people understood what they were voting for and that they will brook no departure from the path which they have marked out for the government to follow.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The address is a clean-cut, straightforward, statesmanlike document, that cannot fail to commend itself to every unprejudiced citizen. It is a document marked by candor and honesty. It deals in no glittering generalities. It is clear and concise in statement. It is so plain, so specific that he who runs may read.—Toledo Bee.

The inaugural is a document expressive of sound democratic policy, which, if it be given effect by the hearty cooperation of the legislative with the executive branch of the government, is the assured earnest of a long lease of power to the democracy.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The address could hardly be better phrased. We are to have reform of the tariff to a strictly revenue basis in accordance with the Chicago platform. We are to have honest money and an enlightened and upright fiscal policy, in accordance with the Chicago platform.—Courier Journal.

His utterances are clear and distinct. No one can by any possibility mistake his meaning. He says what he means and means what he says. He believes that the government should be supported by the people, not the people by the government.—Terre Haute Gazette.

Mr. Cleveland has declared the principles of democracy as he understands them. There is not a senator or representative who will take issue with him on the sentences of his inaugural address. The logical conclusions are as plain as the principles.—Kansas City Times.

No admirer of the president could have hoped for a clearer or more concise statement of the position of democracy or a more fearless utterance of the political truths which the times force upon the attention of president, congress and people.—Des Moines Leader.

We think President Cleveland's inaugural address makes it clear that Washington will be unpleasant for congressmen who are disposed to disregard the pledge made in the democratic platform to repeal the Sherman short-[illegible]

From beginning to end there is no wavering of tone. There is not a syllable or accent to suggest hesitation on the line of the great commisson put upon the president and his political comrades by the American people—Dallas News.

President Cleveland's inaugural address is a characteristically frank and straightforward production. There could hardly be a better platform for a patriotic president to present in the opening of his administration.—Boston Herald.

It is a brave and true utterance and the American people have cause to be proud that they have chosen a man capable of concentrating so much sense and statesmanship and patriotism into so few words.—Memphis Commercial.

The brevity of Mr. Cleveland's inaugural address does not in the least diminish its value or importance as an official utterance. Indeed, it rather adds to its strength and magnifies its significance.—Kansas City Star.

The declarations and pledges of the inaugural address represent the convictions not only of the larger part but the better part of the American people.—Buffalo Courier.

There is a ring of pure patriotism in the president's inaugural address which should find an echo in every American heart.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Mr. Cleveland isn't afraid to speak his mind and he has a mind to speak.—Boston Globe.

A Kansas City reader asks the Republic to explain how there came to be over $700,000,000 in the Treasury and whether the Government has the right to use it for ordinary appropriations. Most of it is collateral for notes in circulation and the Government has no right to use it for ordinary expenses. But it can use every cent of it "in maintaining the public credit"—that is, in honoring notes presented on calls for coin. This being the case, the talk of borrowing more coin at interest to secure such notes is a wild absurdity.—St. Louis Republic.

All things considered, this is a good Cabinet, decidedly better than the one of eight years ago. At that time Mr. Cleveland was too unfamiliar with public men to be a good judge of secretaries. Senator Bayard had a high reputation and so had Senators Lamar and Garland, in their way, but all three proved unsuited to executive duties. Colonel Vilas is a very able and all-around man for almost any position, Daniel Manning for Secretary of the Treasury was the logic of Mr. Cleveland's personal political fortunes. The New England member of that Cabinet, Endicott, was a cipher, and the only man who really added to his reputation by being in that Cabinet was William C. Whitney, and even he made a very bad beginning. But in the end he proved an able man and an exceptionally satisfactory Secretary of the Navy. The truth is that looking back upon that Administration Whitney is the only one of them all who won honorable distinction. Don Dickinson and Fairchild, who came in later, accomplished nothing of note. The new Cabinet has one more member than the one of eight years ago. It was not until late in the Cleveland Administration that the Department of Agriculture was raised to a Cabinet rank, and the man who filled the place, Colman, made nothing of it. Secretary Rusk made a great deal of it, and his successor, J. Sterling Morton, is expected to make a good record. He can hardly hope, however, to achieve greatness, as Rusk did, but it is undoubtedly true that no other selection would have given more satisfaction.—Chicago Inter-Ocean (Rep.) February 27.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely, and I had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored, and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. Mrs. E. E. Grimes, Rendrill, Perry Co., O.

Teacher: Johnie, do you think if you had cut down your father's cherry tree you would have told the truth about it? Johnnie (slowly): No, I don't believe I would. Teacher: What! The "God bless you Dr. Wheeler," of Geo. W. Cooper, 15 Lawn St., Cleveland, Ohio, is genuine and from the heart. He writes, July 28, 1892: "My son commenced to have fits when 10 years old. He had them three or four times a month, and as high as 19 in three days. I had him treated at the hospital and by different doctors but it did him no good. Sixteen months ago he commenced to take Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer and had only one fit since. I think him entirely cured. Will gladly answer any questions about your great medicine." Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Back Her Sight, and Joy to Her Father's Heart.

"Waterbury, Vt., Nov. 10, 1892.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"In April, 1889, my little girl Mamie, who was then 3 years old, commenced having ulcerated eyes, also had sores back of her ears. Her sight began to grow dim, and I feared she Might be Blind.

I then lived in Jericho, Vt. In the early days of June I went with her to the Mary Fletcher hospital in Burlington, and there she was treated four different times—a surgical operation each time, one of which left the scars now visible on the eye balls. She recovered from this treatment each time, a slight improvement for a few days, was soon worse than ever. She could discern daylight from darkness, but could not see to walk across the room.

"I next went to a large hospital in Hartford, Conn. At this hospital no surgical operations were performed, but medicine was dropped into her eyes and given her to take. She was at this hospital about ten weeks, continually growing worse, and when I took her in November

Was Totally Blind.

"I arrived at my station in Jericho with the child, sad in spirit and impoverished in pocket completely discouraged. On our way to the house from the station, we stopped at the store of Capt. McKinnan, who was an old sea captain, to warm ourselves. The captain had known the child before we went away. While we were warming ourselves Mamie said:

"'Papa, it's dark. Where are you? I can't see you, come to me.'

"The captain's heart was touched, and with tears in his eyes he said:

"'Charley, you go and get a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and give it to her, and if it don't help her I will pay for it.'

"That very afternoon I got Hood's Sarsaparilla and commenced giving it to her according to directions. The first medicinal result was a bright ring of the eyes, which continued steadily improving until, under the treatment of Hood's Sarsaparilla, on the ninth day she could see to pick up a pin on the floor without its being pointed out to her, and before the first bottle was all used

Her Sight was Entirely Restored.

I keep Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house always, and when the child gets a little cold, if her eyes appear inflamed, a few doses settles it. I thank God first, Hood's Sarsaparilla second,

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 118 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simfeld says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Blotches on the skin looked horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in all. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I cannot say too much for those scientific doctors who have been in Detroit for fourteen years. I conversed with hundreds of patients in their offices who were being cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians."

PRONOUNCED HOPELESS, YET SAVED.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at J. J. Orr's drug store. Large size 50c. and $1.00.

Allow me to add my tribute to the efficacy of Ely's Cream Balm. I was suffering from a severe attack of influenza and catarrh and was induced to try your remedy. The result was marvelous. Waiter have you seen my hat? A new one—You are too late, sir, the best ones have been gone for more than an hour.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is because it is always the same in appearance, flavor, and effect, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed. It is, therefore, the most economical blood-purifier in existence. It makes food nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It searches out all impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly by the natural channels. AYER'S Sarsaparilla gives elasticity to the step, and imparts to the aged and infirm, renewed health, strength, and vitality.

A HEAVY RESPONSIBILITY.

Taxes Must Be Reduced and Raw Materials Made Free.

When Mr. Harrison was renominated Mr. Carnegie cabled him his congratulations and told him that the American people knew a good thing when they saw it. Mr. Carnegie only told half the truth. He should have added that the American people knew a bad thing when they saw it.

You meet as the faithful adherents of commercial emancipation. The 8th day of November came to you and to the republic like a grand sunburst that brightened up the whole world. For a time the battle went against us, but at the next opportunity victory came. But the victory has placed a very heavy burden of responsibility upon our shoulders. We must show to the people of the United States that we were honest in the declarations upon which they gave us the administration of the government in all departments.

We must arrange taxation for the the government. We must show to them that we were sincere when we said that taxes should not be levied for the purpose of protecting anybody against competition.

To do our duty will call for only an ordinary amount of intelligence but for an extraordinary amount of courage. In proceeding to formulate a measure that shall take the place of the present system of tariff taxes, we must keep uppermost the principle of the right of the American people to labor and to market the product of their labor.

The problem to-day is that the productive efficiency of the people of the United States is so great that in a part of the year it brings forth more than will satisfy our people for the whole year. Barriers have been placed in the way of their marketing elsewhere what they produce the rest of the year, and they must be removed. In order to do that we must take the heavy penalties off goods coming into this country. By the same act that you prohibit importation you make impossible exportation.

We must take the tax off every raw material that enters into the manufacture of goods that we produce. Coal, the metals, and all the fibers must be put on the free list, and so must all of those things that enter into the manufacturing of the articles in which the skill of the American laborer is superior to the skill of the labor of any other country. Then, too, the taxes must be taken off finished goods that are of common necessity in so far as these taxes are purely protective. All this must be done because our people now appreciate that when you put a high tax on an article and that article comes into this country to be sold something must pay for it, tariff, tax and all, and they know that that payment must come from the surplus of American labor, as it is now and has long been coming.

The democratic party has wisdom enough. It has too much prudence. For thirty years truth compels me to say that there has been cowardice in the leadership of the democratic party. Grover Cleveland was elected because the people appreciated that he had the courage to do what was right.

All we have to do is to follow our chief, support him courageously, and stand by the promises we have made to the people. Then they will keep us in power for another generation. The distinguished gentlemen who are running around telling the monopolists that the revenue duty we will be forced to levy will be sufficient to protect them have fallen so far behind the band wagon that they now fail to hear the music and have lost the step.

The people have issued the edict that there must be a tariff system which will reduce their burdens to a minimum. It is to carry out their edict that they put the democratic party into power. If that party fails to do this the people will bury it four years from now deeper than they buried the republican party last November.—Roger Q. Mills, at Reform Club Dinner.

HISTORY REPEATING ITSELF.

The Curse of Corn Law Protection in Great Britain, and of Mill Owners' Protection in the United States—The Cobden Club and the Reform Club.

About 1840, when Great Britain was groaning under protection, John Bright, Richard Cobden and many other good and philanthropic men saw the gross injustice of the "corn laws," that were taxing the bread of the poor, injuring most industries by increasing the cost of raw materials, and pauperizing and degrading the whole nation, made vows that they would agitate until the obnoxious laws were abolished. They joined themselves together and formed the Cobden club. This club worked unselfishly, and systematically in the interests of the masses. Large sums of money were spent. A few years of such work and the corn laws were abolished forever and commerce was practically free. The era of prosperity that then began has made the little islands that constitute Great Britain not only the master of the high seas and the distributing point for the world's supplies, but also the most wealthy spot on the globe. Wages, which were then extremely low there, have advanced more than in any country, so that they are to-day much higher than in any other European country or other old country of the world, and are higher only in the two great countries of undeveloped opportunities—United States and Australia.

But, of couse, the great wrong was not put down without hurting the feelings of the English landlords and others who were profiting by the nefarious system of "protection." These men hated the Cobden club like the devil is said to hate holy water. They hurled vile epithets at it and called the "free traders", the enemies of the country, Bright, Cobden, O'Connell and the other leaders expected to be villified, but they did not count on being called traitors and hounded by the aristocracy. It only made them fight the more desperately and spend more money to rid the people and their country of the heavy load of taxation.

The history of Great Britain is being repeated a half century later in the United States. Protection can be effective only on goods that are imported largely. It is the manufacturers, therefore, and not the bread producers that can and have profited by protection in this country. And so well have the manufacturers improved their opportunities that they now have higher duties on their goods than the British landlords ever had on their grains. If we are not so much cursed as were the English, it is because manufactured goods are not used to the same extent as breadstuffs and are less essential to life; also because we were never so dependent on foreign countries for supplies as England has always been for bread. It is not then the fault of our monopolistic manufacturers that they have reduced this nation in their thirty years of rule or misrule to the same extent that the corn monopolists reduced Great Britain in their thirty years of rule. Our manufacturers have done their worst but circumstance have been against them.

The corn-law men wanted the exclusive feeding of the manufacturers in [illegible] home markets, they called it; our manufacturers want, and practically have, the exclusive right to supply us with manufactures—"home market"—they call it. British monopolists posed as the guardians of the public weal and had laws made in their own interests. American monopolists pose as the only real patriots, and have juggled our laws to make what they call the "American system"—as if an American system of robbery is preferable to a foreign one. Protectionists in England were a privileged class of landlords who for years made the masses believe that "protection" not only gave them the especial privilege of eating home-made bread, but that it was cheaper than it would be if the tax were removed and they were dependent upon foreign supplies. Protectionists in America are a privileged class of manufacturers and mine owners, who have made the people believe that goods would be cheaper under free trade than under "protection" and that with free trade work would be scarcer and wages lower. British landlords got in increased rents the benefits of protection there. Agricultural rent has declined 50 per cent. since 1850, but agricultural with other kinds of wages have doubled since then. American manufacturers and mine owners get in increased prices and rents the benefits of protection here. Work will be more plentiful and wages higher when restrictions to trade are removed and our monopolists lose their grip. In both cases the masses were deluded and taxed for the benefit of a special class.

The Reform club, of New York, is composed for the most part of unselfish men who wish to do for this country what the Cobden club did for Great Britain—abolish the curse of "protection" and give the people more work, better pay and cheaper goods. About 3,000 men, one-half in New York city, have for several years been contributing to support the work of this club. The only hope of the vast majority of the members is to abolish class legislation, to give all equal opportunities, and to increase the earnings and the happiness of the masses. The first good effects of the work of this club were seen in the elections of 1890 and 1892. To say that protectionists hate this "mugwump" and "free trade" club is to put it mildly. The Crisp incident, at the recent dinner of the club, has given republicans and protectionists—for the two are not yet quite synonymous—the first good opportunity to vent their spleen on this club. Bitter and sneering remarks are being hurled at these "American Cobdenites," "dispensers of British gold," "ludicrous self-important statesmen," these "conceited mugwumps" and "tariff reformers." Really the officers of the club may congratulate themselves upon the enemies they have made. It is the best possible evidence of the effectiveness of their work. It is scarcely necessary to say that such opposition will stimulate the club to continue its work until our robber barons can no longer ply their trade here, and until the country is again free. BYRON W. HOLT.

A, B and C Will Trade.

The claim is sometimes made that trade within a nation is twice as profitable as trade with foreigners, supposing the profit in each case to be the same to each party to the trade. But the absurdity of the claim will be apparent with a little reflection. If A and B in habit the same country and trade together, each making a profit of 10 per cent., two profits have been made in that country; but if A trades with C who lives in another country and each one makes a profit of 10 per cent. only one profit has been made in C's country. Therefore, say these people, the former transaction is twice as profitable to A's country. But are we to suppose that B does not trade at all because he does not trade with A? Will he not find some one else to trade with, and if that person live in a foreign country and both parties to the transaction make a profit of 10 per cent., has not the trading of A and B been as profitable to their country in the second case as in the first? And with free trade each will certainly trade where he can do the best. If he finds he can make more trading with a fellow-citizen he will trade with him, but if a foreigner offers him a better bargain, it will be for his advantage, for that of his country also, that he trade with the foreigner. If not, why not?—St. Louis Courier.

Timely Warning.

Those businesses in this country which depend altogether for their profitable conduct upon the largesses which they get by reason of discriminating tax laws have not been treated with unfairness. Timely notice of the popular desire for tariff revision was given in 1890, immediately after the passage of the McKinley act. Two years have elapsed, and the people have again emphatically demanded a reduction of tax rates. The complaint of suddenness and precipitation in the work of revision is without a shadow of foundation. On the contrary, the protected interests which have refused to trim their sails according to the political forecast are without excuse for their delay.—Philadelphia Record.

HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by dealers in medicine.

Another New Bank.

Since the failure of the banking firm of O. P. Bills & Co., rumors have frequently arisen to the effect that the same firm would resume business or a new bank would be started in its place. A movement was started a few weeks ago to organize an entire new institution, and that movemsant has been crowned with success. A strong combination has been formed with a large number of stockholders, the full list of whom is appended.

C. A. Slayton, R. C. Knapp, H. W. Conkling, Wm. Hayden, L. D. Dewey, J. H. Smith, G. W. Knapp, Lydia M. Coryell, F. C. Rector, A. D. Lawrence, Phillip Kehoe, Wm. De Mott, C. M. Woodward, Jas. Lowry, J. N. Satterthwaite, George Howell, A. Spayde, S. P. Hosmer, Garlinghouse Bros., D. C. Larned, S. R. McClure, Tecumseh; Henry Chittenden, H. A. Angell, C. R. Miller, A. M. Stephenson, Seymour Howell, Deventer, Cone; F. J. Temple, Ridgeway; A. D. Ellis, A. D. Gilmore, Blissfield; R. L. Rogers, Cambridge.

The name chosen is the "Tecumseh State Savings Bank" and it has been organized under the State laws. The following directors have already been chosen: C. A. Slayton, J. D. Shull, R. C. Knapp, I. C. Wolcott, Joseph Russell, C. R. Miller, H. W. Conkling. A meeting of the directors will be held this afternoon and from the sentiments already manifested these officers will be chosen:

President—J. D. Shull.
Vice Pres.—C. A. Slayton.
Cashier—J. H. Smith.

The new bank has procured a lease of the building formerly occupied by O. P. Bills & Co., which will make them a fine location. They expect to begin business about the middle of April, or as soon as the necessary books and stationery can be prepared. We congratulate Tecumseh upon this valuable accession to our business interests. It has an ample capital and the list of stockholders shows that it will be one of the strongest financial institutions in the County. It will be well officered also, with J. D. Shull as President and J. H. Smith as Cashier. Here's good luck to the new bank.

Last Of The Fox Sisters.

New York, March 11.—Margaret Fox-Kane, the last of the famous Fox sisters, spiritualistic mediums, was buried last night without ceremony of any kind. She died at the home of Mrs. Emily B. Ruggles, No., 492 State-st., Brooklyn, a day or two ago after a long illness. She had been moved to Brooklyn from No. 456 West Fifty-seventh-st. this city, where she was found by Mrs. Ruggles in the most abject poverty and at death's door.

Margaret Fox was born in Bath, Can., in 1836. When she was 12 years old her father, John Fox, took his family to live on a farm near Hydesville, Wayne county, N. Y. One night her sister Kate, three years younger than Margaret, heard some rappings in the room. She imitated the rappings with her fingers, and to each of her raps there came a response. Kate proceeded to cultivate the acquaintance of the invisible something that did the rapping. The household became excited and the so called "spirit rappings" began to be talked about among the neighbors. Then the so called "physical manifestations" became common at the Fox homestead, and Kate and Margaret and Adah Leah were said to be good mediums.

In 1849 the family moved to Rochester, where the two sisters introduced "modern spiritualism" to the world. The following year they came to this city and set the town in commotion. Many eminent men, scientific and unscientific, attended the seances and tried their best to find a physical explanation for the marvellous phenomena produced but without success. Fenimore Cooper and Horace Greeley became deeply interested, and with such indorsements the Fox sisters soon became famous, and traveled all over the world with great success.

The sisters went to Europe some years later and gave seances in London, Berlin, Paris and St. Petersburg. The health of the three sisters declined under their severe work. Adah Leah died first, and Kate, who had married Henry D. Jencken, an English barrister of note, died a year ago. Dr Elisha Kent Kane, the Artic explorer, married Margaret in 1856, when she gave up sittings as a medium. Since his death she has had a hard struggle for existence.—Detroit Tribune.

Bonnie Mrs. Cleveland.

The return of Mrs. Cleveland to the White House is an event not less important than the re-election of her famous husband.

There have been consorts of former Presidents whose beauty, grace and tact have made them famous the world wide, but there were few who possessed such a winning personality, such modest and unpretentious manners as belong to the universally beloved Frances Folsom Cleveland.

The fact that she is a woman of infinite feminine resources and more than ordinary mold was demonstrated when she became mistress of the White House and first lady of the land.

In one day she stepped, it may be said, from her place in refined but simple life into the most conspicuous social position in the United States. That she performed her duties with distinction and rare discrimination are matters of history.

Many lives, humble as well as exalted will be brightened by the return to the White House of the bonnie [illegible] her unostentatious charity and sweet sympathy were given without fear or favor to those who were in need of them.

She is lavish of the little courtesies of life which go so far to smooth the stony paths of human existence, and possesses in a rare degree the knack of doing the right thing at the right time. As Pin says "May she live long and prosper," and may little Ruth grow daily more and more after the pattern of her beautiful and charming mother.—Washington News.

Remarkable Newspaper Enterprise.

Combination is the characteristic of this age, and when capitalists are combining in trusts, working men in labor unions, and farmers in alliances, newspapers can hardly be blamed for joining the procession. Indeed it is remarkable that the press has not led the way in taking advantage of the power of association, instead of lagging behind. The Press Claims Company, whose advertisment appears in another column will become familiar to our readers during the coming year, illustrates the advantages of co-operation on an extensive scale. It is a combination of hundreds of the leading newspapers of the United States for the purpose of protecting their patrons against unscrupulous Washington claim agents, and securing prompt, efficient, and economical service to all persons having dealings with the Government. Incidentally the company expects to make a profit for itself. It will secure patents and pensions, perfect land titles, and attend to all other legitimate business of the kind on terms that will make its employment a necessity to claimants having a proper regard for their own interests. Membership in this company is a guaranty of the high standing of any newspaper, all applications for stock having been carefully considered and passed upon by the Board of Directors before allotment. The company comes before the public backed by the collective indorsement of over five hundred of the leading journals of the United States. That the HERALD has been admitted to such an association is a compliment which our readers will appreciate as highly as ourselves. We take pleasure in recommending the Press Claims Company to all who may desire the satisfactory transaction of business in its line.

What They Say About Him.

Cleveland has had his measure taken physically, mentally and psychologically, and the decision is that he has greatly improved since he was last at the head of the nation.

He does not appear as heavy and flabby as he used to be. While he has aged a little and has lost much of his hair, he seems more active and closer knit and more capable of endurance. His physical condition is shown to be strong by his recklessness as to fatigue and exposure and freedom from any evil results from it.

Mentally, he is keener, more astute, quicker of perception and broader of vision, and underneath all this he is more in touch with mankind, more genial, less apt to be fretful and more apt to get in sympathy with and understand all manner and conditions of men. He is more a man of the world. Having more confidence it is more clearly marked as to the individual instead of being general.

The general comment is that he is a pleasanter man to meet and more difficult to influence. He has a wider acquaintance with men, a broader range of vision and more clearly defined purposes. He is not inclined to devote as many hours to work as he used to, but he can dispose of more in less time. Just at present he is being put through a pretty hard strain, but with all the hand-shaking and all the importunities he is subjected to he does not appear to be in the least disturbed. He seems to have solved the problem of letting the other fellow do the worrying. The men who want places can fuss and fume as much as they care to while he takes it all philosophically.—St. Louis Republic.

The Bryne-Harrison comic opera, "The Isle of Champagne," after an absence of four months, was revived at the Lyceum last evening. This is one of the best and cleverest works of its class. Thomas Q. Seabrooke's droll representation of King Pomeroy is one of the happiest of comic conceits, and it is worked out with conscientious fidelity and minute care. It is distinctly a work of art, as any one may easily perceive who will observe the naturalness and the self-restraint of the comedian in the celebrated scene of drunkenness. Not since Burton's there has not been seen a truer stage drunkard than Seabrooke. Sprightly Elvia Croix and all the remainder of the admirable original cast are still on duty. A special feature of the representation is the ballet, led by Clara Qualitz. A matinee will be given on Wednesday.—Detroit Free Press.

This charming comic opera will be given by the above company at Hibbard's Opera House, Jackson, on Thursday evening, March 16th. A special train will be run over the Lake Shore for the accommodation of people in this vicinity that wish to attend. It will leave on its return trip immediately after the performance.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The Raisin river at Deerfield reached the highest mark on Monday that has been known in twenty years.

Addison is having a post office war, too. Ex Congressman Gorman lets the question of getting votes for his party come in the matter, John H. Uuderwood, who served under Cleveland, and two years under Harrison, because of a little difference among the Republicans as to who should be appointed, will probably get it again. On account of his army service he is unable to do manual labor, but he makes a great postmaster. John Waterman is his principal, and in fact the only one who can really be considered his opponent.—Messenger.

During our brief visit at Elgin last week, we had the pleasure of making a call at Loyal Beardsleys' and also upon Will Walker, who is now assistant engineer at the electric light plant. Mr. Beardsley has a place on the street car line, and Edna, who once set type in the HERALD office, has a case in the Democrat office at Elgin. A short call at David Burger's was enjoyed. Found him very nicely located, running a shoe shop down town, while the children are now all living at home. Mr. Burger is evidently well fixed and enjoying life.

The entertainment for the benefit of the Ladies Library was well attended at H. S. Lee's on Tuesday evening, notwithstanding the blizzard which prevailed. Pictures were exhibited in the megalethoscope, and there was also a museum of living curiosities. An orchestra, composed of Messrs Dickinson and Knapp and Miss Jennie Root, furnised some excellent music. Refreshments and home made candies were served. Those who braved the storm to attend were well paid for their trouble and the receipts were also satisfactory, amounting to nearly twenty dollars.

Last Monday was a warm, pleasant day in Chicago and we spent that day in the World's Fair city, on our return home from Elgin. Called at several paper houses in the forenoon and in the afternoon took a trip to Jackson Park and made a circuit of the Exposition buildings. The lithographic views and published descriptions of the buildings are not overdrawn in the least. Everything is on a colossal scale. The main buildings are about completed and the work of placing exhibits has already begun. The grounds are rapidly assuming shape. Quite a revenue is already derived from the admission of visitors at twenty-five cents each.

It is possible to get an idea of the means to be employed, by the Columbian Celebration Company, in building the scenery for "The MacKaye Spectatorium" at Chicago, when the fact is known that within the last few days a consignment of five carloads of trees, shrubs, plants and tropical flora has been received by the Company from the plantations of the Boston Fruit Company, at Jamaca, W. I. This entire consignment is to be used in equipping one scene, that which shallpresent the landing of Columbus at San Salvador. All the scenery used will, it is said, be on a like scale of completeness.

Mrs. C. J. Sprague, Mrs Louesa Bailey.

Persons calling for letters in the above list will please say "Advertised."

ALBERT D. LAWRENCE, P. M.

Right to the Point.

It is a very difficult matter to please everybody. Some of our subscribers would feel very much offended if their paper was discontinued at the end of the time paid for, as they leave orders to never stop it and generally pay ahead soon after their time expires. Then there is another class who subscribe and pay a year and let the paper run on two or three years longer until we need the money and ask for it, then they begin to complain because in wasn't stopped when the time expired. Between these two extremes it is difficult to pass without some dissatisfaction at times. But we have several rules that are applied as nearly as possible: (1) We do not stop a paper where we believe the subscriber wants it and proposes to pay for it even though he gets a little behind. (2) We do not send the paper to anyone after we are informed it is not desired and arrearages paid. (3) We do not try to crowd the paper on anyone. If it is ordered, we suppose it is desired continued until ordered stopped, unless so stated at the time of subscribing. So under the circumstances all those it is supposed they desire it and propose to pay for it. If any do not desire it, let them pay arrearages and it will be discontinued at once. Under so plain a method it certainly seems clear that all our subscribers ought to know where they stand, and no difficulty should be in the way of adjusting matters. It doesn't go very good to send a paper to some one two or three years because it is supposed they want it, accommodate them by waiting for the money, and then when we need the cash and ask for it, have them declare they only ordered it for one year, and refuse to pay for the other two or three years they have taken it from the post office and read it. Among Prohibitionists we have not found many of that class of people, but there are a few of them on that side of the fence, which is simply an illustration that mankind is pretty generally moulded out of the same sort of clay.—Messenger.

Do You Want a Public Office?

There are 180,000 offices within the gift of the new Administration, and those who desire to know what steps to take to secure one of these lucrative positions should send for the U. S. Blue Book, a register of all Federal offices and employments in each State and Territory, the District of Columbia and abroad, with their salaries and duties. It gives questions asked at examinations and complete instructions for the guidance of office-seekers. Handsomely bound in cloth. Price, 75 cents, post paid. Send all remittances by draft, money order or registered letter. Address J. H. Soule, Publisher, Box 43, Washington, D. C.

"You bet," he said, I don't think marriage is a failure.

Are you a married man? asked a sad-eyed woman across the table.

Not much: I'm a divorce lawyer.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

A chime whistle at the power house of the Brooklyn electric light plant gives warning five minutes before turning on and shutting off the lights. A good idea.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Heck were given a surprise Monday evening, by the members of Beers' Post and the Relief Corps. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

A special train will run to Jackson this evening to accommodate those who wish to attend the Seabrooke comic opera. It will pass this station at 5:25 o'clock, returning about midnight.

The "roll call" at the Baptist church last week proved to be a very interesting occasion. It began Wednesday evening and continued through Thursday evening. Supper was served Thursday evening by the Ladies Social.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold the regular monthly tea meeting in the church parlors on Wednesday, March 22d. Business meeting at 4 p. m. Mrs. Griswold's committee will serve supper from 5:30 till 6:30.

We desire to thank our esteemed contemporary, the Herald, for the very kind and flattering words which it contained last week, with reference to the recent nomination of the editor of this paper for county school commissioner. It is especially pleasant to know that our friends at home entertain such kindly sentiments and we shall try our best to deserve them.—Tecumseh News.

Frank Breen, of Detroit, purloined $23:38 from his brother-in-law, Chas. Heck last Saturday, then took a horse and buggy belonging to Chas. Biggs of Ridgeway and drove to Clinton. He was there stopped by Dow Drapper on a telegram from officer Stevens, who followed on to Clinton and arrested Breen. He was taken to Adrian Sunday morning and lodged in jail.

Mr. Howell's latest novel, "The Coast of Bohemia," now running through the pages of the Ladies' Home Journal, was written in four different States. Mr. Howells began the novel at his father's home in Ohio last May; continued it in Boston in June; took it to the mountains of New Hampshire during the summer and worked at it; brought it to New York and wrote a number of chapters there in October; took it back again to Ohio in November, and finally finished it in New York last December. And yet despite all these changes of places of writing, the novel turns out really to be the brightest piece of work that Howells has done for a long time.

Capt. C. R. Miller, of Adrian, was in town yesterday on business connected with organizing the new bank.

The Democratic Convention which assembled at Hudson last Monday, nominated W. S. Westerman for Judge of this Circuit. It was a good nomination.

C. W. Leavitt, of Oceana county, a member of the State Legislature, died at Grand Rapids on Monday, of creeping paralysis. His was the first death among the members during this session.

Another case where a young man shoots his sweetheart and himself occurred in Detroit Monday evening. In this case he made a success of the best part of the job and shuffled off this mortal coil. The girl will probably recover.

Several rivers in the State have been on the rampage, among them the Grand, Huron and Shiawasee. Much damage has been done and several lives lost since the freshet started. The flood is now subsiding and the danger is probably passed.

Macon Grange will meet in regular session Saturday the 25th of March, at 1:30 o'clock p. m. Owing to the weather the attendance was so small at the last meeting that the program was defered until next meeting, when it will be called for. All members are requested to be present.

M. J. MARTIN, Lecturer.

Rev. Gorton well preach at the Universalist church next Sunday, on the following subjects: Morning—"Why are not Universalists at all interested in saying any one from hell? Evening—The third sermon on "The Bible of to-day," the special theme of Scripture—who determined what books should constitute our Bible, and how and when was it done?"

Mrs. James Potter and children were surprised to see so many of their friends at their residence last week. A jolly evening was enjoyed by the old and young to the full extent of the capacity of the house, and all returned to their homes well pleased with their reception. The true friendship manifested at the these surprise parties is indeed refreshing in this time of every body for themselves. Try it.

Ye editor spent last Saturday and Sunday at Elgin, Ill., with Geo. N. Stacy. George is still holding the position of advertising manager in the office of the Elgin News, and is likely to remain for some time, as the position is a congenial and paying one. The News has lately put in a Cox Duplex press, made at Battle Creek, which prints both sides of the sheet at once direct from the type forms. It is the finest press in Elgin and one of the best in Illinois outside of Chicago. Mr. Lowry, one of the proprietors of the News is now taking a tour of Europe and expects to be gone until August.

It may perhaps be timely to warn people against engaging rooms in Chicago during the World's Fair by answering circulars which purport to advertise hotels for the accommodatien of the public. For the most part these are frauds, and unscrupulous men will get plenty of money from unsuspicious people who are guaranteed to get good rooms in hotels for a consideration in advance. The fact is, the hotels never existed, and probably never will, only in the men's minds, and when people get to the fair expecting to find accommodations, they will be fooled. Put no faith in these strange circulars. A few responsible companies have been organized for this purpose, which will be represented in different localities by good local agents.

Last Sunday morning, at the Quaker church, the Friends of David listened to a description of his four week's work at Quincy, Mich. He said the ministers and church members discarded their creeds and held union meetings, preaching Christ, and Him Crucified, and 275 came to the alter and joined churches. It was red hot meetings. The blacksmith could not shape the iron unless it was red hot; the minister could not shape the gospel unless it was red hot. When he went to Quincy they touched the ends of their fingers and shook hands sort of pumphandle style, but when he came away they clasped hands as if there was a heart behind it. He also said he did not leave Tecumseh because he wanted to, as the happiest part of his life was spent here, but so many asked his help that he considered it his duty to devote his energies to earnest calls and asked the prayers of all for strength to fill his mission.

The engineers and firemen on the entire system of the Toledo and Ann Arbor R. R. have struck. The management have hired non-union men to take the place of brotherhood men, and are moving some trains. It would be difficult at this time to predict the outcome. The strike may possibly affect all lines in the United States, as the other lines are compelled by the Interstate Commerce law to handle Ann Arbor freight, and this the brotherhood men will probably refuse to do. Some sensational charges are made by the strikers against the managers of a number of important railway lines. They claim the Ann Arbor road has simply taken the initiatory step in a system of oppression which it proposed eventually to extend to a large number of other roads. We have learned since writing the above that the difficulty will be settled by arbitration. This is a most gratifying result, and one which we hope will be largely introduced as infinitely better for all parties concerned than the long, bitter and often criminal course, which has been a disgrace to our civilization.

H. S. Lee returned from his trip to Richmond, Va., last Saturday.

The theme of discourse at the Presbyterian church next Sunday night, will be "The evils and perils of gambling."

Lee Snedecor started Monday morning for Chinook, Montana, where he expects to join his older brother. Lee leaves many friends in Tecumseh who will wish him success wherever his lot may be.

At the meeting of the Picnic Association it was decided to call another meeting for Saturday, March 25th, at 1 o'clock, at the HERALD Office. Let every representative try and be prompt on time.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Forty-third day—Bills passed: For a dam across the Chippewa river at Isabella City; appropriating $[illegible] for the Industrial Home for Girls; amending the act of incorporation of [illegible] tions; providing for the sale by the board of trustees of lands belonging to the Michigan Asylum for the Insane, appropriating $102,220 for the State Normal school. HOUSE.—The only unfinished business was the motion to expunge a representative Barkworth's protest from the Journal. It was laid on the table. Representative Barbey offered a resolution reciting that whereas it is reported through the press that Representative Moore, of Wayne, has been approached for the purpose of corrupting him in the interest of a certain electric lighting company, a committee of three Democrats and two Republicans be appointed to investigate and report all the facts to the House. The resolution was amended to leave the selection of the committee to the discretion of the speaker and the investigation was ordered. Then came a budget of petitions for the passage of pending bills for the taxation of church property, and for a home for erring women. A bill to amend the charter of the city of Port Huron by providing for the consolidation of that city and Port Gratiot, was withdrawn from committee of the whole and placed upon its passage and carried through, but there were not enough members present to give it immediate effect. A bill to amend the constitution by which members of the legislature shall receive $[illegible] and mileage per session, instead of per diem compensation of $3, was considered in committee of the whole. The Senate placed the compensation at $600 but the House committee on judiciary increased it to $700. The committee on judiciary reported a bill in favor of female suffrage. It was placed upon the general order and will be printed. Representative McKinstry's bill requiring the year in which fruit, fish, soups, etc., are canned to be plainly stamped upon the can, went through the committee of the whole without objection or amendment as did Representative Gordon's joint resolution amending the constitution relative to male convicts in the prisons of the state, so as to provide that they may be employed in the construction, building and repairing of public roads, highways and bridges.

SENATE.—Forty-fourth day.—Only local bills were passed and nothing of general importance was acted upon. HOUSE.—The bill to allow the city of Detroit to establish a board of electric light commissioners and to own and operate an electric light plant, under the management of the commissioners, six in number, or if deemed best by the commissioners so to do, to provide towers, poles, lamps and wires and own them, and let out by contract to private parties the lighting of the city, came up as a special order and was passed by a vote of 77 to 2. Other bills passed were of minor or local import. The bill known as McKinley's election bill was considered. It is a bill to amend the act entitled "An Act to prescribe the manner of conducting and to prevent fraud and deception at elections," provides that the judge of probate, county clerk and county treasurer in each county, shall constitute a board of election commissioners, and prepare the official ballots for all elections, all party nominations to be filed twenty days before election, and all tickets to be printed on one ballot. The names of all candidates for the same office shall be arranged one below another under the title of the office without any mark or designation of any kind to indicate to which party they belong, and in order in which they are certified to the commissioners. Before each name there shall be a blank square, in which the voter shall make his mark. There shall be a blank space in which the name of a person not nominated may be written. The ballots are to be of uniform size and in each precinct there shall be a booth for each 100 electors. No precinct shall contain more than 700 voters. In townships the supervisor, justices of the peace and clerk shall be inspectors of election. In cities the board of inspectors shall be six in number, appointed by the common council. In committee of the whole an amendment was adopted placing the maximum number of voters in each precinct at 650. In the evening Henry Russel of Detroit, interested the legislators and a large audience of citizens, the lecture upon Japan by invitation of the two Houses. The lecture was instructive and described the manners, customs religion, history and strange national peculiarities of the Japanese, interspersed with humorous recollections of Mr. Russel's recent trip to that ancient empire. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Russel.

SENATE.—Forty-fifth day—Besides bills to amend various village charters and reorganizing certain townships in certain counties the following bills were passed: Amending election laws; amendatory of act 10 of 1869 relative to the sales and conveyance of property and franchises by railroad companies; authorizing the destruction of infected clothing; authorizing Lincoln, Arenac Co., to borrow money to pay township indebtedness. In committee of the whole the Senate agreed to the following: The House joint resolution, providing for highway commissioners; the bill of Mr. Newkirk classing obscene and vulgar epithets directed by one person at another as an assult; allowing railroads organized under the laws of this state to consolidate with companies operated under the laws of other states. HOUSE.—Amendments to the constitution to be voted on by the people at the spring election was the principal work of the day outside of local bills. Measures providing for amendments to the constitution were disposed of as follows: Relative to the introduction of bills in the legislature, limiting the time to 35 days, now 50—passed; providing that male convicts in prisons and jails may be employed in improving the highways of the state, and directing the legislature to enact the required laws—passed; relative to conferring power on the legislature to enact laws for the creation of county and township boards of highway commissioners—lost, reconsidered and tabled and afterward passed; providing for a salary of $750 each for members of the legislature in regular session, and $3 per day for no more than twenty days for extra sessions, mileage being allowed in each case—lost reconsidered and tabled; providing for an increase of the salaries of certain state officers, viz., the lieutenant-governor to receive $1,200; the treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, secretary of state and commissioner of land office $2,000 each—passed; providing that convicts shall not be taught any mechanical trade in prisons in this state and that all labor shall be performed by hand or with hand tools—lost, reconsidered and tabled. other measures passed: Authorizing the use of the upper portion of the Detroit Market building for a free public hall; amending the general election laws so that no voting precincts shall contain more than 650 votes; amending laws so as to provide that constitutional amendments shall be submitted to the legislature fifteen days before the elections; providing for quo warranto proceedings in the supreme court in certain cases, such as the refusal of a person to surrender an office upon the expiration of his term, or his removal from office for cause. The McKinley election bill was partially discussed and lacked in two-thirds majority on a vote, but was reconsidered and tabled.

SENATE.—Forty-sixth day.—There was a lively time in committee of the whole over the joint resolution for single representa tives districts in cities. On a vote the measure failed to pass, but was reconsidered and tabled. Very little other business of general importance was acted upon with the exception of one bill of immediate importance which was passed by both Senate and House. It is an amendment to the election law of 1891, by which in the first place the time for opening and closing the polls at the April election is made uniform for all purposes, opening at 7 and closing at 5 o'clock, while reserving the right of a noon adjournment in townships. The other important feature is the simplification of the method of certifying nominations to the County election commissions, making the certificate of the county committee all that is requisite as to all offices to be voted for within the county. It does away with the multiplied certification that seemed to be required by the law of 1891, including the wholly useless sealed certificates to the secretary of state and county clerks.

Gold Is Scarce, Very Scarce.

Secretary Carlisle, when he assumed charge of the treasury department, had no hand $250,000 of free gold and a net balance of $25,500,000, of which $1,500,000 is in national bank depositories and $11,000,000 in subsidy coin and $360,000 in minor coins. Ex-Secretary Charles Foster says that the treasury was down to bed-rock when turned over to the new secretary. It is probable that before Mr. Carlisle has been long in his office he will find it necessary to choose between issuing bonds and trenching upon the $100,000,000 gold reserve.

MICHIGAN MATTERS.

STATE ENCAMPMENT G. A. R. AT BENTON HARBOR.

Commander-in-Chief Weissert an Honored Guest—Department Commander Dean's Report.—The Women's Relief Corps.

State G. A. R.

The opening camp fire of the state encampment of Michigan department G. A. R. at Benton Harbor was so largely attended that the entire capacity of two opera houses was taxed. Col. L. N. Ward, of Benton Harbor, made the address of welcome to which Commander Dean replied. Then the National Commander-in-Chief A. G. Weissert, the chief guest of the encampment made one of his famous witty addresses [illegible] ers. Washington Gardner and Gen. L. G. Rutherford also made short speeches.

The formal opening of the fifteenth annual encampment was followed by prayer by Chaplain H. S. White. Then came the reading of Commander Dean's report which showed that during the year five new posts have been organized and four disbanded and there are now 390 posts in the department with a membership of 20,469 and no delinquents; the losses by death during the past year have been 333 against 290 for last year; the commander recommended that the Alger fund of $641.65, which is not available for use at present, be kept out at interest until such a time as the department has use for it; the different posts report $3,640 expended for relief, distributed among 332 old soldiers. Commander Dean thinks that the council of administration is too large; he recommends that the department commander be authorized to appoint an executive committee; he spoke kindly of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans; he reported the status of the Memorial hall; he called attention to one evidence of the peace and harmony that has reigned in the order during the past year, that is that the judge advocate has not had a single dispute to settle; he stated that there were 42,250 pensioners in this department and something more than 48,000 old soldiers, while there were but 20,469 of those old veterans enrolled in the ranks of the G. A. R., which fact he deeply deplored.

The convention of the Women's Relief Corps was opened by President Cornelia O. Perry whose report showed that the organization is in excellent financial condition: fourteen new corps were formed; there are at present 286 corps with a membership of 7,593, a gain of 524 during the year; the receipts during the year amounted to $4,137.82 and the expenditures to $3,366.19, leaving a balance of $808.89; there was expended during the year $183.65 and $146.99 remains in the fund; six schools of instruction were held during the year. Reports were received from the senior vice-president, Amanda J. Holsted, of Concord, and junior vice-president, Olivia Merrill, of Jonesville; from the secretary, Hattie H. Ollard, and the treasurer, Lina K. Holt, of Bellevue. The report of the chaplain, Lucy D. Reed, indicated that 9,075 soldiers' graves had been decorated during the year at an expense of $1,162.42. For memorials for unknown dead $185 was expended. The secretary reported 52 deaths during the year.

Only two candidates were named for commander, Gen. Kidd, of Ionia, and Louis Kantz, of Muskegon. The battle was short, sharp, but decisive and resulted in the selection of Gen. Kidd. The other officers elected are as follows: Vice-commander, L. M. Ward, of Benton Harbor; junior vice-commander, F. C. Anthony, Negaunee; medical director, W. E. Best, North Branch; Chaplain, C. A. Gardner, Newaygo; council of administration, C. R. Castrie, Jackson; O. Palmer, Grayling; Chas P. Coffin, Grand Rapids; C. F. Smith, Albion; J. G. Alport, Muskegon.

The fight for place of holding the next encampment was hot and resulted in the choice of Owosso in preference to Saginaw.

Resolutions of thanks were extended to Benton Harbor, Commander Dean and the officers of the day. Commander Kidd announced three appointments for the ensuing year. They were assistant adjutant-general J. J. Phelps, of Ionia, assistant quartermaster-general, Charles A. Cornell, of Ionia; chief of staff, W. R. Jacklin, Fairbanks, who was major of the Sixteenth Injantry.

The Women's Relief corps elected the following officers: President, Mrs. A. T. Bliss, Saginaw; senior vice-president, Anna M. Barney, Kalamazoo; junior vice-president, Hattie M. Padden, Garnd Rapids; treasurer, Mina D. Kinsey, Saginaw; chaplain, Caroline Bradford, North Muskegon; chairman of the executive board, Sarah M. Dewey, of Grand Rapids; second member, Ellen D. Plummer, Benton Harbor; third, Lucy D. Reed, Hubbardston; fourth, Louise Bennett, Greenville; fifth, Nellie Sprague, North Muskegon.

Want Church Property Taxed.

The Adventists in session at Battle Creek are a long way in advance of other religious bodies on the question of taxing church property. After a long and able discussion they passed the following: "Whereas, In view of the separation which we believe should exist between the church and the state, it is inconsistent for the church to receive from the state pecuniary gifts, favors or exemption, therefore, Resolved, That we repudiate the doctrine that church or ecclesiastical property should be exempt from taxation and that we decidedly protest against any such exemption and favor the repeal of any legislation that grants such exemption."

While Percy Parmalee, an employe in the yards of the G. R. & I. railroad, was made a coupling at Kalamazoo he was struck by a car and the wheels of one truck passed over his right leg above the knee, mashing the member in a horrible manner. He will die.

At the meeting of the board of agriculture held at the college, Ernest Witchcock, of Pontiac, was appointed foreman of the farm and F. B. Mumford of the college, appointed to arrange the college exhibit for the World's Fair. A committee of eight professors now at the college were appointed to draw up a schedule for a winter's course.

RIVERS ARE SWOLLEN.

Two Persons Drowned in the Floods.—Damage Throughout the State.

The rivers throughout Michigan are swollen beyond their banks and are creating enormous loss of property in all directions. Several accidents have been reported, but the most serious was the drowning of Fred Laisure and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hattie Sullivan, near Midland.

Laisure was driving with his sister-in-law from a camp above here, where Mrs. Sullivan had been cooking, when they came to a place where the river had overflown the road. Turning aside to ascend a bank he got into deeper water, and the carriage upset. Laisure, assisting his sister-in-law, tried to swim but being burdened with heavy clothing both sank in ten feet of water. They were washed toward the river and Laisure's body was found. Fred Laisure, 40 years old, was well known throughout the state, he being a trainer and owner of trotting horses. He leaves a wife and two young children.

At Ionia: The citizens were startled from their beds at 3 o'clock in the morning by the clang of the fire alarm. It was soon known that help was needed to prevent the Grand river from destroying the Capitol wagon works and the Ionia Furniture company's plants. Every available man and team was put to work, and soon the road (which was the sole protection of the factories) was filled with great timber, stones and gravel forming a heavy breastwork.

The bed of the river lies at least a half a mile away, but the whole country for miles is now but a raging, rushing torrent. The bridges on the D., G. H. & M. and the D., L. & N. railroads were in imminent danger. Many men were engaged to weight them down, and tons of sand bags were piled on them. Fifteen families residing on Bayard's flats were driven from their homes. The cellar of the Michigan Clothing company was flooded, and damage done to new clothing to the extent of $3,000. The grounds of the Ionia Agricultural Society, west of the city, were entirely submerged, water reaching the tops of the fence and stock sheds. Webber's planing and saw mills were also nearly surrounded by water, and timber was floating.

At Portland: The Grand and Looking Glass rivers played sad havoc. An ice gorge formed in Looking Glass canal, a half mile east of town. The dam thus formed turned the stream full across the main track of the D., L. & N. road and the track was submerged a distance of 400 feet. When the water subsided the tracks were left suspended in midair, the earth having been washed from under them. The electric light plant was seriously crippled.

At Flint: The Flint river went on a rampage. It reached its former high-water mark and wrought serious damage along its course. Ice accumulated in such quantities that the dam gave away with a thunderous crash and the rush of water and ice threatened the bridges. Over 2,000,000 feet of pine logs tore from their moorings and were carried away.

At Grand Rapids: Grand river reached the highest point since 1885. Several flour mills and factories were flooded. The Grand Rapids electric light works were flooded so that it was necessary to shut off the big engine. The huge warehouse of the Valley City Storage company was carried a mile and finally anchored against a tree. Wallin's tannery and the plaster mills were under four feet of water. The Michigan Barrel company and Quimby Lumber company lost several hundred thousand feet of lumber, and the latter concern lost its huge dry-kilns. The basements of the Goshen Carpet Sweeper company, Berkey & Gay, and the Grand Rapids Chair company were flooded and the machinery suffered severely. The press and composing rooms of the Evening Press were covered by two feet of water. The total loss already aggregates $150,000.

BRAGG IN HARD LUCK.

THE ENEMIES HE HAS MADE ARE VERY STRONG.

And Cleveland Does Not Look With Favor Toward His Aspirations—Solicitor-General Aldrich Will Remain in Office for a While.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Solicitor-General Aldrich had his resignation laid before Mr. Cleveland the first thing Monday morning, intending to return at once to Chicago and begin the practice of law. But it seems that the President and Attorney-General Olney are finding some little difficulty in selecting Mr. Aldrich's successor and have requested the latter to remain for some time in his present place. The Solicitor-General said this morning [illegible] pleasant.

"I have been brought into contact," said he, "with nearly all of the great legal lights of the country and the acquaintance thus formed will be almost invaluable to me in the future. I retire from office with a record of unbroken friendship among the officials with whom I have come in contact. My relations with the Chief Justice and the associate justices of the Supreme Court have been extremely pleasant and each individual member of that distinguished body seems now like a personal friend to me. But with all its pleasant official relations I must admit that I prefer Chicago to Washington as a place of residence."

GEN. BRAGG IS CAST DOWN.

Quotes Scripture on Cleveland's Decision Not to Reappoint Office-Holders.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—One of the most picturesque political characters in Washington at present is Gen. Edward S. Bragg of Wisconsin, who loved Mr. Cleveland for the enemies he had made. He has been a candidate for his old position of minister to Mexico and was somewhat cast down when ex-Gov. Gray was named for the place. With his usual independence Gen. Bragg is asking no favors at the hands of the Wisconsin delegation.

Congressman Newberry of Chicago, who is a great friend of Gen. Bragg's, has been trying to work up a boom for the latter for Commissioner of pensions. When Gen. Bragg's attention was called yesterday to the order recently promulgated by by Mr. Cleveland to the effect that ex-office-holders would not be given recognition under this administration, the Wisconsin Democrat leader remarked in his characteristic way:

"'The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away—blessed be the name of the Lord.' I am resigned. Mr. Clevelanr has done as seemed to him best. He is the dispenser of patronage. He desires new men. It is his priviliege to appoint whomsoever he sees fit. We have every confidence in his intelligence and uprightness. His recent decision will bring disappointment to many, but there will be no revolution. As for myself I do not know that I want anything. I would certainly not accept a bureau after having filled a foreign mission. It would be too much like the man who wished to be Minister to Russia and finally begged Mr. Cleveland to give him a pair of shoes. When in the City of Mexico I spent some thousands of my own money in addition to the salary attached to the place, in order to bring the American mission upon a parity with the British. I have nothing to regret but do not care to repeat the experience. There are a number of gentlemen in Wisconsin who are known sometimes as the 'machine' and sometimes as the 'anti-Bragg ring.' It is their business in Washington to see that I and my friends get nothing. I will endeavor to keep them at least interested."

OFFICESEEKERS GO HOME.

They Discover That Staying in Washington Will Not Help Them Any.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—The exodus of Democratic Senators, Representatives and public men generally has begun. They have found out clearly within the last week that it is utterly hopeless to remain here and try to press candidates for office. Mr. Cleveland and the various Cabinet officers have been extremely courteous regarding applicants and their Congressional backers, but they have held out no hope whatever. On the contrary, officeseekers have been discouraged from pushing their claims and taking up the time of the administration. The political workers have also had their attention directed to the fact that many State and city elections were about to occur, and that the best service which could be performed for the party would be that of assisting in the spring elections.

As a result every train of Washington is bearing away Senators and Representatives.

Gen. Smith one of the candidates for the Chicago postoffice, also left for Chicago. Mr. Lawler is still here, and says he will remain on the ground until the Chicago postoffice question is settled.

Working for a Compromise.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 13.—A representative of the Douglass-William Sartoris ranch has been here from England for the past week trying to effect a settlement with the creditors of the company. He was unsuccessful and started for home to-day. He will try to obtain a more liberal proposition from the syndicate owning the ranch, and submit it to the creditors. The ranch property is one of the largest in the State.

DEFRAUDED UNCLE SAM.

Internal Revenue Officers Indicted by a Federal Grand Jury.

LOUISVILLE, March 13.—Collector of Internal Revenue Albert Scott of the Fifth (Louisville) District; Chief Deputy Collector W. E. Riley and Special Internal Revenue Storekeeper W. P. Shaw have been indicted by the United States Grand Jury. There are two indictments against Collector Scott, one for violation of the civil service laws which includes seven counts. The other is on twelve counts and is for swearing falsely to the pay-rolls. It is claimed that five storekeepers did not work on April 28 and 29, 1892, yet they were paid for their service, and Collector Scott, knowing they had not worked on these days, signed the voucher for the pay. By such action, it is claimed, he was a party to defrauding the United States Government out of money. Riley and Shaw are indicted for violation of the civil service laws in receiving money from the gaugers and storekeepers for campaign purposes. Mr. Riley has nine counts and Shaw five. The cases will be called Oct. 9.

MYSTERIOUS POISON CASES.

Three Members of One Family Dead and Two Others Fatally Ill.

MADISON, Ind., March 13.—A mysterious case of poisoning has developed in this city. Last Tuesday Miss Eva Ross was taken violently ill and died on Wednesday from the effects of poison. It was supposed that she had taken it with suicidal intent, as she had threatened to commit suicide. Thursday her mother, Mrs. James Clarkson, was taken similarly ill and died yesterday. A son, James, who left here on Tuesday for Anderson, Ind., was stricken in the same manner by the time he reached Anderson and is reported dead. Two other sons were attacked yesterday and both their lives are despaired of. The Coroner's investigation in the case of Eva developed the fact that death was caused by arsenic, a large quantity of which was found in the stomach. A post-mortem will be held upon the remains of the mother and the matter fully investigated.

CARRIED ON THE ENGINE.

Miraculous Escape of the Occupants of a Wagon.

CINCINNATI, March 13.—A market wagon was struck by a switch engine on the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad at the Carr Street crossing this morning. The occupants of the vehicle were John Dres, his wife, son and little granddaughter. The wagon was thrown up against the front and side of the engine and the four frightened people were carried 100 feet before the engine could be stopped. Mrs. Dres and children climbed from their precarious positions and reached the ground in safety. Dres had to be lifted from the wagon. He was bleeding from the mouth and ears and could not speak. When examined at the hospital it was found that he had sustained internal injuries which may prove fatal, owing to his advanced age. When the engine struck the wagon the horse was torn from its harness and was but slightly scratched.

ULSTER IN EARNEST.

Opposition to Home Rule May Lead to Civil War in Ireland.

LONDON, March 13.—Facts have come to light, which show both that the Ulster unionists are in earnest in their threats of civil war and also that the government is resolute and vigilant in steps to prevent an outbreak. The Belfast News Letter asserts that a firm in Ulster recently ordered 100,000 Martini rifles from English manufacturers of that weapon. They referred the order to the British government for advice as to whether it should be complied with. The government's reply was of such a nature that the English manufacturers replied to the Ulster firm that they were not permitted to execute the order. This is considered as showing that the government means to enforce the order recently issued that no arms shall be admitted to Ireland without permission from the Dublin executives.

BIG DEAL IN TIMBER LAND.

Saginaw Syndicate Headed by General Alger Invests Millions.

DETROIT, Mich., March 13.—Gen. Alger and a company of Saginaw capitalists have purchased timber lands in the province of Quebec, embracing 1,200 square miles. They are negotiating for as much more on the north shore of Lake Huron and will close it on an option of $2,000,000. They will organize with a working capital of $10,000,000.

World's Fair Theatrical Engagements.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The theatrical managers of this city evidently have great faith in the success of the World's Fair at Chicago. Charles Frohman during the last week signed contracts with over two hundred actors and actresses to play for him there during the coming summer. Last night he signed Jennie Yeamans to play the leading comedy part in one of his plays at the highest salary, he says, ever paid a comedy actress in America. Max Freeman, Rudolph Aronson and other managers are also making extensive preparations for World's Fair theatrical productions.

May Be Made Minister to Italy.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The World says that the friends of Mr. James J. Van Alen, son-in-law of William Astor, are confident that he will be appointed Minister to Italy by President Cleveland. The appointment has not yet been made public, but Mr. Van Alen is a widower, the son of the late Gen. Van Alen of this city. He is very rich, his fortune being estimated at $12,000,000.

MURDER MOST FOUL.

A NIGHT WATCHMAN AT A MILL MEETS AN AWFUL DEATH.

His Head Mangled Beyond Recognition With a Pair of Heavy Pipe Tongs—Discharged Employe Arrested on Suspicion.—Other Michigan News.

The little city of Ypsilanti was completely stirred up over the most atrocious murder of Jay E. Pulver, night watchman at Hay & Todd Company's mills.

The bloody work of the assassin's hand was discovered by Patrick Rigney, the day watch who arrived at his usual hous. Rigney found every door fastened and though it strange. He then forced an entrance through a window. Proceeding to the basement he made an investigation, but not until he had nearly completed the survey did he look into the carpenter's shop, where there was hardly ever an occasion for the night watch to visit. Here a horrible sight met his gaze. Lying in front of the bench was Pulver's body in a pool of blood, the head mangled almost beyond recognition, with the instrument—a pair of pipe tongs over two feet in length—which the murderer had used, lying upon the shapeless head. Not the least sign of a struggle could be seen in any part of the mill. The hour of the murder is not definitely known, but judging from appearances must have been between 11 and 12 o'clock. The first floor, which occupies his time until about 11 o'clock, had been put in order and the tools gotten together ready to ascend to the next floor. It is supposed that at this hour Pulver heard a noise made by the movement of his assassin in the basement, and going down with a lantern in his hand to find the cause, was followed to the carpenter shop, and there struck on the crown and back of his head with the pipe tongs.

There is hardly any doubt that the crime was committed by some one very well acquainted with the premises. Clifton Hand, an employe who was discharged about four years ago, was arrested and charged with the crime. He had been drinking heavily, and left the saloon of Nicholas Max, on the east side of the river, at about 10 o'clock. The accused man denies all knowledge of the murder. Spots having the appearance of blood and brains were found on his clothing and boots.

Mr. Pulver, the unfortunate night watchman, had been in the company's employ about two months. He was a man about 45 years of age, of good reputation and a member of the Baptist church. It was not supposed that he had an enemy on earth. He leaves a widow and four children.

A CLEVELAND SURPRISE.

The Hawaiian Treaty Recalled From the Senate for Some Unknown Purpose.

President Cleveland's first executive communication to the Senate of the United States proved to be a surprise. In the communication President Cleveland withdrew the treaty with Hawaii which was sent to the Senate a few weeks ago by President Harrison. The message was short, simply requesting the Senate to transmit to the executive the proposed treaty with Hawaii. The message was received without comment on the floor of the Senate. Republican Senators regard this action of the President as in line with the course pursued by Mr. Cleveland in withdrawing the Nicaraguan treaty sent to the Senate by Mr. Arthur in the closing days of his administration. Democrat Senators look upon the act from a two-fold point of view, some taking the ground that it shows Mr. Cleveland to be against annexation or American domination of any sort in the Hawaiian Islands, while others hold that he will send in another treaty more to his liking.

General Strike of Switchmen.

It is rumored that a general strike of the switchmen of the Pennsylvania Western system, and probably the Baltimore & Ohio road is threatened. The officials of the Pennsylvania company were in Chicago with their ultimatum, which is a refusal of all demands of the switchmen. It is only a question now of the men receding from their position, and a strike may occur at any time.

An Adrian Sensation.

Charles G. Wiesinger, for many years a popular young druggist at Adrian has mysteriously dissappeared from home taking, it is said, $20,000 of his mother's funds and, it is alleged, the pretty wife of Traveling Auditor Hull, of the Lake Shore railroad with him for company. Authoritative reports also say she carried $3,000 of her husband's cash with her.

Beans From Australia.

H. J. Lamoreaux & Company of Grand Rapids have just ordered 400,000 bushels of beans from Austria to supply the deficiency in the American crop. The beans are held at $2.10 and they can be delivered in Grand Rapids after paying a duty of 42 cents at $1.78. Lamoreaux & Company handle more beans than any other firm in the country.

The Whisky Bottle Told All.

The badly mutilated body of William Carpenter, a man who lived ner Coleman, was found two and one-half miles from Midland lying beside the F. & P. M. track. An empty whisky bottle in his pocket reveals its own story.

The proposed division of Marquette county has fallen through, public sentiment, even in Marquette, being opposed to a change.

John Armatroat, of Grand Junction, a man about 40 years of age, received a fatal wound from the discharge of a gun. He was riding on a load of wood, and while lighting his pipe the gun was discharged, the contents entering his thigh. He died in a few minutes.

F. W. Wheeler & Company were not at all to blame for the accident at their shipyard at the launch of the schooner McLaughlin, as Mr. Wheeler some time before the catastrophe ordered all spectators off the Kittie M. Forbes, from which boat so many were thrown into the water.

That old established cough remedy, Downs' Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a home remedy, and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.

Matchless for every purpose of cleanliness — Pearline. Nothing saves as much work; nothing does as much work. It cleans without corroding, and washes without wear and tear. It does better than any soap, anything that soap can do. Any housekeeper will tell you how cheap it is, but it is so dear to her that she will never give it up. Never peddled.

Progress of the World's Fair.

The Buildings of the Exposition are being rapidly completed as the opening of the Exposition draws near.

In the February issue of the "Worlds Columbian Exposition Illustrated" now the Authentic Organ of the Exposition (after the Fair it will be known as Campbell's Columbian Journal), contians many full page illustrations of the buildings as they appear when finished. There are many elegant Photographs of the Statuary that is to adorn the buildings, beside several views of the grounds as they appear in midwinter. An interior view of the treasurer's office, showing the distribution of the souvenir coins, forms an interesting feature. A full account of Utah with cuts of the officials and building, occupies several [illegible] among the most important articles is a full account of Transportation for the Fair, Agricultural Exhibit, College Boys at the Exposition, Catholic Congresses at the Fair, Relics of Columbus, etc.

This February issue is the Second Anniversary of this publication. Its object is to make a complete Authentic Historical Record of the Exposition, to be handed down for ages to come. The first two Bound Volumes are now ready. As the Exposition draws near it increases in interest and value. It contains rich illustrations of the buildings and exhibits. By reading it you can visit the Exposition at home, and a person can become familiar with the Fair before going to Chicago.

One issue alone is worth a years subscription. Good Agents are wanted in each town. Single copies 35 cents.

MAKING THE SUNSHINE GROW.

"Mother, what makes the sunshine grow?"
My darling said one day,
As o'er the hills the heavenly glow
Came speeding on its way,
Breaking the slumbers of the night,
Flooding the earth with golden light,
And clothing mountains, dome and spire
With the baptismal robe of fire.

"From a kind Father's hand, my love,
The precious gift is poured.
In the vast treasure-house above
The glorious light is stored.
It shines for us—it shines for all,
In lowly cot, or princely hall;
And many a sorrow doth beguile,
With the rare sweetness of its smile."

"If I could make the sunshine grow,
How happy I should be.
No cruel blasts, no wintry woe,
Our fair green earth should see.
All the long year should summer's reign
Make glad the fields of ripening grain;
All the long year should flowers blow,
If I could make the sunshine grow."

"God rules and guides the heavenly light,
With wisdom more than ours;
And deserts bloom with flowers.
And cheerful heart, kind words and deeds,
True sympathy for others' needs,
Pure thoughts that from pure fountains flow,
These make the blessed sunshine grow."

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

It Taught Miss Isabel Islay a Needed Lesson.

The yellow narcissus was in bloom in the neat little yard that fronted the village post office, the maple trees had dropped their red stars long ago, and here and there one found pink clusters of honeysweet trailing arbutus in the woods.

Isabel Islay had a bunch in the front of her jacket as she sauntered up to see if there were any letters for her.

A little group of men and women had gathered there for the same purpose. The women eyed Isabel and wondered how it was that her dresses always fitted her so stylishly; the men looked admiringly at her big blue eyes and rosy complexion.

Two or three other mill girls joined Isabel; they laughed and talked gayly as the spectacled old postmaster sorted the mail.

At last the unpainted pine partition slid back, the spectacles appeared in the aperture, and the postmaster cried briskly:

"Naow, then, who wants their mail?"

Isabel stepped forward.

"Anything for me, Mr. Rider?" she asked.

"Islay, Miss I, Isabel Islay, Miss Isabel Islay?" read out the old man. "Three for you. Who next!"

"Isabel got all the letters!" giggled the mill girls, as Isabel received her treasures. "She might divide with us. Here comes Miss Seaman. Now for some fun."

A pallid, pinched, old young lady here advanced with a smirk on her countenance, wearing a faded shawl, whose folds scarcely covered the flat basket she carried.

"Anything for me, Mr. Postmaster?" she demanded, with ill assumed indifference.

"No, mum," carelessly answered the postmaster.

"Are you sure?"

"Yes, mum."

A blank expression crept over her face.

"O, but it really doesn't signify. I thought I'd just inquire, as I chanced to be passing."

Then she withdrew amid the very audible laugh of the mill girls.

"There ain't a mail comes in but Miss Genny Seaman's here a-watchin' for it," said the postmaster, oracularly. "And she never gets a letter—not so much as a postal card. I should think she'd get tired of coming."

"Miss Genevieve Seaman," said the careworn woman of the house where the girls boarded. "O, that all happened years ago! She had a beau or something and he went away—nobody just knew where. Reckon she didn't know herself. And it sort of upset her brain and she ain't fairly been herself since. She's a very good dressmaker and she trims a bonnet quite scrumptiously, and so she earns a decent living. But she's been expecting a letter these twenty odd years and it's never come."

"Girls," said Isabel Islay, as they sat at the round table that evening, laughing and talking, "let's write a letter to that poor old thing from her lover in the east."

"Was he really her lover, Isabel?" asked Lucy Felton.

"Well, from the man she imagined to be her lover. Let's make it fervent as fire and sweet as sugar. Let's lay it on thick."

"In short, let's play a joke on Miss Genny Seaman," said Mary Crane, who was retrimming an old straw hat with lilac ribbons and a bunch of violets.

"Just that," said Isabel.

"But you don't know even the fellow's name, Isabel."

"I can find that out. Mrs. Webb knows, and I can easily coax it out of her. It will be such fun!"

It was morning—a blue skyed, breezy day, with the air full of growing scents and blue-bird whistles—and soon after the cumbrous old four-horse stage had crashed through the village the usual crowd began to assemble in the little post office. Isabel Islay was there, and Lucy Felton and black-eyed Mary Crane, and presently Miss Genevieve Seaman, tripping in with the peculiar gate which the irreverent village children compared to a cat walking upon walnut shells.

"Two for Miss Islay," said the old man, scrutinizing each letter with provoking slowness. "One for Squire Zurubbabble Jenkins; one for Widder Hopper, and one for Miss Genevieve—Seaman!"

Isabel flashed a merry glance at her companions as the poor little dressmaker tiptoed up to the counter, her color changing from saffron to scarlet, her faded blue eyes full of intent rapture.

"Is'it true? A letter for me—me! And I've waited for it all these years! All—these—years!"

She hid it under her shawl, cast a defiant look around at the neighbors' faces, and hurried away like a startled wild animal to its cover. She could not open that letter with other eyes upon her. She felt that she must treasure it to herself, like one who has discovered a precious jewel.

On her way home from the mill that evening Isabel Islay stopped at the little house where the tin sign: "Millinery and Dressmaking," swung creaking in the wind. The window blinds were fastened back, the parlor was opened and dusted. Miss Genevieve was moving to and fro in her best India silk gown, with a flower pinned fantastically in her hair.

A round red spot glowed on each cheek; her bony fingers trembled with excitement as she laid down her spectacles.

"Can you press over my leghorn hat, Miss Seaman?" asked the beauty.

"Oh, my dear, I'm afraid not!" said the little woman, with a hysterical laugh. "Haven't you heard? I—I'm to be married very soon! Capt. Leonard Gleason—you may perhaps have heard of him—he used to be a resident of Milltown—he has made a fortune, it seems, in New York, and he is coming back almost directly to—to claim an old promise I made him twenty years ago. My dear, he has loved me—twenty years!" Her eyes shone, her voice faltered with the ecstasy of her soul. "And to-morrow he is coming back to me. Oh, Miss Islay, it seems almost like a dream!"

She laughed again, but her eyes were full of tears. Isabel moved uneasily; she was almost frightened at what she had done. The joke did not seem half so jocose as it had at first, since poor Miss Genevieve accepted it in such dead earnest.

She took advantage of the entrance of a customer to slip out of the little shop.

"Girls," said she to her conspirators, "we must tell her that it is only a joke."

"Tell her!" echoed Lucy Felton. "What for? She'll find it out soon enough. She needn't have been such a silly, anyhow!"

"It will kill her!" pleaded Isabel.

"No it won't. People don't die so easily," laughed Lucy.

"Heard the news about Miss Genny Seaman?" said Mrs. Webb at the boarding-house breakfast table the next morning as she poured the coffee and helped the eggs and bacon around.

Isabel looked guiltily up.

"No," said she. "What is it?"

"Found dead in her cheer," said Mrs. Webb. "A smilin' as happy as a child. Some heart trouble, the doctor says."

Isabel drew a long breath. So she had died and never knew how cruelly she had been deceived. She drew Mary Crane and Miss Felton aside.

"Girls," said she, "you must never breathe a syllable of this to anybody. Let the secret die with this poor little woman."

"But she died happy at last," said Mary, with the tears running down her cheeks, "believing that her old sweetheart was coming back to her."

"Yes, but that doesn't justify our cruelty," whispered Isabel. And then and there the three girls entered into a compact of secrecy.

Miss Genevieve was buried in a shady corner of the village cemetery, and on the very day of the funeral Isabel Islay met a tall, bearded stranger walking along the street, scanning the houses with keen, troubled eyes.

"Can you tell me," said he, "where Miss Seaman lives—Miss Genevieve Seaman?"

Isabel started.

"Miss Seaman was buried this morning," said she. "Oh, I'm so sorry! Was she a friend of yours?"

They had stopped opposite the little gate where the wheel tracks of the hearse were yet visible. The sign "Milliner and Dressmaker" yet creaked in the wind, the red sun was sinking behind the low eaves, and Miss Genny's cat rubbed itself against the door sill as if begging to be let in.

"A friend!" repeated the stranger, as he drew an old-fashioned miniature from his pocket. "See, here is her picture! I've waited all these years to make a home for her and now—she is dead!"

Isabel looked at the picture. Good heavens! had Genevieve Seaman looked as fair and dimpled and smiling as that? And the thought flashed across her mind that it was well that Capt. Gleason had not been undeceived. "Yes," she repeated softly, "she is dead."

"And were you her friend?"

"Yes, I was her friend—at least as much as anyone here," falteringly owned Isabel, feeling like an impostor.

"Then perhaps you can tell me something of her. I wanted to surprise her—and now—"

His voice was choked, he turned his face away.

Isabel told him, in a low, sweet voice, all that she could—all that was good and cheering and hopeful—and Capt. Gleason went back to the village hotel, walking with his hands behind his back, and his head drooping on his breast.

For the time he truly mourned the sweetheart of his youth, but no one can grieve forever. Moss grows over the fallen tree; violets bloom over the new made grave. Poor Miss Genevieve was dead and buried, and when the next summer blossomed over the land Capt. Gleason was married to Isabel Islay.

"If death was really so near her, I'm glad I wrote the letter that made her happy," thought Isabel. "And Edward will always think of her as young and beautiful! But I never, never will play another practical joke."—Helen Hurst, in Kansas City Times.

Large Nail-Making Machine.

The largest wire-nail machine ever built in the United States was finished recently by a Greenpoint (L. I.) firm and shipped to a nail concern at Everett, state of Washington. The total weight of the machine was twenty and a half tons and it is capable of making nails weighing half a pound each at the rate of one a second. Nails of any desired length can, however, be manufactured by simply adjusting the feed.—House Furnishing Review.

MORTGAGE SALE.

On the 28th day of May, 1885, William P. Emmons, of Macon, Lenawee County, Michigan, mortgaged to Nathaniel Boid of the same place, all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Macon in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The North three-quarters of the East half of the North-west quarter of Section No. thirty-four (34), Town five (5), South, of Range five (5) East, containing Sixty acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of Five Hundred and Fifty two Dollars and interest annually at seven per cent. per annum in two years from date of said mortgage.

Said mortgage was, on the 29th day of May, 1886, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said Lenawee County, in Liber 117 of Mortgages, on page 62.

Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the non-payment of the moneys due thereon, by which the power of sale therein contained has becomes operative.

There is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Seven Hundred and Twenty-seven and fifty-two hundredths Dollars ($727.52), and no proceedings at law or in equity have been commenced to recover the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, the said premises above and in said mortgage described will be sold at public Vendue to the highest bidder, at the East front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in said County (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within and for said County) on Saturday, the Tenth day of June, 1893, at one o'clock in the afternoon, to make and satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, the costs and expenses of this foreclosure and sale, and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars, as provided by law and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

A Steel Windmill and Pump Tower every 3 minutes

Those figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, Steel Aermotor. One goes where one goes, and we "Take the Cake." Though sold, we were unable to supply the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. We wished 6 weeks to be filled, but we vastly increased our plant and were prompt to plant our [illegible] fashionable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know [illegible] motor CO. In the 6th year [illegible] once, came to make many [illegible] many windmills as [illegible] makers combined? [illegible] came to originate the Steel [illegible] the Steel Fixed Tower, the [illegible] Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a [illegible] which there had been [illegible] there seemed no talent or [illegible] tion, and none has yet been [illegible] enough in [illegible] imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing [illegible] manufacture, exhaustive [illegible] the investigation and [illegible] ments were made by a [illegible] mechanical engineer, in which [illegible] over 9,000 dynamometer [illegible] tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which [illegible] definitely many questions relating to the proper [illegible] of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of surface, the resistance of air to rotating, obstructing wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other [illegible] sirowe, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the mower of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that grants its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For [illegible] we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an expensive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor, churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone or saw wood, that does the work of 4 horse at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

John Wonderly, who has been laid up since the summer months of '92 with a bad leg, is rapidly improving under the efficient care of Dr. Hardy. Mr. Wonderly was in town for the first time in six months last Friday, and gave us a call. He feels quite elated over his improvement and says Doc is the man for him.

Andrew, the new mill partner, while looking after the remnants of that lost scoop shovel Monday, butted the support of a heavy horizontal shaft with his forehead, cutting quite a gash in it, requiring five stitches of Doctor Hardy to mend it. He is doing well and the boys advise him to look in the fly wheel for his scoop next time.

So surprised was I at the occasion of the surprise that my tongue failed utterance, but here let me express my heartfelt thanks at the pleasure derived from so pleasing a gathering of friends and neighbors previous to my departure from amongst them. My own and my family's sojourn amongst you for the past seven years has been all one could wish, but my business interest takes me from you. But in the years yet to come I trust we may all prosper and meet again many times in the happy future that I wish for you all.

TIPTON TOPICS.

Miss Sarah Ellen Wilson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wilson, of Franklin, died Wednesday of last week, after a somewhat prolonged sickness from heart trouble. She was first taken ill about two months ago, though she was confined to her bed but little over a week before death ended her suffering. The deceased was the only child at present residing at home, and has been the mainstay and reliance of her esteemed father since the death of the wife and mother, which occurred a little over a year ago. Miss Wilson was a good daughter and a most estimable woman, whose departure will be sadly missed. The funeral was held from the home on Saturday, at 10 a. m., Elder Patchin officiating. Interment at Tipton cemetery.

ASTHMA CURED.

Dr. Taft, proprietor of Taft's Asthmalene, Rochester N. Y., will send to any of our subscribers suffering with asthma, a trial bottle of Asthmalene Free, who will send him their post-office address. The Doctor is known to be reliable and his remedy a most valuable one; it is endorsed by many medical publications and used in all parts of the U. S., Europe and Australia.

A USEFUL PUBLICATION.

When the United States Government took control of the World's Columbian Exposition last October, on the occasion of the dedication, a board of control was appointed to carry on the work to a successful completion. One of the first acts of the board was to order a publication which should give the information that people are most desirous of obtaining in connection with an enterprise now uppermost in the public mind. The work was given the title of the Official Directory of the World's Columbian Exposition, and active preparations were at once entered into. It has now so far progressed as to warrant placing it into the hands of solicitors for the purpose of taking subscriptions. It will contain not only very valuable, but also very interesting information. Will be illustrated with about one hundred full page half-tone engravings, and will contain the names of every exhibitor, his home address, what he is exhibiting and where the exhibit may be found at the Exposition. It is information which intending visitors most urgently need, and will be highly appreciated by the public everywhere. W. B. Conkey Company of Chicago, who are the official publishers, desire a representative in this locality, and will mail handsome descriptive circular on application.

Took His Own Life.

The following additional particulars about the death of Will Ford are gathered from the Jackson papers.

Yesterday morning when Geo. Ferris, the night clerk at the Commercial, Jackson, rapped at the room of W. H. Ford to awaken him, there was no response and the clerk pushed the door open when the man was found lying on the bed dead.

A package containing a small quantity of morphine was found on the stand and John Bitney, a clerk at Dr. White's drug store identified the man as one who purchased eight grains of the drug at their store the evening previous. It is therefore supposed he took over seven grains as less than one was left in the paper.

Mr. Ford, who was about 43 years of age, resided at Tecumseh, where he has a wife and daughter. He came to Jackson some three weeks ago and secured employment at the Collins cart works, and for a time boarded with his sister, Mrs. E. A. Putman, 616 East Main street. He went to the Commercial to board just one week ago, when he began drinking again, and it is supposed this caused despondency.

The following letter, addressed to his wife was found.

JACKSON, Mich., March 10, 1893.

Dear Emma and Sister—I don't suppose you want to hear from me, but I have just finished my supper and I have nothing to do, so I am going to write you a few lines. I am boarding here at the Commercial House, as you will see. I pay $4.50 per week. Now, Emma, I commenced work at the shop again this morning, and I will keep straight and I shant draw any money until it is pay day; it is pay day Saturday and I wont have any coming until one week from that time—it wont be very long and then I will send you all I have left but 10 cents for a shave and 15 cents for washing my shirt and socks and I have a good place to board and the bar is only about five feet from me. I can hardly hear myself think as there is a lot shaking dice. They keep open all night. If you was only here so I would have a place to stay, without being surrounded with whiskey; it would be a good deal better for me. I didn't have any more intention of taking a drink Sunday morn than I intended to fly; I went out Sunday afternoon and stopped to talk with some of the boys and nothing but I must take a glass of beer, and you know the rest. If you had been here I should not have drank a drop; now if you can settle with Jake Cheever you had better do it. Will close for this time. Let me know what you want me to do, if you don't want to write to me let Gertie write.

From your husband,
Will H. Ford.

It is denied at the White House that President Cleveland ever said that he would not appoint democratic editors to office, and the denial is practically backed up by the fact that the first Presidential postmaster nominated, R. B. Brown, at Meadville, Pa., is a democratic editor.

The report of the majority of the Ways and Means Committee upon the condition of the Treasury confirms all that has been charged as to the thoroughness of the Republican looting. The great surplus has disappeared and a deficiency is in sight. Secretary Carlisle's scrutiny is likely to disclose some more figure-juggling which the committee failed to discover.

The smallest locomotive ever built to be run by steam will be exhibited at the World's Fair by Henry Case, a jeweler, of Gloversville, New York. His construction has cost Mr. Case over three years' steady labor. The engine is only eight and one-half inches in length, and its weight is one and a half pounds. It will run upon a circular track ten feet in diameter.

The appointment mill is grinding very slowly and the grist turned out is all of the Cleveland brand. Among the nominations last week is Mr. Edward B. Whitney, of New York, to be Assistant Attorney General. He was one of the protesting delegation sent to the Chicago convention by the New York anti-snappers, and there is some talk about his nomination being opposed by Senators Hill and Murphy. Senator Hill is in a good position to make a fight against this nomination, if he be disposed, as he is a member of the Judiciary committee, to which it has been referred.

CIGAR SMOKERS TAKE NOTICE.

The Two Dollars Per Pound Tax on Wrapping Tobacco Has Deteriorated Your Cigars—It Has Also Reduced the Wages of Cigarmakers and Driven Small Manufacturers Out of Business—It Does Not Help Tobacco Growers and Benefits Only Monopolists.

There are many outrageous clauses in the McKinley bill—made by and for those whom it would protect—but none perhaps more demagogic and absurd than the clause which raised the duty on Sumatra leaf tobacco from 35 and 50 cents to $2 per pound. This was done ostensibly to protect the growers of tobacco to be used as wrappers for cigars.

Before mentioning the effects upon growers, cigarmakers and consumers of this tax it will be worth while to notice the effect of the use of Sumatra wrappers upon the cigar industry. It is the importation and general use of wrappers that has during the past ten years, built up the cigar industry in America, made a market for native tobaccos, given steady employment at good wages to thousands of cigar-workers, and satisfied the aesthetic taste of millions of smokers.

No tobacco in the world is grown more cheaply than Sumatra. The growers get but 8 or 10 cents per pound for it. It is carried on the backs of mules to the coast, where it is bought mostly by Amsterdam merchants. The cost at Amsterdam does not usually exceed 50 cents, but now it is controlled by a syndicate, which holds it at 80 cents or more per pound. It is this tobacco that used to cost our cigar manufacturers about $1.50 before the market began to feel the effects of the McKinley bill early in 1890—when the price climbed to $1.80, to $2, on up to $3 and above—so high that a quantity of '89 Sumatra leaf recently sold for $4 per pound. The supply here of Sumatra and leaf tobacco is largely held by speculators who get artificial prices—the duty, as usual, fostering combines. The United States Tobacco Journal of September 13 announces the completion of a leaf tobacco trust in Cincinnati, which will be incorporated in New Jersey, and the same journal of September 17 reprints from the New York Tribune a list of fifty-six millionaires who have made their fortunes in the tobacco industry—many by speculating in Sumatra.

Not only did the use of Sumatra wrappers build up the industry here, but, when the duty was light, it encouraged small manufacturers who could always be certain of obtaining a supply of good wrapping tobacco at a fair price. Before the introduction of Sumatra the larger manufacturers would buy up the best domestic wrapping tobacco early in the season and the small manufacturer with but little capital had to do business at a great disadvantage. With a high duty the tendency is to again put the manufacture of cigars into the hands of large manufacturers and monopolists. Thus in 1890, when the McKinley bill took effect, nearly all the large manufacturers had an eighteen months' or two years' supply of Sumatra on hand, while the small manufacturers had only a few months' supply and soon had to use wrappers at $2.50 or $2.75 and compete with wrappers that cost $1 less per pound. This duty at once increased the wholesale prices of cigars from $2 to $5 per thousand on 5 cent goods—perhaps seven-eighths of all. Then the trade became demoralized and manufacturers were compelled to use cheaper "fillers," to make smaller cigars and in other ways to deteriorate their goods. Often they squared accounts by reducing wages. The effect upon the ten or twelve million consumers has been exasperating. That they still demand Sumatra wrapped cigars is seen from the fact that there has been no great diminution in the imports of Sumatra tobacco. The effect then has been bad upon the millions of cigar smokers; upon the tens of thousands of cigar workers, and upon thousands of small manufacturers. It is a doubtful boon to hundreds of large manufacturers. The only real benefits expected from this duty were to be conferred upon the comparatively few growers of "wrapper" tobacco. Not that McKinley, who increased the duty at the instigation of Congressman LaFollette, of Wisconsin, who came from a tobacco-growing district, wished to aid the tobacco growers at the expense of the general public, but that he wished to make republican votes in farming districts.

Now it so happens that Connecticut tobacco growers have been prosperous since 1890 and have been getting good prices for their tobacco. The New York Tribune and other republican papers have been accrediting this prosperity to McKinley so vigorously that it has even made some of the democrats in Connecticut believe its nonsense. The United States Tobacco Journal of September 10, in a two-column editorial, shows that, by the Tribune's own admissions, Connecticut tobacco has been so improved by the use of new fertilizers that it is "in appearance as good as Sumatra and better in quality." Of course this is not true or cigar manufacturers would not pay $3 for Sumatra when they could get better for from 25 to 50 cents; but it is true that the better grade of tobacco grown in Connecticut is responsible for the increased prices and prosperity there. The following from this same journal forever disposes of the Tribune's absurdities:

"What benefit can the domestic producer derive from the fact that we are importing nearly as great a quantity of Sumatra under the 82 tariff rate as we did under the 35 cent rate? That the Connecticut producer received a few cents more for his crop last year? That does not prove that the domestic producers as a class received more. Connecticut produces the smallest quantity of cigar leaf. By far the largest quantity of our useful cigar leaf is produced in Pennsylvania, New York, Wisconsin and Ohio. The domestic producer in Pennsylvania, who raised a crop of 80,000 cases, against the entire New England's 32,000 cases, received less for his last year's crop than he probably ever did. So did the Wisconsin producer for his 70,000 cases. And the New York producer got much less for his last year's, than for his '89, crop, when over 97 per cent. of the Sumatra was admitted at the 35 cent rate of duty. The more the Connecticut farmer got last year was therefore not due to McKinleyism, but to the poor results of the cigar leaf growing states; he simply got the 'more' at the expense of his brother producers in the other states, and not at the expense of the Sumatra or the Sumatra importer."

The United States Tobacco Journal then shows that the increased duty did not catch the cigar leaf growers' vote: "Congressman LaFollette, of Wisconsin, the responsible author of the $2 outrage contained in the tobacco schedule of the McKinley bill, was ignominiously defeated in his district, which is almost an exclusively tobacco growing district, and a democrat was elected in his place. Hon. W. E. Simonds, the representative of the First congressional district of Connecticut, the principal cigar leaf growing district of New England, was likewise defeated. So was the representative of the Big Flats of this state."

THE TARIFF ON GOAT HAIR.

A Protectionist Paper Exposes the Injustice and Absurdity of It.

Judge Gray, of the United States supreme court, has just sustained the action of Collector Beard, of Boston, in classifying common goat hair with second class wool and making it dutiable therefore at 12 cents per pound.

In commenting on this decision the American Wool and Cotton reporter (edited by a moderate protectionist) says in its issue of September 22:

"Of course the court did not consider whether this duty of 530 to 800 per cent. upon the pauper goat hair of Bombay or Russia is absurd or the reverse. The court simply decided that under the phraseology of the McKinley bill, all goat hair comes within the provisions of class 2 of the wool schedule and is therefore dutiable at 12 cents per pound. Under the tariff law which was in force previous to the passage of the McKinley act, this goat hair was free of duty.

"As the law now reads, the hair of a primitive Russian or Bombay goat, worth 2 cents per pound, is dutiable at 12 cents per pound, while the wool of a primitive sheep at 32 per cent. ad valorem might get in at 3 cents per pound or less.

"The supreme court has decided upon the exact reading of the law, and it has reached a decision that must be conceded as correct by every person who interprets the law as it stands, and not as it should be from a commercial or economical standpoint.

"The fact that the law imposes a duty of 12 cents per pound upon an article, the commercial value of which is from 2 to 3 cents per pound, and which has heretofore come in free of duty, has no bearing upon the question. The McKinley schedule is replete with these inconsistencies, and a close study of the measure and the methods employed in constructing it will show that these seeming absurdities and ridiculous features did not get in by chance, but were cleverly devised schemes of men who knew what they wanted, and were not scrupulous in reaching for it. And it is this feature of the McKinley bill that has cast odium upon it, and has cost the republican party a large number of voters.

"It seems absurd to talk about 12 cents per pound duty on common goat hair, and yet this is the law and there is no escape from it.

"The Ohio wool growers have gained their point, but we fail to see where it can benefit them in the slightest. It is hardly probable that they contemplate establishing a common goat industry; nor is it at all probable that the exclusion of foreign goat hair will appreciably increase the demand for wool, certainly not domestic wool. It is a hardship which falls heavily upon carpet manufacturers and also upon consumers of low grade carpetings, and is of no material benefit to any one. A duty of 12 cents per pound on goat hair is nonsensical; it means absolute prohibition, and that is what the framers of that portion of the tariff aimed."

It is not surprising that, understanding as it does how the wool schedule was concocted, the American Wool and Cotton Reporter, protectionist though it is, has come out in favor of free wool and dares to say that the McKinley bill is not perfect.

Adjusting Ourselves to Protection.

The New York Tribune of September 22 says: "Protection has been our policy for thirty years. All the interests of the country are adjusted to it."

There seems to be a slight error in this statement. The interests are adjusting themselves to it, but the process is not completed. The census shows that the farms of the west and south are not yet all mortgaged and there are a considerable number of farms in New England and the east around our "protected home markets" not yet abandoned. The adjusting in this line could be continued two or three more decades before all farmers would be tenants of our millionaire land holders. Neither is the adjustment perfected in manufacturing interests. It is true that in most cases manufacturers have formed trusts to prevent competition and enable them to reap the benefits of high duties; but in a few cases manufacturers have been slow to grasp the situation and take advantage of the duty vouchsafed to them. In such cases they actually continue to compete with each other and the consumer sometimes gets goods at the "cheap" and "nasty" prices prevailing in Europe. The McKinley bill is doing its work better and faster than the old semi-protective measures and if left alone might complete the adjustment by the end of this century.

—Nearly a year ago New South Wales, which had been a free trade colony, imposed an ad valorem duty of from 10 per cent. to 15 per cent.; this has proved very unpopular, and a great many think that the government which came in on this policy will be supplanted by the free trade party at the next election. But history shows that where a protective tariff has been entered into by any nation, it is very hard to give it up.—Iron Age.

With four newspaper men in the cabinet, Mr. Cleveland ought to get along pretty well. Mr. Carlisle once filled the editorial chair. Mr. Lamont was a newspaper man when Mr. Cleveland discovered him. Hoke Smith runs a paper now, and J. Sterling Morton was in his younger days connected with the Chicago Times. What would this country do, anyway, if it wasn't for the newspapers?

VERY MUCH SURPRISED.

I have been afflicted with neuralgia for nearly two years, have tried physicians and all known remedies, but found no permanent relief until I tried a bottle of Dullam's Great German Liniment and it gave me instant and permanent relief. 25 cents per bottle. Signed A. B. Snell.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm, seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave. Chicago, Ill.

The Power of The Grip

Broken by Hood's

Pains Driven to the Four Winds—Good Health Renewed

Mr. S. N. Mahan
Rockford, Mich.

"I am 63 years old. Christmas eve I contracted a very severe cold which settled all over me; every bone in my body was in rebellion. I soon procured the aid of a doctor. His remedies gave some relief, but the grip had me in its power and for several weeks I did not get out of the door. When I did recover sufficiently to get out, I found myself

Without Strength, No Appetite,

all tired out, and after eating what I could, what little strength I did have gave way and I could not walk farther than my barn before sitting down to rest. This was my condition when advised by our druggist to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. With much hesitation and

Doubts as Black as Night,

I went to taking it according to directions. Before the one bottle was gone I told my wife I was feeling a great deal better. Up to the present time I have taken about four bottles; my appetite is now good, strength has returned, pains have been driven to the four winds, and I give Hood's Sarsaparilla credit for all. This medicine has also cured my dreadful cough and I am well and happy as well as thankful. I tell my neighbors I am surprised at myself and never forget to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." S. N. Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 118 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simfield says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Blotches on the skin looked horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in all. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I cannot say too much for those scientific doctors who have been in Detroit for fourteen years. I conversed with hundreds of patients at their offices who were being cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians."

TAX REFORM DEPARTMENT.

EAST ST. LOUIS TAXATION PROBLEM.

How a Great and Rich City Could Be Made Out of a Bankrupt Town.

Our sister city of East St. Louis is in a peck of trouble. At a time when public sentiment seems to be fairly represented by her city government, the penalty of former municipal extravagance and mismanagement must be paid by the present generation of taxpayers. The law wills it, the courts have decreed it, and the debt must be paid even though all property and goods within the corporate limits "be confiscate to Venice" in order to satisfy the judgments of the city's creditors.

In the halcyon days when the city was in the hands of political nondescripts, debts were contracted and bonds were issued to the tune of $1,000,000. And now, by legal decree, taxes must be levied to pay them. But how can the industry of East St. Louis [illegible] can it be hoped that a single new industry will be established there if threatened at the outset with prohibitive taxation? Capital is not only free to stay away if the prospect is uninviting, but is free to move away if burdened there more than elsewhere with repressive taxation, thereby reducing to an utter impossibility the already gloomy prospect of freeing the city from the principal and ever growing interest of its municipal debot.

While the ablest financiers of the city are pondering the problem, and committees are devising ways and means out of the trouble, they are confronted at the outset by a constitutional difficulty which presents an obstacle almost insurmountable. The constitution of Illinois provides that all property and values in the state shall be assessed and shall pay state taxes in equal ratio. This provision applies to county and municipal taxation as well, although corporations and individuals throughout the state evade the law every year by secreting, or only partially listing their personal property to the assessor, yet they can not successfully evade the law when capital seeks fixed investment. And, therefore, every fixed investment, every manufacturing and productive enterprise in the city and state contributes its proportionate share to the public revenues. The tax on enterprise, though hitherto not onerous enough to be prohibitive, is, nevertheless, sufficiently heavy to dampen the ardor of those who would engage in manufacturing or in productive enterprises of any kind, from the building of factories down to stock raising. Though the framers of the constitution probably did not contemplate such results, yet the steadily growing state taxes are just as steadily operating to discourage thrift and enterprise throughout the state. But now, when it shall be necessary (for the court decrees it) for a municipal government, under this constitutional provision, to quadruple and quintuple the taxes on all enterprises within its municipal confines, from rolling mills down to provision stores, then will the industrial outlook for such a city be gloomy indeed.

If, on the contrary, instead of placing further burdens on industry and productive enterprise, the existing load of state, county and municipal taxes could be lightened, or indeed abolished, then would enterprise meet with so much greater recompense in East St. Louis than elsewhere that capital would flow to that fortunate railroad center, and the hum of industry and the songs of happy artisans be heard in a few short months where now the lonely gardener hoes the succulent cabbage in the truck patches of the American bottom. Were the constitution of Illinois so modified as to permit county, township and municipal governments to exempt from taxation all personal property within their confines, then the problem of East St. Louis would be solved. So soon as that city adopted the method of raising its revenues by taxing real estate alone, and exempting from taxation every product of industry and every form of enterprise, there would at once set in a flow of capital and of labor to East St. Louis.

The greatest inducement to the establishment of business enterprises is to exempt therefrom taxation. Where manufacturers prosper population grows. The recommendation of Ex-Mayor Hewitt that personal property be exempt from taxation in New York city is but a straw showing the rising current of popular opinion, and not the least improbable action of the next legislature of Illinois is the submission to a popular vote of a constitutional amendment giving local option in taxation to each county.

Farmers Are Handicapped.

The present method of taxation is severe on the farmers. Their personal estate is taxed to a greater amount proportionately than is the city tax-payer. For instance, in 1890, Oneida county's assessed valuation of real estate was $44,482,729 and her personal estate was $4,219,668; that is to say, for every $100 of taxes raised by Oneida county, $11.54 was paid out of personal estate, while in New York county—which is taken as an illustration because it is wholly city—only $7.34 out of every $100 raised was paid by personal estate. Examination will no doubt show that in your county the same state of affairs prevails, the purely agricultural portion of the county paying more on personal estates than the cities or villages.

The reason why this is so must be patent to everyone. In the cities wealth is hard to find, or, if found, to accurately value; and again, it is held in such forms that it easily escapes the eye of the assessor, especially if the owner concludes to hide it. No one knows what his neighbor is worth. In agricultural districts the very reverse is true. There, personal property is all out of doors; besides every one in the immediate vicinity knows what his neighbor is worth. A farmer can not purchase a clock without the neighborhood knowing all about it, and what it cost him. The assessor, in most cases, is personally acquainted with him and can keep watch upon him.

A tax on the store-keeper's sales or stock is paid by the consumer. The farmer pays his store-keeper's tax, plus a profit which the merchant charges on the outlay. B. Dobler.

Tax Cranks.

Canada, as well as New York, is afflicted with tax cranks, who labor under the delusion that the way to make people happy is to multiply the methods of taking them. One Hackett is of this type, and he introduced a bill to tax mortgages in addition to the tax on property. In describing the effects of this measure to "relieve" the poor, the Montreal Witness says: "Supposing the taxation to be a cent and a half on the dollar, it would reduce the income from six per cent. mortgages by a quarter, and five per cent. mortgages by nearly a third, or, in other words, tax the widows, orphans or curmudgeons, as the case may be, from a quarter to a third of their whole estate. This would, of course, only last so long as the present mortgages run. As soon as they terminated money that is worth five per cent. would certainly be no longer invested at three and a half. Either the borrower would have to pay the extra one and a half, or the money would go elsewhere. What then would be the effect in the long run? The poor borrower, whose necessities have forced him to pledge his farm or his house, would have to pay double taxes thereon, or see it pass out of his hands." It is about time poor borrowers dissected these mischievous schemes of taxation, and discovered the hypocrisy of those who pose as friends of the poor man, while pushing such bad tax bills. Mortgages should not be taxed.

Common Sense.

The first state to adopt the system of taxing real estate will reap a harvest of profit and prosperity. It will assist industry because it will have the effect of discouraging the mossback and wart who hold land out of use for purposes of speculation. It will cheapen the values of vacant land and encourage the erection of mills, factories, warehouses, residences, business houses and improvements of all kinds. It will decrease interest charges because it will free the circulating medium from useless burdens. It will increase the earnings of producers and wage-workers. No farmer can glance at this question and oppose it, as it promises him the greatest benefit, relief from the burdens of unequal and unjust taxation.—East Oregonian, Pendleton, Oregon.

The Case in a Nutshell.

The practical effect of many of our taxation laws is to drive property out of the state and prevent the development of property in the state. Many manufacturers have been moved to New Jersey and elsewhere because of our wrong-headed tax laws, and many certificates of wealth are held outside the state to escape the tax laws. * * * If this association can do anything to systematize the tax laws or bring them nearer to a scientific basis, the state should be very much obliged to them.—Union, Saratoga, Saratoga Co.

A Clear Case.

Any system of taxation that cripples business in New York, or drives capital away, will lower rents, while a system that promotes prosperity will increase the rental value of land far beyond the amount of increased taxes on land and houses proposed by the promoters of this new movement. Hence, in asking that all taxes shall be levied on real estate, real estate people are not proposing any sacrifice of their own interests.—Standard, N. Y. City.

Taxing Shares.

Taxation should be distributed as nearly as possible in such a fashion as to take from each one for public purposes in direct proportion to the advantages he derives from the public. If one were looking around for an ideal object of taxation, one would endeavor to find some desirable thing belonging to all, and would tax each individual for his share in the use of such desirable object. Land is such an object.

Stop Taxing Money.

Money made free from the burden of taxation becomes freer for the merchant, the farmer, and every one using the same. It brings a much greater accompanying blessing, a blessing which will more than offset any burden which may arise in the shape of increased taxation.—Long Islander, Huntington, Suffolk County.

A Mutual Advantage.

If personal property were free from taxation, more people of wealth and refinement would permanently locate and invest or loan their capital for use, to the great advantage of the farmer and laborer.—Mercantile Review, Buffalo, Erie County.

"The tax on personalty is levied practically on only those who already stand on the assessor's book as liable to the tax on realty. Those who own no real estate are not taxed at all; those who possess realty bear the taxes for both. The weight of taxation thus rests on the farmer. In the rural districts the assessors add the personalty, which is generally visible and tangible, to the realty and impose the tax on both. We hear a great deal about the decline of farming land. But one of its main causes has been singularly overlooked. It is the overburdening of the agriculturist by the general property tax. What is virtually a real property tax in the remainder of the state becomes a general property tax in the rural regions. The farmer bears not only his share, but also that of the other classes of society."—Auditor's biennial report, Iowa, 1880–81, p. 6.

"The property tax in the United States is not an American invention, but a relic of mediaevalism."—Prof. E. R. A. Seligman.

It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief attendant of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venerial Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 doses. Sold by dealers in medicine.

If your druggist does not happen to have it on hand, request him to order a supply of it for you. It will be cheaper than for you to order direct of us, and less trouble.

DR. ERASMUS MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Prices 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

THE ROADS.

This is the title of a paper read by J. S. DeLand at a Farmers' Institute held at Napoleon, Jackson Co., on the 4th inst. It seemed to meet the approval of the farmers present, and we give it entire for the purpose of showing the position generally held by the farming community on this subject:

Good roads are desirable and pleasant, add to the value of property and suggest a prosperous and happy community and the present generation ought to have found them all through this section of Michigan—it has been settled long enough, but those who have gone before us neglected or shirked to a certain extent their duty. Good roads contribute more to the prosperity and in many respects to the general intellectual and moral tone of society than any factor that is maintained for public utility. The success of almost any business enterprise depends largely on the condition of the highways. Good roads are a saving of time in marketing the surplus products. Another source of actual profit is the saving of wear and tear of vehicles, harness, temper, and profanity.

How can we so improve our highways as to make these good results possible? Some say by legislation, by creating more offices to be divided as so much spoil to the victors. The present system of working out road tax to my mind is all right, and I do not think our lawmakers can better it in any respect. If the farmers will use a little more judgment we can soon have much better roads, and without a burdensome tax.

I know the road question has received the attention of our retiring and our present Governors, in their messages to the Legislatures and is being agitated in many other States, for some reason. Did all this originate among the farmers? Has the rural population been clamoring for legislation on the subject?

The question of cost must come in, and that seems to be the chief hinderance. To go to work and make good roads all through our county and State will require a considerable expenditure of money. Are you farmers ready for a road tax? Do you want to pay your road tax? I see a bill has already been introduced in our Legislature to change the law so you may have to. Have the farmers asked for that change?

Many of you can't help but mention the amount of school tax you pay; once change our highway laws, create offices for civil engineers, surveyors, chain men, etc., establish grades, and commence improvement with a gang, and what school tax you pay would not pay the interest on the road tax you would be assessed. I see by the papers that the Massachusetts Legislature is asked to consider a proposition for making good roads for the use of the present generation, while the next generation pays the greater part of the cost. They propose to make a start on a loan of five million. Michigan is a good deal larger State, and we would want to start on a loan of ten million. Would you favor such a scheme? I presume you will be asked at next spring's election to vote "yes" or "no" on a constitutional amendment regarding a change, and my advice to you is to think twice, before you vote.

Now, my friends, where did all this talk and desire for good roads, all at once, originate? I know most all the papers have had something to say about the roads. Are the editors of our big daily papers interested in our behalf? They know very little about wagon roads; the only road they use is the railroad. Why should they devote half column editorials advocating good wagon roads for the rural population? Most of them suggest that a tax of so much an acre on the farm throughout the road districts would be the proper way to pay for it.

It seems to me there is something back of all this agitation. It is some time since the lightning rod fiend, and the Bohemian out fakir have been around. I clipped a paragraph out of our county paper the other day which I wish to read: it is headed "Convention for Good Roads."

At the convention of the National League for good roads, held in Washington, the Committee on Resolutions reported a resolution thanking the press and asking for their continued co-operation. It was also resolved that so far as possible the business of road-building should be separated from partisan action. It was further resolved that the colleges of agriculture and mechanical arts in the several States should make a specialty of thorough instruction, scientific and practical, in the construction and maintenance of good roads, and that this is a proper subject for the agricultural experiment stations supported by appropriations. The Committee on Legislation recommended that an appropriation of $15,000 be asked of Congress to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to make a general inquiry into the condition of highways in the United States.

There is a call for $15,000 just for an inquiry in the condition of highways! This National league is probably a few dozen bicycle riders.

One thing is sure, we ought to have better roads, and we can have them without any change in our highway laws; but it will require community of action and sentiment. I know there is a tendency among farmers to do as little work on the road as possible, and in some districts the path-master fails to have even a day's work done throughout the year. That is wrong and ought to remedied.

To make a good road it should first be drained, for it is impossible to make or maintain a good road on a creek bottom. Then they should be rounded or piked up, and after they have become a little worn should be covered with a good coat of gravel. When that is once well done it will require very little expense to maintain a road good enough for all purposes, and it will be good all times of the year. We are not rich enough to build a McAdam or a Telford road. We do not require any more laws. We do not desire a County Superintendent of the roads; and we do not want the highways, which we have bought and paid for, taken entirely out of our hands.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

At the coming township election to be held on Monday, April 3d, the electors will be asked to vote on three amendments to the constitution. Two of them are matters of general public interest and much importance. One of them provides an increase in the salary of certain state officials, and the other provides for both a county and township system of making roads. Both of them ought to pass. We give the amendments in full below, to be voted upon.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That an amendment to section nine of article fourteen of the constitution of this State be and the same is hereby proposed to read as follows;

SECTION 9. The State shall not be a party to, or interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engaged in carrying on any such work, except in the expenditure of grants to the State of land or other property: Provided, however, That the Legislature of the State, by appropriate legislation, may authorize the city of Grand Rapids to issue its bonds for the improvement of the navigation of Grand river.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That an amendment to section one of article nine of the constitution of this State be and the same is hereby proposed to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The Governor shall receive an annual salary of $4,000; the Lieutenant Governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,200; the judges of the circuit court shall receive an annual salary of $2,500; the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall receive an annual salary of $2,000; the Secretary of State shall receive an annual salary of $2,000; the Commissioner of the Land Office shall receive an annual salary of $2,000. They shall receive no fees or perquisites whatever for the performance of any duties connected with their office. It shall not be competent for the Legislature to increase the salaries herein provided.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That an amendment to the constitution of this State adding one new section thereto, to be known as section 49 of article 4, be and the same is hereby proposed to read as follows:

SECTION 49. The Legislature may provide for the laying out, construction and maintenance of county and township roads, and may provide that any road heretofore laid out shall be a county or township road. County roads may be maintained at the expense of the county, and township roads at the expense of the township.

County roads shall be under the control of a board of commissioners not to exceed five in number who shall be elected by the people, the number of said commissioners to be fixed by the board of supervisors of the county.

For the construction and maintenance of county roads the commissioners may provide for an annual tax not exceeding two dollars upon each one thousand dollars of the assessment roll of the county for the preceding year.

No county shall incur any indebtedness or issue any bonds for the construction or maintenance of county roads except upon a vote of two-thirds of all the supervisors elected, and then to be approved by a majority vote at any general or special election; nor shall any such indebtedness at any time exceed three per cent. of the valuation of the county upon the last preceding assessment roll.

The Legislature may modify, change or repeal the powers and duties of the township commissioner of highways and overseer of highways. The Legislature may pass all necessary laws to carry this amendment into effect: Provided, That any act or acts passed by the Legislature to carry this amendment into effect shall provide for a county and township system, and the county system shall become operative only in such counties as shall adopt it by a majority vote of the electors of said county, after the said question has been submitted to them by a two-thirds vote of all the members elect of the board of supervisors of such county, at a general or special election called for that purpose.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends, who so kindly assisted us in our recent sad bereavement, and especially to the ladies of the W. C. T. U., and the Home Missionary Society. May God Bless you all is our sincere prayer.

Because the Lifeged steel wheels put out by inexperienced manufacturers have gone down in ordinary winds, a feeling has grown that the Steel Wheel is unsafe. Judge it only by the Aermotor.
In this year's blizzards and cyclones the Aermotor loss is proportionately much less than any wooden wheel, while the loss of the imitation steel ones has frequently been total.
45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country." Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 3 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.
Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?
1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.
2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.
3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For '92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.
If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that goes you less than wooden, and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO. 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

Shall we be First.

DEMOCRATS OF LENAWEE COUNTY—

In the campaign of 1892 Lenawee County was the third in the list of counties in the State in Democratic gains—having made a gain of 563 over the Presidential vote in 1888. This was a glorious result, and gives our County a most enviable standing in the State Democracy. There is another contest pending—one of the most vital importance to Democrats of Michigan—one from which we hope to emerge in line with our Democratic sister states of Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Shall we should we remain third in the list of Counties? Why should we not reach the top of the ladder, and be FIRST? We can do it. If we can cast the vote of last fall we will have a majority for our State and County tickets when the votes are counted. Will you assist in getting out that vote, by urging every Democrat in your locality to go to the polls and vote a State and Township ticket?

In order to stimulate the workers in the various Townships, the County Committee will present to the Township showing the largest per cent. of the Democratic vote of last fall which will be contributed by a number of Democratic ladies of the City of Adrian. The ownership of this beautiful gift will be a constant source of pride to the Democratic organization, and every Township in the County should strive to capture it. Every Township stands an equal show, as the contest will be on the best percentage of the vote of 1892. No matter how small the Democratic vote in any Township, the Township which casts the largest per cent of that vote for State officers will be the winner.

Below is the Democratic vote in each Township as recorded last fall, with which comparison will be made:

Adrian Tp. 171, Blissfield 217, Cambridge 142, Clinton 223, Deerfield 305, Dover 162, Fairfield 253, Franklin 122, Hudson 437, Macon 154, Madison 162, Medina 162, Ogden 125, Palmyra 183, Raisin 171, Ridgeway 188, Riga 210, Rollin 121, Rome 162, Seneca 360, Tecumseh 351, Woodstock 308.

Yours for success,
L. W. HOCH, Chairman County Committee.

If you should happen to meet several pairs of black eyes on the street, don't think that it is the effect of a St. Patrick's day celebration. The owners of those eyes are simply members of Co. C. and have been exercising the new boxing gloves.

A night force of thirty men is now employed at the Page wire fence works. The company will build a wooden ware house, surmounted by a steel roof, on the lots recently purchased of Daniel Mulligan, as soon as the frost is out of the ground.—Adrian Times.

"It beats all!" exclaimed Uncle Josiah, as he handled his first Columbian stamp. "It beats all how everything's a growin' in this growin' country. Why, only last month postage stamps were only little insignificant things, and jest look at 'em now!"

Editor Kempton, of the Addison Courier, is gaining quite a reputation as a lay preacher. He delivered a discourse at the M. E. church last Sunday morning on "Christian Activity." The editor of a country newspaper ought to know from experience what Christian activity is.

About twenty-five Tecumseh people and nearly forty from Adrian, and a goodly number from Clinton and Manchester, took the special train to Jackson last Thursday evening to witness Seabrooke's Comic Opera, the "Isle of Champagne." They were highly delighted with the play and all voted it a big thing in the line of comic opera.

A gentleman stepped into the postoffice, one day this week, and called for a stamp "with." In reply to the puzzled look on the clerk's face, he said: "I mean with whiskers, in other words a two cent Columbian." When a moment later some one asked for a stamp "without," the clerk smilingly handed out a one cent Columbian, and Columbus had no whiskers.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative: effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Why Suffer?
When you can be Cured

Thousands are suffering with Torpid Liver—the symptoms are Depression of Spirits, Indigestion, Constipation, Headache. Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator is a reliable remedy for Liver Disorders. It cures thousands every year; why not try Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator? Your Druggist will supply you.

TO SQUELCH STRIKES.

JUDGE TAFT TAKES ISSUES RESTRAINING ORDER.

In the Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan Railway Trouble---Chiefs Arthur and Sargent Must not Issue Strike Orders.---Other News.

The problem of labor, and the strike boycotts, etc., which grow out of, will receive as thorough a test as the United States courts can apply.

The opportunity is offered by Circuit Court Judge William Taft at Detroit issuing a restraining order to be served upon P. M. Arthur and F. P. Sargent the respective heads of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. The order restrains them from issuing to their subordinates any instruction to refuse "to receive, handle or deliver any cars of freight in course of transportation from one state to another, from and to the T., A. A. & N. M. Co., and also from in any way directly or indirectly, endeavoring to persuade or induce any employes of the railway companies whose lines connect with the railroad of said T., A. A. & N. M. Co., not to extend to said company the same facilities for interchange of interstate traffic as are extended by said companies to other railway companies; and in case such rule or orders shall have been promulgated or issued by said Arthur and Sargent, or either of them, they shall be recalled or rescinded."

The T., A. A. & N. M. Co. have begun suit for $300,000 damage against Messrs. Arthur and Sargent on the ground of conspiring to deter and hinder the operation of that road.

T., A. A. & N. M. Strike on Again.

The Toledo, Ann Arbor & North Michigan strike is on in worse shape than it has been at any time since the trouble commenced. The engineers on all Toledo roads and all others making connections with the Ann Arbor will refuse to handle freight offered to that road. This is by the order of Chief Arthur, who stated that such was his decision.

Mr. Arthur charges State Railroad Commissioner Kirkby, of Ohio, who acted as the peacemaker, with betraying the cause of the men. He says a clause in the terms as agreed upon was that all old employes should be given their former position without prejudice. Mr. Arthur says this clause was not presented to the company at all, which made a provision that all applications must be made in writing to the master mechanic of the road, who must recommend the men before they would be re-employed. This is equivalent to saying none of them could come back. The Ann Arbor had conceded all that the men asked in the way of wages and hours after a long hitch about the wage part of it.

SENATE COMMITTEES.

Democrat Senate Caucus Fixes Things—11 Republican Chairmen.

Washington Special: The Democratic Senate caucus finished its labors so far as the reorganization of the committees of the Senate is concerned. The list of Democrat members and chairmen of the committees were given out. It shows that of the 46 standing and 11 select committees the Republicans are given chairmen in 11. These are the committees on engrossed bills, epidemic diseases, private land claims, revolutionary claims, to investigate Potomac River front, to inquire into claims against Nicaragua, woman suffrage, additional accommodations for library of Congress, the five civilized tribes of Indians, transportation and sale of meat products, corporations in the District of Columbia.

Of the Populists Senator Kyle is made chairman of the committee on education and labor and Senator Pfeffer of the committee to examine the several branches of the civil service. Senator Stewart, silverite, remains at the head of the committee on mines and mining.

Either upon the standing or select committees places were found as chairmen for all the new Democrat Senators.

"Farmers' Review" Crop Prospects.

The Farmers' Review, of Chicago, says: "Reports from the principal wheat-growing states in the west show that the crop is at that stage when not much can be told by appearances, but a few weeks will show the true situation. In Illinois appearances are against a full crop, while in Indiana the condition is below the average. Ohio looks better.

In Michigan half the counties report the outlook as good. In a few localities it is believed that the wheat has been greatly injured, but there is no certainty of this, as the ice still remains. In other localities the snow is rapidly disappearing, and wheat looks quite as well as it did last fall. In a few counties it is small from the effects of the fly and drouth. On low ground some wheat is known to have been smothered out by ice. In Wisconsin and Kentucky the condition is fair; in Iowa nearly average, in Missouri hardly fair, in Kansas and Nebraska fair to good.

Edison World's Fair Exhibit Ruined.

The foundation of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad at Schenectady, N. Y., was washed away, stopping all traffic between that city and Albany on the main line. Passenger trains on the Central railway were sent around by the way of Troy. No trains are passing over the Delaware & Hudson road. All the exhibits which the Edison company were preparing for the World's Fair are practically destroyed by the water, as is also most of the machinery and stock on the first floor. The loss is estimated at over half a million.

Negro Sold at Auction.

George Winn, a worthless Negro of Fayette, Mo., convicted of vagrancy, was sold for a period of six months to the highest bidder. This proceeding was in accordance with the vagrant law of that state. R. S. McCampbell, of Glenn Springs, bought the Negro for the sum of $20.

At Albany, N. Y., the Hudson River rose 14 feet above the mean tide and flooded the lower part of the city.

Harland Murray, at St. Louis, Mo., in a fit of jealousy, attempted to shoot his wife and killed his aged mother.

GONE TO THE BOTTOM.

The Probable Fate of the Steamer Naronic.

NEW YORK, March 20.—It is suggested now that the reason why the missing White Star freighter Naronic never has been sighted is because she foundered a few days after she left Liverpool. That was thirty-five days ago, but since then no flotsom from her has been seen. A theorist who has studied the weekly hydrographic bulletin issued thinks there might be some connection between the Naronic and a craft passed Feb. 22 latitude 55.36, longitude 23.30, by the steamship Delado, which arrived at Baltimore from Rotterdam and Sunderland March 7. The Delano is now on her way to Rotterdam. All she reported at Baltimore was that when she passed the raft, which was a large one, dimensions not specified, she was about 460 miles west of the northwest coast of Ireland. The raft had on it about six feet of broken spar, and the report says had probably been adrift some time. Very likely the raft, drifting on the northeasterly current through which freighters sailing in high latitudes pass, came from the English Channel.

There was very rough weather off the Irish coast Feb. 12, 13, 14 and 15. The steamship Crotia, which arrived at Boston Feb. 25, fell in with some of it. Feb. 14 a sea swept over her smashing in her chart house, carrying away her ventilators forward and flooding her forward holds. The Ulunda, which sailed from Liverpool Feb. 8 for St. John's, shipped several seas, had her skylight smashed, her cabin and engine rooms flooded and two life-boats smashed.

ISSUED A SWEEPING ORDER.

Federal Judge Commands Engineers to Raise the Ann Arbor Boycott.

TOLEDO, Ohio, March 20.—General Manager Ashley of the Ann Arbor Railway, and Alexander L. Smith, its general counsel, appeared before Judge Taft of the United States Circuit Court at Detroit and made an application for a mendatory injunction against Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen requiring them to raise the boycott against Ann Arbor cars. Judge Taft allowed the order as prayed for. It is most sweeping in its terms and restraints either of them "from issuing, promulgating or continuing in force any rule or order of any kind" under the rules and regulations of either order, "which shall require or command any employes of any of the defendant railroad companies hereinto refuse to receive, handle or deliver any cars of freight in course of transportation from one State to another, from and to the Ann Arbor."

PLAYED HE WAS A DEAD MAN.

Thrun, the Oshkosh Insurance Swindler, Says He Had a Chicago Accomplice.

OSHKOSH, Wis., March [illegible].—Ferdinand J. Thrun, the Romeo saw-mill owner who obtained $60,000 worth of life insurance and then burned his house, having placed there a skeleton by which he thought his wife could establish his death and collect the insurance, is now in the county jail. Yesterday afternoon he broke down and made a full confession. Thrun claims that T. G. Hanson of Chicago was the inventor of the plot and that he was but a tool. According to his statement Hanson also furnished the money to pay the premiums. A $5,000 policy issued by the Northwestern Mutual Life of this city has been returned. It came in an envelope, postmarked Chicago. It is suposed this was sent by Hanson.

Will Learn Why Reading Is Bankrupt.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Pennsylvania insurance company, as trustees of the Reading general mortgage bonds, has notified the committee of bondholders that it will begin at once an investigation of the causes leading to the bankruptcy of the Reading Company. In this investigation, which will be brought before the courts, will appear the speculations of individual managers, if there have been any.

Order of Juno in Trouble.

BAY CITY, Mich., March 20.—The Bay City members of the endowment society of the Order of Juno, are about to apply to the United States Court for the appointment of a receiver for the order. The society was organized two or three years ago under the laws of Ohio, with George A. Harper of Cleveland as the visible head. Harper was here last night trying to get members to surrender their certificates, for which they are to receive membership certificates in a new order called the World's Mutual Benefit Association, organized under the laws of West Virginia.

Arabs in a Fight at Evansville.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 20.—The Arabian band of acrobats with the Cleveland minstrel combination got into a serious fight here last night at the People's Theater. Slable Ardel and the "whirling, bawling dervish" were the principal combatants and they started to use swords, but were prevented. Slable Ardel is in jail serving out a heavy fine. The company discharged him after the fight. He threatens suit for back salary.

Sentenced for Swindling a Widow.

WASHINGTON, Ind., March 20.—James Smith was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for swindling Mrs. Prewett, an old widow out of $100. Smith claimed that he was a Chicago detective, and that he would have her son arrested for theft if she did not give him the money. Smith is only 21 years old and is the son of one of the most prominent members of the United Brethren Church.

Old Man Mulcted for Breach of Promise.

GOSHEN, Ind., March 20.—Sarah Largo, a petite black-eyed brunette of Elkhart, aged 30, obtained judgment for $1,000 in the breach-of-promise case filed by her against Daniel Hill of the same city. Hill is a retired merchant, wealthy and over 80 years old.

Wants $20,000.

SAGINAW, Mich., March 20.—William Merson began suit against John Witz, a well known lumber contractor, for alienating his wife's affections. He lays his damages at $20,000. Merson has considerable property. Mrs. Merson deserted her husband two years ago.

"THE SQUIRE" IS DEAD

ABINGDON, THE WELL-KNOWN SPORT, EXPIRES.

His Assault on Mrs. Lily Langtry—The Only Son of a Rich Iron-Founder—He was the Backer of Pugilist Charley Mitchell.

NEW ORLEANS, March 20.—George A. Faird, better known as Squire Abingdon, died at the St. Charles Hotel at 8 a. m.

The dead man was well known as the backer of sporting enterprises. He was the son of a very rich iron-founder. Some time ago he came into notoriety through kicking Mrs. Langtry in the face, the English beauty being at that time under his care in a financial way.

When the Squire came here from New York with the Hall and Mitchell party he was in the very best of spirits and [illegible] elastic step and a bright, ruddy face. He came in excellent condition for a long stay, engaged the best rooms in the hotel, began to open wine immediately for all to whom he took a liking and spent his money right and left with both men and women.

The dead man was well known as the backer of sporting enterprises. He was the son of a very rich iron-founder. Some time ago he came into notoriety through kicking Mrs. Langtry in the face, the English beauty being at that time under his care in a financial way.

Since coming into his fortune Squire Abingdon has been a conspicuous figure on the English running turf. He not only owned a number of notable horses but he attracted considerable attention by turning amateur jockey and riding his own horses. He was one of the best non-professional riders.

The Squire was the English backer of Charlie Mitchell, the English pugilist who is going to fight Corbett.

Abingdon was very wealthy. Since arriving in New Orleans he has been leading a life of dissipation and since Hall's defeat he hardly went to bed until he broke down in health.

Abingdon has always been free enough with both his health and his wealth. After the sensational quarrel with Lilly Langtry, in which the squire struck her down and kicked her, he gave the famous beauty a plaster to her marred pride and features by fitting up a splendid residence in London and giving it to her.

KILLED WITH A HAMMER.

Widow Shaw Tells How Her Lover Murdered Her Husband.

BAKER CITY, Ore., March 20.—The latest regarding the murder of Alfred P. Shaw, the farmer who was found dead in a barn at his home in Canyon City, Grant County, was brought here last evening. Mrs. Shaw, widow of the dead man, who was arrested with one Gallin, the hired man of the Shaw household, on suspicion of having caused Shaw's death, has made a confession.

She declares that Gallin, with whom she had been intimate, killed her husband with a hammer, and then carried his lifeless body to a barn, in which was stabled a stallion. He then dispatched a boy to town to spread the report that Shaw had been kicked to death by horse. In the meantime the murderer burned the handle of the hammer and threw the head of it into deep snow, where it was afterward found. Mrs. Shaw has been twice divorced, Shaw having been her third husband. They had been married but a few months. Her first husband, Almoshire, was convicted in Grant county on a criminal charge and sent to the penitentiary. Later she married one Haskins at Baker City, who soon left her. She is a small, dark complexioned woman about 40 years of age.

HARRISON RETURNS HOME.

Ex-President Terminates an Unlucky Duck Hunt at Liverpool.

PEORIA, March 20.—Ex-President Harrison arrived here this morning from Liverpool, where he has been fishing and hunting for several days, and left in half an hour over the Big Four for Indianapolis. Mr. Harrison was looking well and said he had enjoyed his outing very much. For all that he had not had much luck in getting game. He had been out every day from early in the morning until nightfall, but very few ducks had come up the river and the sport was not very good. What he wanted was change and rest, and the outdoor life gave it to him.

An Old Mine to Be Abandoned.

CLEVELAND, March 20.—The machinery of the Republic Iron Mine is to be transferred from its old grounds on the Marquette Range to the new Mesaba. The difficulty is that while the ore has been of fair quality it had to be mined under pumps and at a depth of some hundred feet, and it could not hope to compete with the new Mesaba, where the ore is superior to that of the old Republic and more easily mined besides. As a result the stockholders, who comprise Cleveland, Chicago, and Detroit capitalists, have decided to abandon the old mine, where it cost $2 to produce a ton of ore, and move their plant to Mesaba, where better ore can be mined for 50 or 75 cents a ton. A site has been purchased and removal will soon be made. By it the town of Republic, Mich., with a population of about twelve thousand, will be left with nothing to support it, and its decay is certain to be rapid.

Attacked His Wife's Assailant in Court.

BONHAM, Texas, March 20.—During the trial of Sam Massey, a negro, charged with assaulting Mrs. Elizabeth Smith in Grayson County a year ago, the first witness called was the husband of Mrs. Smith. On entering the court-room Smith drew a pocket-knife and as he passed close to the prisoner's dock sprang upon Massey, cutting him about the face. Officers took the infuriated man away before any serious wounds were inflicted. Massey had to be taken from the court-room and have his wounds dressed before the case could proceed.

Suicide of a Jealous Wife.

OTTUMWA, Iowa, March 20.—Mrs. Stephen Gray committed suicide at Eddyville by taking carbolic acid. There was another woman in the case, with whom she alleged Gray had been unduly intimate.

FAIL TO DO THEIR DUTY.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty toward themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbert Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from Nervous Prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without relief. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three week's use of Nervine for headache, nervous prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Sold by Baker & Hall, Druggists. Trial bottle free.

She: Is your wife entertaining this winter? He: Not very—except to men.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy, yet efficient action. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents.

Mrs. Hashem set a mighty fine table yesterday, said one of the boarders. Yes, replied Billy Bliven, she has to do it once in a while. She must realize that dead men pay no board.

RICH, RED BLOOD.

As naturally results from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla as personal cleanliness results from free use of soap and water. This great purifier thoroughly eradicates scrofula, salt rheum and all other impurities and builds up every organ of the body. Now is the time to take it.

Smithkins devotes his time to following the footsteps of the aged and learned. Good for him. How does he get on? Bosses the street-cleaning gang.

DON'T GET IMPOSED UPON.

Is a good motto to follow in buying medicine as well as in everything else. By the universal satisfaction it has given, and by the many remarkable cures it has accomplished, Hood's Sarsaparilla, Great German Blood, Liver, and Kidney Cure has proven itself unequaled for building up and strengthening your system and for all diseases arising from impure blood. Do not experiment with an unheard of or untried article, which you are told is as good, but insist and sure and get Dullam's. All druggists keep it. For sale by Jno. Orr.

Hall's Hair Renewer enjoys the confidence and patronage of people all over the civilized world who use it to restore and keep the hair a natural color.

GREAT OAKS

From little acorns grow, so also do fatal diseases spring from small beginnings. Never neglect symptoms of Kidner Troubles; if allowed to develop they cause much suffering and death. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm is a certain cure for any disorder or weakness of the Kidneys. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

A stock company has been formed to control the boot and shoe trade, and at last is a corporation which is a sole.

R. A. Lindsay, late of No. 1 Hose Company, Baltimore City Fire Department says, that the members of the company have used Salvation Oil in cases of sprains and soreness with gratifying results. It is the best. Only 25 cts.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the digestion, weaken digestion and create constipation. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, cures rather than impairs the assimilative process.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Forty-eighth day.—A bill was passed amending the act reincorporating the village of Galesburg; as was a bill amending the general election law, by providing that the polls at a general election shall open at 7 o'clock. In committee of the whole Senator Clapp's bill amending the laws relative to the Industrial Home for Girls by allowing inmates leave of absence under certain circumstances and providing punishment for any person aiding in their escape, was passed. HOUSE.—The much discussed bill, providing for the appointment by the mayor of Detroit of a commission to constitute the board of education, was thoroughly handled by the House and was lost by a vote of yeas, 46; nays, 30—a two-thirds vote required. The measure was reconsidered and laid on the table. Outside of a few bills amending various village and city charters little work was done. But two other bills passed: Amending laws for the appointment of school examiners; amending laws relating to township boards of health.

SENATE.—Forty-ninth day.—The committee on the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb asked for an appropriation of $100,000 for the next two years. Committee on fisheries favorably reported a bill appropriating $23,-150 for the state fish commission. Committee on state affairs recommended the passage of the bill placing the use of illuminating oils under state inspection and regulation, providing for a constitutional amendment, to limit the time of introduction of bills in the legislature to 35 days, was killed. Senator Champion's uniform text book bill was also killed. A resolution was presented and passed providing for a committee to inquire whether any similar branches are taught in any of the three state educational institutions—the University, the Agricultural college and the Normal school. Bills passed: Authorizing the city of Grand Haven to bond for court house; amending election law so that voting precincts in townships may contain 650 voters or may be divided into two precincts where there are more than 300 electors; for the relief of Mrs. Sophia Brewer, whose son was killed at the state military encampment last year; amending law relative to reform school for girls. HOUSE.—The bill making an appropriation of one-sixth of a mill upon the taxable property of the state for the support of the state university was passed by the House. Appropriate resolutions were adopted on the death of Representative Leavitt. Eulogistic addresses were made by Representatives Buell, Bishop, Tripp and Green.

SENATE.—Fiftieth day—The bill for an electric light comaission for Detroit was under discussion, having been reported by the committee on cities and villages with an amendment to submit the bill to the people at the spring election. A motion to have the bill as amended printed prevailed and the bill went over. The university tax bill, with house amendments, was concurred in. Committee on constitutional amendments recommended the bill establishing a state weather service and making an appropriation of $3,000 therefor. In committee of the whole two bills were passed: Amending the law relative to express companies by providing that they should not limit their liability for damages caused by their negligence; a bill amending the law so as to provide that trial judges shall determine the compensation for an attorney appointed by him to try a case. A bill was also passed prohibiting the hunting or killing of English and Mongolian pheasants. HOUSE.—The bill of Mr. Newkirk to confer the right of suffrage upon women at city and village elections was taken up. Speeches were made favoring the measure by Representatives Newkirk, Rose, Gordon, Church, Redfern, Buzzell, Strong Schellberg J. T. Campbell, Buell, Blakely and Fuller. The measure was opposed by representatives Tateum, Dwing, Covell, Kling, Sullivan, Davock, McKinlay, Watson, Mills and Henry. The bill was thoroughly considered in committee of the whole was passed and placed upon its third reading, but upon a vote it was lost—yeas, 38; nays, 38; absent, 19. The bill was reconsidered and tabled, and will be called up as soon as possible again.

SENATE.—Fifty-first day.—The Detroit electric lighting bill was taken up as unfinished business and all sorts of schemes were pressed forward to delay action or kill the bill by Senators Doran, Turnbull and a few others, but the friends of the bill forced a vote which resulted in the passage of the bill—yeas, 26; nays, 1—and it was given immediate effect. The joint resolution for placing prisoners in jails and prisons at work on public highways was killed. An attempt was made to secure action on the bill conferring municipal suffrage upon women, but it was without avail and the chances for the passage of the bill are exceeding slim. The Senate passed bills consolidating the cities of Port Huron and Fort Gratiot; amending law relative to the prevention of cruelty to animals; amending law relative to the fee of attorneys appointed by the courts. HOUSE.—The bill consolidating the cities of Port Huron and Fort Gratiot was received from the Senate and placed upon its passage and was passed—yeas, 79; nays, 0—and was given immediate effect. The Detroit public lighting bill was also received from the Senate and the amendments were concurred in by a unanimous vote. The joint committee on the Upper Peninsula prison submitted a long report upon the condition of that institution, the charges against Warden Malmburg, etc. The most important clause is a recommendation that it be continued as a prison. They declare that it is not advisable to make an insane asylum of it. The report was accepted. Several charter and incorporation bills were also passed.

Fifty-second day—No session of the Senate. HOUSE.—No quorum and although the House was in session over two hours no business of importance was transacted or discussed.

Only Business Men Wanted for Consuls.

President Cleveland has decided upon a line of policy to be pursued in the appointment of consuls, which is expected to materially expand the trade of the United States with foreign countries, especially with the South and Central American republics. His policy is to select men for appointment to consulships who have exceptional business qualifications and possess sufficient trade instinct to recognize an outlet for American merchandise and the ability to aid in working up a market for the products of American manufactories and farms. The President said that of course political reasons cannot be entirely ignored in the selection of consuls, but that particular stress will be laid upon the business abilities of the men whose names are presented to him.

Distinguished Frenchman Dead.

Jules Francois Camell Ferry, the celebrated French stateman, is dead. Death was caused by heart disease, due to the effects of a bullet striking a rib near the base of the heart at the time he was attacked by Aubertin in 1888. He was seized with spasms early in the morning. The convulsions continued to grow in violence until 6 o'clock in the evening, when he expired in a terribly severe spasm.

Jules Ferry was born at Paris in 1823. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1848. He became a member of the legislative body in 1869, and during the troublous days of 1870-1 he served as a member of the government of national defense.

John L. Sullivan was arrested for acting on Sunday at Cincinnati. As the crowd followed him to jail he said: "I am a drawing card still."

The Denison Compress at Denison, Texas, burned with about 900 bales of cotton and 20 box cars. Loss, $150,000. Origin of the fire unknown.

The tug Helena, belonging to Cleveland parties, is reported missing at Vermillion, O. She went out into the lake with a crew of five men and has not yet returned. Search was made but the boat could not be found.

Alonzo B. Clifford, a prominent citizen of South Bend, Ind., committed suicide by drowning himself, and the same day Mrs. Henry Herring, the mother of five small children, hanged herself over the door of her house in the same city.

MURDER IN MICHIGAN.

THE LONG LIST HAS ANOTHER VICTIM ADDED TO IT.

A Cass City No'er-do-well Shoots a Young Man in his Wife's Bed Chamber. Although it was With His Consent.

A cold-blooded murder was committed in Cass City, at an early hour. James Sheridan, a young man, about 25 years of age, was the victim, and Carlo Stevens the assassin. Stevens, with his wife, a woman about 30 years of age, have for the past six or seven years lived in a house dubbed "The Square Front," near the depot, which has not borne a very good name.

On the night of the tragedy Sheridan, a companion named Davis, Stevens and his wife had been drinking together and Sheridan and Davis arranged to stay over night and according to the story of the latter, Sheridan occupied a room with Stevens' wife. Stevens woke up in the morning, and said, "If that ——— does not get out of this soon, I will shoot him." Davis heard no more until there was a loud report from a rifle, followed by two other reports in rapid succession. Davis then saw Stevens hastily leave the house and at once gave the alarm. Investigation proved that the lock to the door usually occupied by Mrs. Stevens was broken, and going inside a horrible sight met their gaze. There lying beside the bed was young Sheridan in a pool of blood. He was taken up and laid upon the bed but life had been extinct for some time, in fact death must have been instantaneous as the charge from a 44-caliber Winchester rifle had enter his left side just above the heart and taking a downward course had lodged in the back near the spine, showing that when the shot took effect Sheridan must have been in the act of attempting to get out of bed.

James Sheridan was the son of a respectable farmer residing 1½ miles from Cass City. The murderer, who is still at large, is a man about 65 years of age, and his chief occupation was in hunting.

AN ILLUSTRATION

Of the Need of a Home for Feeble Minded Persons.

The necessity for a home for feeble minded children, a bill providing for the establishment of which is now pending in the legislature, is forcibly illustrated in the case of Charles Ross Koppler, a 14-year-old boy, who was received at the Industrial Home for Boys. In August last Koppler was sent to the home from Saginaw, but being an epileptic, he was, by order of the state board of inspectors, returned to Saginaw county as boys so afflicted are ineligible to the institution. There was no one to look after him and he drifted down into the southern part of the state and was arrested at St. Joseph county, where he was endeavoring to sell a horse and buggy and a gold watch which he had picked up somewhere. He was again sentenced to the Industrial Home, but upon arriving there was recognized by Superintendent Wood and refused admission. He is again a wanderer in the state, there being no institution to which he can be sent for the care and treatment which he so sorely needs. It is said that there are several hundred such children in the state, many of them being inmates of poor houses.

Almost a Fratricide.

William and Fred Koch, brothers, residing in Monitor township, Bay county, quarreled, and William threw an ax at his brother, striking him in the face with the blade and cutting it open through the nose and mouth, inflicting a very dangerous and perhaps fatal wound. The man's family undertook to treat him without calling a physician, but he soon became so very low that a doctor from Bay City was summoned. William packed up his personal effects immediately after committing the assault and left for parts unknown.

Scandal at the University.

Ugly rumors are afloat about students' lecture funds. Four hundred season tickets are said to have been sold at $2 apiece, without being accounted for, and officers of the association are trying to sift the matter to learn where the money went. The tickets are very simple affairs and could easily have been duplicated by some one. As the proceeds of the association are given to the athletic association, the officers of the latter organization are particularly anxious to have the mystery cleared up.

New Railroad for Detroit.

The various rumors of new railroads between Detroit and Toledo have settled into the certainty of a new route to be known as the "Detroit & Toledo Short Line Railroad," to be built before the close of 1893, direct between the Wabash junction, Detroit, and Toledo, on as straight a line as can be made between those points. It will be built to open to Detroit the immense advantages of the Pennsylvania and other systems, by giving those great trunk lines easy access to the City of the Straits.

Member of Legislature Dead.

C. W. Leavitt, Republican member of the legislature from Oceana county died at the Eagle Hotel, Grand Rapids, where he had been ill for ten days past. He was taken ill with progressive paralysis in Lansing and started for home, but could get no further. He was 40 years old, had no family and his election to the legislature was his first public office.

The superintendent of public instruction has named Supt. J. W. Simmons, of Owosso, to conduct, and Supts. E. L. Baiggs, of Grand Haven, and W. J. McKoni, of Mason, to instruct in a state institute to be held for Ingham county at Mason the week beginning March 27.

The building of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming road, the construction of which will be begun next month, will settle the location of the new furnace of the Cleveland Cliff company, which will be built at Presque Isle, two miles north of Marquette. The furnace will use coke and will cost nearly $250,000, employing 200 men.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg; doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. J. Orr.

That old established cough remedy, Downs' Elixir, still more than holds its own in the public estimation, despite sharp and active competition. It is a home remedy, and in this locality needs no words of praise from us, so well and favorably known is it. It is the standard remedy for coughs, colds and all throat troubles, with great numbers of our people, and their continued use and unsolicited recommendation of it speaks volumes in its favor.

Heart Disease Curable.

The truth of this statement may be doubted by many, but when Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist, claims that heart disease is curable and proves it by thousands of testimonials of wonderful cures by his New Heart Cure; it attracts the attention of the millions suffering with short breath, palpitation, irregular pulse, wind in stomach, pain in side or shoulder, smothering spells, fainting, Dropsy, etc. A. F. Davis, Silver Creek, Neb., by using four bottles of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, was completely cured after twelve years suffering from heart disease. This wonderful remedy is sold by Baker & Hall. CLINTON, MICH., MARCH 23, 1893.

Chas. Marr returned to Detroit Tuesday.

C. S. Burroughs went to Detroit Wednesday.

Alonzo Clark went to Chicago last Thursday.

Dr. Jenkins, of Tecumseh, was in town Sunday.

John Hicks, of Tecumseh, was in town Monday.

Peter Jacobs moved his family to Adrian Monday.

Bush & Swift are painting the interior of their store.

The next musicale will be held at Mrs. J. L. Tuttle's.

Mrs. L. W. Kimball visited Tecumseh friends Wednesday.

John Smalley arrived here Monday from New York State.

M. C. Reeves and wife visited friends in Tecumseh Tuesday.

Frank Schuler has taken Charles Kidd's place on the milk wagon.

St. John's church will be improved by a liberal use of paint this spring.

S. F. Marstellar moved into his house on Church street the first of the week.

Born, Sunday, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kidd, a 10 1-2 pound boy. Quite a Kidd.

Mrs. W. C. Rogers spent Saturday and Sunday with her daughter in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Andrew Elliott, of Grand Rapids, is visiting her parents, Rev. Reeves and wife. She will remain about two weeks.

Will Dewey has purchased S. F. Marstellar's house and lot in the north part of town and took possession the first of this week.

Mrs. Adam Kress died Monday at her home in Bridgewater, aged 79 years. The funeral will be held at Freedom Thursday at 10 a. m.

D. H. Davis returned from Chicago last Wednesday. He will remain here until September, when he will return for his last course in dentistry.

We learn that P. C. Smith will move onto Mrs. J. B. Smith's farm April 1st, and that Mrs. Smith will occupy the west part of W. V. Fisk's house.

Chas. Kidd has left C. F. Clark's employ and is now working for J. T. Clark. Milk customers will miss Charles' smiling face for many a day to come.

J. R. Blanchard has broken ground for his new printing office on the lot recently purchased of Mrs. Jennie Brown. It will be a two-story building, 20x30 ft.

Miss Emma Breese, who has been with relatives here for the past seven months, expects to leave this week for her home in Kansas. The many friends she has made during her stay here regret her departure,

The regular meetings of the Masonic bodies this month occur as follows: Blue Lodge Saturday evening, April 1st.; Clinton Chapter No. 40, March 28; Clinton Council No. 26, March 30; Golden Rod Chapter Wednesday evening, March 29.

Edward Baxter Perry will give a lecture recital at the Congregational church here next Tuesday evening, March 28. Admission 25 cents. This is a rare opportunity of hearing the world-famed pianist and it is expected that all lovers of music will take advantage of it.

The play, "Inshavogue," will be presented by the Episcopal society Wednesday evening, April 12. This is a splendid Irish drama and the parts will be sustained by the best local talent, with the exception of the leading part, Inshavogue, which will be taken by Chas. Marr of Detroit.

The democratic electors of the township of Clinton are requested to meet in caucus at the Town Hall Saturday, March 25th 1893, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of nominating officers for the ensuing year and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

While helping to unload the new dynamo last Thursday John Amspoker slipped off the dray and was struck on the back of the neck and shoulders by the dynamo and hurt quite badly. Had he not had presence of mind enough to throw his head forward the result would probably have been much more serious.

Last Saturday evening George Sherwood started to Manchester with a travelling man and when about a mile out of town one of the bits broke and the horses started to run. He controlled them as well as he could until they reached the forks of the road, when they commenced to kick and he jumped out. The horses freed themselves from the buggy and started for town, and were caught by the Congregational church, not much the worse for the adventure. George and his passenger walked back to town, considerably bruised and cut, but considering themselves lucky to escape so well.

The play, "Bright Irish Lad," given by St. Dominic's society last Friday and Saturday evenings was one of the finest things and the best received that was ever put on this stage by amateur talent. The parts, which were admirably adapted to each one, were almost perfectly committed and there was not a break in the whole performance. The humor and pathos of the play followed each other in such rapid succession that the smiles and tears of the audience were mingled. The musical part of the program was also very good. The hall was filled to its utmost capacity Friday evening, the gross receipts being $102.75, and Saturday evening a $75.00 house.

HOW TO VOTE.

Make No Mistake in Marking Your Ticket —Observe Carefully the Directions Given Below and Your Vote Will Be Counted.

Every voter should cut this out and make himself familiar with the method of voting under the new law. All the tickets will be printed upon one ballot. The names of the offices to be voted for will be printed in a perpendicular column at the left side of the ballot. Each ticket will be printed in a column by itself upon one ballot with the vignette and name of the party at the head of the ticket. Immediately below the party name will be an open square thus: ☐ for the voter's mark—X—to be made with a stamp furnished by the inspector, or with a lead pencil. The ballot will not be counted if any distinguishing mark other than the X is placed upon it. The voter's mark—X—must be placed within the open square at the head of the ticket or in the small square ☐ at the left of the name of the candidate for whom the citizen wishes to vote. The mark X placed anywhere else will render the ballot void. Get the official ballot of the inspector; be sure that his initials are on one corner on the back of the ballot; go alone into the booth; and if you wish to vote the democratic ticket straight, make your mark—X—in the square at the head of the ticket under the party name, and over the column in which the names of the democratic candidates are printed, as shown in the following diagram, which represents the state ticket to be voted this spring:

A ballot marked in the manner shown above would be counted for all the candidates on the democratic ticket, because marking the square at the head of the ticket indicates that all the candidates upon that ticket are voted for, and all will count.

HOW TO VOTE A SPLIT REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The above ticket is marked as by a republican who desires to vote for the democratic candidates for justice of the supreme court and school commissioner. By marking the republican ticket in the square at the head of the column of republican candidates, all upon the ticket are voted for. But by erasing (as in the diagram above) the republican candidate for justice of the supreme court and school commissioner, by drawing a line through their names, and then placing the mark in the open squares on the left of the names of George H. Durand and Edward Evans, a split republican ticket is voted, counting for all the republican candidates with the exception of those of justice of the supreme court and school commissioner, and counting for the democratic candidates for those offices—Durand and Evans. If the republican ticket should be marked at the head of the column and the squares marked at the left of the names of Durand and Evans, without erasing the names of the corresponding republican candidates for justice of the supreme court and school commissioner—Hooker and Jones—the ballot could not and would not be counted for anyone for justice of the supreme court and school commissioner, for the reason that two votes would be given for each of those offices; the whole of the republican ticket being voted for by marking the square at the top of the column; while Durand and Evans would be voted for by placing the X in the squares at the left of their names. No person would be allowed to vote twice for the same office, therefore neither vote would be counted for those two offices. Remember that a mark in the square at the head of either ticket votes for all the candidates on that ticket, and to vote for a candidate on any other ticket the name of the candidate for that office must be erased from the ticket voted and a mark (X) made in the square at the left of the candidate for whom you wish to vote. The names of all candidates for any one office will be found on the same horizontal line with the name of the office for which they are candidates, at the extreme left of the ballot. When the ticket is properly marked to suit the voter and before leaving the booth, he must fold his ballot so that no part of the face thereof shall be exposed, and so that the initials of the inspector shall be on the outside thereof. On leaving the booth he shall at once deliver his ballot in public view to the inspector designated to receive the same. No person shall be entitled to more than one ballot, unless, by accident, he has spoiled the one first delivered to him, when, by returning the spoiled one, another can be obtained. No electioneering is allowed within 100 feet of the polls and no one is allowed to witness the marking of a ticket unless the person voting is unable to mark his own ticket, in which case the board will designate some one to do it for him.

GOOD LOOKS.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive you have a Bilious look, if your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic look, and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and tonic which acts directly on these vital organs. Cures Pimples, Blotches, Boils and gives a good complexion. Sold at J. J. Orr's drug store, 50c. per bottle.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

In the matter of the estate of Benjamin Beevers, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court of said County, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Chas. Burridge, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 2nd day of March, 1893 and and on the 27th day of July, 1893, at ten o'clock in the fore noon of each of said days.

And that six months from the 27th day of January, A. D. 1893, are allowed by said Probate Court for the creditors of said estate to present their claims to us for examination and allowance.

CHARLES BURRIDGE,
FRANCISCO DAVIDSON,
Commissioners.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Friday, the 24th day of February, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three.

Present Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of John Britton, Sr deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of John Britton and Matthew Yates, executors of the last will and testament and upon the estate of said deceased, alleging, among other things, that they are now ready to close said estate and to render their final administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned to the parties entitled thereto under said last will of said deceased, and that they may be discharged and their bond canceled, and for such other order and decree as to this Court shall seem proper,

It is Ordered, That Monday, the 27th day of March next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioners should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

On the 28th day of May, 1886, William P. Emons, of Macon, Lenawee County, Michigan, mortgaged to Nathaniel Boid of the same place, all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Macon in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The North three-quarters of the East half of the North-west quarter of Section No. thirty-four (34), Town five (5), South, of Range five (5) East, containing Sixty acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of Five Hundred and Fifty-two Dollars and interest annually at seven per cent. per annum in two years from date of said mortgage.

Said mortgage was, on the 29th day of May, 1886, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said Lenawee County, in Liber 117 of Mortgages, on page 62.

Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the non-payment of the moneys due thereon, by which the power of sale therein contained has becomes operative.

There is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Seven Hundred and Twenty-seven and fifty-two hundredths Dollars ($727.52), and no proceedings at law or in equity have been commenced to recover the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, the said premises above and in said mortgage described will be sold at public Vendue to the highest bidder, at the East front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in said County (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within and for said County) on Saturday, the Tenth day of June, 1893, at one o'clock in the afternoon, to make and satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, the costs and expenses of this foreclosure and sale, and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars, as provided by law and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

Dated March 13th, 1893.

The Maccabees had a very enjoyable time at their last review, when one candidate was shown the mysteries of the order and when maple syrup, warm biscuit etc. were the menu provided, and the goat kicked a great big kick.

The Profits of Dairying.

A cow should, with the care you give your best horses, produce 6000 lbs. of milk, making 250 lbs. of butter per year; 250 lbs. butter at 24 2-3 cts. equals $61.66; in addition to this there will be 4500 lbs. of skim milk, having a feeding value of 15c. for 100 lbs. equals $7.75, Not counting the value of her calf, this figures $69.41.

It has become an undisputed fact, that two acres of good corn land will more than produce food enough to keep a cow a year. Assuming that these estimates are correct, the Elgin dairy farms have been earning their owners an unusual income of $34.00 per acre for the past 21 years.

Undoubtedly, the most prosperous dairy section in the United States, has its nucleus at Elgin, Illinois. In the Elgin District and represented on the Elgin Board of Trade, are 326 butter and cheese factories in successful operation. Their product for the year 1892 was 30,496,000 lbs. butter and 7,115,000 lbs. cheese. In the same section and operating in perfect harmony with the above mentioned factories are two or three prosperous condensed milk factories; a very small per centage of the milk produced there however, is used by the condenseries, owing in part to their very rigid requirements as to the quality and condition of the milk they receive. To explain the prosperity of the Elgin district, it is only necessary to point to the average price the farmers have obtained for their butter during the 21 years since the establishment of the Elgin Board of Trade, which is 28 2-3 cts. per pound; deducting cost of manufacturing and selling 4c per pound their net returns average 24 2-3 cents.

Massachusetts and New York have had enough pie for the present. Now let them step aside and give the Western States a chance at the lunch counter.

Democrats, who are in a sweat because Cleveland does not turn the Republicans out fast enough should keep cool. The work of three years cannot be properly done in three months' time.

The city of Washington is supposed to have taken in two million five hundred thousand dollars from visitors to the inauguration. And this does not include doctors' bills and the cost of cough medicines.

The decison of Judge Ricks in the Ann Arbor railroad controversy strikes a blow t a labor unions, and also at the private ownership of railroad property. It is a long step towards the government control of railroads.

The weather in March is so bad in Washington that it is proposed to inaugurate presidents on some other day than the fourth of that month. The Fourth of July would be more national, and hot enough to make anybody take an oath.

John W. Bookwalter, the Ohio millionaire, said the other day: "I cannot tell you how much money I have spent trying to build a machine which will fly. But I think I have a model under way now that will solve the problem.

The democratic caucus has nominated Senate officers but the republicans say they will fillibuster against any attempt to elect them at the extra session. Efforts are now being made to reach a satisfactory compromise.

President Cleveland is making a collection of walking sticks. He has a large collection already, and it will probably be increased during the next four years. Each cane in his collection it is said, is tagged with a card, giving its history and the name of the donor.

Secretary Gresham has a short leg as a reminder of the battle of Atlanta, and Secretary Herbert has a short arm to make him think of the bloody doings in the Wilderness. And they are official brethren at the same Council table. Verily, the war is over at last.

The death of Col. Elliott F. Shephard, editor of the N. Y. Mail and Express, removes from this earthly sphere, a wealthy and eccentric man and prominent journalist. His alliance by marriage with the Vanderbilt family, gave him a prominence that he could not other wise have obtained.

The question of admitting U. S. Senators appointed by the governors of Montana, Washington and Wyoming will be discussed this week and is likely to result in one of the greatest constitutional debates of recent years. The divison on the subject is entirely outside of party lines.

President Clevelands's rebuke to "sonism" and all other nepotism, publicly given this week, is regarded as a hopeful sign by those who are opposed to having federal offices parcelled out among the sons and other relatives of prominent officials, a practice which has resulted in much trouble and many scandals.

Henry George, the apostle of free trade and of the single tax theory, is credited with having secured the selection of Judge Henry A. Robinson, of Detroit, Michigan, to succeed Statistician Dodge of the Agricultural department. Judge Robinson is an ex-republican, and expert statistician, having once been labor commissioner of his state.

Some poets are so impracticable! Here is one who begins a lyric with the exclamation:

"Backward, turn backward, O Time in thy flight, Give us July again just for one night!"

Now if this bard had stopped to reflect it must have occurred to him that the shortest road to July is forward and not backward. It would be silly for Time to retrace his steps from March to July, a matter of eight months, when if he pursues the course which he has marked out for himself he will get there in a little over three months.

TAX REFORM DEPARTMENT.

(This department aims to give every one's ideas about taxation (not tariff). Write your opinions briefly, and they will be published or discussed in their turn by the editor or by a member of the Taxation Society. Address, "Taxation Society," this office or P. O. Box 88, Buffalo, N. Y.)

HOW TO SOLVE THE TAX PROBLEM.

Let the Counties Make Their Own Tax Laws.

The bill introduced in the assembly, to establish county option and home rule in the matter of local taxation, is substantially similar to that introduced during the last session, and defeated through the opposition of the country members, because they professed to think that it conferred special benefits upon the people of the cities—an assumption unjustified by the facts. The bill is perhaps more explicitly worded, but its purport is the same. It provides that assessors in every county of the state shall, in assessing real estate, separate the value of land from the value of improvements upon it, and shall make also a separate assessment of personal property. After the total assessed valuation of the county shall have been obtained in this manner, the board of supervisors may, in their discretion, direct that all taxes in such county for local purposes shall be levied exclusively upon one or two or all of the pieces of property assessed.

It would be permissible, for example, under the proposed law for the local legislature of this county to say that the sentiment of the people of this county warranted the exemption of personal property from taxation, and that hereafter all taxes should be levied upon land and buildings; just as it would be permissible for the board of supervisors in an interior farming county to take just the opposite course and exempt real estate, while placing the burden upon personal property. In a nutshell, the bill provides that each county should determine for itself what class of property may best bear the burden of taxation. It is provided in the last section of the bill that nothing therein contained may be construed as diminishing the proportion of the state tax which any city or county may be required to pay into the state treasury under existing laws.—N. Y. Daily News.

A College Professor's Views.

MR. BOLTON HALL, New York—Dear Sir:—Although I am a teacher of economics and hope that I am a help to the young men who attend my classes; yet on the subject of taxation, I am compelled to tell them that I have never seen the bottom principle of it, and that the most that I can do is to give a partial exposition.

I admire Henry George as a writer and thinker above any living author on economics that I know: I am in hearty sympathy with the toiling masses, and try to find how their burdens can be lightened and the strong be made to bear them. If I could see that a single object of taxation was the most just, then the question with me would be, shall it be land or income?

As I understand it, I approve the platform of the New York Tax Reform association. Sincerely Yours,

J. A. QUARLES,

Professor of Moral Philosophy, Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va.

REPLY.

My Dear Sir: In reply to your favor which I was much pleased to receive, I would say that the only principle that I have yet been able to see in taxation is that a man should pay for what he gets. In my personal opinion this leads to the taxation of all monopolies and of all special privileges in land, and to nothing else. I admire your diffidence. I think the wisest thing I ever heard said came from a boy of six. His sister asked him: "Pennington, do you think it is going to rain?" He said: "I do not know." She said: "Well, what do you think?" He replied: "I can not think some things about what I do not know." I feel much in the same way myself. The adoption of the single tax idea seems to be at present impracticable, and until we get that I do not see that we can hope for much in the way of principle. I am, yours very truly,

BOLTON HALL.

Crude Tax Schemes Criticised.

Were Macaulay's New Zealander to visit the halls of legislation of our state and examine the bills introduced relating to taxation he would conclude that the question was a new and important one with which the solons were unfamiliar. He would not infer from it that there hac been centuries of legislation on this subject; that nation after nation and state after state had spent effort, time and money in trying to devise some system which would compel men to bear their equal and proportionate share of the general burden.

Bills to tax incomes; bills to tax inheritances; bills to tax mortgages; bills to tax railroad lands; bills to tax express, telephone and other companies, and one bill, worthy of Draco, purposes to put the owners of hideable personal property on the rack, and set the inquisitorial powers of the courts at work to compel them to divulge their hidden wealth to the tax gatherer.

All efforts in this direction have failed, and always will fail, because there is no man so cunning as to be able to devise a method of taxation which other men would not be cunning enough to avoid.

If experience teaches anything it is that the true direction is in making fewer instead of more articles carry the load. Natural monopolies like mines should be held to be the state's property, and made to yield as large revenues as possible. Artificial monopolies like railway street-car companies, telephones and telegraphs should be made to share their earnings with the public which gives them existence. Some day when this mad hunt for taxable things and drastic methods shall have run its course and broken down with its own weight there will be a quick and sharp return to a very few sources of revenues.—St. Paul Globe.

Taxing Wealth a Bad Principle.

Representative Glueklich has prepared for introduction in the legislature a bill amending the general tax law of the state which aims at placing family pictures and musical instruments in the list of taxable personal property. This is a reform in the wrong direction. Universal experience shows conclusively the great difficulty of discovering and assessing personal property of this sort. Every year, in the city of Detroit, the amount of personal property assessed decreases relatively to the amount of the total assessment. The same tendency is noted in every large city. Tax reformers, as a rule, recommend the total exemption of personal property from taxation on account of the extreme difficulty of finding and assessing it. In this state personal property, outside of certain forms, such as bank stock and vessel property, has been lightly assessed. If the household goods of every taxpayer in the state were exempted, it would make little difference with the total of taxable property.

The principle of taxing forms of wealth, and every possible form is erroneous and essentially bad. Taxes are contributions drawn from the current incomes of the people, and should be so laid as to abstract from those incomes a proportion commensurate with the wealth of the individual and the actual or potential productivity of his property. Taxation of household goods does not satisfy this principle nor the rule of expediency, under which it is useless to tax forms of wealth which can not be got at and whose value can not be accurately ascertained. If the tax law of Michigan is tinkered this year it ought to be revised in accord with modern experience in methods of taxation.—Detroit Tribune.

Double Taxation is Unjust.

The taxation of personal property represented by shares in foreign corporations is an injustice which will some day appeal so strongly to the minds of the people that it will be done away with. It is obviously unfair that any species of property should be taxed twice. The spirit of our institutions is theoretically opposed to every form of double taxation, yet it is only within a very few years that the double taxation of mortgaged property was abolished.

Shares in foreign corporations, although they may and do constitute a very material part of the wealth of the community, are really only the shadow of the actual property existing and taxed elsewhere. To tax this shadow is not only unjust, but impolitic. The town, the city, the state, derives a direct and substantial benefit from the residence within it of each wealthy citizen. If his wealth is in certificates of stock in enterprises in other states, the expenditure of the income of these investments conduces to the prosperity of the neighborhood of his residence and increases the demand for and consequent value of the real property there.

This income is diminished by the taxes which the real property represented by the shares pays wherever it exists. To tax this income would perhaps be fair, although extremely difficult, but to tax the shares themselves at the average rate of taxation in Massachusetts is equivalent to confiscation of one-third of the average income, and is so manifestly unjust that no man of spirit will submit.

An attempt will be made during this session of the legislature to so modify the law that property taxed elsewhere will be exempt from taxation in Massachusetts.—Transcript, Boston, Mass.

Robbing the Heirs.

The method of raising revenue will be a much smaller problem when the people's representatives stop stealing and making extravagant appropriations, and limit expenditures to necessary and desirable public objects. The vicious inheritance taxes are the outgrowth of the itching palms of legislators and lobbyists who want fat funds at their disposal. This tax was attempted in New Hampshire, but upon appeal it was held to violate the constitutional requirement of proportionality of taxation. The court said: "It is plainly founded upon pure inequality, and is simply extortion in the name of taxation; and it can therefore never be sustained in this jurisdiction so long as equality and justice continue to be the basis of constitutional taxation." In this state the controller is evidently not concerned relative to ethical questions of equality and justice, but merely in results. Hence he recommends a yet more odious and preposterous muleting of mourners than is practiced under the law already in operation. It is always bad for the people when a state stoops to injustice to swell its coffers.

A New Story.

When A. T. Stewart died his lawyer, who naturally owned the whole estate, put a sixth story on his wholesale store and turned it into offices. For each square foot of this extra story he gets a yearly rent of five dollars. In as far as the single tax consists in wanting to tax that rental value, I guess we are all single taxers. Those opposed to this will please signify their assent by keeping quiet. The ayes have it.—Bolton Hall.

"Does that mean that he should be taxed for putting on the extra story?"—Land Value.

Not exactly. Our present principle of taxation is like the Irishman's rule at the fair. Wherever you see a head hit it.—EDITOR.

THE census shows the total value of real estate to be twenty-three billions of dollars, and of personalty twenty billions. It is believed that this is an over estimate of personal property.

THE cities of Toronto and Hamilton have exempted machinery from taxation. Let them extend the principle. If it is bad they will be the sufferers.

With four newspaper men in the cabinet, Mr. Cleveland ought to get along pretty well. Mr. Carlisle once filled the editorial chair. Mr. Lamont was a newspaper man when Mr. Cleveland discovered him. Hoke Smith runs a paper now, and J. Sterling Morton was in his younger days connected with the Chicago Times. What would this country do, anyway, if it wasn't for the newspapers?

Few people realize that the nervous system has more to do with health of the body than has stomach, liver and all the organs of the body which are so much doctored. They forget that the nerves reach and control all parts of the body. Hence many cases are misunderstood and wrongly treated. Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer is a nerve remedy of recent discovery by an eminent specialist, which acts directly and correctly on the nervous system to cure any nerve disorder. Is backed with an offer of $500 for an incurable case. $1.00 bottles or trial samples free at Jno Orr's.

Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Insomnia—Great Benefit From Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for four or five months, and am satisfied that it is a very excellent remedy. I have been troubled with rheumatism more or less for a number of years. My back and hips, and indeed my whole body at times, have been afflicted. The rheumatism has been especially severe in my right arm between the elbow and shoulder, which has been so lame that I sometimes feared entirely. I was in this condition when I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, but I had not taken more than a bottle or two when I began to feel better, and when I had taken four bottles, my rheumatism had entirely left me. I have been more free from rheumatism this season than for years. Besides the rheumatism, I, like many others of sedentary habits—for I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church forty years—have been troubled with dyspepsia, but while taking the medicine my

TARIFF REFORM METHODS.

Letter to Grover Cleveland By Thomas G. Shearman—Free Raw Material and Thorough and Radical Reform Needed.

The following is the second of a series of letters now being addressed to President Cleveland by Thomas G. Shearman. The first letter simply asked permission to address a number of letters to Mr. Cleveland, with the idea that they be made public. Mr. Cleveland in giving his consent stated that he regarded Mr. Shearman as well versed on the tariff question and capable of giving valuable suggestions. At Mr. Cleveland's suggestion the letters are given to the public at the same time they are given to him through the columns of the New York Times:

Dear Sir: In pursuance of the plan approved by you in our recent correspondence, I beg to submit to you some preliminary considerations with regard to the general work of tariff revision, reserving questions of methods and details for subsequent letters.

The first necessity of the great work of reform, to which the American people have called you with such an impressive majority, is that it should be thorough. It may be considered that the necessities of government revenue created by the reckless extravagance, if not actual corruption, of the last protectionist congress, have made it impracticable at the present time to construct a new tariff upon a perfectly sound basis. It may be admitted, indeed, that an ideal revenue tariff has been made impracticable for the next four years. At all events, it is certain that the nearest approach to the standard of a tariff for revenue only which can be made at the next session of congress must be a tariff that secures the largest public revenue with the smallest private gain.

Unless taxes are restored on sugar, tea and coffee, it seems evident that no adequate revenue can be raised without imposing a large number of duties which would have some element of so-called "protection" in them, and therefore increase the profit of some individuals at the expense of the community at large. But whatever tariff taxes have been repealed ought to remain repealed. The framers of the McKinley tariff, in their greediness for prohibitory duties for purposes of private gain, caused this nation to take a long stride toward the broadest free trade, and, believing this to be the ultimate result at which we should aim, I am not disposed to advise any step backward, simply for the sake of banishing all elements of protection from the tariff.

All that is therefore practicable just now, from any point of view, is the abolition of taxes upon crude materials for manufacture and the reduction of other protective taxes to that point which will put the largest proportion of such taxes into the public purse and the smallest proportion into private purses.

The only danger to the cause of tariff reform lies in the possibility that a timid and unwise conservatism may prevent the fulfillment of those pledges upon which the people have justly relied and that some weak compromise may be adopted which will do little or no good, will disappoint the rightful expectations of the majority and will lead the people to seek relief from oppression in disastrous experiments.

The danger of the present political situation lies in the depressed and discouraged condition of the farmers and planters of the west and south. For some years past they have not had good prices for their crops, except when, by reason of some disaster, those crops were small. Both wheat and cotton have been selling until recently at the lowest prices ever known to the present generation, and multitudes of small farmers and planters are now in a condition of poverty of which the prosperous people of the east have absolutely no conception.

Nothing is more natural or more inevitable than that, under such circumstances, millions of honest and faithful toilers, driven almost to despair, should catch at any political straw which promises relief. If the party to which the American people have now committed the charge of their government does not devise some measure which will bring speedy relief to the farmers and planters, the people will certainly call into power some other party which will promise such relief.

But it is entirely in the power of congress to lift this heavy burden from the agricultural classes and to restore prosperity to them and to the whole country. There is but way in which it can be done, and that is by a prompt and large reduction of duties upon foreign imports—so large as to strike down the Chinese wall which is now erected against importations from Europe, our best customer, and so prompt as to give admission to those goods, in large and generous measure, long before the congressional elections of 1894 come around.

For the only way in which the prices of farmers' products can be increased without lessening their production, and therefore the only way in which the aggregate income of American farmers and planters can be increased, is by opening our doors to an immense increase of importations, every dollar's worth of which will be paid for immediately by the export of American farm products.

Let us now, while retaining all the free trade features of the McKinley tariff, add to them free trade in raw materials and a large reduction in the duties upon manufactured goods, and we shall bring about an increase of necessary importations, which will pay for an immense increase in our exports of wheat, corn, cotton and provisions. This will enable the planters of the south to raise a larger crop than ever, and yet to secure for it the same price per pound which they are now getting for their small crop. It will raise the price of wheat fifteen or twenty cents a bushel and raise the prices of all other farm products. On the other hand, it will reduce the cost of manufactured goods, and thus give to the farmers and planters the advantage of higher prices for everything which they sell and lower the prices for everything which they buy. It will solve the problem in which they are interested, and will not merely hold the vote gained in the last election, but bring in thousands of voters who have thus far held aloof from us.

Nor will such a policy be attended with the least danger to the great manufacturing interests. Very likely a few concerns, which are now making an annual profit of 20 or 30 per cent. upon their capital, may have to be content with 10 per cent., but this is no cause for lamentation. The great mass of manufacturers will be greatly benefited by thorough tariff reform and reduction.

Considered from a merely political point of view, the expediency of such a course is obvious. The only persons who could even pretend to suffer any injury from it are to be found in a limited part of New England, a little district of New York, and the state of Pennsylvania. Almost without exception these persons did everything within their power to defeat you and the cause which you represent at the recent election. No consideration which could be shown to them would have the slightest effect in gaining their votes or influence. They have carried all New England, except Connecticut, against any tariff reform whatever; they hold Pennsylvania firmly, but everywhere else they are powerless for any purpose. You have everything to gain in the west and south by a courageous and thorough reform of the tariff. You have everything to lose there if you fail to accomplish such a reform, and it is mere waste of time to attempt to conciliate the protectionist fanatics of the northeast. Yours very respectfully,

THOMAS G. SHEARMAN.

A NEW FLYING MACHINE.

It Will Spoil the Plans of Protectionists and Give Us Cheap Goods and High Wages.

It was reported from Washington, on March 12, that Prof. Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, and Dr. Maxim, the gun inventor, who have been working for a long time upon a flying machine, have completed a working model, which will be tried soon.

Mercy, suppose it works! What will then become of the remnants of the high tariff party which believes in destroying commerce by artificial obstructions? It is comparatively easy to control commerce by tariffs when the only entrances to this country are at a few ports and where railroads cross the borders. But if goods come flying through the air at any height from twenty feet to two or three miles, and at any point along our border of 10,000 miles in length, no horde of customs officials, however large, could prevent the introduction into this country, absolutely free of duty, of valuable foreign goods. Of course prices would soon reach a common level and goods, such as woolens, glass, gloves, tin plate, etc., that now sell in this country for double the foreign prices would be offered to our farmers and wage-earners at foreign "pauper" prices. Then would our farmers and laborers maintain their patriotism and insist upon paying protection prices or would they throw their protectionism to the dogs and smile because goods were so cheap?

And what if they were foolish enough to accept the pauper goods of Europe at pauper prices and thereby save $50 or $60 per family per year? Would that satisfy their wants so that they would produce less than formerly, or would they work harder in order by exchange to get as much as possible of the good things of life? If they bought more foreign goods, of course more domestic products would be required to pay for them and that would cause increased production. Increased production would make a demand for more labor and this would raise wages. Higher wages would mean increased consumption, and the wheels of industry would just hum, not only on this but on the other side of the ocean. It is un-Christianlike to think that our European neighbors would prosper with us, but then it couldn't well be helped, while goods could be exchanged through the air so that each nation would get the benefits of the natural and artificial advantages in production of all other nations. This could not lower the prices of farm products, for our farmers have the best opportunity to produce in the world and now compete with all other nations. It could not lower wages, for it woul remove no barriers that obstruct the passage of labor from one country to another—because there are none to remove. It would in fact raise wages by increasing the amount of goods that could be purchased with a certain sum. But the poor trusts—how they would suffer and perhaps die under such competition! The pocket cutlery trust, which has raised prices 80 per cent. since 1890, would have to reduce prices at least 40 per cent., because cutlery costs about half as much in Europe as here. The cartridge trust, which has advanced prices 99 per cent. and sells 30 per cent. cheaper in Canada, would have to have a leveling down of prices. Hundreds of other trusts now making millions out of the tariff, only thousands of which have been spent to sustain protection, would have to be content with ordinary profits or yield up the ghost.

If Harrison, McKinley and other protectionists ever expect to again figure prominently in our history they will squelch this whole flying machine business and bribe inventors to work at the perpetual motion problem. The natural and artificial obstructions to commerce must not be disturbed or protection is doomed.

BYRON W. HOLT.

False Prophets.

In appealing for free block tin the manufacturers of tin plate disclose unwittingly the nature of the tariff conspiracy against American consumers which its author proudly boasted would stand untouched for ten years. But McKinleyism in politics is dead; and the tin plate swindle will surely be knocked in the head as soon as possible under our leisurely methods of fiscal legislation. The false prophets of ancient times were stoned to death; those of the latter day are likely to be buried under an avalanche of free tin.—Philadelphia Record.

DR. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.
The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.
It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.
Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

CHICAGO ENTERTAINMENT BUREAU.

Are You Going to the Big Fair? Then Secure Your Accomodations Beforehand.

The experience of strangers in Chicago during the World's Fair Dedicatory exercises proves beyond doubt the great practical value of the services offered by the Chicago Entertainment Bureau to its patrons. During the week mentioned it was an impossibility to obtain accommodations, even at the second rate hotels, for less than five dollars per day, and all the leading hotels refused to receive additional guests.

Teachers will profit more than any other class of people by a visit to the World's Fair. The seekers after knowledge, the minds full of questions, the souls buoyant with noble aspirations, have never in the history of mankind had such a feast spread before them. The surroundings alone will be a perpetual inspiration. Every feature of every building will be a page in the history of the world's architecture, and their contents will set forth the progress and the results of every science, every art, and every industry in such an orderly and systematic manner that the trained mind can grasp and interpret them with the least possible effort. To the Teacher and the Student, therefore, a visit to the Exposition will be the fulfillment of many hopes.

But those who are most capable of profiting by such an opportunity are not generally the most able to afford the pecuniary outlay which it calls for. It is primarily to aid such persons that the efforts of the Chicago Entertainment Bureau are directed. Our aim is to sucure lodgings, mostly in private families, for Teachers, Students and their friends at the most reasonable terms. We have already engaged several hundred rooms in homes where guests will be comfortable and secure, and we are in position to provide for all who may apply in season. No promise will be made unless we have absolute certainty of being able to fulfill it.

To persons of culture and experience we need not enlarge upon this—it is self-evident.

The longer time one can spend at the Exposition, under favorable circumstances, the greater the profit. This renders it all the more imperative to secure accommodations at reasonable rates, and this is the aim of the Chicago Entertainment Bureau.

The proprietors and managers of this Bureau are college graduates of mature years, and can refer to many well known educators all over the country, as to their reliability and character.

What we finally most emphatically must impress upon the attention of all, is the necessity of making application early, in order to enable us to know for how many to provide.

CHOICE ACCOMMODATIONS.

Appreciating that there are many expecting to visit the World's Fair at Chicago, who wish to realize a greater degree of comfort than can be had in overcrowded hotels or boarding-houses, the Chicago Entertainment Bureau offers its services to attain the desired result.

We have contracted for a number of choice, well-furnished rooms in private residences, within a reasonable distance of the Exposition grounds, which can be obtained through us for any portion of the season, at rates considerably less than those charged by all of the first-class hotels.

We have also engaged and offer a limited number of elegantly furnished flats and houses where families or parties of friends may pass any part of the Exposition season with the greatest degree of comfort and with whatever of luxury they may desire.

ESTIMATE OF NECESSARY EXPENSES.

1. It is generally expected that the railroads will agree upon half fare to and from the Exposition.

2. For rooms secured through this Bureau, the general price will be $1.00 per day for each occupant, usually two in a room. Persons to whom privacy and luxury are more of an object than economy, can be provided with accommodations suitable to their tastes at proportionately higher rates.

3. MEALS: Most of the private families will, if desired, furnish breakfast at reasonable rates. Our apartment houses have restaurants in their immediate vicinity. The other meals will naturally be taken at the Fair Grounds or in the city. Persons so disposed need not lay out more than from $1.00 to $1.50 a day for their meals.

"The great mass of visitors will doubtless prefer to arrange, as a matter of economy, to take their meals from day to day wherever it may best suit their convenience.

"It is estimated that from 50,000 to 100,000 people can be satisfactorily served with meals and lunches within the Exposition Grounds alone, and the extended and constantly increasing list of restaurants, hotels and boarding houses all over the city will more than double these facilities—at prices to suit all conditions and demands."

4. GENERAL: Admission to the Fair is 50c.

The necessary daily expenses for those who employ the services of this Bureau need not exceed $2.50 to $3.00.

For a term of ten days this would amount to $25 to $30, and for a month $75 to $90.

Incidental expenses should of course be provided for, according to the tastes and inclinations of each visitor.

The following membership fee will be charged, to secure the Bureau against loss. No one however runs any risk even upon this small outlay, as the membership tickets are transferable.

Adults,	$2.50
Teachers,	2.00
Students,	2.00
Children under 15 years,	1.00

We have secured the agency for this Beureau for Tecumseh and vicinity. Circulars containing full information and particulars are furnished gratuitously to all who apply for them. Every member will receive a pocket map of Chicago FREE. A very complete guide to the city and Exposition grounds will be furnished at the low price of twenty five cents each, and each membership certificate will be accompanied by a pocket map of Chicago without extra cost.

Call at the HERALD office for circulars and further information.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

At the coming township election to be held on Monday, April 3d, the electors will be called upon to vote on three amendments to the constitution. Two of them are matters of general public interest and much importance. One of them provides an increase in the salary of certain state officials, and the other provides for both a county and township system of making roads. Both of them ought to pass. We give the amendments in full below, to be voted upon.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That an amendment to section nine of article fourteen of the constitution of this State be and the same is hereby proposed to read as follows;

SECTION 9. The State shall not be a party to, or interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engaged in carrying on any such work, except in the expenditure of grants to the State of land or other property: Provided, however, That the Legislature of the State, by appropriate legislation, may authorize the city of Grand Rapids to issue its bonds for the improvement of the navigation of Grand river.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That an amendment to section one of article nine of the constitution of this State be and the same is hereby proposed to read as follows:

SECTION 1. The Governor shall receive an annual salary of $4,000; the Lieutenant Governor shall receive an annual salary of $1,200; the judges of the circuit court shall receive an annual salary of $2,500; the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall receive an annual salary of $2,000; the Secretary of State shall receive an annual salary of $2,000; the Commissioner of the Land Office shall receive an annual salary of $2,000. They shall receive no fees or perquisites whatever for the performance of any duties connected with their office. It shall not be competent for the Legislature to increase the salaries herein provided.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That an amendment to the constitution of this State adding one new section thereto, to be known as section 49 of article 4, be and the same is hereby proposed to read as follows:

SECTION 49. The Legislature may provide for the laying out, construction and maintenance of county and township roads, and may provide that any road heretofore laid out shall be a county or township road. County roads may be maintained at the expense of the county, and township roads at the expense of the township.

County roads shall be under the control of a board of commissioners not to exceed five in number who shall be elected by the people, the number of said commissioners to be fixed by the board of supervisors of the county.

For the construction and maintenance of county roads the commissioners may provide for an annual tax not exceeding two dollars upon each one thousand dollars of the assessment roll of the county for the preceding year.

No county shall incur any indebtedness or issue any bonds for the construction or maintenance of county roads except upon a vote of two-thirds of all the supervisors elected, and then to be approved by a majority vote at any general or special election; nor shall any such indebtedness at any time exceed three per cent. of the valuation of the county upon the last preceding assessment roll.

The Legislature may modify, change or repeal the powers and duties of the township commissioner of highways and overseer of highways. The Legislature may pass all necessary laws to carry this amendment into effect: Provided, That any act or acts passed by the Legislature to carry this amendment into effect shall provide for a county and township system, and the county system shall become operative only in such counties as shall adopt it by a majority vote of the electors of said county, after the said question has been submitted to them by a two-thirds vote of all the members elect of the board of supervisors of such county, at a general or special election called for that purpose.

Wedding Bells.

Married, at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Wm. Osgood, on the evening of March 16, 1893, by Rev. J. I. Gulick, Mr. Revilo G. Sage, son of Milan G. Sage, to Miss Hattie M. Osgood, all of Macon, Mich.

The large assemblage to witness the marriage ceremony attested the feelings of true and genuine friendship toward the young people who have thus joined heart and hand for the journey of life. The spacious residence was crowded, the social enjoyments of the evening complete. The numerous and valuable presents received were both beautiful and useful, and the three or four hundred dollars worth of gifts are not lavished in vain; they will be appreciated and prized in all the future years of the life of the young couple.

The completeness of the entire arrangements, both with regard to the festivities and the feasting on the bountiful provisions, caused the entire evening to be of a nature long to be remembered and clustered with the very happiest recollections. Conversation and music and song were enjoyed by the entire company, and at a late hour all returned to their homes, with the feeling that one evening had passed, never to be forgotten as one of real and permanent enjoyment.

"Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair"

Is the title of a neat book containing a list of about 9,000 families who will accommodate visitors to Chicago during the time of the Fair. It gives the names and addresses, and number of rooms each will have to spare; also gives a list of the leading hotels and their location; also contains twelve full page large scale maps, each numbered, representing a section of the city; also a double-page key map, divided into sections, each section representing one of the large, scale page maps, and being numbered to correspond. With this book, intending visitors can readily decide and select the quarter of the city in which they would like to be located, and then enter into correspondence with one or more families, and thus arrange for satisfactory and comfortable accommodations at reasonable rates.

This book was compiled at great expense by a trustworthy Chicago firm, after a house to house canvas through the most desirable portions of the city. It is reliable, and great care was exercised to select reputable places. By its use people will avoid the expense and trouble incident to securing a place after arrival in the city.

The book can be obtained through the ticket agent of the Lake Shore Railway in this city by calling on him.

DEMOCRATS OF LENAWEE COUNTY—

In the campaign of 1892 Lenawee County was the third in the list of counties in the State in Democratic gains—having made a gain of 563 over the President vote in 1888. This was a glorious result, and gives our County a most enviable standing in the State Democracy. There is another contest pending—one of the utmost importance to Democrats of Michigan—one from which we hope to emerge in line with our Democratic sister states of Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. Why should we remain third in the list of Counties? Why should we not reach the top of the ladder, and be FIRST? We can do it. If we can cast the vote of last fall we will have a majority for our State and County tickets when the votes are counted. Will you assist in getting out that vote, by urging every Democrat in your locality to go to the polls and vote a State and Township ticket?

In order to stimulate the workers in the various Townships, the County Committee will present to the Township showing the largest per cent. of the Democratic vote of last fall which will be contributed by a number of Democratic ladies of the City of Adrian. The ownership of this beautiful gift will be a constant source of pride to any Democratic organization, and every Township in the County should strive to capture it. Every Township stands an equal show, as the contest will be on the best percentage of the vote of 1892. No matter how small the Democratic vote in any Township, the Township which casts the largest per cent of that vote for State officers will be the winner.

Below is the Democratic vote in each Township as recorded last fall, with which comparison will be made:

Adrian Tp. 171, Blissfield 217, Cambridge 142, Clinton 223, Deerfield 205, Dover 162, Fairfield 258, Franklin 122, Hudson 437, Macon 154, Madison 162, Medina 191, Ogden 125, Palmyra 183, Raisin 171, Ridgeway 188, Riga 210, Rollin 121, Rome 146 Seneca 360, Tecumseh 351, Woodstock 208.

Yours for success,
L. W. HOCH, Chairman County Committee.

Even in these days of lofty structures and huge enterprises it is unusual to hear of a building having fifteen gigantic elevators with a carrying capacity of 10,000 persons each hour. Yet such is told of "The MacKaye Spectatorium" at Chicago. These elevators are to be the swiftest and best known to applied mechanics; they are to enable the people to have easy access to the vast galleries of the auditorium, to the immense roof gardens and restaurants, at a height of 100 feet from the ground and to attain with celerity and safety the great dome which rears itself to a height of 250 feet. These elevators are to be placed in three groups of five each and will prove an interesting sight to the visitor.

This is Masonic week.

Next Sunday will be Easter.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Do you Know?

AROUND THE STATE.

MANY MATTERS WORTHY OF MENTION.

Kalamazoo Furnishes a Bloody Chapter in Michigan's History of Crime.—The Authorities of Ionia Prison Surprised at an Escaped Prisoner's Return.

A Kalamazoo Killing.

Louis Schilling, a prominent meat dealer of Kalamazoo, was found with his throat cut from ear to ear in a small room in the rear of his market. It was evidently a case of murder, but the perpetrator is not known.

Louis Schilling was one of the oldest and best known business men in Kalamazoo and the crime is a peculiarly cold-blooded one. Walter Schilling, a son of deceased, was in the market with his father until about 12:20 when he went to dinner, leaving his father in the market alone. This was the last time any member of the family saw the father in life. About 1 o'clock William Servass went into the market and seeing no one went into the back room, where he was horrified to find the body of Mr. Schilling lying on the floor, his throat cut from ear to ear. He at once ran out and notified the police, who took charge of the place. The body was yet warm and the blood was flowing. The body was lying in a cramped position as if having fallen from a chair at the desk.

Mr. Schilling evidently had just lighted his pipe when the assassin entered from the door behind, dealing him a blow on the top of the head, crushing his skull and rendering him unconscious. The fiend then finished his work by cutting the old man's throat from ear to ear, making the job doubly sure by cutting twice across the throat, making a ragged wound. The dead man is said to have been in the habit of carrying a large sum of money in bills in an inside vest pocket wrapped in a common leather bill book. The pocketbook was not found on the body.

There is only one clue of the murderer. About 1:30 in the afternoon Bill White, colored, a tough character, was seen by some section men going west on the Michigan Central track. He told them he was in danger of arrest and was off for Chicago as he was alway in scrapes. No particular attention was paid to him. His boots and clothing were spattered with blood.

An Escaped Prisoner Returns.

William Hawley could scarcely prevail upon the officials of the Ionia House of Correction to lock him up when he so requested but finally convinced them he was an escaped convict and was accommodated. He escaped in 1884 after serving a few months of a three-year sentence from Ottawa county for larceny. He went west and held various lucrative positions in the line of promotion, but was in constant fear of recognition by former friends and delivery over to the officers and this fear so preyed upon his mind that he finally came back and voluntarily gave himself up. He will probably be pardoned when the case is laid before the governor. He has a wife and five children and is 48 years old

Suicide of an Adrain Business Man.

John C. Lambie, for years chairman of the Democrat city committee at Adrian and founder of the canning industry in that section, committed suicide in his barn by putting two balls of a 32-calibre revolver into his head. He has been in poor health for several weeks. This and business complications are supposed to be the cause of the terrible deed. He was born in Camden, N. Y., July, 1818, and came here early in the seventies. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict to the effect that he came to his death by his own hand while in a fit of temporary insanity. His father hung himself several years ago. He leaves a wife and three children.

Revival Stopped by a Lunatic.

A lunatic broke up the revival meeting at the Baptist church at Otsego. When the pastor offered to pray for the wicked he came forward and solicited prayer. After his request was granted he became frantic and then desired to turn pugilist and fight the whole congregation, and commenced by hugging the minister, and kept repeating his offer to do them up from the summit of the altar, where he remained until removed by an officer.

A Young Man Suicides.

Frank Roffie, aged 24 years, arose at an early hour, partially dressed himself and went a short distance from the house at Woodbury and plunged into the icy waters of a creek, and met his death. On the dresser in his room was found $60, a marriage license and a brief note. His body was recovered a few hours after daylight. Temporary insanity is given as the cause of the homicide.

He was to Skeptical.

G. F. Mitchell attended a seance given by Mrs. Wait, a spiritualist medium at Grand Rapids. He asked for a communication from his parents and received a prompt reply, but inasmuch as his parents are both alive he called the medium a liar and fraud. He was fired bodily out of the hall. He will cause the arrest of the bouncers for assault and battery.

A Careless Brakeman.

Robert Hamilton, a Chicago & Grand Trunk brakeman, was fatally injured at the old Fort Gratiot yards. He was riding in on the engine from the Port Huron tunnel and had his head out through the cab window, striking it against a coal shute. It is believed that his skull was fractured.

Leslie Man Missing.

Several days ago Carey Barnes mysteriously disappeared from his home in Leslie. He has acted a little strange of late and it is believed he has become deranged and is wandering about the country. He often talked of going west but his business was not in shape to leave.

State Base Ball League.

President D. L. Murphy called a meeting of the State Base Ball league, which was held at Owosso. Delegates were present from Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Jackson, Lansing, Bay City, Saginaw, Manistee and Muskegon.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

The Intention of a Farmer who Crushed His Wife's Skull and Cut His Own Throat.

Cass county contributes a double tragedy, a probably successful attempt at wife murder and suicide, to Michigan's carnival of crime. The victims are Hiram Cox, a resident of that county, living about eight miles north of Cassopolis, and his wife. Cox tried to hammer his wife to death with a stick of stovewood and then cut his own throat. Some time at night that Cox brutally hammered his wife with a stick of stovewood, but it was not until the next day that one of his neighbors, while passing through his woods, discovered Cox lying with his throat cut from ear to ear. After summoning help he concluded to take him to his home and ascertain from Mrs. Cox the cause. Cox told them that his wife could tell them nothing about it, as he had killed her before leaving the house. Neither can live.

A Boy's Terrible Suicide.

Because of unrequited love, Will Fry, aged 17 years, laid his head on the Louisville Southern track near Shelbyville, Ky., and suffered decapitation. He has been in love with a schoolgirl living in his neighborhood for some months past, and while she was always affable and kind to him she did not encourage his attention any more than she did a number of young fellows who were equally as devoted. Young Fry asked to be excused from school, walking to a point on the railroad where there was a sharp curve, waited for the train, which was soon due. At its approach he laid his head on the track. When the engineer saw the young man it was too late to defeat his purpose and his head was cut from the body.

Four Burned To Death.

The Morgan, a fashionable apartment house at Cleveland, O., was totally destroyed by fire. Three women and one child were overcome by the smoke and perished in the flames. The first body found was that of Mrs. Somers, a blind woman who had apartments on the third floor. She had groped her way to the stairs only to fall there, overcome by the smoke. The other two women and the child were found lying on the floor of the second story front hall. Their bodies were huddled together, and it was evident that they died of suffocation. The fire started in the basement. The loss is about $25,000.

A Slavery Day Scene.

At the east front of the court at Mexico, Mo., a scene was enacted the like of which has not been witnessed there since ante-bellum days. It was the sale of George Harding, colored, 35 years of age, able-bodied, and a convicted vagrant. At the trial he could not show, even in the weakest manner, that he had earned $5 in the past eight months. After some sharp bidding the services of the prisoner for six months were knocked down for $19 to John Potts, a coal dealer. If there is anything left of the money after paying the legal costs it goes to the negro.

Five Dead People Found by a Duck Hunter

Cumpton McCoy, a hunter, while out on a sand bar a few miles below St. Joseph, Mo., duck shooting, noticed a large dry goods box floating down the stream. He towed the box to the bar and broke it open when a dead body rolled out. An investigation disclosed five bodies all in a decomposed condition. Four of the bodies are those of men, the other that of a woman. They are so badly decomposed that it is impossible to recognize the features. From marks it is supposed the people were murdered and then set adrift on the river.

Threw Vitriol in Her Husband's Face.

Mrs. Caroline Hagan, wife of Charles Hagan, a member of the Dayton, O., fire department, in a fit of jealous rage and in response to Hagan's remonstrance as to her conduct on the previous evening, dashed a bottle of vitriol in her husband's face. Hagan lies in the hospital suffering terrible agony and will probably be blinded for life.

Recorder Smith, of New York City, sentenced Carlyle W. Harris to be electrocuted the week beginning May 8. Interest in this case was phenomenal.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, March 3.—R. G. Dunn & Co's weekly review of trade says: The volume of trade is well maintained and manufacturers are better employed, with some increase of demand where increase was most needed and every indication that people do not yet begin to think of reducing purchases. The treasury has been gaining gold, in spite of exports, but in view of the enormous excess of imports since January 1 it is scarcely reasonable to hope that further outgoes of gold are to be avoided. The stringency in money markets here and at some other points is largely due to slow collections, which appears to result rather from severe weather than from any form of commercial unsoundness. Wheat declined 2c. Pork and hogs are slightly higher, though lard is lower. Foreign trade continues to show a large adverse balance. Purchases on foreign account do not as yet indicate reviving confidence in American securities. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 243. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 231.

WILD WIND'S WORK.

TWO TOWNS BLOWN FROM THE FACE OF THE EARTH

And Over 70 Miles of Farming Country Devastated by a Southern Cyclone—A Few Persons Killed and Many Seriously Injured.

A cyclone which carried terrible devastation in its path passed over portions of Kentucky, Tennessee and Mississippi. The city of Memphis, Tenn., narrowly escaped the storm's fury. The town of Kelly, Miss., was literally blown off the face of the earth, not half a dozen houses left standing and those which were are damaged beyond repair. The site of the town is a pile of timbers and debris. A Negro named Harris was killed, George Payne's skull was crushed, his wife's arm was broken and his five children were more or less injured. Reports from the country west of Kelly, say that all the Negro plantation houses were blown away, and it is said many of these people were killed. Three schoolhouses were blown down, but, no one was killed. Around Kelly 500 people are homeless and are in need.

The cyclone of death and destruction swept Tennessee. Half of the big state penitentiary at Nashville, which covers 80 acres of ground was torn to pieces, entailing an enormous loss. The convicts, 500 in number, had just moved out of mess hall when the building collapsed and had they remained an instant longer all would have been killed. A two-story brick in North Nashville was blown down, killing Alexander and Eugene Drumright outright and horribly mashing W. T. Bradford, who is fatally hurt. W. B. Wright, his wife and two children were submerged in the debris and were fatally wounded.

Out at Berdom, a suburb of Nashville, the entire place was obliterated by the storm and fire. The damage to Nashville property alone is over $100,000. The cyclone ploughed its way down the Cumberland valley and destroyed property and life.

Great damage was done at Bowling Green, Ky. The Louisville & Nashville round house was totally destroyed. About 15 engines of the Louisville & Nashville company were badly damaged.

The storm spent its force between Tunica and Shaw's station, Miss. These towns are about 70 miles apart and on the railroad. At Shaw's station six stores were blown down and a few persons wounded, but none fatally.

In Tunica the storm left wreck and ruin in its wake. The Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodge, a handsome two-story frame building, is a total wreck. The white Presbyterian church, and the colored Methodist Episcopal church were blown down. The courthouse roof was blown off, and the colored school building, a two-story frame structure was blown down on 150 children. Several of them were fatally hurt.

Prominent Editor Dead.

Col. Eliot Fitch Shepard, editor of the Mail and Express of New York City, died suddenly at his home, 2 West Fifty-Second street. His death followed the administration of ether by Dr. Charles McBurney and the family physician, Dr. J. W. McLane, who were about to make an examination to ascertain whether the colonel's suspicion that he suffered from stone in the bladder was correct.

Eliot Fitch Shepard was born in Jamestown, Chautauqua county, New York, July 25, 1833. He was educated at the University of the City of New York, admitted to the bar in 1858, and for years practiced in New York City. In 1861 and 1862 he was aide-de-camp on the staff of Gov. Edwin D. Morgan, was in command of the depot of volunteers at Elmira, N. Y., and aided in organizing, equipping and forwarding to the field nearly 50,000 troops. He was instrumental in raising the Fifty-first New York regiment, which was named for him the Shepard Rifles. He was the founder of the New York State Bar association in 1876, which has formed the model for the organization of similar associations in other states. In March, 1888, he purchased the New York Mail and Express, which he has so ably published ever since.

Didn't Pay to Smuggle Chinese.

United States Judge Morrow at San Francisco sentenced Capt. Deering, of the schooner Louis Olsen, convicted of smuggling 29 Chinese into this country at Monterey, Cal., to one year imprisonment in the county jail and to pay a fine of $14,500, which is at the rate of $500 for each Chinese landed. The trial of the members of the crew are now on, after their conclusion the case of the owner of the vessel, William Olsen, will be called.

English Royalty Visits the Pope.

Pope Leo gave a ceremonial audience to the princess Victoria and Maude, and her son, Prince George, the duke of York, attended by their suites. The entire pontifical court assembled in state array, and all the English prelates at present in Rome were in attendance. The party afterward visited Cardinal Rampolla, the pontifical secretary of state.

He was Afraid of Himself.

Six years ago Arie Boss was a well known and prosperous newspaper foreman at Grand Rapids. He acquired property and fell in love. The girl went back on him and he became broken-hearted. A few nights ago he walked into police headquarters at that place and asked to be locked up for fear he would kill himself. The authorities are taking care of him.

FELL DEAD.

These words are very familiar to readers, as not a day passes without report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is "Heart Disease." Therefore beware if you have any of the following symptoms: short breath, pain in side, fluttering Spells, swollen ankles, asthma, breathing, weak and hungry spells, tenderness in shoulder or arm, fluttering heart or irregular pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The only reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free. "BRACE UP"

Is a tantalizing admonition to those who at this season feel all tired out, weak, without apptite and discouraged. But the way in which Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the tired frame and gives a good appetite, is really wonderful. So we say, "Take Hood's and brace you up."

DON'T GET IMPOSED UPON.

Is a good motto to follow in buying medicine as well as in everything else. By the universal satisfaction which it has given, and by the many remarkable cures, it has accomplished, Ayer's Great German Blood, Liver and Kidney Cure has proven itself unequalled for building up and toning your system and for all diseases arising from impure blood. Do not experiment with an unheard of or untried medicine which you are told is as good, but be sure and get Dullam's. All druggists keep it. For sale by Jno. Orr.

GREAT OAKS

From little acorns grow, so also do fatal diseases spring from small beginnings. Never neglect symptoms of Kidner Troubles; if allowed to run they cause much suffering and death. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm is a certain cure for any pain or weakness of the Kidneys. A trial will convince you of its great merit.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Fifty-third day—A few "local" bills were passed. The committee on the University recommended the bill providing scholarships in the University for graduates of High schools. HOUSE.—In committee of the whole the bill to authorize trustees of Michigan to issue teachers certificates was passed as also were bills as follows: Prohibiting the sale, outside of the state, of fish caught in Branch and St. Joseph counties; providing for the exemption of one sewing machine for each family from execution and making bills of sale for sewing machines void unless signed by the wife, if the man has a wife. The much discussed fish-chute-for-dams bill created considerable feeling argument, each member wishing to have his immediate neighborhood excluded from the action of the bill. It was finally referred to the committee on fisheries with the assurance that it would be smothered. A bill to extend aid to the State Agricultural society was referred to the committee on ways and means. The committee of the whole arose and the House adjourned.

SENATE.—Fifty-fourth day—The committee on labor interests gave a hearing to Detroit and Grand Rapids furniture men, who made the burden of their song one long, sad plaint against the Detroit House of Correction. The committee on cities and villages favorably reported a bill to authorize Benton Harbor to construct a sewer which St. Joseph opposes. Committee on the Normal school reported the bill appropriating $25,000 for a gymnasium at the school. A concurrent resolution was adopted for the appointment of a joint committee to prepare a complimentary benefit for Mrs. Margaret Custer Calhoun. On the general order, a House bill amending the law relative to the election of school examiners; incorporating the city of Grand Ledge; amending the law relative to the settlement of estates by enlarging the powers of probate judges, were agreed to, and the Senate then adjourned. HOUSE.—Several "local" measures were passed. A bill to authorize five or more persons in villages to organize to build stores, society halls, etc., was passed.

SENATE.—Fifty-fifth day—The concurrent resolution passed by the House for final adjournment May 25 was received and amended to read May 29. Numerous village incorporation, charter amendments and township division bills were passed as was a bill amending an act providing for the election of county commissioners of schools and the appointment of school examiners. In committeed of the whole bills were passed authorizing Benton Harbor to construct a sewer; appropriating $2,500 for each of the years of 1893-4 for the Michigan Pioneer and Horticulture society; amending the law relative to new trials and bills of exceptions by extending the time from one to two years. The committee arose, the Benton Harbor sewer bill passed and the Senate adjourned. House.—A concurrent resolution authorizing the governor to appoint a commission of three to recommend to the legislature rules of practice for the probate courts of the state was adopted. A bill prohibiting the killing or taking of deer in the counties of Lapeer, Huron, Sanilac, Tuscola and St. Clair for the period of 10 years, was passed under a suspension of the rules and given immediate effect. The committee on state affairs, to whom were referred the upper peninsula petitions for a Normal school above the straits, reported in favor of three, one in the northern portion of the lower peninsula and one in the upper peninsula. The estimated cost is $25,000 each. The report was referred to the committee on ways and means. Six members of the committee on municipal corporations reported out the Marquette charter with the recommendation that it be passed. The opponents of the bill tried to hold it down, but the recommendations were concurred in and the bill placed on the general order. The committee on judiciary reported out, with amendments, a Senate bill authorizing cities and villages to purchase plank roads and toll roads within their limits, and it was placed upon the general order.

SENATE.—Fifty sixth day—Petitions and protests were received: For the passage of pending labor bills; for an appropriation of $25,000 for a gymnasium at the University; favoring a gymnasium at the State Normal school; against additional appropriation for the World's Fair. The committee, which recently visited the Detroit House of Correction reported as to the condition of the institution. Committee on labor interests reported in favor of repealing the act permitting the confinement of United States convicts in prisons of the state. Committee on appropriations reported in favor of appropriating $55,000 for each of the years 1893-4 to the school for Deaf and Dumb, and $25,000 working capital for the Eastern asylum at Pontiac. Committee on banks and corporations reported a uniform system of computing interest and discount; also, against a bill to repeal the corporate franchise fee law. Committee on public health recommended the passage of a bill placing illuminating oil test at 120 degrees. Committee on the University reported an appropriation of $142,500 for the University for 1893 and of $37,500 for an administration building and $2,500 for the anatomical laboratory in 1894. In committee of the whole the following were passed: Appropriating $25,000 for a working capital for the Eastern Michigan asylum; amending a law authorizing a railroad company to sell and convey its property and franchises to another railroad company; amending the law relative to the voluntary dissolution of corporations and the abatement of suits; appropriating $4,000 for each of the years 1893 and 1894 to purchase books for the State library; prohibiting circuit judges from practicing as attorneys in their own or other circuits; amending the law relative to supreme court reports by providing that they be sent to United States courts of appeal; providing for a salary for sheriffs upon a vote of a majority of county boards of supervisors. After the committee of the whole rose all the measures considered were passed excepting the last; also the bill providing for the inspection of illuminating oils and repealing the law of 1891; appropriating $5,000 for the State Pioneer and Historical society. HOUSE.—A dozen or more petitions for the taxation of church property were received and referred. Several municipal measures were passed. The committee on fisheries reported out a bill for the protection of fish in the Saginaw river and its tributaries and it was passed as were bills empowering Antonagon to issue bonds in the sum of $30,000 for water works and electric lights; authorizing Saginaw to expend $100,000 for water works improvements; empowering the colleges of the state to issue teachers certificates to competent students; for the incorporation of state and subordinate lodges of Orangemen; to prohibit Indians from coming across the line and catching Branch and St. Joseph county fish for the market.

SENATE.—Fifty-seventh day.—The charter bills for the cities of Marquette and Ishpeming were passed. Numerous protests were received against the taxation of church property. Besides a number of municipal and township bills of merely local importance the following bills were passed: Prohibiting the killing of Mongolian and English pheasants; prohibiting circuit judges from practicing as attorneys in circuit courts; providing for the inspection of illuminating oils. Bills authorizing villages to own and control cemeteries, either within or without their corporate limits; prohibiting the taking or catching of fish in the Huron river; providing for a jury commission for St. Clair county, were considered in committee of the whole and passed to the order of the third reading. HOUSE.—A bill authorizing the cities of Menominee, Mich., and Marinette, Wis., to construct a bridge across the Menominee river was passed and given immediate effect. The clerk reported that the Senate had amended the Marquette and Ishpeming charters so as to give Marquette eight and Ishpeming ten members of the board of supervisors, and had passed them. The House concurred in the amendments, and the white dove of peace slowly winged its way over the heads of the members from Marquette county. The bill exempting sewing machines from execution, one for each family, was passed. The bill increasing the sum which Masonic bodies may expend in the construction of buildings from $75,000 to $500,000 was considered in committee of the whole and was passed to a third reading.

Spain's cabinet met in extraordinary session in consequence of a report that French troops had landed in San Domingo. The ministry is determined to resent any aggression, either upon the part of the United States or France in San Domingo.

It has been practically settled that whatever was the fate of Sunday closing, the rule at the World's Fair will be late closing. Chief Engineer Shankland said: "The electrical exhibit is the finest thing on the grounds. The people will want to see it and they will be given a chance. This means that the gates will be kept open until 11 o'clock."

R. IRVING LATIMER ESCAPED.

The Famous Matricide Drugs Two of Guards and Coolly Walks Away.

At 1 o'clock Monday morning R. Irving Latimer, the famous matricide drugged two turnkeys at the state prison at Jackson, walked out of the front door and made his escape. George W. Haight, one of the turnkeys died at 3 a. m. from the effects of the drug.

R. Irving Latimer brutally murdered his own mother at Jackson on the night of Jan. 24, 1889. He was a druggist and on the evening of the above date went to Detroit, stating to his clerk that he was going to act as pallbearer for a deceased friend. The next morning Mrs. Mary H. Latimer, his mother, was found murdered in her room, having been shot twice through the head. Latimer was arrested and convicted of the crime.

In order to prove an alibi he had made a trip to Detroit in the evening and took a room at the Griswold House. He then slipped away quietly, returned to Jackson and committed the murder. His trial lasted 30 days and was very sensational. He was sentenced to life prisonment. Latimer's father died under suspicious circumstances a year previous to the murder. He was heavily insured in favor of the wife and son and it is believed that the son poisoned him.

The Heroine Discovered.

The unknown young woman who boarded a vestibuled train on the Chicago & Grand Trunk railroad at Lansing when it was under motion, and clung to the narrow step outside the vestibule as the train pulled out of the station, turns out to have been Miss Eveline Skinner, of North Lansing. She was supposed to have fallen from the train, and the report caused a decided sensation in that city, Miss Skinner, however, returned home safe and sound. She says she rode a long distance outside the vestibule, but was finally discoved by a passenger, who caused her to be admitted to the car. She is 20 years old, unusually good looking and lives with her uncle on High street.

All the West Bay City lines have electric roads, while only a loop around the business portion of Bay City is equipped for electric cars, but the new company is already at work changing the Bay City line.

UNCLE SAM IS ON TOP.

WARSHIP NEW YORK BREAKS THE RECORD.

The First Trip Shows a Speed of Over 20 Knots an Hour—The Fastest Warship on the Seas.—Explosion of Dust in a Flowing Mill Causes Heavy Damage.

With the proud distinction of having broken the record of all preliminary trials, and the satisfaction of being the fastest armored vessel in the world, the [illegible] shipyard, Philadelphia. From the hour she steamed down the Delaware until her return the naval experts awaited with deep interest the result of the trials of the great warship's initial performance. Despite heavy rains, squalls and a biting wind from the southeast, fully 5,000 patriotic Philadelphians were present to wish the warship God-speed as she backed into the stream and down the river on her trial trip. When the gaint screws began to revolve the monster vessel was actually under way for the first time the spectators shouted themselves hoarse.

The following is the story of the two trials: Five Fathom Bank lightship to northeast end lightship, course, north by east, distance 9.88 nautical miles. Start, 8:24:15; finish, 8:53:53. Difference 29 minutes 38 seconds; speed, 20:03 nautical miles per hour.

Second trial—Northeast end lightship to Five Fathom Bank lightship, course, south by west. Distance 9.80 nautical miles. Start, 9:33:03; finish, 9:42:58. Difference 29 minutes 51 seconds; speed 19.87 nautical miles. Average for the two trials, 19.95 miles. Later on the cruiser was headed to the eastward in search of deeper water. In a run of four consecutive hours she maintained a speed of 20.38 knots per hour, reaching as high as 20.57 as the water deepened.

Capt. Redford W. Sargent was in command of the New York during her trial assisted by Capt. George L. Chambers, an old Delaware river pilot who has steered all of the Cramps' new ships. There were 340 people on board. Edwin Cramp, the superintending engineer of the company was practically in charge of the trial.

Princess of Wales Vetoes Crinoline.

The only full-fledged crinoline which has appeared in the streets of London was worn by a young woman on the staff of an evening paper. Her costume was not a burlesque, but the genuine old-style crinoline, made as attractively as a modern costumer could build it. The young woman walked from the enbankment through Piccadilly, Regent street, Bond street and other fashionable west end thoroughfares, followed most of the time by a howling mob of street gamins. She finally took refuge in a 'bus, and the conductor promptly charged her double fare for the extra space occupied. It is now safe to say that the crinoline crisis in England has been passed safely. The princess of Wales' refusal to approve of full skirts has vetoed fashion's futile decree.

$1,000,000 Explosion.

An explosion resembling an earthquake, destroying over $1,000,000 worth of property, occurred at Litchfield, Ill. The Litchfield "Planet," one of the largest single flour-making establishments in the world, was totally destroyed. Nearly every every house within a radius of two blocks from the mill was badly wrecked. The earth over a wide area was shaken, while the atmospheric concussion was felt as far as Decatur, a distance of 50 miles. The head millwright, John Carver, of Waterloo, in making an effort to secure his tools from the burning building, was stunned by the explosion, and endeavoring to escape, was pinned against the smokestack and burned to death. A number of other serious, though not necessarily fatal, accidents, occurred. Fire first broke out in the mills, it is supposed, from a spark from a passing locomotive. The hose and hook and ladder companies had hardly succeeded in getting their apparatus in working order when an explosion appalling in its violence was caused by the flames sudden contact with the pent-up mill dust. Citizens had been awakened by the ringing of fire bells and before many of them could dress they were stunned by the terrific shock of the explosion, and the next moment found the walls of their homes falling upon them. Window glass was broken and chimneys blown down in towns 10 miles distant. Besides the mills the large elevator standing immediately across the Wabash track containing 250,000 bushels of wheat, was burned to the ground. Ten or twelve cars of wheat standing on the house track were reduced to ashes.

The burned elevator had a capacity of 1,400,000 bushels. The mill was considered the largest red winter mill in the country. It had an output of 2,500 barrels of flour every 24 hours and last year produced 447,600 barrels.

Just Like the Cronin Conspiracy.

St. Louis de Mile End, a prosperous suburb of Montreal, has been thrown into a state of great excitement by the kidnapping of Dr. W. H. Young, one of the leading residents and a member of the municipal council, who has a large practice in the city as a dentist. He was at breakfast with his family when a cab containing three men drove up, and one of them getting out called for Dr. Young and whispering to him to enter the cab. Then the cab was driven rapidly away and that was the last seen of the doctor although the kidnappers were traced as far as Ottawa.

Queen "Vic" Sails to Italy.

When Queen Victoria started from Portsmouth, Eng., on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert, on her way to Italy, where she will spend the spring at the Villa Palmieri near Florence, large crowds assembled to witness the departure of her majesty who was heartily cheered as she went on board.

POISONED HIS KEEPER.

The Notorious Irving Latimer of Jackson, Again in the Role of a Murderer.

Word came down on the early train from Jackson last Monday morning that Irving Latimer, the matricide, who was serving out a life sentence had escaped from prison. In the afternoon special editions of the Jackson papers bought the full particulars.

He escaped on Sunday night about midnight. It was one of the coolest and most successful deliveries ever heard of in this country, and stamps young Latimer the hardest criminal to deal with that an officer can find. During the past year of Latimer's confinement Warden Davis has given him unusual liberties, on account of good character and his smooth and pleasant ways. This liberty has been kept up under Warden Chamberlain also. Latimer has been allowed the liberty of the guard room, and has passed many pleasant evenings there telling stories, singing, etc.

He is an adept in the concoction of various lemonades, delightful frappe, chocolates, coffee, and possibly cocktails gin fizzes, etc. He was allowed, and in fact solicited to stay up with the guards about the main entrance and when the midnight hour came prepared something for their delectation, the guards furnishing the material. Last night it was lemonade, and Latimer was to fix them something new. He did. Keeper Haight is dead, and his companion, Keeper Gill, who is believed to have furnished the material to Latimer, is in jail, pending an investigation.

LATER.

He was captured at Jerome about ten o'clock on Tuesday evening. It seems that he succeeded in reaching Jerome at about 8 o'clock. Here his feet being sore and chafed with the heavy felt boots, he determined upon a desperate course in order to continue his flight. He knew that he must have shoes, so he entered the town and approached a shoe store. While engaged in bargaining for a pair of shoes he was recognized.

He tried hard to get away, exhausted though he was by his hard traveling, but his efforts were in vain. The entire town was aroused and he was pursued down the railroad track for some distance, when he was captured. He was brought to Jackson by team arriving there about three o'clock yesterday morning.

GOOD ROADS.

A Plea from Bay County to the Electors of the State of Michigan:

The Legislature has submitted to the electors of the state a proposition to amend the constitution so as to permit of the enactment of laws providing for a county system of roads. This proposition is to be voted upon by the people on the Third day of April, 1893. It is, therefore, important that its provisions should be understood.

The amendment will authorize the Legislature to provide for the laying out, construction and maintenance of county and township roads; the county roads are to be maintained at the expense of the county and the township roads (the same as now) at the expense of the township. The commissioners who will have charge of the county roads are to be elected by the people. A tax, not exceeding two mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation, is authorized. Counties cannot incur indebtedness for the construction or maintenance of county roads except upon a vote of two-thirds of the supervisors, approved by a majority vote of the electors of the county. Such indebtedness cannot at any time exceed three per cent. of the valuation.

If this amendment should be adopted and the proper statute passed by the Legislature in pursuance thereof, even then it would not become operative in any county which did not want it; for by the amendment itself it is expressly provided that "The county system shall become operative only in such counties as shall adopt it by a majority vote of the electors of said county, after the said question has been submitted to them by a two-third vote of all the members elect of the board of supervisors of such county at a general or special election called for that purpose."

Bay County requires this improved system. The territory of this county is flat, the soil is mainly a deep clay, not suitable for the making of good roads and the ordinary township system is not adequate to satisfy the needs of the people. Formerly there would be several months in each year when the roads were practically impassible for loaded teams; all traffic was suspended.

Several years ago the people of this county undertook to improve their highways and have expended considerable sums of money in so doing. The result is that these improved highways have added to the value of every acre of land within the limits of the county; farmers are able to bring their products to the towns at all seasons of the year, and the town's people are better supplied. The cost of transportation is diminished. It is of advantage to both the farmer and the resident in town; to the producer and the consumer. Owing to a recent decision of the Supreme Court a constitutional amendment has become necessary to enable the people of this county to maintain these roads. The amendment is now before the people, and we earnestly urge every elector of the state, in the interest of local self government, to vote for the amendment. If you do not want this county system in your county, your voting for the amendment does not require your county to adopt it. It merely opens the door for counties situated like ours; it will give us an opportunity to save the expenditures we have already made. The people of Bay County almost unanimously favor this measure. The Business Men's Association of Bay City cordially supports it. At the recent county conventions of both the Democratic and Republican parties resolutions expressing approval, were adopted without a dissenting voice. At a late meeting of the board of supervisors like resolutions were unanimously adopted and a committee appointed to urge it upon the electors of the state. Please give us your vote and urge others to do so. There are other counties in the same situation as Bay.

COMMISSIONERS' NOTICE.

In the matter of the estate of Abner W. Simmons, deceased.

The undersigned having been appointed by the Probate Court of said County, Commissioners to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands of all persons against the estate of said deceased, do hereby give notice that we will meet for that purpose at the office of Chas. Burridge, in the village of Tecumseh, Lenawee county, Michigan, on the 29th day of April, 1893, and on the 27th day of September 1893, at ten o'clock in the fore noon of each of said days.

And that six months from the 27th day of March, A. D. 1893, are allowed by said Probate Court for the creditors of said estate to present their claims to us for examination and allowance.

Dated March 30th 1893.

JOHN BUTRICK,
JOSEPH KERNEY,
Commissioners.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian, on Wednesday the 1st day of March, in the year one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-three.

Present, Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of Lewis V. Miller, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of Benjamin F. DePuy, administrator upon said estate praying that he may be empowered and licensed to sell the real estate of said deceased, in said petition described for reasons therein stated.

It is ordered that Tuesday, the Fourth day of April 1893, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

MORTGAGE SALE.

On the 28th day of May, 1886, William P. Emons, of Macon, Lenawee County, Michigan, mortgaged to Nathaniel Boid of the same place, all that certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Macon in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The North three-quarters of the East half of the North-west quarter of Section No. thirty-four (34), Town five (5), South, of Range five (5) East, containing Sixty acres of land more or less, to secure the payment of Five Hundred and Fifty two Dollars and interest annually at seven per cent. per annum in two years from date of said mortgage.

Said mortgage was, on the 29th day of May, 1886, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said Lenawee County, in Liber 117 of Mortgages, on page 62.

Default has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the non-payment of the moneys due thereon, by which the power of sale therein contained has becomes operative.

There is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Seven Hundred and Twenty-seven and fifty-two hundredths Dollars ($727.52), and no proceedings at law or in equity have been commenced to recover the same or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, the said premises above and in said mortgage described will be sold at public Vendue to the highest bidder, at the East front door of the Court House in the City of Adrian, in said County (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within and for said County) on Saturday, the Tenth day of June, 1893, at one o'clock in the afternoon, to make and satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, the costs and expenses of this foreclosure and sale, and an attorney fee of Twenty-five Dollars, as provided by law and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

Dated March 13th, 1893.

"It won't rub off."

EVERYBODY knows that wall paper, its vegetable, and its color animal glue, is unsanitary, and that to apply repeated layers of such is a nasty "nasty practice," as well as dangerous. Kalsomine is temporary, rots, rubs off and scales; paint stops "wall respiration" needed to purify walls. Send to us for a paper from Michigan State Board of Health report on this subject, recommending Church's Alabastine and plastico only for walls of dwellings.

THE DOCTOR.—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

Alabastine forms pure, permanent and porous coatings, and does not require to be taken off to renew from time to time; is a dry powder, ready for use by adding water (the latest make is used in Cold water and is never sold in bulk); can be easily brushed on by any one; made in white and tints, fashionable tints, and in three shades, from which decorators make the balance of forty shades as on their card.

N. B.—It is not claimed that all who live in papered walls die much before their time, but they will enjoy better health with wall coating (PPPP) Pure, Permanent, Porous and Pretty.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have obtained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

LAKE RIDGE LACONICS.

Mr. E. Harrison is in quite poor health at present writing.

The Free Methodists are preparing to build a new church east of the Ridge road, on Charles East's farm.

The roads on the Ridge are splendid, but say—don't get on the cross roads as you will not find them very dusty.

Amos Hall had his turkeys stolen last Tuesday night. He took after the thieves and recovered the poultry.

Miss Blanche Litchard, who has been spending a couple of weeks with her grandparents on the Ridge, returned to her home in London last Friday.

Last week Wednesday evening the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Wren Elliott gave them a surprise, as they are going to move up North on his farm. They tripped the light fantastic toe until a small hour in the morn and all enjoyed themselves.

Last Saturday was the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Litchard's wedding. Their friends took them by surprise in the afternoon, a fine supper was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Litchard were each presented with a pair of gold-bowed glasses. May they live long to enjoy many more such happy occasions.

Secretary Carlisle has begun the good work by discharging those Treasury clerks who are in the way of others who are disposed to work. Of course Mr. Carlisle will now be referred to as a "cheese-parer."

It is said Senator Hill contemplates aspiring to the Presidency without the aid of a machine. Well, he could not make a worse job of it than he did when all of the political machinery in the State of New York was at his beck.

On Thursday, March 23rd, Governor Rich signed the University sixth-mill bill. He sent the pen with which the deed was done to President Angell and it will be preserved in memory of this great event in the history of the University.

In his article on Kansas in Harper's Magazine, Mr. Ingalls speaks of the Arkansas River as an affluent of the Missouri. At last accounts it was flowing into the Mississippi. But some license must always be allowed, of course, for the inaccuracies of genius.

Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith's name is Michael Hoke Smith. He dropped the name Michael, however, because he did not like it, for the same reason that Stephen Grover Cleveland has dropped the Stephen, and Jacob Whitelaw Reid has dropped the Jacob.

The announcement of the acceptance by the Secretary of the Interior, Hoke Smith, of the resignation of Pension Commissioner Green B. Raum is glad news. Secretary Smith has not waited for the President to select a successor. He has summarily relieved the nation of the disgrace of having Raum occupy an official place. For this he is entitled to public thanks.

The man who is to have a monopoly of selling peanuts at the world's fair paid $30,000 for the concession. He will have to sell something like 5,000 bushels to cover that little expense and then he can begin to make money. The crop of American peanuts last year was 3,000,000 bushels and more can be had from the west coast of Africa if they are needed.

Mr. Cleveland's policy of ridding the Government of unnecessary officeholders is one which cannot be too highly commended. The expense of pensions is so heavy that without the strictest economy it will be impossible to make an adequate reduction of the tariff, and every hundred dollars now saved by retrenchment in executive expenses is so much gained to the people in possibilities of tax reduction.

In the death of Gen. Berdan Michigan loses one of her distinguished citizens and the country one of its most gallant defenders. He was among the first to respond when the call for troops was made by President Lincoln, and the regiment of sharpshooters raised by Gen. Berdan did its full share in making Michigan's proud record during the war. He was a born soldier and through his inventive genius gave the country some of its most improved implements of warfare. His death will be especially regretted by those who knew the general in former years and those who served under his gallant leadership.—Detroit Free Press.

"Take all my beard off and give me a short hair cut," said the man in the adjoining chair, as he threw himself upon the mercy of the razor wielder.

"What, take off all dat fine beard?" inquired the barber in astonishment.

"Yes," replied the customer. "I have been cultivating this beard for over twenty years, and I hate to part with it. It must go, as I am after a job in the Interior Department, and I got a straight tip from a Georgia friend that Hoke Smith is partial to men who do not wear any hair on their faces. "Take it all off," he added, as he leaned back in the chair and indulged in mental speculation over his prospects for obtaining employment in Uncle Sam's vineyard.—Washington Post.

(This department aims to give everybody's ideas about taxation (not tariff). Write your opinions briefly, and they will be published or discussed in their turn by the editor or by a member of the Taxation Society. Address, "Taxation Society," this office or P. O. Box 88, Buffalo, N. Y.)

THE RIGHTS OF CAPITAL.

Monopoly, not Capital, the Real Enemy of the Farmers and Workers.

What is capital? As the term is ordinarily used, it is money. But money is only a small part of capital. The farm is capital. Live stock is capital. And these have rights and equal rights. Money has rights, if it is honestly earned. Among certain classes the right to accumulate is denied. Surplus, if held by the party producing it, is regarded as evidence of treason to the race. Fortunately but comparatively few hold to this indefensible doctrine. If the farmer grows a hundred bushels of potatoes more than he needs for his own consumption he has the right to compensation for those potatoes, if anybody else wants them; for they are the products of his own labor. If he sells them and receives money for them, that money stands in place of the potatoes, and if anybody wants the money the possessor has the right to charge a reasonable sum for its use. The claim made by some that capital produces nothing and is not entitled to a share of the products of an industry in which it is employed is the sheerest rot. If that doctrine were recognized in practice, the man who had no potatoes to plant in the spring would have the right to demand potatoes of his neighbor, whose labor had produced potatoes. But if a man would have no right thus to demand the free use of his neighbor's surplus potatoes, what right has he to demand the free use of money for which the potatoes have been sold?

It is detrimental to reform to deny the right of capital. It is not the legitimate right of capital that is giving us trouble. It is the abuse of that right that gives us concern. Men are possessed of capital and large amounts of capital who never had any potatoes or anything else to sell. They simply robbed other people of it. Honestly earned capital, when employed in business in which wage workers or other producers are engaged, is a representative of labor and deserves an equitable share of the fruits of the enterprise.—The Farmer's Voice, Chicago.

Can a Tax on Rent Be Evaded?

"Can not landlords increase their rent, if it is taxed, so as to make the laborers still pay the taxes over again?" No. Landlords now collect all the rent which it is possible for them to get. If all of it were taken away by taxation, they could not collect a second time. Suppose the average laborer, earning $500 a year (which is a large allowance) pays $100 for ground rent. Suppose the state takes all of this from the landlord, and he then demands another $100 from the tenant and gets it. The state then takes $200 from the landlord, and he demands $400 from the tenant, and suppose—which is impossible—he gets it. Still the state takes the $400 from the landlord; and he demands $800 from the tenant. He demands $800 from the tenant, whose whole income is only $500. How can he make the tenant pay it? The tenant would be dead long before this point was reached; and all other tenants, being subject to the same extortion, would be dead also. So far from landlords being enabled to increase rent, in consequence of a heavy tax on rent, they would become more eager competitors for tenants, because they could not afford to keep any land out of use.

The landlord has no means of shifting it [the tax on land value]. For if the tax were to be suddenly abolished he would nevertheless be able to extort the same rent, since the ground rent is fixed solely by the demand of the occupiers. The tax is simply a diminutive of his profits.—Prof. E. R. A. Seligman.

If the "gentleman" actually pays the tax [on the rent of land] out of his pocket he certainly feels its burden. But "this influences not at all the yearly rent of the land, which the rack-renter or under-tenant pays, it being the same thing to him, whether he pays all the rent to the king or to the landlord." For the "tenants'" bargain and profit are the same, whether the land be charged or not charged, with an annuity payable to another man. The landowner, in other words, can not shift a land tax.—John Locke, in "Collected Works."

If land be taxed according to its pure rent, virtually all writers since Ricardo are agreed that the tax will fall wholly on the land-owner, and that it can not be shifted to any other class, whether tenant, farmer or consumer. This point is so universally accepted as to require no further discussion.—"Shifting and Incidents of Taxation," p. 93. Pub. 1892 by Johns Hopkins Press.

The Modest Claim of the "Single Tax" Advocates.

Single tax means the abolition of all taxes upon industry and the products of industry, and the taking, by taxation upon land values irrespective of improvements, of the annual rental value of all those various forms of natural opportunities embraced under the general term, land. To tax labor or its products is to discourage industry. To tax land values to their full amount will render it impossible for any man to exact from others a price for the privilege of using those bounties of nature in which all living men have an equal right of use. It will compel every individual controlling natural opportunities to either utilize them by the employment of labor or abandon them to others. It will thus provide opportunities of work for all men and secure to each the full reward of his labor; and as a result involuntary poverty will be abolished, and the greed, intemperance and vice that spring from poverty and the dread of poverty will be swept away.

OBJECTS TO AN INCOME TAX.

A Western Paper Freely Expresses Its Opinion of Inquisitorial Systems.

The Daily News has regretted that any member of the Minnesota legislature has thought it necessary and wise to propose an income tax bill, but such a measure is now pending and under discussion, and is to be disposed of.

The News is of the opinion that the bill proposed ought not to pass, and for one reason why an income tax is an important measure it agrees with the Omaha World-Herald that to make an income tax "absolutely fair it should reach far down in the scale and touch the man of small income as well as the man of large income." But no income tax has ever done this. There is no great amount of trouble in getting into the poor man's pocket, but experience shows with this sort of a tax that it is the millionaire who escapes his just proportion, while the man of small means pays in full. The owner of millions generally contrives to figure up millions enough more of indebtedness to offset a big share of his income, while the frugal citizen whose net profits are low in the thousands is ordinarily out of debt or not in a position to avail himself of this convenient resource.

A contemporary discussing the subject, says: "The motive for advocating an income tax in the United States is mostly a malicious one. It is a desire to expose and injure the owners of capital and the employers of labor. It is akin to the feelings which animates the movements of a copperhead snake, which aims but to destroy. There is no necessity for any such tax in this country, and there never has been a good reason advanced for imposing it, except as a war measure.—St. Paul News.

Manufacturers and Mechanics.

Read a leading trade paper's views on taxation.

A joint committee of the senate and assembly, appointed to consider the question of state taxation, have made some recommendations that are of special interest to manufacturers and mechanics. What seems one of the most important parts of their report is that which favors local option in matters of taxation for state purposes. That is to say, the people of a certain county of the state, having a certain amount of money to raise and pay to the state as their share of the expense of maintaining the state government, shall be allowed to raise this money in any way which seems to them to be best.

Those counties which prefer vacant lots and unimproved ground to manufactories and dwelling-houses of workingmen can go on trying to tax these latter out of existence, while they allow the speculator in lots, the obstructionist whose only effort is to increase the price that men must pay for the privilege of working and doing business, to practically escape taxation on the absurd plea that his property is unproductive, as though men should be encouraged in making land or city lots unproductive, while those who use them in the production of something useful, whether corn, wheat or machinery, should bear the full burden of taxation.

Bills have been introduced in several states intended to give the people of counties and of cities full power to settle these matters for themselves in regard to all except state taxes, and the discussion of economic questions, which would be caused by the passage of such a law, could hardly fail to be beneficial. Manufacturers and mechanics are necessarily interested in these questions, it being pretty certain that whatever changes in the method of levying taxes may be made that will be of benefit to the manufacturer will be beneficial also to all others who are doing anything to earn an honest living.

In the Interest of Higher Civilization.

The meeting to secure personal property from taxation, which was held on Wednesday night in the directors' room of the art association building, is reported to-day. Its proceedings were interesting, for the addresses and letters were instructive and suggestive. The serious endeavor of those who know what tax laws ought to be to teach those who do not have such knowledge is entitled to the respect which every educational movement deserves. It is an endeavor in the interest of justice, civilization, morals and rational government. The teachers are statesmen and reformers. They have to find their pupils, or they certainly find their opponents, among the "practical politicians" and the demagogical newspapers.

There is no mystery or difficulty in settling what taxation should be. The science is as exact as mathematics. The difficulty comes when the persons intrusted with the legislative and administrative duties pertaining to it are concerned. Most of them do not know the right. Most of the few who do know it are afraid to avow it or to stand by it, lest they be not renominated or reappointed.—Brooklyn Eagle, January 19.

Is This So?

The distinction between the building tax and the ground tax, is unimportant in the case of farmers, because in America, at all events, the tenant is almost in all cases the owner, and because the value of the farmer's buildings is generally of minor importance when compared to the value of his land.—Prof. E. R. A. Seligman.

A RECENT inquiry conducted in Pennsylvania shows the value of its personalty to be about one-fifth of the value of its buildings, not counting the value of the land.

MAKE a man swear to his taxable property—to be sure that won't make him pay up in this world, but it will make him pay up in the next.

WHAT does the farmer get for his general taxes anyhow? Can't somebody answer?

GOOD LOOKS.

Good looks are more than skin deep, depending upon a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the Liver be inactive you have a Bilious look, if your stomach be disordered you have a Dyspeptic look, and if your Kidneys be affected you have a Pinched look. Secure good health and you will have good looks. Electric Bitters is the great alterative and tonic which acts directly on these vital organs. The "God bless you Dr. Wheeler," of Geo. W. Cooper, 15 Lawn St., Cleveland Ohio, is genuine and from the heart. He writes, July 28, 1892: "My son commenced to have fits when 10 years old. He had them three or four times a month, and as high as 19 in three days. I had him treated at the hospital and by different doctors but it did him no good. Sixteen months ago he commenced to take Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer and had only one fit since. I think him entirely cured. Will gladly answer any questions about your great medicine." WONDERFUL CURES

THOMAS MINCHIN. MAJOR W. A. SIMPLIN

Before Treatment. After Treatment. Before Treatment. After Treatment.

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 115 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had to be relieved symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizz... poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method treatment, cured me in a few weeks I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simpkins says: "I was afflicted with Blood Disease and Catarrh of the Stomach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Disease. My bones ached. Blotches on face, head and body horrible. I tried various doctors and remedies. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method treatment and in a few weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I will not say too much for the success of these doctors who have been in practice for fifteen years. I am personally acquainted with numerous patients in their offices who were cured for different diseases, and have known them as honest and reliable. I have taken their treatment."

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Has no equal for the prompt relief and speedy cure of Colds, Coughs, Croup, Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Preacher's Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, and other derangements of the throat and lungs. The best-known cough-cure in the world, it is recommended by eminent physicians, and is the favorite preparation with singers, actors, preachers, and teachers. It soothes the inflamed membrane, loosens the phlegm, stops coughing, and induces repose.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

taken for consumption, in its early stages, checks further progress of the disease, and even in the later stages, it eases the distressing cough and promotes refreshing sleep. It is agreeable to the taste, needs but small doses, and does not interfere with digestion or any of the regular organic functions. As an emergency medicine, every household should be provided with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Having used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, I can confidently recommend it for all the complaints it is claimed to cure. Its sale is increasing yearly with me, and my customers think this preparation has no equal as a cough-cure." —S. W. Parent, Queensbury, N. B.

"VESTED RIGHTS."

The Manufacturers Have Had Their Day—Now Give the Farmers a Chance—Protection Encourages Slovenly Methods of Manufacture.

It appears that the American Wool and Cotton Reporter has heard that the tariff reform committee of the Reform club, in preparing such a tariff bill as it would like to see adopted by the present administration, has placed the duty on imported woolens at 25 per cent. ad valorem. The Reporter can scarcely believe that this committee, even though it contains such "theorists and hobby-riders" as E. Ellery Anderson, David A. Wells, Edward Atkinson, Thomas G. Shearman, John DeWitt Warner, Charles S. Fairchild and Everett P. Wheeler, can be foolish enough to think seriously of proposing such a low duty, yet it devotes several columns to showing the need of much higher duties and of a gradual reduction.

Forgetitng that the democratic party has taken its stand against the "fraud protection," the Reporter still imagines that the next tariff bill is going to be a protective one and pleads for protection to those who have capital invested in woolen mills. But it gives away their case when pleading for more than the 40 per cent. duty proposed by the Mills bill. It says:

"Were the Mills bill put in operation to-day, the measure of protection afforded by it, so far as pertains to the woolen industry, would be far less than would have been realized at the time the bill was formulated. Conditions have changed considerably during the past four years, and what would have been a sufficient measure of protection then would be inadequate to-day. The foreign manufacturer, because of the obstacles of higher duties, has been forced to a lower plane of economy, while the domestic manufacturer, with a wider market than formerly to cater to, has had less incentive to restrict and economize. These conditions have widened the difference between them, and have increased the advantage the former has over the latter."

"This means simply that protection encourages bad management and waste, and that the manufacturers when they have the "home market" all to themselves, do not proceed as they pretend, to make goods cheaper, but become so slovenly that they actually cannot make them as cheaply as formerly. And the Reporter, unmindful that there are a thousand consumers to every manufacturer of woolens, would have us continue, on a slightly reduced scale, this incentive to slovenly methods and high prices, knowing full well that the people, already hard-worked and poorly fed, housed and clothed, must pay for all of this waste and extravagance. Bosh! We hoped the day was passed when democratic journals, as the Reporter pretends to be, would print such nonsense as this. It would be far better to say to the manufacturers, as the people practically did on November 8:

"We have for thirty years given you all the protection you wished. You promised us cheap goods and high wages. You have been unfaithful to the trust imposed upon you. You have taken no pains to adopt improved machinery and methods, but taken great pains to reduce wages, by importing contract labor, and to prevent the natural decline in prices. You have formed trusts and combines, for these purposes, until to-day wages are nearer the European level than ever before and prices are farther away from it. You have sold your goods, when possible, to foreigners at much lower prices than to Americans. You have continually, under the infant industry plea, clamored for higher duties and have falsified statistics, bribed congress and corrupted legislation to secure more protection that you might increase the robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few. For these and other reasons we will hereafter pay no attention whatever to your requests or your protests, but proceed to make a tariff bill which shall produce the greatest amount of revenue with the least burden to the people and upon legitimate industry. If such a bill happens to leave considerable protection for you, so that you can compel us to pay taxes that will not increase our revenues, that is our misfortune; if it leaves you without protection and you are unable to compete in a fair field with foreign manufacturers, that is your misfortune. We are done with your deceit and treachery and propose to sell the products of our labor where they will bring the highest prices and to spend the proceeds where they will purchase the most."

Equally absurd is the "vested rights" plea. The Reporter says: "Surely the government which has fostered industries could hardly with consistency or equity change its policy in such a way as to jeopardize these vested rights."

Are there no "vested rights" but those of protected manufacturers? What about the farmers and those engaged in other unprotected industries? Have thirty years of high protection so preyed upon the vested rights of the farmers that there are now none left? It would seem so; and the statistics of farms, homes and mortgages, now being issued, and the fact that farm values all over the east and in parts of the south and west have diminished, often to the vanishing point, helps to strengthen this theory. But, because of their great numbers, it is likely that the vested rights left to these pauperized farmers, in mortgaged farms, even now exceed the vested rights of the few thousand millionairs who control our protected industries, and perhaps by reversing the wheel of fortune, or rather by abolishing the fraud of the manufacturers, which means, "heads I win, tails you lose," the farmers may some day inherit their own and have rights which will make them once more a social and political power, instead of being, as they are to-day, social and political outcasts—powerless, overworked and under-fed slaves of millionaires—plutocrats who have no cares except to see that interests and rents are paid promptly and that no radical legislation disturbs their "vested rights" to collect the hard earnings of honest toil.

BYRON W. HOLT.

"UNCLE JERRY."

What the Late Secretary of Agriculture Knows About Farming.

"Uncle Jerry" Rusk, just before he left off theoretical to again begin practical farming gave us, in the North American Review for March, some predictions as to what may be expected of "American Farming a Hundred Years Hence." His long and varied experience and his exceptional facilities for studying past changes, together with his undoubted powers of analysis and prophecy, make it obligatory for us to consider his words as those of an oracle. Hence it is with great concern that we read what he has so say about our great foreign commerce, and especially about that part of our exports (about three-fourths) that comes from our farms.

He thinks our foreign commerce will soon vanish, and that "our trade relations, probably, will not exercise so great an influence in the charges of the future as they have done in the past." The plain English of this oracular language probably is that when we have no foreign trade to speak of, the principal issue between the two great parties will not be one of low or high duties—of protection or free trade. But think what this means to our farmers. Our seer tells us that "I am of the opinion that long before a hundred years have rolled by we will have ceased to export food products to foreign countries, with the exception of a few products in concentrated form. Our trade in foreign products will hence be inter-state, not international, and will be regulated by the growth of our population and the consequent extension of our home markets."

A half century ago there lived another great "protection" and "home market" prophet. He dealt with this same question and the similarity in thought almost leads to the conclusion that our ex-secretary of agriculture is guilty of plagiarism; and certainly the striking fulfillment of Henry Clay's predictions would tempt a man with less reputation to lose than "Uncle Jerry" into the field of prophecy. Our exports of cotton, breadstuffs and tobacco have increased about 2,000 per cent. since 1820. Here is Clay's wonderful prophecy made in the house of representatives on April 26, 1820:

"I believe that we are already beginning to experience the want of capacity in Europe to consume our surplus produce. Take the articles of cotton, tobacco and breadstuffs. For the latter we have scarcely any foreign demand. And is there not reason to believe that we have reached, if we have not passed, the maximum of the foreign demand for the other articles? Considerations connected with the cheapness of cotton, as a raw material, and the facility with which it can be fabricated, will probably make it to be more used as a substitute for other material. But, after you allow to the demand for it the utmost extension of which it is susceptible, it is yet quite limited—limited by the number of persons who use it, by their wants and their ability to supply them. If we have not reached, therefore, the maximum of the foreign demand (as I believe we have), we must soon fully satisfy it. With respect to tobacco, that article affording an enjoyment not necessary, as food and clothes are, to human existence, the foreign demand for it is still more precarious, and I apprehend that we have already passed its limits. It appears to me, then, that if we consult our interests merely, we ought to encourage home manufactures."

A LITTLE LEAVEN.

Our Neighbors Profiting By the Example of This Country.

The tariff reform wave that swept this country in 1890, and again in 1892, has extended to Canada. Among the recent changes in the Dominion tariff is a reduction of the duty on binder twine from 25 to 12½ per cent. The liberal wing is agitating for the total abolition of this duty. The farmers, who say they have been paying 15⅝ cents for 690 feet of twine that sold in New York for 12½ cents, are likely to get their twine at more reasonable figures.

It is scarcely necessary to state that Canada has a trust in this line—the Consumers' Cordage Co. Tariffs & Trusts are partners in the firm of Spoils & Plunder. The Canadian trust sold cordage at higher prices than the American trust—National Cordage Co.—because in 1892 the Canadian duty was about four times as high as the American duty.

The tariff reform wave has also extended into Mexico. An official decree there reduces the tariff on horses, hogs, cloths, tobacco, soap, liquors, drugs, seeds, lace and fiber.

The different countries on this continent will be on speaking terms with each other if these war-like tariffs are not kept up. Christian brethren, think of it, that you may yet have to consider and treat the "Canucks" and the "Greasers" as members of the human family and all because of the spread of this "un-American free trade sentiment."

The Sugar in the Treasury.

It is plain, from this testimony that the plan of annexation was clearly in the minds of Mr. Spreckels and the sugar trust long ago, as well as a shrewd conception of what pecuniary returns annexation could be made to yield to them; and it is doing no violence to the ordinary rules of safe conjecture to suppose that these gentlemen were the chief agents in bringing the annexation scheme to a head. It was difficult to see how the Hawaiians could be made citizens of the United States without becoming entitled to the sugar bounty which is now paid to all other sugar-raising citizens, and while Mr. Spreckels and his friends may have been disappointed that payment of the bounty was not specifically provided for in the treaty that was negotiated, or may have been shrewdly decided that it was better to leave that matter entirely unmentioned for the present, it is certainly not unfair to suppose that it was the benefit of the bounty which they were working for. And a substantial benefit to them it would be.—Providence Journal.

Because the alleged steel wheels put out by inexperienced manufacturers have gone down in ordinary winds, a fact that has grown that the Steel Wheel is unsafe. Judge it only by the Aermotor.

In this year's blizzards and cyclones the Aermotor loss is proportionately much less than any wooden wheel, while the loss of the imitation steel ones has frequently been total.

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country." Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 8 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower? 1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For 92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

GALVANIZED It is not enough to make portions of the Aermotor galvanized. The Steel Aermotor and Steel Tower are now galvanized after being completed, the absolutely protected from decay.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by dealers in medicine.

CHICAGO ENTERTAINMENT BUREAU.

Are You Going to the Big Fair? Then Secure Your Accomodations Beforehand.

The experience of strangers in Chicago during the World's Fair Dedicatory exercises proves beyond doubt the great practical value of the services offered by the Chicago Entertainment Bureau to its patrons. During the week mentioned it was an impossibility to obtain accommodations, even at the second rate hotels, for less than five dollars per day, and all the leading hotels refused to receive additional guests.

Teachers will profit more than any other class of people by a visit to the World's Fair. The seekers after knowledge, the minds full of questions, the souls buoyant with noble aspirations, have never in the history of mankind had such a feast spread before them. The surroundings alone will be a perpetual inspiration. Every feature of every building will be a page in the history of the world's architecture, and their contents will set forth the progress and the results of every science, every art, and every industry in such an orderly and systematic manner that the trained mind can grasp and interpret them with the least possible effort. To the Teacher and the Student, therefore, a visit to the Exposition will be the fulfillment of many hopes.

But those who are most capable of profiting by such an opportunity are not generally the most able to afford the pecuniary outlay which it calls for. It is primarily to aid such persons that the efforts of the Chicago Entertainment Bureau are directed. Our aim is to sucure lodgings, mostly in private families, for Teachers, Students and their friends at the most reasonable terms. We have already engaged several hundred rooms in homes where guests will be comfortable and secure, and we are in position to provide for all who may apply in season. No promise will be made unless we have absolute certainty of being able to fulfill it.

To persons of culture and experience we need not enlarge upon this—it is self-evident.

The longer time one can spend at the Exposition, under favorable circumstances, the greater the profit. This renders it all the more imperative to secure accommodations at reasonable rates, and this is the aim of the Chicago Entertainment Bureau.

The proprietors and managers of this Bureau are college graduates of mature years, and can refer to many well known educators all over the country, as to their reliability and character.

What we finally most emphatically must impress upon the attention of all, is the necessity of making application early, in order to enable us to know for how many to provide.

CHOICE ACCOMMODATIONS.

Appreciating that there are many expecting to visit the World's Fair at Chicago, who wish to realize a greater degree of comfort than can be had in overcrowded hotels or boarding-houses, the Chicago Entertainment Bureau offers its services to attain the desired result.

We have contracted for a number of choice, well-furnished rooms in private residences, within a reasonable distance of the Exposition grounds, which can be obtained through us for any portion of the season, at rates considerably less than those charged by all of the first-class hotels.

We have also engaged and offer a limited number of elegantly furnished flats and houses where families or parties of friends may pass any part of the Exposition season with the greatest degree of comfort and with whatever of luxury they may desire.

ESTIMATE OF NECESSARY EXPENSES.

1. It is generally expected that the railroads will agree upon half fare to and from the Exposition.

2. For rooms secured through this Bureau, the general price will be $1.00 per day for each occupant, usually two in a room. Persons to whom privacy and luxury are more of an object than economy, can be provided with accommodations suitable to their tastes at proportionately higher rates.

3. MEALS: Most of the private families will, if desired, furnish breakfast at reasonable rates. Our apartment houses have restaurants in their immediate vicinity. The other meals will naturally be taken at the Fair Grounds or in the city. Persons so disposed need not lay out more than from $1.00 to $1.50 a day for their meals.

"The great mass of visitors will doubtless prefer to arrange, as a matter of economy, to take their meals from day to day wherever it may best suit their convenience.

"It is estimated that from 50,000 to 100,000 people can be satisfactorily served with meals and lunches within the Exposition Grounds alone, and the extended and constantly increasing list of restaurants, hotels and boarding houses all over the city will more than double these facilities—at prices to suit all conditions and demands."

4. GENERAL: Admission to the Fair is 50c.

The necessary daily expenses for those who employ the services of this Bureau need not exceed $2.50 to $3.00.

For a term of ten days this would amount to $25 to $30, and for a month $75 to $90.

Incidental expenses should of course be provided for, to the tastes and inclinations of each visitor.

The following membership fee will be charged, to secure the Bureau against loss. No one however runs any risk even upon this small outlay, as the membership tickets are transferable.

Adults,	$2.50
Teachers,	2.00
Students,	2.00
Children under 15 years,	1.00

We have secured the agency for this Beureau for Tecumseh and vicinity. Circulars containing full information and particulars are furnished gratuitously to all who apply for them. Every member will receive a pocket map of Chicago FREE. A very complete guide to the city and Exposition grounds will be furnished at the low price of twenty five cents each, and each membership certificate will be accompanied by a pocket map of Chicago without extra cost.

Call at the HERALD office for circulars and further information.

THE GROWTH OF THE KINDERGARTEN.

The main truths upon which Froeble's system is based might be sifted down to a number small in comparison to the expanse they cover. From these times comes the wide spreading light of the whole guide to development which Froebel so simply and so earnestly gave to the world. We know them as truths, and find them repeated in every course of training whether artistic or scientific. As the public schools rise in the quality of their work, we find it is because the leading minds have begun to recognize the same truths as the only wise foundation for all thought and growth.

All successful charities we find organized by the same light, and thus they rejoice in the fine results which are sure to follow. Why, then, does the Kindergarten have so slow a growth? Why are these truths not recognized as Froeble's? For his sake we do not altogether need or wish it, though his simple life so consistent with the teachings has much in it to teach us; but for the work's sake we do need recognition.

America is said to be the strongest in Kindergarten, yet even here they have but a struggling maintenance, whereas they should be the glory of the country. This condition does not exist without reason. There is an explanation why the growth is not staunch and steady, with a more rapid recognition of results. That there is an increase we believe to be true, but it is uncertain and wavering. Many a noble woman gives her every effort to the cause for years with a bare sustenance as her material gain. While this is the case, she can not set or represent the work as it should be represented to appear to the world. The world must be appealed to on its own level sometimes, and to create the first response.

We think there is a remedy for this slow growth. Acknowledging that nothing which is durable grows up in a night, we feel that time enough has passed to show finer results in return for the great message Froebel gave to the world. The remedy may not be all in our own hands. Doubtless the world has to progress in its power of appreciation. Year by year children are regarded less as toys or animals, yet there are many tarrying in the old thoughts; many who think a child's education begins when he arrives at the fifth or seventh year! Think of it! The most valuable years left unacknowledged, or worse than that, because they are so seriously marred! The thought should double our tenderness and sincerity in our work, as we give thanks for permission to see and do differently.

The remedy then is not all on our side. But while there remains anything which we can do we are responsible, and our efforts may be met by unexpected changes in the response of those on the other side of the work. We believe the truths are not allowed to stand alone in the work. Instead of many workers being the main thing, in the minds of the Kindergartner, too often blues the work with details and furbelows which greatly injure the result. For example, a play is planned which is to impress and represent law of opposites; rhythm is the object in view. Then be so still that you yourself are in rhythm, through the action lead your little children into it too.

Teach by subtraction, of details and embellishments, instead of using numerous attractive (?) phrases, invitations to do thus and so,—"It is so pretty, and we all want to do it,"—carry your point by being the point itself, for the time being.

This is the most effective way of reaching little children, therefore must give the best results. Plan the work in simple principles: let the strength which you have wasted in embellishing be put into the making of this plan and removing all obstacles to its purest unity of purpose. Put in the vivifying word where it is needed, but no more; further than that let the child work for itself. I have seen a lesson given with the Second Gift when every point intended to be made clear was lost; imbedded in wordiness, personality and wasted force; stories interposed and invited, obsevations away from the subject made, until there could only be one impression made and that of—chaos!

We all know the beautiful sight of a little child experiencing alone a corner, an edge or a plane. True we are intended to help, but how? By removing obstacles, by guiding the child to the use of its own capacities, not by "nursing up" every discovery with words enough to bury it.

It is often the same with influences to kindliness, with reproofs and explanations. They are not done by subtraction. Subtract words, actions, caresses and smiles, and let the bare beautiful truths have a greater chance to touch the hearts of the little children. The reverse of this bare simplicity is like gingerbread work in architecture. It is not only ugly in itself but it mars the real beauty of form which may exist underneath. Let the truths stand out. Teach as far as possible without words. Live the truths, that they be embodied in our every action, and we shall see a growth more in keeping with the noble seeds which Froebel planted.

The finest kintergarten lesson ever witnessed was given in that first of Boston Kindergartens by the teacher who best represents the work I have tried here to describe. Given with two sticks and a few colored papers—given almost without words. You felt the openness of the children's minds—you saw how tenderly careful the great Kindergartner was not to interfere, but to help—never to blur.

THE TOWNSHIP ELECTION.

The township election last Monday was rather a tame affair. There was no particular issue involved, and personally considered the tickets were all unexceptionable, hence a light vote was polled. Some quiet work was done on Supervisor and Treasurer but that was all. The Republican candidate for Clerk cleaned out his own boss very nicely, but the Democrats captured the balance of the ticket throughout. The contest was close however, and the majorities were all small. On the State ticket, Editor Field made a splendid run, but no more than he deserved, although it would hardly be fair to call the result in his case a political victory. It was rather a personal tribute to a faithful public servant and indicated that the people desired to keep him where he is. The vote on the amendments was rather scattering. The voters apparantly took but little interest in most of them. Below we gave the result in detail. The first name under each official title, is Democratic, the second Republican and the third Prohibition.

Female Weakness Positive Cure.

To THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the thousand and one ills which arise from deranged female organs. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy FREE to any lady if they will send their Express and P. O. address. Yours respectfully, DR. B. D. MARCHISI, UTICA, N. Y.

World's Fair Will Open May 1.

As the crowning result of the great efforts that have been put forth by the officials, the Exposition will be open to the world May 1st.

The April issue of the "World's Columbian Exposition Illustrated," authentic organ of the World's Fair, which was established in 1890, contains a resume of the present status of the Exposition. After the Fair, this paper will be known as "Campbell's Columbian Journal." This number contains information from the Great Departments of the Exposition, under specially designed appropriate headings; also special articles on "What it will cost to see the Exposition," "How to see the Fair," 'The Exposition will be ready,' 'No Exorbitant Prices,' 'Adequate Transit Facilities,' 'Cannot Close the Gates.' 'Problems to Solve,' 'Art Works Chosen,' 'Siamese Exhibit,' 'South Africa Exhibit,' 'Mexico Exhibit,' 'Display of New South Wales,' 'Columbus' Documents at the Fair,' and 'U. S. Coin Exhibit,' etc., etc.

Among the multiplicity of copper plate illustrations are "The Persian Violet Exhibit,' 'Sculptors at Work on Colossal Figures,' full page cut of 'Machinery Hall;' also 'Agricultural Building,' 'Statue of Four Seasons;' 'Peristyltic Statue,' 'Bird's-Eye View for center piece,' 'Official Map of Exposition, with key to Exposition, State Buildings and Concessions,' 'Statue of Franklin, 'Lord of the Isles,' 'Vast Boiler Rooms,' 'Guatemala Building,' 'Views of New South Wales Mining Exhibit,' also 'Mammoth Ferris Wheel, etc., etc.

Among the noted personages is the Boy King of Spain, who with President Cleveland will open the Exposition; the Queen Regent, late King Alphonso XII., Princess Eulalia, Prince Antonio de Orleans, President Barrios and wife of Guatemala, together with Chies John M. Samuels for frontispiece, etc., etc.

Altogether this issue is a library of information, and coming as it does just before the opening of the Exposition, it is invaluable to all who intend visiting the Fair, and is still more valuable to those who cannot. One number is worth more than a year's subscription.

The object of this publication is to make a Complete History of the Fair The First Bound Volumes with indexes to 1,000 illustrations, are now ready. The publisher wants good agents in every town.

Subscription price 12 issues $2.75. Sample copy and full particulars sent for 25 cts, in stamps. Address J. B. CAMPBELL, President, 159 and 161 Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

This looks more like spring.

A. W. Haight was in town over Sunday.

Jim Moreland, of Adrian, was in town Monday.

E. F. Kirchgessner was in Toledo on business Monday.

Henry Wagner and son Willie, spent Sunday in Napoleon, Ohio.

Chet Haines and family, of Adrian, spent Easter in Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Burroughs, of Cherokee, Iowa, are in town.

Walter Burridge was in Adrian a portion of last week on legal business.

N. W. Anderson got home from New York last Saturday. Now look out for new goods.

Miss Clementine Budd, of Hector, N. Y., is visiting her uncle, Dr. C. M. Woodward.

Edgar Coddington has gone to Cincinnati to take a position in the Wells, Fargo & Co's express office.

It was All Fools day at the Lilley House last Saturday. If you don't believe it, ask some of the boarders.

Alfred James retires from the Supervisorship of Tecumseh after eight years of faithful service, and he has made a record of which any man might well be proud.

An exchange tells of a poor man who less than a year ago, had only one suit of clothes, went into the newspaper business and now has eight suits. Seven of them are for libel.

Editor Field made a fine run for School Commissioner, leading all the other candidates on the State ticket. His majority in the County will not be far from 150. His phenomenal run in Tecumseh shows how he stands where he is best known. He has made an excellent record during his two years term and the voters show their good sense in retaining his services.

For two years in Iowa and one year in Michigan, Pastor H. A. Smith had experience in work among prisoners. The topic of his address at the Baptist church on next Sunday evening, April 9, will be, "The Man in Stripes; why is he there? Or the causes of crime. What is done for him while he is there or the Reformation of criminals? What of him when he leaves the prison, or his place in society." All interested ones are cordially asked to be present. Young men and boys are especially invited.

Mrs. F. A. McNeil is on the sick list.

Will Baker was home over Sunday.

What ailed the Clinton Democrats last Monday?

Ernest Goff, of Bay City, was in town over Sunday.

There was an old fashioned big crowd in town last Saturday.

Ernest Hill, of Fairfield, has been visiting Hamilton Hoag.

D. L. Whitenack & Co. swing out a new spring card this week.

Manchester went democratic straight for the first time in sixteen years.

Ridgeway flopped this spring and elected most of the Republican ticket.

Homer Bickford, of Raisin, returned last week from a visit at his old home in New York.

Prof. W. H. Stump began teaching penmanship in the Public schools, last Monday morning.

The dam went out at Manchester Friday night, and the electric light plant had to shut down, leaving the city in darkness.

Hudson has heretofore been strongly Republican. This spring the city and township each chose a full ticket and both went Democratic.

The Ladies social of the Universalist church will meet at Geo. Hanford's, Friday, April 14th, afternoon and evening. All are invited.

A sumptuous Easter dinner was served at the Lilley House last Sunday, and a large number of home guests partook thereof.

Last Tuesday, the wind concluded that Avery & Co., should come out in the spring with a new front awning, and forthwith tore the old one off.

E. L. Teeple, the photographer, has moved his family from the studio, and will hereafter use the whole of the building for his photo and picture frame business.

A committee meets to-night at the Lilley House for the purpose of making arrangements for the annual May Party. All may be looking forward to it, as there will surely be one.

Bishop Gillespie expresses himself in favor of church taxation. He stated this at a meeting of the pastor's conference in Grand Ripids, yesterday. The stand he has taken creates a profound sensation.

Rev. J. P. Varner will preach a sermon to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, in the M. E. church on Sunday evening, April 9th, at 7:30 o'clock. Members will please meet in room No. 1 at 7:15 p. m.

Clarence Rossman, who for sometime handled the turning lathe at the Table Factory, was seriously injured at Jackson, by the bursting of an emory wheel, a flying piece of which struck him on the head inflicting an ugly gash.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. H. L. Stewart during the month of April. First meeting April 7th, Friday, at 3 o'clock p. m., will be mother's meeting; superintendents Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Varner.

Class organization is here, with balmy spring and the Seniors and Juniors sport their new head dresses. The Senior cap is white and gold, while the Juniors have donned the blue mortarboard, and an expression which looks as though they couldn't help it.

Mr. B. F. Bridge, who represents the A. N. Kellogg Newspaper Co., was in town Tuesday and favored the HERALD with a friendly call. This House, in addition to the main business at Chicago, has eight branch houses, and is evidently doing an immense business.

W. H. Smith, wife and daughter, of Saline, have been spending the past week with their daughter, Mrs. G. W. Mead. They left yesterday afternoon for Southern California. Chas. Burleson and family of Macon, joined them, and they, with four other persons at Coldwater, expect to make California their future home.

J. Loyd Brezee, formerly of Adrian, Detroit and Grand Rapids, and widely known in newspaper, literary and dramatic circles, died April 3d. at the Grand Palace hotel in Chicago. About a week ago he was taken ill with hemorrhage of the bowels, which terminated fatally. The remains will be taken to Jackson for burial. He was a man of brilliant gifts but somewhat erratic in disposition.

"By Force of Impulse,"—One of the most sparkling war dramas; full of roaring fun, deepest pathos, thrilling incidents, and powerful climaxes. This clean, wholesome play, wherein the interest deepens with every act, will in the near future, under Grand Army management, be presented in Sutton's Opera House by our best local talent. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to charitable purposes. Further particulars later.

The Hillsdale Democrat is responsible for this: The fact that the new postage stamps are backed with mucilage that is a health producing article is not generally known. It is claimed by John Wanamaker that a constant use of these stamps will cure bronchitis, consumption, liver complaint, neuralgia, toothache, ingrowing toe nails, a swell head after a night out with the boys, and any and all cases of domestic troubles can be easily and quickly settled by a liberal use of stamps. The demand is so great that it is feared the stock for 1893 will prove insufficient, and another grind will become necessary.

Will Ross went to Detroit this morning.

DeWitt Arner was a HERALD caller Wednesday.

Dr. Ernest Gamble, of Garrett, Ind., was in town the first of the week.

Six good plays at the opera house next week by the Frank Tucker Co.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Cholera Again Ravaging Russia.

Cholera has made its appearance again in St. Petersburg, Russia, and it is known that fatal cases are of daily occurrence, although the authorities have not resumed their policy of last year of making a regular daily announcement of the new cases and deaths. At present the authorities are pursuing a policy of suppression and withhold from the public all information as to the spread of the disease. Fery disquieting rumors have been received from the interior of Russia, and the ministry of the interior is taking action which indicates that the government must possess special information of the gravest character.

150 Killed in Battle in Honduras.

Dispatches from Honduras says that the position of acting President Aguero is a pitiable one. He is practically a prisoner in the capital and is acting under the orders of Gen. Vasquez, who is Dr. Bonilla's rival for the control of the republic. A disastrous battle was fought near Tatumbia, Honduras, several days ago, in which the government troops were defeated. More than 100 government soldiers were slain and fully one-half as many revolutionists.

Disastrous and Fatal Wind Storm.

A strong southwest wind was blowing at Cleveland, raising clouds of dust that were almost unbearable. Charles E. Giles, a real estate agent, while walking along Superior street, was struck upon the head by a falling signboard and almost instantly killed. Much damage to telephone and telegraph wires and buildings in course of erection and a number of minor accidents have been reported.

English Royalty Visits the Pope.

Pope Leo gave a ceremonial audience to the princess Victoria and Maude, and her son, Prince George, the duke of York, attended by their suites. The entire pontifical court assembled in state array, and all the English prelates at present in Rome were in attandance. The party afterward visited Cardinal Rampolla, the pontifical secretary of state.

Threw Vitriol in Her Husband's Face.

Mrs. Caroline Hagan, wife of Charles Hagan, a member of the Dayton, O., fire department, in a fit of jealous rage and in response to Hagan's remonstrance as to her conduct on the previous evening, dashed a bottle of vitriol in her husband's face. Hagan lies in the hospital suffering terrible agony and will probably be blinded for life.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 3.—R. G. Dunn & Co's weekly review of trade says: The fact of largest influence in the record of the past week has been the increased distribution of goods. The stringency often seen about April 1 did not appear here, nor are other money markets more close. But while imports greatly exceed exports, it is not safe to calculate that the outgo of gold will not again disturb confidence. Wheat at Chicago had a sudden fall of 7c in one day, but as prices there have been 15c to 20c higher than at other western cities and 8c higher than at New York markets were very little affected anywhere else and here are only an eighth lower. But the price in Great Britain is the lowest ever known. Corn fell 2½c with small sales and oats 1½c and the break in hog products reached 75c per bbl in pork and a cent a lard. The business failures occurring throughout the country in the last seven days number 194. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 218.

The date for the reciprocity convention to be held in St. Paul has been set at July 5 and 6.

The captain of a cattle steamboat sailing from Liverpool put nine American stowaways ashore at Capel Island, which is uninhabited. They were rescued by the crew of a fishing boat and taken to Queenstown.

William Hawley, escaped from Ionia nine years ago, after serving a few months of a nine-year larceny sentence from Ottawa county. He has returned and asked to be locked up. He had been all through the west, but constant fear of detection was worse than imprisonment.

A MINE DISASTER.

TEN OR MORE SUFFOCATED BY SMOKE FROM A FIRE.

Caused by the Explosion of a Miner's Lamp—Thirty Mules Also Suffocated—Hotel Fire in a Pennsylvania Town Cost at Least Five Lives.

A fire started 20 feet from the bottom of the slope in the Neilson shaft at Shamokin, Pa. At this point there is an old house which is used by the men to change their working clothes for others before leaving the mines. About 10 minutes to 7 o'clock on the fatal morning a Hungarian was setting his lamp and it exploded, igniting the oil about him. He rushed from the oil house and the flames spread with rapidity. Attempts were made to fight the fire, but those who started to do so were compelled to flee for their lives. They succeeded in reaching the bottom of the shaft and were hauled to the surface, along with some belated miners, who owe their lives to the fact that they did not go to work at their usual time. Many other miners escaped, but as soon as search could be made 10 men were found dead in a vein 100 feet above where the fire broke out. Through an airway from the lower vein to the vein above the smoke poured suffocating the unfortunates like rats in a trap. The bodies were removed to the surface with much difficulty. They were taken to the blacksmith shop, where the most pathetic scenes were witnessed. Three of the men were married and had large families. The others were young men, averaging less than 25 years of age.

Only two mules were gotten out alive. Five were found with their necks resting over each other's bodies. How they got together in this position is a mystery. There are altogether 30 dead mules in the mine.

Five Lives Lost in a Hotel Fire.

A disastrous fire occurred at Bradford, Pa., and resulted in the loss of at least five lives and the injury of 25 persons. At 4:20 o'clock in the morning when the fire was discovered in Higgins hotel and spread with such fury that in a short time the structure was a mass of flames. The hotel was occupied chiefly by railroad men, and there were about 125 persons asleep in the building when the first started. When the alarm aroused the sleeping people a wild panic at once ensued, and many of those who were aroused jumped from windows into the creek, 50 feet below, some being seriously bruised and others badly burned.

The fire spread to adjoining buildings, and the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg depot and freight house were soon destroyed. The flames communicated to Le Roy's grocery store and it was speedily reduced to ruins. The loss on the buildings destroyed is about $100,000. The cause of the fire is unknown, but is suppoted to have caught from a gas stove.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS.

President Cleveland Decides That the Tariff Needs an Early Consideration.

To a few Congressmen who have talked with him on the subject, Mr. Cleveland has intimated that he will call an extra session of Congress to dispose of the tariff question. No definite time has been set, but the session will begin either in September or October. Beyond the decision to call the extra session, no details for the consideration of Congress have been arranged, and the subject has progressed no further than the determination to have Congress meet in one or the other of the months named. Mr. Cleveland, it is said, was led to call the session by the Republican defeat of 1890, following so close on the enactment of the McKinley tariff law. He believes that a fair test of a new tariff law cannot be had in a few months, and therefore has deemed it wise to have Congress assemble two or three months earlier than usual.

To Keep Out the Cholera.

Secretary Baker and Frank Wells of the state board of health went to New York to attend the annual meeting of the national conference of state boards of health. This meeting was of unusual importance, inasmuch as the principal quarantine officers of the United States, Canada and Mexico attended, and the matter of quarantining exhaustively considered.

Bricklayers and Masons Strike.

The bricklayers and masons' union, of Grand Rapids, has struck for an eight-hour work day, with wages of 45 cents an hour, the same as paid last year. The contractors refused to grant the demand, as helpers and common laborers on building jobs and carpenters all work nine hours and the change could not be made.

The French monarchists have scattered throughout the republic a circular letter calling on their followers for active measures.

Spain has presented to the United States the Santa Maria, the reproduced flagship of Columbus, now en route to the World's Fair.

E. D. Farnsworth, ex-grand secretary of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows in the United States, died in San Francisco aged 75 years.

There is a probability that the cruiser New York will take part in the naval review on April 27. Officials of the William Cramp & Sons Company express themselves willing to man the ship if the government wants her to appear before she goes into commission and while incomplete.

The right of way, yards and docks for the Schlessinger syndicate's new iron ore railroad from Iron Mountain to Menominee has been entirely secured. Surveyors are at work and the building of the road will soon be commenced.

The breaking of the great ice gorg in the Delaware river near Washington crossing, N. J., and the consequent subsiding of the water on the farm lands along the Delaware reveals damage that will require years to remedy. Orchards and vineyards are uprooted. Wagon roads will have to be rebuilt. It is estimated the total loss from the freshet amounts to $1,000,000.

NEW FRENCH CABINET

THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES FORCED A CRISIS.

But President Carnot Immediately Selects a New Leader and the Cabinet is Soon Reformed—M. Meline Forms the New Ministry.—General News.

Paris cable: The ministry has resigned. In the chamber of deputies a crisis arose, but not on the Panama issue. The ministry that has resigned had held office for only about 11 weeks, coming in when M. Loubet resigned on account of the Panama scandal.

It is rumored that M. Develle, minister of foreign affairs in the Ribot cabinet, will be asked by President Carnot to form a new ministry.

The crisis arose through the submission to the chamber by M. Lockroy of the report of the budget committee on the budget as it was returned to the chamber from the senate. M. Lockroy announced that the committee had resolved to send the budget back to the senate in the form in which it had originally passed the chamber of deputies. The senate, he added, had suppressed in the budget all the reforms passed by the chamber. It was impossible to permit such an infringement of constitutional prerogatives in the matter of finance. The chamber, then proceeding to discuss the clauses, rejected the senate amendment, including the bill amending the liquor laws. M. Tirard declared that these must be separated from the budget as the senate had proposed. Otherwise, he said, the government would be obliged to ask for a vote on account. M. Ribot supported M. Tirard and urged the chamber to agree with the senate.

On the division the chamber decided by a vote of 247 to 242 to retain the liquor law amendment bill as part of the budget. The ministers held a meeting and immediately afterward went to the Elysee and gave their resignations to President Carnot.

The rumor as to whom President Carnot would select for the task of forming a new ministry were soon set at rest by the announcement that the president had requested M. Meline to undertake the formation of a cabinet. After consulting with President Carnot, M. Meline selected the following:

FELIX JULES MELINE, premier and minister of commerce.
CHARLES DUPUY, minister of the interior.
JACQUES TRARIEUX, minister of justice.
RAYMOND POINCARRE, minister of finance.
EUGENE SPULLER, minister of education.
FRANCOIS VIETTE, minister of public works.
ADMIRAL RIEUNIER, minister of marine and of the colonies.
ALBERT VIGER, minister of agriculture.
GENERAL LOIZILLON, minister of war.
M. DEVELLE, minister of foreign affairs.

M. Meline, the new premier, who is a lawyer by profession, was born in 1838. During the seige of Paris he was adjutant to the mayor of the first arrondissement. He was elected a member of the chamber of deputies in 1872. In 1876 M. Meline was under secretary of state in the department of justice and in 1881 he was appointed minister of agriculture. During his his term of office he founded the order of merit for agriculture. In 1888 he was named president of the chamber of deputies. In politics he is an opportunist.

STANLEY SAID FAREWELL.

The Governor-General of Canada Prorogues the Parliament.

Ottawa special: The Dominion parliament has been prorogued after one of the shortest sessions on record, it having lasted but two months. Governor-General Lord Stanley proceeded in state to the senate chamber, where in the presence of the members of both houses he delivered the usual speech from the throne. He apprehended a favorable settlement of the Behring Sea discussion, referred to the deferred French treaty, expressed the belief that Canada would be well represented at the World's Fair and closed thus: "I feel with deep regret that the period of my official connection with the Dominion is drawing toward its close and that in all probability I am taking leave of you for the last time. Lest this should be the case I desire to avail myself of the present occasion to express my abiding interest in all that concerns Canada's welfare.

Eats by Absorbing Through Her Skin.

Early in January Eva Wessel, a little girl in Dayton, O., became covered with vivid red rings. No apparent discomfort arose from them. Within a day she began to swell, and in a few hours had reached three times her proper dimensions, and has remained so ever since. The swelling made it impossible for her to swallow even the smallest amount of food, and all this time she has been kept alive by absorption. Three times daily she is covered from head to foot with corn cooked to a mush in milk. The child seems to thrive on this diet, is good-natured and amuses herself with dolls and picture books. She is so huge that she cannot move, but reposes all the time in bed. Physicians do not know what is the matter, nor how to treat the case.

Fire in New York Prison.

A fierce fire broke out in the shops of the prison at Auburn, N. Y. Those destroyed were the pearl button shop, the brass bedstead shop, the brass foundry and foundry No. 2, all belonging to the state and Stickley & Symonds' furniture shop. The fire caught in the furniture room of Stickley & Symonds in two places and in the button shop and was presumably the work of convict firebugs. Loss to the state on buildings and stock, $40,000. No insurance. Stickley & Symonds' loss, $50,000; insured for $25,000.

Boys' Ghastly Find.

Two boys were playing along the river just south of the electric light works at Jackson, when they found the body of a female infant in the water. The coroner took charge of the remains and will make an investigation. The body had evidently been in the water for some time.

By the death of his uncle, Jacob Straddleman, Daniel Beamer, of Ogden, comes into possession of 80 acres of fine land, given him for the care of his uncle while he lived. Mr. Straddleman died at the age of 73, three weeks after taking up his home with Dan.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS.
Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and in the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends pursuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years and am now sixty years old, but feel as young as at thirty.

AROUND THE STATE.

MANY MATTERS WORTHY OF MENTION.

Reform School Lad in Latimer's Footsteps ---Ludington's Life Saving Crew Highly Honored.---Sleeping Car Burned while in Motion but the Occupants Escape.

Latimer Has a Rival.

William Jackson, a Saginaw lad sent to the Industrial school at Lansing for larceny, June 6, 1891, six months before Superintendent Wood assumed charge of the institution, exhibits by his recent ventures almost as much nerve as a Latimer.

The lad dropped out of a window in college No. 1, Aug. 14, 1891, and made a successful escape. He had several years yet to serve, but he eluded the officers and was not heard from until a few days ago, when Superintendent Wood received a telegram from an officer at Alma station that he had Jackson under arrest. The next day a letter was received at the Industrial school stating that Jackson had escaped, broken into a store and stolen a suit of clothes. While Superintendent Wood was conning the letter, two boys knocked at the door and wished to be shown through the building. Upon leaving the grounds after being shown around, an employe recognized one of the boys as Jackson. He was promptly arrested. He had on his person the suit of clothes which he had stolen, together with a gold watch and some fine jewelry which he had picked up somewhere. Upon being returned to the school, the young scamp confessed to having served 15 months in the Ionia prison under the name of W. A. Cullen, since he escaped from the Industrial school.

Ludington's Life Savers at World's Fair.

The life saving crew in charge of Capt. Chas. Tufts, who performed their duties with such proficiency at Ludington last season, has been selected from the hundreds of stations in the United States to represent the life saving service at the World's Fair. They took possession of the new station prepared for them at Jackson Park on April 1, where they were provided with an entire new outfit of boats and apparatus. The crew that occupied the Chicago station last year has been sent to Ludington and went into commission April 1.

Sleeping Car Burned—The Porter a Hero.

The sleeping car on the Soo line. Boston limited, mysteriously caught fire near Pembina early in the morning and the passengers escaped with their lives. The train was running at a high rate of speed and the first thing known one entire side of the car was in flames. Had it not been for the active work of the porter and one gentleman who had risen early there would have been a loss of life. As the car was heated by steam the origin of the fire is unknown. The sleeper was entirely destroyed. Beyond slight burns received by the porter in rescuing ladies no one was injured.

He May "Kick the Bucket" Yet.

Charles Mashat, colored, a well digger, while working at the bottom of a well at Fred Beadle's Park Ridge addition of Ypsilanti was struck on the head by a falling bucket and driven into the loose sand nearly knee deep. He was taken out and now lies at home with a fractured skull. Recovery doubtful.

LATER—Mashat has died from the effects of his injuries. He leaves a widow and three children.

A Human Ostrich.

The following mass was taken from the stomach of a patient who died at the insane asylum at Kalamazoo. Seventy-five stones, thirty-eight nails, from 1½ to 5¼ inches in length, fifteen staples, two screws, two buttons, one piece of glass, and dirt, gravel and pieces of barbed wire. The total weight of foreign substances was: twenty-one ounces.

'Twas not an Ill Wind.

The town hall and a large blacksmith shop at Stephenson, Menominee county, were destroyed by fire. Loss from $2,500 to $3,500. The Milwaukee Mechanics carried an insurance of $500 on the town hall, which was the only building insured. A sudden change of wind and good work of the fire department saved the entire village from destruction.

Famous Jumping Horse Fatally Hurt.

Filemaker, the famous jumping horse of Mme. Marentette, of Mendon, fell on a picket fence and one of the pickets penetrated his body 10 inches. He is thought to be fatally injured. His record is 7 feet 4½ inches. His owner had refused $15,000 for the horse and $5,000 to ride him with Barnum's circus for the season.

Didn't Want a Sister.

Arthur Wade, of Watertown township, Clinton county, went to Lansing and bought a revolver. He then went home and after giving his watch to Miss Frances Kinney, who had previously informed him that she could only be a sister to him, repaired to the barn and shot himself dead. He was 23 years old.

A Marshal Stabbed.

While trying to make an arrest at Port Austin Marshal Samuel Patrick was twice stabbed in the head. The wounds though painful, are not serious. A warrant for the arrest of the two Layman boys, Edward and Tony, was sworn out.

The T., A. A. & N. M. Co. has ordered 1,000 new freight cars.

Twenty pole-peelers went on a strike at Loomis. They asked for an increase to half a cent per foot. They won.

Easter Sunday was observed at Albion in an appropriate manner at the M. E. Church. The church debt of $4,000 was wiped out in the morning by subscription and 1,200 people attended special services in the evening.

Mrs. James Hauffman, of Grand Rapids, was delivered of three girl babies. They weigh respectively eight, five and four pounds. The mother and children are doing well. Mr. Hauffman is a blacksmith. Besides the triplets they have two girls aged 14 and 4 years respectively.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Fifty-eighth day—The escape of the infamous murderer Latimer was the talk of the day among the members of both the Senate and the House. All the bills bearing upon punishment of murderers were discussed outside of the session and the matter is sure to influence legislation on this subject. At a short evening session of the Senate a few bills were passed, among them a bill empowering villages to own and control cemeteries either within or without their corporate limits; to prohibit the catching or killing of fish in the Raisin river except with hook and line; for a board of jury commissioners for St. Clair county. Senator Gibson presented the protest of 274 residents of Wayne county against the passage of the Buzzell minnow bill. HOUSE.—Representative McKinstry's pure food bill was taken from the table and passed upon the order of the third reading. Representative Sumner's bill providing for the death penalty for murder by convicts was taken from the table and referred to the committee on judiciary. He also moved to take his bill for an appropriation of $10,000 for electrocution apparatus from the committee on state affairs and refer it to committee of the whole, but objection was made and the motion was withdrawn. The House then went into committee of the whole.

SENATE.—Fifty-ninth day.—The Brundage anti-free pass bill was discussed and lost upon a vote. In committee of the whole numerous measures were acted upon, but in legislative session very few bills were passed with the exception of township and municipal bills of purely local interest. The other bills passed were: Amending the law relative to the incorporation of manufacturing companies; exempting from jury duty veterans who served one year or more in the volunteer service of the United States; amending the law relative to the transfer of personal estates held in trust; for the incorporation of associations for the purpose of establishing scholarships in the University for high school graduates. House.—Representative Moody's bill providing for a flash test of 120 degrees for kerosene oils was reported out from the committee with the test reduced to 120 degrees. A motion was carried to except the use of gasoline, benzine, naphtha and benzole in street lamps and stoves for heating purposes and the bill was reported to the committee of the whole. Senate bill to authorize cities and villages to acquire by purchase or condemnation the franchises of toll or plank road companies to such roads as lie within their corporate limits, was taken from the committee of the whole, the rules suspended, the bill passed and given immediate effect. A bill was passed for a board of control of three members for the State Public school, at Coldwater, to be appointed by the governor, to serve without compensation, and to meet once in three months. The special committee on the contested election cases of Shellberg and Davock vs. Griffin and Rusch, reported in favor of paying the following attorney fees and expense accounts: Griffin, $142.10; Rusch, $100; Shellberg, $125; Davock, $166.60. Adopted. Afterwards reconsidered and tabled. Bills incorporating the Ancient Order of Essenic and authorizing Masonic bodies to erect buildings, were passed and given effect. Also a bill to regulate the sale of soups, fruits, etc., put up in tin; reconsidered and tabled. A bill providing for a board of control of three members for the Michigan Asylum for the Insane, to be appointed by the governor for terms of two, four and six years, was passed.

SENATE.—Sixtieth day—The bill creating a separate board of control for the Michigan School for the Deaf and Dumb caused much partisan strife and the bill was passed by a strict party vote. The committee on finance and appropriations reported a bill providing for a book fund of $4,000 for the state library, a reduction of $1,000 from the sum asked; also a bill appropriating $72,000 for a colony house and other buildings at the State Insane Asylum at Kalamazoo, a cut of $27,000. The committee on insurance recommended the passage of a bill making it unlawful for foreign insurance companies legally admitted to do business in Michigan, to place or caused to be place insurance on property in the state in offices outside of the state. Bills passed: Joint resolution authorizing the governor to issue a commission to Frank D. Baldwin, as lieutenant-colonel of the Nineteenth Michigan Infantry, to date from May 15, 1865; this is to correct an error in his commission of that date. Mr. Baldwin is now captain in the regular service; appropriating $109.50 for the maintenance of the Michigan School for the Deaf; providing for a legal and uniform system of computing interest and discount; amending the law regulating the practice of dentistry; appropriating $2,000 to pay the expenses of a commission to locate and mark the positions occupied by Michigan regiments and batteries at Chickamauga, Chattanooga and Mission Ridge. Representative Ewing's bill to permit agricultural societies whose corporate existence is about to expire to reorganize failed of passage; reconsidered and tabled. HOUSE.—A joint resolution was passed authorizing the governor to issue a commission as lieutenant-colonel of the Nineteenth Michigan Infantry to Frank P. Baldwin, to date from May 15, 1865. In committee of the whole a bill was passed to allow the use of Rhines' or any other vote recorder at township, city and village elections. A bill prohibiting persons from walking or driving upon railroad tracks was discussed at length, and was then killed. The committee arose and the House passed the voting machine bill. The mortgage tax law was so amended as to provide for the taxation of real estate mortgages held by banks and insurance companies. They have been accustomed to deduct these from their capital stock and thus escape the taxation of their capital stock.

SENATE.—Sixty-first day—A resolution for an investigation of affairs at the state prison was introduced by Senator Fox and was unanimously adopted. A petition was received from the Central Board of Control of state institutions asking for the appointment of a committee to investigate the management of the Michigan School for the Deaf and Dumb, inasmuch as insinuations had been made against the competency of the board. A concurrent resolution for the appointment of such a committee was tabled. The committee on the school for the blind reported out a bill providing for a board of control for that institution, and it was made a special order for April 12. Bills passed: Amending the law of 1891 relative to the assessment and collection of taxes; repealing acts for the creation of a soldiers' aid fund. Passed in committee of the whole: Prohibiting the reception of United States prisoners at penal institutions of Michigan; providing for the incorporation of supreme and subordinate lodges of the United Home Protectors' Fraternity; making an appropriation for the construction of a colony house and to make other improvements at the State Insane Asylum; providing for the incorporation of the supreme commandery and subordinate commanderies of the United Friends of Michigan; amending the law relative to the election of county commissioners of schools; appropriating $4,000 for the purchase of books for the state library. House.—The House went into committee of the whole on Representative Moody's illuminating oil bill. The bill requires a flash test of 120 degrees, exempts gasoline used in stoves and street lamps, and crude petroleum consumed in furnaces and provides for a uniform inspection fee of 25 cents per barrel. The salary of the state inspector is $1,200 and the deputy inspectors $900 each per annum. The committee arose and the House passed the bill. Representative Barkworth spurred on by the recent events at the state prison at Jackson offered a resolution providing for a committee of five to investigate the system of management prescribed by the board of control, the conduct of the warden and other officers of such prison with respect to its management, the rules adopted for the government of subordinates, the supervision exercised by the officers in charge, the privileges accorded to convicts, and all circumstances bearing thereon, and to report the result of such investigation with all convenient speed. The resolution was referred to the committee on state prison.

The annual election in the Second regiment, state troops, at Grand Rapids, resulted as follows: Colonel, Chas. H. Rose, Grand Rapids; lieutenant-colonel, Fred H. Case, Three Rivers; major, Fred A. Mansfield, Grand Haven.

Conductor Wolf, of the G. R. & I., had a close call near Kalkaska. He was in charge of a logging train. A log fell off and stood upon end in the snow until struck by the end of a coach. By the force of the blow it was driven clear through the coach and passed on the other side, carrying with it the seat immediately in front of Wolfe, who was busy making out his report. He escaped injury.

He owned considerable property, and foul play is suspected.

A LITTLE GIRL'S EXPERIENCE IN A LIGHTHOUSE.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and half bottles was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at J. J. Orr's drug store.

RICH, RED BLOOD.

As naturally results from taking Hood's Sarsaparilla as personal cleanliness results from free use of soap and water. This great purifier thoroughly expels scrofula, salt rheum and all other impurities and builds up every organ of the body. Now is the time to take it.

Officer, there's a big row going on around the corner. Don't yez think I kin hear it, ye chump? Move an!

"Beauty" may be "only skin deep;" but the secret of a beautiful skin is pure blood. Those coarse, rough, pimply complexions may, in most cases, be rendered soft, smooth, and fair by the persevering and systematic use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

At sword's points—dirt and Pearline. It is hard for dirt, but pleasant for the housekeeper. Pearline does your washing and cleaning as nothing else can. It is strong enough to do it with little help; it is powerless to harm anything with which it helps you. Get Pearline, and the rest is easy; you can rest easy if you use Pearline.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK HEAD ACHE

Yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head ACHE is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

HEAD ACHE

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills makes a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them. In vials at 25 cents; five for $1. Sold by druggists everywhere, or sent by mail

CARTER MEDICINE CO., New York.

SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

A GREAT BENEFACTOR.

"Educators are certainly the greatest benefactors of the race, and after reading Dr. Franklin Miles' popular works, we cannot help declaring him among the most entertaining and educating of authors."—New York Daily. He is not a stranger to our readers, as his advertisements appear in our columns in every issue, calling attention to the fact that his elegant work on Nervous and Heart diseases is distributed free by our enterprising druggists. Trial bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine are given away, also book of testimonials showing that it is unequalled for nervous prostration, headache, poor memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, neuralgia, hysteria, fits, epilepsy.

Judging from the size of an undertaker's bills his business is not a dead give-away.

CLINTON, MICH., APRIL 6, 1893.

S. C. Stacy was in town Wednesday.

Eva Shimman was here over Sunday.

L. A. Sutfin was in Jackson last Saturday.

Cora Ames, of Ypsilanti, is at H. D. Niblack's.

Will Waterhouse was home from Ypsilanti over Sunday.

Lue Way has purchased H. D. Niblack's house and lot.

Several from here attended the Halladay-Daniels wedding.

George Kies returned from Utica last Friday and went to Adrian Tuesday.

Fifty persons were admitted to the M. E. church on probation last Sunday.

J. R. Blanchard's office on Tecumseh street is going up with amazing rapidity.

Minnie Humphrey taught in the 1st Primary Wednesday in the absence of Mae Morey.

Remember "Inshavogue," the great Irish drama at Town Hall next Wednesday evening.

Married, at Adrian, Thursday, March 30th, 1893, Mr. Jesse Sproul and Miss Addie Rhodes.

Mrs. James Wells is quite sick. She was threatened with pneumonia but is a little better.

A. W. Muir was appointed village marshal by the common council last Monday evening.

Mrs. Jane Van De Mark was taken sick last Tuesday with a fainting spell. She is still quite poorly.

James Wood and wife, of Raisin, visited friends in Clinton and vicinity last Friday and Saturday.

Do not fail to hear Charles Marr, of Detroit in the famous character of "Inshavogue," next week.

Chauncey Fuller has moved the Hall house so that it now faces the west. The work was done last week.

At the annual parish meeting of St. John's church Tuesday evening the officers of last year were re-elected.

Donna Woodward and Elmer Davis, who have been sick with scarlet fever, are improving. There are no new cases.

The marriage of Fidele Steip and Miss Lizzie King will take place at St. Dominic's church Tuesday, April 11th.

Miss Clyde Marstellar had a slight stroke of paralysis the first of the week, the fingers of one hand being affected.

Howell Gardner, of Battle Creek, came Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Gardner, remaining until Thursday.

A missionary tea will be held Friday afternoon by the ladies of the M. E. church at the residence of Mrs. Will Katner.

Mrs. Lottie Doane, who came here from Valley City, N. D., to be with her mother, Mrs. Gardner, will remain here during this month.

The working society of St. John's church have a meeting Friday afternoon at Mrs. James Bradner's for the purpose of electing officers.

Mrs. Reuben Brownell died Monday after a lingering illness. She suffered with kidney disease and asthma. The funeral was held Wednesday.

Andrew Elliott, of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday at the Episcopal rectory. He left for Detroit Monday, returning Wednesday to accompany Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Chas. Reeves home.

The democratic ticket was elected Monday with the exception of Supervisor, Clerk and Treasurer. The State democratic ticket had 43 majority, C. F. Field, 80; Westerman, 34.

Miss Bertha Taylor, who has been quite sick for two or three weeks, was sufficiently improved to come to church Sunday. She remained in town for evening service and was taken sick at church. She went to the M. E. parsonage and Wednesday was able to be taken home.

The marriage of Herman Halladay and Miss Virginia Daniels took place Wednesday, April 5th, at 3 p. m., at the home of the bride's parents in Franklin. They will be at home to friends in their neat little house a mile and a half west of town, which was all ready for occupancy. The young couple have the good wishes of many friends.

The death of Mrs. Maggie Gardner, who had been an invalid for about three years, occurred last Saturday evening at 9 o'clock. Her suffering has been almost intolerable at times during her sickness, but she has borne it all with a patience that was almost sublime. The funeral was held at the house Tuesday, at 2 p. m., Rev. Williams officiating.

Wednesday evening, April 12, will be produced the celebrated Irish drama, "Inshavogue," for the benefit of St. John's society. The services of Charles Marr of Detroit have been secured and he will assume the great character of Inshavogue, with the following cast of characters:

Inshavogue—Chas. Marr.
Ulick Burke—W. D. VanTuyle.
Harry Carrington—Vern Sutfin.
Sir Roderick O'Dwire—C. D. Keyes.
Adolphus Vane—Alex. Kennedy.
Thady—D. H. Davis.
Lady O'Dwire—Genevieve Burroughs.
Kate—Grace Stevens.
Biddy—Jessie Sullivan.
Terrence, Peasants and Servants.
Laura Clark, Pianist.

The Result in Other Towns.

The following are the figures in detail from the other towns in this section of the County. Ridgeway and Clinton, which are properly Democratic towns, elect Republican supervisors. The other towns go about as usual. The vote was a light one throughout.

CLINTON.

The result in this town was decidedly mixed.

Supervisor—Geo. Lindsley, R., 7.
Clerk—Ed. L. Parker, R., 19.
Treasurer—J. D. Hause, R., 5.
School inspector—H. W. Daniels, D. 33
Justice, full term—Chas. McNeil, D. 4
Justice, vacancy—W. B. Keysor, D. 37
Highway commissioner—Grant Schroder, D., 10.
Drain commissioner—R. B. Gillespie, D. 18.
Member board of review—John T. Clark, D. 18.
Constables—W. H. Smith, G. W. Goodrich, Dow Draper, Almond Reeder, all Democrats.

MACON.

The Republicans elected the entire ticket as follows:

Supervisor—Humbolt Pennington, 48.
Clerk—M. B. Mills, 44.
Treasurer:—John Wiggins, 15.
School inspector—Spencer Morgan, 38.
Justice, full term—Wm. Richart, 23.
Justice, vacancy—John Boyd, 34.
Highway Com.—Samuel Gibson, 18.
Member board of review—Samuel Steel, 33.
Constables—Wm. Gibson, 24; Daniel Barnes, 27; Charles East, 29; Alfred Ballou, 34.

RAISIN.

The Democratic ticket in this township was elected by the following majorities:

Supervisor—Geo. R. Holloway, 51.
Clerk—Chas. Chase, 65.
Treasurer—L. W. Chase, 37.
School inspector—John L. Calhoun, 39
Justice, full term—Rob M. Boyd, 43.
Justice, vacancy—E. G. Montgomery, 43.
Highway commissioner—C. Kayner, 42
Member board of review—James Calhoun, 41.

RIDGEWAY.

The result in this town is mixed, the Republicans taking most of the ticket.

Supervisor—H. H. Atwell, R., 46
Clerk—L. C. Hoagland, R., 17.
Treasurer—C. B. Exelby, D., 5.
School inspector—Herman Schwab, D. 2.
Justice, full term—James Dubois, R., 35.
Justice, vacancy—John Britton, R. 33
Highway Com.—N. H. Ackley, R., 19.
Drain Com.—Joseph Daykin, R., 35.

FRANKLIN.

The republican ticket in this township was elected by the following majorities:

Supervisor—T. M. Camburn, 69.
Clerk—W. F. Smith, 71.
Treasurer—S. H. Love, 79.
School inspector—Clement H. Bramble, 69.
Justice, full term—Frank E. Bradley, 57.
Highway commissioner—C. W. Luce, 64.
Member board of review—J. S. Butrick, 68.
Constables—Jewett Whelan, 73, J. F. Smith, 71; Riley Butrick, 71; Will Camburn, 70, all Republicans.

The indications are, with complete returns from all the townships, that Durand, democratic candidate for supreme justice, will carry the county by 126 majority, that Field is elected school commissioner by 150, and that Lane will probably carry the county by three hundred.

The Nevada state legislature recently passed a law creating a state board of health. The authorities have written for a set of the compiled statistics of the Michigan board, and the letter states: "We recognize that Michigan's board of health leads the United States on public health matters, and thus come to the fountain head for our information." This is certainly a very high compliment for the peninsular state.

A famous New York orchestra leader, Mr. Anton Seidl, was recently given a view of the model of "The MacKaye Spectatorium" at Chicago. A few days later in commenting on that model to a New York newspaper man he said: "At the MacKaye Spectatorium will be realized more than Wagner ever dreamed of. Clouds, sunsets and other phenomona of Nature which at Bayreuth were a failure, will here be a scenic wonder." In closing the interview he said he confidently expected that this undertaking would lead to the establishment of a grand American Bayreuth Festival, which would surpass in every way anything the world has ever seen.

ALBERT D. LAWRENCE, P. M.

The Mackinaw Road In Court.

CINCINNATI, March 17.—The New York Courts have not yet rendered a decision in the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinac Railroad litigation. The case is of considerable local interest, inasmuch as Queen City parties are involved in many of the Mackinac complications brought about by numerous litigations.

Arguments in the case were made and concluded Wednesday, but Judge Ingraham reserved his ruling.

The action was brought in behalf of the executors of the estate of George W. Parsons and other stockholders of the C. J. & M. railroad company for an injunction restraining J. Kennedy Tod and other members of the reorganization committee of the railroad company from disposing of the stock of the company, representing a par value of $16,266,000, to any but the rightful owners, and from voting on the stock.

The plaintiffs say that Tod has kept their shares of the Consolidated Road in his own name, and votes on them at committee meetings, excluding the plaintiffs as rightful owners from a voice in the management of the road; that no sinking or other funds to secure the payment of interest are being provided, that there are no surplus earnings above what are actually required for the payment of the interest on the bonds. Mr. Tod denies any neglect or partiality, and sets up in defense that the plaintiffs made an agreement March 12, 1890, to turn the stock over to him, and to leave the subsequent disposition in his hands.

DARKNESS AND DAYLIGHT,

Or Lights and Shadows of New York Life.

In this new and suberbly illustrated work a noble Christian woman tells the thrilling story of her personal experience in Gospel, temperance, mission, and rescue-work in a great city. No recent publication is now commanding so much attention nor has any other called forth such words of 'Godspeed' from ministers and eminent women. It has been preached about from famous pulpits, read by tens of thousands of subscribers, and made the subject of many a clergyman's Sunday evening lecture. Its authorship is fourfold, its four authors being no less than:—Mrs. Helen Campbell, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D. D., Col Thomas W. Knox, and Inspector Thomas Byrnes, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau.

Mrs. Campbell, the principal writer, certainly was a woman commissioned of God, and 'In His Name' spent many years as a city missionary literally 'In Darkest New York.' What a wonderful work she did. How devoted and blessed her labors were.

Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's life-long interest in City Mission work, and his personal share in that work, pre-eminently fitted him to write for this book. In his Introduction to it he says:—

My interest in these phases of city life dates from my college days. From that day to this—over a third of a century—I have continued the studies then begun, and the subject of this book has been one of the great subjects of my study—sometimes in literature, often in life.

It contains 252 superb engravings, every one of them made from photographs taken from life, mostly by flashlight. Every face is a portrait, every scene a stern reality. In looking at these splendid illustrations the reader sees at a glance just how Gospel work is carried on by day and by night by rescue-bands; he is shown strange sights in out of the way places that are rarely or never seen by the casual visitor; he is taken into cheap lodging-houses and cellars; into the homes of the poor; into newsboys' lodging-houses into the police and detective departments, etc.,—nothing seems to be omitted.

Mrs. German, of Franklin, has the agency for this book for the towns of Tecumseh, Clinton, Franklin, and Cambridge, and ought to take a large list of subscribers.

Scribner's Magazine for April opens artistically with a rich group of illustrations by Robert Blum, who has recently returned from a two years' residence in Japan. He has written several papers detailing in the most entertaining way his experiences while in that country, and each of these will be fully illustrated from the remarkable collection of sketches and pictures which are the fruit of his study in that country. This paper is called "An Artist in Japan," and is taken up with the vivid first impressions which that country makes on an artistic temperment. In another article in this number, 'A New England Farm,' writer and illustrator are united in one person, with the additional novelty that the drawings are also engraved by the author, Frank French (whose article entitled "A Day With a Country Doctor" in this Magazine was, it is believed, the first example in an American periodical of a contribution written, drawn, and engraved by the same man.) In the present instance Mr. French gives a delightful picture of what a city man has accomplished on an abandoned New England farm.

Not Everybody Can Have The Chance.

To visit Washington; but that is no valid reason why everybody may not become thoroughly familiar with the points of interest at our National Capital, and with many things about it that only a favored few could enjoy even by a sojourn there. For example, the Foreign Legations; how many out of every hundred who visit Washington know anything about them? Yet you may sit quietly at home, without incurring the fatigue and expense of the journey, and see them all,—all the magnificent rooms and portraits of their occupants,—in Demorest's Family Magazine, the April number of which contains a charming paper, superbly illustrated, on The Foreign Legations at Washington. If you admire handsome woman, you will find portraits of over a score of Society Leaders of Illinois, which form a charming gallery. The paper on The Hawaiian Islands is timely, and is uniquely illustrated with portraits of all the kings and queens who have reigned over that island realm; A Debutante's Winter in New York contains much information regarding the etiquette of marriage engagements; En Route for Chicago gives excellent information for women who purpose traveling alone to the Chicago Exposition; there are numerous excellent stories; all the departments are full of good things; there are over two hundred illustrations, including an oil picture and a crayon; and altogether it is a superb Easter number,—a specimen of what is given twelve times a year, for $2. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 E. 14th St., New York.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss

At a session of the Probate court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office, in the City of Adrian, on Friday, the 31 day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three.

Present Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of William Wright, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Joseph Wright and Simon Gould executors of the last will and testament and upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of Administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid, and that they are now ready to render their administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned according to the terms of the will or said deceased and for such other order and decree as to this Court shall seem proper.

It is Ordered, That Monday, the first day of May next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD B. ROBBNS, Judge of Probate.

EVERYBODY knows that wall paper, with its vegetable paste and its colorings in animal glue, is unsanitary, and that to apply repeated layers of such is a very "nasty practice," as well as dangerous. Kalsomine is temporary, rots, rubs off and scales; paint stops "wall respiration" needed to purify walls. Sent to us for a paper from Kirkwood State Board of Health report on this subject, recommending Church's Alabastine, and plastic only for walls of dwellings.

THE DOCTOR.—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

Alabastine forms pure, permanent and porous coatings, and does not require to be taken off in part from time to time; it is a dry powder, ready for use by adding water (the latest make is used in cold water and is never sold in bulk); can be easily brushed on by any one; made in white and fashionable tints, and in three shades, from which decorators make the balance of forty shades on their card.

N. B.—It is not claimed that all who live in papered walls die much before their time, but they will enjoy better health with wall coating (PPPP) Pure, Permanent, Porous and Pretty.

Send for Alabastine Rock for Souvenir, Free; also Tint Card.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting in the matter.

MOUNT PLEASANT, MICH., August 15, 1892.

THE OWEN ELECTRIC BELT AND APPLIANCE CO.:

Dear Sirs:—I now am able to say, after having purchased one of your No. 4 Electric Belts with Spinal Appliance about one year ago, that I thank God I have found relief from my terrible suffering through the wonderful healing influence of your wonderful Body Belt. August 29, 1891, at which time I was a great sufferer, and had been for more than four years, from extreme nervous prostration, so much so that, on the least excitement, my whole nervous system would be all of a tremble from head to foot, and unable to control myself in the least, and would affect me to tears like a little child. I am a farmer by profession; in the fields, or at work on the farm, or at any excitement, it had the same effect. I could not lift the weight of five pounds. It so continued with increased suffering, until I was unable to help myself, and for eight long months my suffering was intense. My stomach was so weak that I could not take any food but crackers and warm water for the above time. My kidneys were so weak that I could not retain my urine, it would pass from me continually, and I was under the necessity of leaving my couch from six to eight times of a night to void my urine, which was very painful. I was also troubled with severe constipation and piles, so that I was obliged to use injections to produce evacuations of the bowels, it was very distressing, so much so that I had to be lifted in and out of my bed for several months. The doctors could do me no good whatever, and I had made up my mind that there was no help for me this side of the grave. My limbs would become numb and cold, seemingly as ice, and I would try with hot bricks, rubbing and all other methods to restore the circulation and natural feeling, but all to no effect, and then it would pass off. Then again another attack would occur which would leave me helpless, and so continued periodically, and I could get no relief. The doctors told me that I must not do any work, and that it would be three years at least before I would be able to work. I agreed with them, for I could not, nor did I ever expect to again. The whole world seemed to me a blank, and my vital forces all had left me, and my life was fast ebbing away from me through the loss of my life fluids, which doctors were unable even to check. I had given up all hope of ever getting help, and death in all its terrible forms stared me in the face, from which there seemed to be no avenue of escape from this living horror, of which no living person is able to know or feel, except his sufferings bear a like. In this state of suffering and agony I continued until about one year ago now I met a friend who, on seeing my helpless condition, advised me to try one of the Owen Electric Belts. For several weeks I doubted his statements about what he told me of the wonderful healing properties of it, but he was so earnest and persistent that I finally consented to send for one. He advised me to send for a No. 4 with spinal appliance, which I did, at a cost of $30.00, which is the price for No. 4 and spinal appliance. I will say here that it is the best $30.00 investment that I ever made in my life in the way of doctoring, remedies or anything else, as I had spent dollars up into the hundreds, but could get no relief whatever. As soon as I received the Belt and Appliance, I had it charged and adjusted and put it on, and in a short time after putting it on I began to feel wonderful soothing and genial currents of its healing power passing all through me, clear to the end of my toes and fingers, a prickling sensation like thousands of needles. Many were the sleepless nights I had passed unable to sleep but from one to two hours through the whole night for months. On the third night after wearing the Belt I slept all morning and awoke greatly refreshed. I was not disturbed, nor had I to void my urine once through the night, and I have not been bothered in that way since. All the drains upon the system have ceased, and constipation and piles all have left me as if by magic. My nerves have regained their former strength, my eyesight and mind have become clear, and I have gained in weight about 15 pounds, and I feel like a new man. My stomach has got back its power of digestion, and I can eat almost any kind of food that my appetite craves, without pain or distress. I am gaining daily and I feel better and stronger more than I have for the past ten years and it seems I have a new lease of life. I feel grateful enough in favor of your wonderful Electric Body Belt. It is far superior to all remedies that I have pounded for the relief and cure of chronic and complicated diseases and broken down constitutions. I would not take $2,000 for my Belt if I could not get another like it. There is nothing like it for relief and cure where all other remedies fail. I can not praise your Belt enough, for what it has done for me words can not express. I will say here that I recommend the Owen Electric Belt to all suffering humanity who fail to find relief from other remedies. It is the messenger of quick relief and certain cure of all nervous debility and other nerve troubles. I know it will cure all diseases which you advertise it to cure.

This you may publish to let suffering humanity know there is relief and cure to be found in your wonderful Belt and Appliances.

PENTECOST POINTERS.

Miss Bertha Butrick, of Tipton, was a guest at Postmaster Buck's yesterday.

Mrs. Merrill of Norvel is staying with her daughter, Mrs. J. Pentecost, who is still quite ill.

Mrs. J. Thielan has been under the care of Dr. Gary Ross, for some time past but is now on the gain.

Last Saturday, Mrs. Mark Perkins presented her husband with a very fine copy of himself, in a handsome oak frame.

Mrs. G. W. Fuller went to Manitou Beach, last Saturday, to assist in caring for her mother, Mrs. Ralph Baker, who is very sick.

Mrs. Dell H. Ellsworth was stopping in Pentecost, Friday and Saturday distributing some very fine portraits from the studio of W. P. Elmore, of Battle Creek.

Now Miss Virginia Daniels is no more
But, as Mrs. Herman Halladay she poses,
To welcome all, who seek her cottage door;
May her path in life be strewn with thornless roses.

It is seldom that the farmers find the soil in better condition for spring plowing than it now is. Oats are being sown extensively, wheat looks well, and fruit trees are in excellent condition; the peach buds are looking first rate, and grape vines and raspberries look thrifty and strong in this vicinity at least.

"Observation Social" at Mrs. M. E. Simmon's Friday night last. One young lady made a list of 58 articles, observed by her upon a tray, while passing once around a table, on which the tray stood. That young lady would make a good World's Fair Commissioner.

A large company assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Buck, last Tuesday night to give them a surprise. They passed the evening very pleasantly, the ladies having come prepared, served a bountiful supper to all present Mr. Albert Camburn was chosen to present Mr. Buck with a reclining chair, as a slight testimony of the respect and sympathy of his townsmen, in his heavy affliction.

HOLLOWAY HASH.

Protracted meetings will begin next week at the F. M. Church, so we have been informed.

We were much pleased to see Mr. A. G. Hall again in our midst, without the use of a sustaining crutch.

Joe Billmeyer, of Ann Arbor, will spend his vacation with his parents, having arrived here Monday morning last.

Supervisor Holloway, and Treasurer Boyd set 'em up to the boys last Saturday evening in this village; all good Democrats smoked, of course.

Last Tuesday F. G. Florance began preparation, for the enlargement of his store building which he expects will be occupied by the post office for the next four years anyway.

On his way to Indiana and Illinois, Mr. J. M. Green stopped off here to visit friends the first of the week. He reports being quite successful in his creamery enterprise, his operations the last few months have been in the Empire state.

"Clover Leaf" Creamery was closed a few days last week to allow workmen to repair the foundation for the bed of the engine in the factory; the frost had got in its work but now the creamery is in full blast again with increased patronage.

Len Carpenter who has been at work at the Clinton Woolen mill, has severed his connection with that institution and will now throw slabs for L. C. Winchip and make himself generally useful when sorghum and cider begin to flow.

W. E. Parkhurst has re-moved his watch tinkering to Adrian. His partner M. A. Nay still continues his business here, which he says is doing well enough for him. Besides the restaurant he has added a news department to his establishment and is prepared to serve up the latest news at the shortest notice.

Herman Atwell met with quite a serious accident last Friday; while catching sheep in his barn he slipped and broke his leg just above the knee, in the same spot where he has been kicked twice by a horse, once about three years ago and again a few weeks since. Drs. Begel of Holloway and Howell of Tecumseh set the fractured member and report the patient doing as well as could be expected. This is rather tough on Mr. Atwell at the time of year when his attention is needed in the field work coming on.

ASTHMA CURED.

Dr. Taft, proprietor of Taft's Asthmalene, Rochester N. Y., will send to any of our subscribers suffering with asthma, a trial bottle of Asthmalene Free, who will send him their post-office address. The Doctor is known to be reliable and his remedy a most valuable one; it is endorsed by many medical publications and used in all parts of the U. S., Europe and Australia.

It is estimated that since Mr. Morton started the Arbor Day movement 400,000,000 trees have been planted in the Northwest alone. It is an established fact that tree planting will prevent protracted droughts. This is a much surer method of rainmaking than Uncle Rusk's plan of shooting off the surplus.

Carter H. Harrison is Mayor of Chicago by a big majority. Every newspaper in the city, excepting the one he bought opposed him and denounced him with bitterness and vigor as the gambler's friend and the associate of thieves. He now claims that his election shows that the people believed he was unjustly assailed. Who knows?

The New York World woman who went to Washington to interview Senators in the guise of an office-seeker reports that Senator Martin of Kansas squeezed her hand and said he wanted to see her again. It is the general observation that statesmen of the Populist school outrank in gallantry the statesmen of either of the old parties.

The dedication of the Mormon Temple last week marks the completion of the largest, grandest and most costly religious edifice ever erected on this continent. The corner stone was laid April 6, 1852, and just forty years to a day were consumed in the construction. The dedicatory service began Thursday, April 6th, and it will be repeated twice each day for twelve days, to give the crowds of Mormons who desire to do so an opportunity to witness it.

Carter Harrison's election as Mayor of Chicago, although not an ideal one by any means, is likely to give the city an administration that will be a great improvement over that of Mayor Washburn. Carter is a man of wonderful executive ability, as his previous terms in the mayorality show beyond cavil, and the newspaper abuse that has been heaped upon him has been prompted in large measure by personal animosity.

None but words of praise are spoken of the new Pension Commissioner, Judge Lochren of Minneapolis. He has a brilliant record, both civil and military. His service during the war was severe, culminating at Gettysburg, where his regiment made the famous charge that checked Pickett's charge. Of the 300 men who made that charge only 40 came out whole. Young Lochren, who started on the rush as a First Lieutenant of Co. E, came out in command of the regiment, every officer above his grade having been killed or wounded. Among his recommends was a unanimous vote of the Minnesota legislature, every Republican, Democrat and Populist member voting for it.

A Granger on the Local Option Tax Law.

At a public hearing before the New York state assembly committee on taxation, Mr. A. P. Potter spoke as follows:

"A good deal has been said about the farmer. I represent Grange 670, of Syracuse. It is composed of between one and two hundred of the farmers of central New York. We say by resolution that we are in favor of the county option tax bill; and it is because we are tired. There is no more tired set of men in New York than the farmer; and they are tired of just one thing, gentlemen, they are tired of unequal taxation. We have borne the burdens of taxation long enough, and now there is a chance for us to kick or have someone else kick for us; and we want to let them kick.

I understand this "local option" is that any city or county can adopt some other means of taxation than the present one if they chose to do it. Now, we farmers of Central New York say, "Why in Heaven's name don't you let somebody do it if they want it?" We have got tired of this unequal taxation. We are ready to adopt most anything that will give us rest. We are willing that any city or county shall adopt any system of taxation, if it shall drive them into the ground, if it will only give us something that is needed. We don't believe any city or county in this state will be foolish enough to adopt anything worse than the present system of taxation. They could not. This unrest is getting into the farmers' clubs. There is hardly a meeting but what this question is discussed.

And this feeling is not wholly among the poor class of farmers; it is among the wealthy class. Less than six weeks ago one of the wealthiest farmers in the club said: "I don't know what I am going to do. I own my farm and paid every dollar for it. I can't raise enough off that farm to bring my family around even at the close of the year." But some of the people from New York say that we spend our money. We don't. All we have had this year that can be called luxury was a few pounds of sausage. I say: Why don't they give the farmers of the county a chance? Let the board of supervisors make such laws for taxation as they see fit. They can not give us any system of taxation worse than the present one.

We have watched the figures of the State Board of Assessors, and when we see that $2,500,000,000 of personal property escapes taxation in the cities, and we know that they find almost every dollar that we have, what do we think? We think we had better give up this chase after somebody else's personal property. We are ready for anything that will give us relief. We are tired of chasing after other people's personal property and not getting it; and then having them going into our houses and getting every dollar that we own. I say we are tired of it and some other system must be adopted.

The Single Tax View of It.

I can only ask you to think upon this thing, and the more you will see its desirability. As an English friend of mine puts it: "No taxes and a pension for everybody;" and why should it not be? To take land values for public purposes is not really to impose a tax, but to take for public purposes a value created by the community. And out of the fund which would thus come from the common property, we might, without degradation to anybody, provide enough to actually secure from want all who were deprived of their natural protectors, or met with accident; or any man who should grow so old that he could not work. All prating that is heard from some quarters about its hurting the common people to give them what they do not work for is humbug. The truth is, that anything that injures self-respect, degrades, does harm; but if you give it as a right, as something to which every citizen is entitled, it does not degrade. Charity schools do degrade the children that are sent to them, but public schools do not.

But all such benefits as these, while great, would be incidental. The great thing would be that the reform I propose would tend to open opportunities to labor and enable men to provide employment for themselves. That is the great advantage. We should gain the enormous productive power that is going to waste all over the country, the power of idle hands that would gladly be at work. And, that removed, then you would see wages begin to mount. It is not that everyone would turn farmer, or everyone build himself a house if he had an opportunity for doing so, but so many could, and would as to relieve the pressure on the labor market and provide employment for all others. And as wages mounted to the higher levels, then you would see the productive power increased. The country where wages are high is the country of greatest productive power. Where wages are highest there will invention be most active; there will be most intelligent; there will be the greatest yield for the expenditure of exertion. (Applause.) The more you think of it the more clearly you will see that what I say is true. I can not hope to convince you in an hour or two; but I shall be content if I shall put you upon inquiry. Think for yourselves; ask yourselves whether this widespread fact of poverty is not a crime, and a crime for which every one of us, man and woman, who does not do what he or she can do to call attention to it and to do away with it, is responsible.—George.

How to Reduce Interest on County Bonds.

A hearing is to be given by the legislative committee next week on the bill exempting municipal bonds from taxation. We know that there will be a strong protest raised against this on the part of short-sighted individuals, who, because they fancy that they see in it a means of relieving investors from taxation, are willing to force the taxpayers to continue contributing many thousand dollars a year more than they need to toward paying public expenses. If the city pays, approximately, 4 per cent. for the money that it borrows, instead of borrowing at 2½ and 3 per cent. a year, the 1 per cent. of additional interest paid forms, in the course of the thirty years or more during which the bond runs, a very considerable extra contribution. The city of New York can borrow its money at the rate of nearly 1 per cent. per annum less than the rate paid by the city of Boston. We have never supposed that the financial credit of New York city was so good as to outrank ours, and we believe that if conditions, so far as loans go, were equal, our credit would be better than that of our sister city. But the merit the municipal bonds of New York have is that they are exempt from taxation, and in that way the city treasury obtains the entire benefit of what would be the possible tax upon these securities, while in the case of taxed bonds the possible risk of having to pay the tax is always present in the mind of the purchaser, and materially limits the price he will pay for the security—which, when once obtained, is only rarely taxed.—Boston Herald.

How to Fix Alien Land Owners.

In assessments under the single tax all values created by individual use or improvement would be excluded, and the only value taken into consideration would be the value attaching to the bare land by reason of neighborhood, etc., to be determined by impartial periodical assessments. Thus the farmer would have no more taxes to pay than the speculator who held a similar piece of land idle, and the man who on a city lot erected a valuable building would be taxed no more than the man who held a similar lot vacant.

THE Land Restoration League in London says:

We propose to abolish all the taxation which now bears upon labor, improvement and thrift, which increases the cost of commodities and enjoyments, and fines men for adding to the common wealth.

We propose to increase taxation on land until the whole annual value is taken for the public benefit, and, finally, to make the people themselves the landlords.

CAPITAL is that part of wealth devoted to producing more wealth.

GUARANTEED CURE.

We authorize our advertised druggist to sell Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, upon this condition: If you are afflicted with a Cough, Cold, or any Lung, Throat or Chest trouble, and will use this remedy as directed, giving it a fair trial, and experience no benefit, you may return the bottle and have your money refunded. The confidence that people have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a blood medicine is the legitimate and natural growth of many years. It has been handed down from parent to child, and is the favorite family medicine in thousands of households.

The season of murdered umpires is again being ushered in.

MANY PEOPLE

from neglect of health laws, family cares, too hard or confining work and many causes, become completely run down, lacking nervous and physical vitality, until they just drag themselves through life, feeling always tired, discouraged and lifeless. Dr. Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer will give strength and vitality to the exhausted nerves, lightness to the step, bloom and beauty to the cheek and restore the health which appeared wholly lost. Don't expect too quick cure but give it a fair trial. Price $1.00. Guaranteed by John J. Orr.

TRUSTS AND COMBINATIONS

Are unpopular. But there is one form of trust against which no one has anything to say. That is the trust which the public reposes in Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the best of it is the trust is fully justified by the merit of the medicine. For, remember, Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or grip. Sold by all druggists.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"I have been led to address you from a deep sense of gratitude for the great benefit I have received from Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"For twenty years I have been a constant sufferer from dyspepsia. Have spent many hundreds of dollars for medicine, with at best only temporary relief. I have always been an inveterate enemy to patent medicines. But now in my home Hood's Sarsaparilla has A Hearty Welcome.

"Those who have not been afflicted with dyspepsia, have no conception of the misery I endured, and those that have need no description of the horrors of the unfortunate dyspeptic.

"This is why I changed my mind in regard to patent medicines: An old friend had been afflicted for many years with dyspepsia, and for a few months I noticed that he had been wonderfully improving. I ascertained that the great change had been wholly wrought by the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. He advised me to 'try it by all means,' but the idea of me taking 'patent medicine' was a very bitter pill to swallow. But urged by my great sufferings to do something, I finally yielded and began to take is an arbitrary word used to designate the only bow (ring) which cannot be pulled off the watch.

Here's the idea

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

It positively prevents the loss of the watch by theft, and avoids injury to it from dropping.

IT CAN ONLY BE HAD with Jas. Boss Filled or other watch cases bearing this trade mark—

AH, SUGAR IS SWEET!

If You Hold Trust Certificates That Pay Sweet Dividends.

Willett & Gray's Sugar Trade Journal of March 9 says:

"At a meeting of the board of directors of the American Sugar Refining Co., held March 7, the following were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The earnings of the company during the past quarter warrant an increase of dividend on the common stock, and

"Whereas, Since the annual report of the treasurer to stockholders on December 1, 1892, received from the corporations whose stock is held by this company (for the year ended March 1, 1893) rendered unnecessary for working capital the further retention of the surplus earnings of 1891 and 1892, as shown by the annual report;

"Resolved, That there be paid a quarterly dividend of 3 per cent on the common stock, and in addition there be paid an extra dividend of 10 per cent. on the common stock from the surplus earnings of 1891 and 1892, and that a dividend of 1¾ per cent. be paid on that portion of the preferred stock of the company which is entitled to quarterly dividends, all the above dividends being payable on April 2 to stockholders of record March 13, when the transfer books will be closed, to reopen on April 2.

"In addition to the above resolution the statement is authorized that the company on March 1, after providing for all these dividends, has a surplus of net earnings of $5,000,000 in the treasury."

Notwithstanding that more than one-half of the $75,000,000 stock (half common and half preferred) is water, yet the holders of common stock certificates will receive, on April 2, a dividend of 13 per cent. with the promise of 9 per cent. more before the close of the year, besides a share in the surplus earnings (already $5,000,000) that can, and may, increase the dividends 15 or 20 per cent. more. Deducting that part of the profits made in 1891 it is evident that this giant trust cleared, in 1892, after investing tens of millions of dollars in refineries and properties, at three times their actual value, about $15,000,000, equal to about 33 per cent. on the common and 7 per cent. on the preferred stock, or 20 per cent. on the whole stock. Taking out the water the earnings on the actual capital appear to be about 40 per cent. But common stock which gets the greater part of the profits is earning about about 66 per cent. on the actual capital back of it.

The holders of original trust certificates can step into the office at the end of each year and draw out two-thirds as much as they put in, without diminishing the original investment. Isn't it splendid! and all because McKinley gave the trust free raw sugar and a duty of ½ cent per pound on refined sugar. As the trust refines over 3,000,000,000 pounds per year and collects the full half cent on every pound from the American people, this duty is worth over $15,000,000 a year to it. This was an entire gratuity from McKinley. Big refiners have stated under oath that sugar can be refined as cheaply here as anywhere. The cost of refining is about ⅛ cent per pound. During 1892 granulated sugar sold for about 1⅛ cents more per pound than raw—96 per cent. centrifugal.

If this is not legalized robbery, by what term shall it be known? It is no wonder that McKinley finds hosts of friends in and out of the Home Market club who are ready to contribute a few thousand dollars to help him out of his present financial difficulty. They could afford to buy Central park, build a magnificent palace in it, and denote it all to their tariff benefactor. If McKinley made a bargain with the manufacturers (like the Hawaiian sugar barons have done in regard to sugar bounties with the Hawaiian planters) that he should receive one half of all of the protection monopoly profits made under his bill, he would now be the wealthiest man in the world and would be the first billionaire. It was a shame that he neglected the people and made his bill in the interest of trusts; it will be scandalous if he now accepts financial assistance from any manufacturer or representative of a monopoly benefitted by his tariff bill.

SPECIFIC DUTIES.

A Drug Importer Exposes Their Bad Features.

A prominent New York dealer in chemicals, drugs and medicines, in expressing his views before the tariff reform committee of the Reform club, now preparing a tariff bill such as it would like to see adopted, says in regard to specific duties:

"While, in the abstract, specific duties are the ideal duties; while they are perhaps easier to collect and certainly easier to determine, yet from the vast number of articles coming under the headings of drugs, medicines and chemicals it is virtually impossible to adopt specific duties. To do so would necessitate special mention of many thousands of articles, and would prove cumbersome in the extreme; I am, therefore, of the opinion, based on many years' experience, that in this clas of merchandise ad valorem duties are the only practicable ones.

"Now, to come down to the present tariff law, it has retained almost all of the abuses contained in the law of 1883, added a few new ones, and brought relief in but few instances on articles of minor importance. The greatest change has bean made by the introduction of paragraph 73, which reads: 'All medicinal preparations, including medicinal proprietary preparations, of which alcohol is a component part, or in the preparation of which alcohol is used not specially provided for in this act, fifty cents per pound.' The mischief lies in the clause 'or in the preparation of which alcohol is used.' Under the ruling of the board of general appraisers all alkaloids and salts of alkaloids which otherwise (under paragraph 76) would pay 25 per cent. ad valorem duty are now entered under this clause at the rate of fifty cents per pound, a tremendous reduction in almost all instances and a contingency certainly never contemplated by the framers of this paragraph. As illustrations of the working of this clause, let me name a few articles which now come in at the rate of fifty cents per pound, and which but for this ill-chosen and ill-considered phrase would pay about the following rates of duty:

Cocaine muriate	$ 16.00 per lb
Esérine sulphate	55.00 " "
Homatrophine hydrobromate	155.00 " "
Hyoscine hydrobromate	225.00 " "

"These are all salts of alkaloids, and used in medicine only. In addition to such articles, paragraph 74 has also been made to apply to medicinal preparations protected by patents, and in the strictest sense of the word monopolies. All these come in now at the rate of 50 cents per pound, because in some stage of their preparation alcohol is used, whereas they should pay, according to their value abroad and the 25 per cent. clause of paragraph 76, about the following rate of duty:

Antipyrin	$ 2.50 per pound
Phenacetin	12.50 per pound
Diuretin	5.00 per pound

"Both of these lists can be extended almost indefinitely, and according to the statement made to the writer by a former assistant appraiser of the port of New York, which statement I fully indorse, the government has been deprived of millions of dollars of revenue under the workings of this clause, which was intended by its authors only to bring about the manufacture of chloralhydrate in this country; it has acted like a boomerang and has made American competition in this extensive class of merchandise absolutely impossible."

CANADA IN LINE.

The Great Political Revolution in This Country Having Its Effect in Canada.

The good effect of the battle of November 8th, 1892, will extend to all the countries of the world and throughout all time. Taking heart from the victory of patriotism and enlightened self-interest in this country, over plutocracy and blind selfishness, the good and over-taxed people of Canada are now waging the same war against "protection" and greed that was waged here last year. The Manitoba and northwestern members of the Canadian parliament have agreed unanimously to support Mr. Davin's motion to put barbed wire, farm implements, binder twine, coal oil and cotton on the free list. Many heretofore conservative members and papers have come out against protection. But perhaps the most significant thing of all is the action of the Central Farmers' institute at its annual convention, which has just closed in Toronto. They passed unanimously the following comprehensive resolution, which explains itself:

"That, whereas, the farmers of Canada, during the last thirteen years, have largely supported a protective policy for the purpose of establishing and building up the manufacturing interests of this country; and, whereas, such manufacturing industries as are suitable for this country have received such assistance for a period long enough to enable them now to withstand fair and open competition; and, whereas, the Canadian Manufacturers' association at its annual meeting, held in Toronto, Feb. 7, declares and reaffirms its determination to support and perpetuate the high tariff policy; be it, therefore, resolved, that this meeting hereby declares and affirms that to continue and perpetuate such high tariff policy will be detrimental to the vital interests of the agricultural community; that we are of the opinion that the time has come for the adoption of free trade with Great Britain and the same privilege to foreign countries that will give a like privilege to us."

All Right, Canada!

The Norfolk Reformer of Ottawa, Ont., said on March 12:

"The reform party cannot get free trade with the United States, any more than the conservatives can. The United States market is an absolute necessity to Canada. It can be obtained in one way and in one way only, and that fact may as well be faced at once by both parties.

"Let us become a part of that great country and take upon ourselves the duties of statehood, and immediately we will have the free trade we want, and there will roll over Canada a tide of prosperity unknown in the history of the country.

"This is no party question. It concerns the happiness and well-being of every household in Canada, and every man who wishes well to his family should join the movement for continental union, the reunion of the Anglo-Saxon race in North America."

Of course if Canada and the United States are one country any tariff wall between them would be as absurd and harmful as one between two states. Now, while they are two countries, two tariff walls are necessary to maintain prosperity on both sides. Give us a harder problem!

Protection Is Not Dead.

The Philadelphia Record contains a suggestive cartoon. Two geese labeled "Silver Purchase Democrat" and "Enormous Appropriation Democrat" are carelessly approaching a fox, lying on its back as if dead. The fox is labeled "High Protection." The cartoon is entitled "The geese that think the fox is dead," and is intended for an object lesson for democrats.

The idea is a good one and expresses a truth which may be more conspicuous to the democrats after they have made, or tried to make, a tariff bill on the lines of the Chicago platform. But it comes with poor grace from a newspaper that advocates new duties on sugar, tea and coffee, and the leaving of protective tariff duties on "textile fabrics of every description, products of iron and steel, earthenware, glassware," etc., (all of which articles, by the way, are manufactured in Philadelphia), because "tariff beneficiaries, whose interests deserve consideration," are not in favor of a "ruthless cutting of protective duties."

No, the high protection fox is not dead, and he lives at the same old quarters and does business in the same old way.

Because the alleged steel wheels put out by inexperienced manufacturers have gone down in ordinary winds, a feeling has grown that the Steel Wheel is unsafe. Judge it only by the Aermotor.

In this year's blizzards and cyclones the Aermotor loss is proportionately much less than any wooden wheel, while the loss of the imitation steel ones has frequently been total.

45 sold in '88

60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country." Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 8 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown, except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For '92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction, and write to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Main St., San Francisco.

DR. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it, to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

A DAY IN DETROIT.

A trip to Detroit a few days ago proved to be time well spent, and we were fortunate in meeting quite a number of old Tecumseh acquaintances.

We took the morning Lake Shore train, and changed at Raisin Center for the Wabash. The early train on the Wabash, when on time, passes Raisin Center within fifteen minutes after the Lake Shore, which enables one to reach the city about ten a. m.

We found Sam James at home, he having returned about six weeks ago from a Southern trip. His wife's health was very much improved by a three month's sojourn in the Sunny South. The business of the firm, S. A James & Co., is booming right along. Alf W. James was also at home that day. The firm now have ten travelers on the road, whose routes cover about twenty states. They expect to sell about 60,000 dozen gloves and mittens and about 40,000 dozen caps this year.

Capt. Jas. C. Wheeler was found in the Collector's office holding down the same chair he has occupied for the past ten years and more. He says he is ready to step down and out any time and rather expects to go. There is no certainty of it however, as he is one of the most experienced clerks in the office and remained there during the entire period of Cleveland's first administration. It is very probable therefore that he will remain in Uncle Sam's employ for some time to come.

Wm. VanCamp's family have broken up housekeeping, as there are no children left at home since Miss Mabel's marriage, and Mrs. VanCamp has gone to Rochester, N. Y. where the family will board for a while. Mr. VanCamp is still engaged in the subscription book business and makes Rochester his headquarters.

Bert Tribou still holds his place with the National Loan and Investment Co., and now fills the responsible position of cashier. The offices of the company are located on the second floor of the Detroit Opera House block, where they have a fine suit of rooms. Bert is evidently prospering and can doubtless hold his place as long as he wishes.

Eugene S. Clarkson was found in his cosy little office in the Buhl block digging away at some intricate legal problem. His practice, though not large enough to annoy him, is having a very creditable growth and he has already acquired the reputation of being one of the safest among the younger lawyers of the city. We expect to hear some of these days that he has been sent to the Legislature or been elected an alderman.

Frank Smallidge is still conducting his drug store at 701 Jefferson Ave., and seems to be a business fixture in that quarter of the city. He has worked up a fine trade and keeps his fast stepper, which affords him reasonable recreation during the summer season. His mother has been quite sick for several days, but she is now on the gain, with prospects of a speedy recovery.

A. W. Haight seems to be prospering in his new location. He is now acting as special State Agent of the Guardian Assurance Company of London, their offices being at 33 Congress St., West. His duties keep him on the road most of the time and hence we did not find him at home, but we learned that he was giving good satisfaction and that his services were highly appreciated.

Jud DePuy is not selling type-writers at present, having found a more congenial occupation. He is now acting as collector for the Home Building and Loan Association, and his headquarters are in the saddle. He is well satisfied with the position however. Mrs. J. M. Jones of Tecumseh was visiting her mother, Mrs. DePuy, at that time, having been there about two weeks.

SPICY LETTER FROM CHICAGO.

24 St. John's Place, Chicago,
April 10th, 1893.

The new superintendant of streets has commenced the herculean task of cleaning the streets of this great city and having them in decent shape for the opening of the World's Fair. If the work progresses as it has for the week past, May first will see our streets as clean as it is possible to make them.

Of course you know that Carter Harrison is the mayor elect, and that a few more days will see him installed in his official chair. In anticipation of that event the gambling fraternity has begun preparations for opening up their hells in the old fashion. Houses for [illegible] to fight the tiger will undoubtedly be as pleantiful as of old, for it is well known that Carter never did have much antipathy for them.

As the time for the opening of the great show draws near we all realize that the time for seeing all of the exhibit is going to be entirely too short. The success of the religious fanatics in having the grounds closed on Sunday will deprive the poor of Chicago of the benefits of the exhibition that should be an educator for all, regardless of class or wealth. No one will deny that the hypocrites have a right to attend church on Sunday and attempt to bribe God to forgive them for cheating, swindling and defaming their fellow creatures whenever a good opportunity is found, but we will deny the right of these same hypocrites to deprive us of the privilledge of passing our Sundays in self improvement, just because we exercise our right to differ with them on this question.

Instead of forcing people to attend church on Sunday by closing the gates of the fair, it will open the eyes of many thousands to the fact that such arbitrary enforcement of the ideas of the comparative few is unjust, and draw people away from the church instead of into it. The gates will be closed, the short haired fraternity are prepared to entertain the country visitor, and all kinds of vices will flourish. Proprietors of saloons will grow rich, games will abound and the unsophisticated will pay the fiddler. How many souls the cranks will save (!)

The theatres will catch a good share of the overflow, and the various managers are prepared to royally entertain all who come. Many world renowned people will come to entertain us. The Black Crook with its wealth of gorgeous scenery and its myriads of dressed and undressed beauties, its acrobatic specialties and its indecent French dancers will edify those who might be learning something at the fair. Many questionable entertainments will dazzle the country youth as well as the elderly seekers after sensation, while many of the managers will give us only the best that can be brought here.

The genial manager of the Columbia Theatre will give everybody a chance to see such people as Daniel Frohman's N. Y. Lyceum Theatre Company, E. H. Southern, the Lillian Russell Opera Co., the Bostonians and Henry Irving accompanied by Ellen Terry. Since passing into the hands of Mr. Will J. Davis the Columbia Theatre has become one of the most popular playhouses in the country, and the crowded houses usually found there attest the appreciation of the public, which nearly always rewards earnest endeavor to please. At present the "Country Circus" is filling the Columbia to the doors, and a merrier crowd it would be hard to find. While Mr. Will J. Davis is a most successful caterer in the amusement line his talented wife is equally successful in her career. Jessie Bartlett Davis is one of the best known members of the famous Bostonians, a typical American opera company.

At Hooley's will appear many notables, among which will be the Kendal's and E. S. Willard. At the Chicago Opera house several of the successful spectacular extravaganzas will be revived. Sol. Smith Russel and his quaint and popular repertoire will fill the Grand. The Kiralfrys will give spectacle at the Auditorium. I will endeavor to keep you posted as to the list of entertainments that will be available through the progress of the fair.

The collapse of the skeleton hotels in the vincinity of the World's Fair grounds will have the effect of making people shy about taking shelter in the rest of the traps built for the accommodation of the visitors from abroad. It is well known that the houses that went down were about the best built of the lot. Those who accept rooms a little farther away from the park and get into houses not rushed up in a hurry, even if they are middle aged, will be wise. During a recent trip out to Jackson Park I noticed the character of many of the hotel buildings being built for the purpose of "skinning the hayseeds," as it is called here, and could but realize what insecure concerns they are. Shells that will hardly stand the stress of a stout gale, so decorated and painted as to give them a look of great security.

Mrs. J. J. Wilson is at present quite ill. Mr. P. B. Swick is so successful in his business venture here that he regrets not taking up his residence in Chicago before. Mrs. Minerva K. Elliott and husband have returned from Oklahoma. A. B. Cotton has his headquarters in Springfield at present. His family remains in Chicago. Mr. Seymour Knapp made me a short visit last week. He has been transferred to the Nickel Plate road and runs from Chicago to Cleveland, a run that gives him a considerable time in the city.

We are having very varied weather at present. One day it will be so warm that the short-sighted jerk off their flannels, and the next it will be so cool that they hasten to jerk them on again. It would be more agreeable if Spring would not be so changeable in her moods. Until my next, Adieu,

LAVERN F. WHEELER.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

John Heck was in Toledo Tuesday.

Frank Tucker's Metropolitans are playing a week's engagement at Sutton's Opera House. They carry a full band and the music of their orchestra, under the direction of Prof. John Grennell, is alone worth the price of admission. Tucker plays in his usual catchy style and is ably supported by his troupe, the acting of C. H. Porter and the songs of M. B. Streeter deserving especial mention. The company is one of merit and do just as they advertise.

We drove up to Franklin yesterday afternoon and returning via Clinton arrived there simultaneously with a big shower and halted about three hours while the shower passed on. We went to the town hall and witnessed a portion of the play, "Inshavogue." Considering the lack of proper stage facilities the play was admirably put on. We have no time for extended criticism, but can say without flattery that all the parts were admirably taken and would have done credit to professionals. The accompanying vocal music was first-class and the electric lights were superb. It is wonderful how much they added to the spectacular effects of the play. The entertainment will be repeated this evening.

S. P. Hosmer & Son have sold their entire stock of Jewelry, Silverware and Stationery to E. F. Kirchgessner. The stock will be reduced somewhat during the next few weeks, and Mr. Kirchgessner will honor all guarantees of the old firm. Great bargains will be given in all lines. Mr. Hosmer has been for years one of our most prominent business men, and his departure from the commercial world will be regretted by every one. His successor is already well known as a rising young business man of hustling qualities, and will fill the place as well as any new man can. Mr. Hosmer has a bad attack of western fever, and has concluded to transfer his business activities and permanent residence to Eddy, New Mexico.

TO HORSEMEN AND BREEDERS.

Nutpatch, Standard, Rule 6. Reg. Vol. VII. Bay Stallion, 16 hands; foaled 1884. Bred by Glenview Farm, Louisville, Ky. Nutpatch is large, handsome and very fast; can trot in 2:25 without much work. He is one of the best bred sons of his illustrious sire, and a great stock horse. He is a sure foal getter, and his colts are large, strong and very handsome, and show splendidly at the trot.

Nutpatch was sired by the greatest sire that lives or ever has lived, age considered, Nutwood, 2:18 3-4. The sire of 104 in 2;30 or better, 22 of which have records from 2:20 to 2:09 3-4 in 1891. He had 19 sons and 18 daughters that had produced trotters in 1892. 31 of his sons and 25 of his daughters produced fast ones, while he got 26 with records from 2:30 to 2:15 1-4. This is the best showing ever made by any sire, living or dead, to date. His sons and daughters produce early and extreme speed. His daughter, Manette is dam of Arion, 2-year old record 2:10 3-4, as a 3-year-old 2:10 1-2; the fastest colt ever foaled, and sold for $125,000 cash. He made the season of 1892 for $2,500. Only one Stallion in the world produced at 4 years old a yearling colt that got a record below 2:30, and that is Woodline by Nutwood.

Nutwood by Belmont, he by Alexander's Abdallah, he by Hambletonian 10; here are four great stallions because they all had great dams. Miss Russell is dam of Nutwood 2:18 3-4, Maud S. 2:08 3-4, Rustique 2:21, Cora Belmont 2:24 1-2, Russia 2: 28, and six sons that have produced extreme speed, also 4 daughters that produced speed. Lord Russell out of Nutwood's dam got Kremlin, 2;07 3-4, the acknowledged race horse stallion of the world.

Nutpatch's first dam, Patchen Maid, is the dam of Astral, 2:18, and Marshal Kleber, sire of Mistake 2:29 3-4, etc.; she by Mambrino Patchen 58, brother to Lady Thorn 2:18¼, and sire of London, 2:20 1-2 and 23 others. Dams of Crawford (p) 2:09 3-4, Riley Medium (p) 2:10 1-2, Constantine 2:12 1-2, and 80 other standard performers; also grandsire of Nightengale 2:10 1-2, Walter E., 2:11 3-4, etc.; second dam Lady Eleanor, by Mambrino Chief 11, sire of Lady Thorn 2:18 1-4, 5 others, and dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17 1-4, Iona 2:17 1-2, and 21 other standard performers. Also sire of dams of 62 speed producing sires, including Red Wilkes, Almont, Belmont, etc.

Terms—The terms have been placed at the very low figure of $25.00 for the season.

To FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN.

Wealth being the product of labor, it becomes at once and always the supreme question with all men how best to increase the medium of exchange (money) and at the same time promote wealth. Money, by facilitating the exchange of commodities, conserves labor, thus enabling the laborer to produce more wealth than would be possible if he had personally to attend to his exchanging of commodities without the convenience of money.

But money has a faithful ally or handmaid in the method of co-operation in some of the departments of labor. For the farmer there is but one department at present in which co-operation is practicable, namely, the dairy branch of his business. The humble creamery, conducted by the separator process upon the co-operative plan, as a wealth promoter is to-day without a rival in the agricultural department of labor. There are now five such creameries in the County of Lenawee and each year the farmers who are patrons and the business men of the towns are coming more and more to appreciate their value as promoters of wealth by increasing the medium of exchange in their respective communities and in aiding the many to further conserve labor, the only source of all wealth.

There are twelve creameries in Dickinson County, Kansas, costing at the furthest $50,000. In the past two years these twelve factories have paid to the farmers in their vicinity more than $425,000. One sugar factory at Fort Scott, Kansas, cost $150,000 and in three years paid to the farmers not to exceed $50,000. There are five creameries within a radius of five miles of Fort Atkinson, Wis., which are paying to the farmers annually more than a quarter of a million dollars. The sugar factory, costing three times as much, is paying about one-fifteenth as much as the five creameries. These are facts fully verified and are put forth here to enable farmers and business men in towns to more fully appreciate the part exercised by the humble creamery in promoting wealth.

The patrons of the new Ridgeway creamery are fully satisfied with their returns thus far and as soon as the inconveniences of the factory are overcome they will be more than satisfied with the new departure from antiquated methods. Mr. H. B. Eaton received for the milk from four cows two weeks $17.02; Mr. R. Clarkson from three cows for the same time received over $11, and Mr. W. L. Jones $18 for the milk of six cows in part, having fed nearly one-third to his calves. For the first half of March $196 was paid for milk and for the last half the amount will be at least one-third greater. In the future the milk will be paid for strictly according to the amount of butter fat it contains. The process for obtaining the exact per cent of fat each patron's milk contains is not the least part of the labor and time at the factory, but it is essential and affords the only true means of giving equal justice to all. By this method a patron can take a cup of cream from his milk at any time with no other result than to lower his test and lessen his return in cash and no other patron suffers thereby. It is, however, an offense by the laws of Michigan and many other states to offer milk at a factory testing less than three per cent.

Tuesday as Ben. Reynolds was driving on Shawnee street, his colt became unmanagable, threw him out and bruised him up considerably.

Horace Fox called at the office Saturday, exhibiting some fine specimens of crayon portraits. He is doing an extensive business in that line.

O. P. Bills returned from Eddy, New Mexico, last Tuesday. He was much pleased with the general business outlook there and it is quite likely that he may conclude to locate there permanently.

Mr. W. D. Stearns is now acting as train master of the Michigan Division on the Mackinaw road, during a two months leave of absence of Superintendent Flanders. It is possible that the promotion may be a permanent one.

To-night Frank Tucker in Ranch 10, at the Opera House; Friday evening—The Unequal Match; Saturday matinee at 2:30—Is Marriage a Failure? Engagement ending on Saturday evening in David Crockett. Don't fail to see the Farmer's parade Saturday at 1:30 p. m.

Paul Steffen, 16 year old son of the Newburg miller, met with a painful accident Friday. While passing a swiftly revolving shaft in the mill his clothing caught around it and he was whirled violently until the mill could be stopped. Although not as seriously injured as was at first supposed, he will not care to repeat the experience.

A Liberal Ministers Institute will be held in the Unitarian church, at Ann Arbor next week, April 18th, 19th and 20th. Rev. Gorton, of this village, is a member of the committee of arrangements and will attend the institute during the entire three days. An extended program has been prepared which will doubtless be interesting to the laity as well as to the clergy.

Lamont C. Bidwell is in town this week.

Silk waists and Fancy Silks for waists at Anderson & Co's.

Henry Lovejoy, of Adrian, was in town Tuesday on business.

The ladies' aid society of the M. E. church will have the regular monthly tea meeting in the church parlors, on Wednesday, April 19th. Business meeting at 4 p. m. Mrs. Ide's committee will serve supper from 5:30 to 6:30 o'clock.

Edward N. Sisson, a son of Geo. Sisson, of Macon, who is in the employ of the U. S. Express Co. at Detroit, was quite badly hurt a few days ago, by being thrown from his wagon. He is rapidly recuperating however and will soon be able to attend to business again.

The National Loan and Investment Company of Detroit is becoming one of the heavy financial institutions of the State. It has a strong advisory board in Tecumseh and has placed considerable stock here. For particulars about the company, call on F. B. Bauer, Secretary of the local board.

The prospectus of the Toledo Bee appears in another column. The Bee is one of our most welcome exchanges and one of the best evening dailies that reach our sanctum. It has been a powerful instrument, with other tariff reform newspapers, in making Ohio a doubtful state.

People who design attending the World's Fair should examine the advantages offered by the Chicago Entertainment Bureau. Persons who go to Chicago without any previous arrangement for accommodations, will certainly be subjected to much expense and inconvenience for two or three days. Call at this office for circulars and needed information.

Macon Grange will meet in regular session on Saturday the 22d. at 7:30 p. m. In addition to regular order of business the following program will be called:

Recitation—Fannie Miller.
Violin Solo—Emma Bailey.
Address—J. I. Gulick.
Recitation—R. C. Bailey.
Discussion—The road question.
Violin Duet—Emma Bailey and Lewis Skinner.

We noticed J. M. Ingersoll around the streets this week and upon inquiry we found that he had severed his connection with Satterthwaite Bros', after about fifteen years service in their shop. He has decided to open a shop for himself, where he will be glad to see all his old friends; he will be prepared to do all work in his line, including plumbing in all its branches; if you intend tapping the water mains should see him before you let the job. Look out for ad. next week.

During a brief visit at Clinton the other day, we called at John T. Clark's creamery and found him up to his ears in milk, figuratively speaking. Since last season he has made many improvements. He has put in a new horizontal boiler and 28 H. P. Automatic Atlas engine. He has introduced the Elgin process throughout, having put in two D. W. separators with a capacity of 30,000 pounds of milk daily. His churn will hold 3000 pounds of cream at a churning and the worker has a capacity of 600 pounds of butter. Mr. Clark is now prepared to rush business during the coming season.

Next Sunday evening, Rev. J. P. Varner, of the M. E. church, will begin a series of ten Sunday night sermons on the following subjects: "The Reasonableness of Immortality; The Certainty of Immortality; The Reasonableness of Eternal Punishment: The Certainty of Eternal Punishment; Death; The Intermediate State; The Resurrection of the Dead; The Judgment Day; Heaven; The Recognition of Friends in Heaven." These sermons will be preached on successive Sunday evenings. By common consent of those interested in the Methodist church all pews in that church will be free hereafter on Sunday night. All are invited and will be made welcome.

Louise Phelps went to Chicago Monday.

Miss Mae Ross, of Addison, is in town for a few days' visit.

B. A. Miller, of Toledo, called at the HERALD office Saturday.

Wm. Bresie is visiting his daughter's family in Cleveland this week.

The University Calendar this year contains 2,788 names of students.

Miss Mabel Jenkins is spending a few days with friends in Grand Rapids.

It takes six cars to transport the University exhibit to the World's Fair.

At the last town meeting Palmyra elected its first Democratic Supervisor since 1852.

Miss Jennie Waterson, of Adrian, was a guest of Mrs. John Linton over Sunday.

Work has again commenced on the waterworks stand-pipe, and it will be rapidly pushed to completion.

Don't forget that $25 gold watch absolutely given away by Frank Tucker's Metropolitans Saturday night.

Mr. Lacy, of Milan, a former resident of this place, died yesterday morning of brain fever. Funeral to-day.

Jonas Austin, 57 years of age, died at the home of his brother-in-law, Horace Westcott, at 4 o'clock p. m. Sunday.

Pastor H. A. Smith gives an address on "The Man in Stripes" before the B. Y. P. U. of Flat Rock, on Thursday evening of this week.

Rev. Mr. Gorton will preach on the following topics next Sunday at the Universalist church: Morning, "Man, is he a fallen being?" Evening, "God."

The lucky number which drew the dishes given away last evening by Frank Tucker's Metropolitans was 5225, held by Miss May Jacobus, of this place.

Prof. E. A. Wilson, of Paw Paw, was at the old home the first of the week. In company with the other members of the State Board of visitors, he visited Adrian College on Monday.

The thunder storm last evening was quite severe in the town of Raisin. It was accompanied by hail and broke windows badly in many dwelling houses besides doing much damage to fences and small buildings.

C. A. Slayton has enlarged his office room in his storehouse by building out into the open space heretofore used as a portico. It will not only increase the size of the room but will add very much to its appearance and utility.

At the Baptist church on Sunday evening April 16th, Pastor H. A. Smith will continue the presentation of the subject of "The Man in Stripes." Special topic, The Restoration of the Criminal. Is his treatment in prison conductive to that end? All are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Burroughs have been spending the past week with his father, N. S. Burroughs. Nelson went to school in Tecumseh away back in the sixties and finds many old acquaintances during his visits here. He is now running a bank at Cherokee, Iowa.

Great ball game between male and female players at the Opera House next week. Look out for something striking. McLouth's orchestra (successor to Hunt's will furnish music for a hop immediately after the game. All cordially invited.

Miss Gray is unable to do her class work in the High School this week because of sickness; her place is supplied by Miss George, of Ypsilanti. Miss Douglass of the seventh grade is also absent because of sickness and Miss Ida Pilbeam is supplying the place.

Editor Stearns and Editor Grandon of Adrian are having a "set-to" over a blunder in the printing of the third ward election tickets in Adrian. It seems to be a very interesting squabble as it stands. The moral of the affair is plain: Township boards should send their election printing to the HERALD office, where it will be executed both correctly and expeditiously.

As we go to press to-day, a gathering of friends and relatives are assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. N. Chidester, the event being the marriage of their eldest daughter, Dess, to Mr. Clarence Holdridge, of Raisin. Both young people are well known in this vicinity, and many friends will join the HERALD in extending congratulations and good wishes.

A big cyclone struck Ypsilanti last evening, which gave the city a dose of Dakota blizzard. The Cleary Business College was unroofed. The roof of Draper's opera house was taken off bodily and smashed the dining room of the Hawkins House to the ground. Several houses were wrecked and hundreds of shade trees were uprooted. It was the most destructive storm that ever visited the city.

McCann Bros. is the title of the new firm that has taken possession of the old Strong & McNair corner and will open a new stock next Saturday. They are both young men whose former home was Leslie in this State, are men of fine address and ample business experience. They have heretofore worked for others but now embark in their first business venture on their own hook. We extend to them a hearty welcome and bespeak for them a fair share of the clothing trade.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

40 YEARS BUILDING.

THE GREAT MORMON CATHEDRAL AT SALT LAKE CITY.

The Site Was Selected in 1847 by Brigham Young and the Cornerstone Laid in 1853—Brief Description of the Structure—Other News of General Interest.

The great cathedral of the Church of Latter Day Saints, or Mormons, at Salt Lake City, has been dedicated. A throng of believers witnessed the ceremonies, which were very secret. The temple is a huge structure, the site for which was selected July 28, 1847, the fifth day after the mormon pioneers entered Great Salt Lake Valley, by Brigham Young, president of the church. [illegible] the people was taken to build "a temple of the best materials that can be obtained in North America." The material selected for the foundation was firestone, from a canon four miles distant. When the walls came to be built cut granite from Little Cottonwood Canon, eighteen miles distant, was chosen as the most suitable material.

On Feb. 6, 1853, ground was broken and 250 men put to work on the excavation. On the 5th of April following the cornerstones were laid sixteen feet below the surface of the ground.

The building is 186½ feet long and 99 feet wide. With the towers it covers an area of 21,500 square feet. The foundation wall is 16 feet thick and 46 feet deep. On this the granite walls are 9 feet thick on the bottom and narrow to 6 feet at the square. There are six towers, three on the east and three on the west. The corner towers are 26 feet square at the base. Those on the east are 200 feet high, and on the west 194 feet. The east central tower at the building is 222½ feet high, surmounted by a figure with a trumpet at his lips, proclaiming the gospel. The east part of the temple is for the Melchisedeck priesthood, representing the higher of spiritual affairs. The west is for the Aaronic priesthood, representative of temporal existence. The figure on the east central tower symbolizes the angel named in the 14th chapter and the 6th verse of John's Revelation. The architecture of the building is without a known parallel in ancient or modern times. There are four doors to the temple, two in the west and two in the east corner towers. The cost of the building, as near as can be ascertained, will be slightly in excess of $5,000,000.

The assembly-room in which the dedication ceremonies were held accommodates 2,500, and the ceremonies will be repeated each day until the 60,000 to 70,000 persons gathered from all parts of the world have witnessed them.

Queen Victoria's Tapestries.

The treasury department is in daily receipt of letters announcing the arrival of articles of inestimable value from an antique point of view, from the courts of Europe and Asia, destined for the exhibition at the World's Fair. These articles, under a special law of congress, are admitted, under certain restrictions, duty free. Among the articles that are about to arrive are, in the language of the letter of transmittal, the "almost sacred tapestries of Windsor," that is, the tapestries belonging to Queen Victoria, some of which are extremely ancient and valuable.

Bismarck's Birth Anniversary Celebrated.

Berlin special: April 1 was the 78th anniversary of the birth of Prince Bismarck, and a number of the Berlin newspapers took advantage of the occasion to publish congratulatory articles. More than 4,000 people took advantage of the magnificent weather, and large crowds gathered before Prince Bismarck's home. Among the first persons from whom Prince Bismarck received congratulatory messages were the Empress Frederick, Prince George of Prussia, the King of Saxony, the regent of Bavaria and the grand duke of Baden. No message was sent by Emperor William.

Two Men Drowned in a Mine.

The water standing in the Sugar Loaf mine at Hazleton, Pa., burst into the Laurel Hill mine, flooding it. Immediately after a blast went off a terrible roar was heard and an immense body of water rushed down No. 19 breast filling it to the roof. The rush of water into the gang changed the current of air and like a telegraph signal warned all of their danger. The men fled to places of safety and later nearly all were rescued and brought to the surface. Two perished. Some of those rescued may die from injuries sustained in being washed against the rocks.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

Attorney-General Ellis' Opinion on Electors who Move Just Before Election.

In response to an inquiry Attorney-General Ellis has prepared an opinion on the rights of voters who move just before election. He declares that the "removal of a voter from one precinct to another, in the same ward or township, less than 10 days before election, will not, if he is registered in the precinct to which he last moved, operate to deprive him of the right to vote at the election held in the township or city." The constitution provides that an elector shall reside in the "township or ward in which he offers to vote 10 days next preceding such election."

Section 128 of Howell's statutes relative to elections, in cases where a township is divided into two or more voting precincts, provides: "The electors of each district shall vote in the respective districts in which they reside and for which they are registered."

or general registration law about precincts, the only requirement being residence for 10 days in the township (not precinct) prior to election. It will also be observed that the statute providing where a man shall vote makes no reference to the length of time he shall reside in the district, but simply provides that he shall vote in the district in which he resides. The requirement of an elector to reside in a district 10 days before election would be a restriction or qualification not contained in the constitution and repugnant to its provisions. The attorney-general quotes a number of cases to sustain his position.

Attempted Murder and Suicide.

An attempted murder and suicide took place at Morley. A young man named George Jagger had been keeping company with a young lady named Anna Mero and arrangements had been made for the wedding. After getting in her possession $500 belonging to Jagger Miss Mero is said to have refused to marry him and also refused to give up the money. The matter was talked over while out riding and resulted in his shooting her and putting a bullet or two in his own body. Neither one is dead at last accounts but both may die.

Marcus Shaffer, who escaped from cottage No. 2 at the Industrial Home in 1889, has been located at Somerset Center, Hillsdale county, and returned to the home.

Three Oaks wants a grist mill and wants it badly. The citizens claim that a bonanza awaits the individual who will supply the long-felt want, and one anxious resident offers to pay $100 for the first barrel of flour made.

James Brownell, of St. Charles, met an accidental death while duck hunting. While in a boat with four companions his gun was accidentally discharged, and the ball entered his hip, inflicting injuries from which he died before reaching shore.

The Bissell Carpet Sweeper company, of Grand Rapids, has begun suit in the United States court to restrain the Goshen Carpet Sweeper company from manufacturing their sweeper, which it is charged infringes on the Plumb broom action patent, issued to the former in 1880. The Grand Rapids concern is the largest in the world, while the Goshen is its only competitor.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Monthly Report Issued by the Secretary of State—Low Averages.

The Michigan crop report for April, which was issued by the secretary of state today, says: The present outlook for wheat in Michigan is not promising. There had been no spring growth on April 1. The fields were brown and did not look as well as immediately after the snow went off. Correspondents almost without exception report the crop in bad condition. The decline in appearance is due to high, drying winds and lack of rain. The average condition in the southern counties is 81 per cent, in the central 91 per cent and in the northern 93 per cent, comparison being with average years. In the southern counties the condition is 5 per cent lower than one year ago and 16 per cent lower than in 1891. Wheat made small growth in the fall and was in poor condition at the opening of winter. Heavy rains occurred in the state the fore part of [illegible] lowed by a high, drying winds and did little good. Clover meadows and pastures are thought to be in better condition than one year ago. The figures for the southern counties are 92 per cent, and central 97 per cent, and the northern 96 per cent, comparison being with average years.

Farm animals of all kinds have wintered well and are in satisfactory condition.

It is yet early to make estimates on fruit, but the indications are generally favorable for a full average crop.

Another Electrocution in Sing Sing.

James W. Hamilton, the colored ex-preacher and convicted wife murderer, died in the electric chair at Sing Sing, N. Y. The death warrant was read by Warden Brown in the condemned man's cell. Hamilton sat on the bed and showed some signs of emotion when the document was read.

The crime for which Hamilton died was the cutting of his wife's throat at Winfield, L. I., Sunday night, May 2, 1892. Three years ago Hamilton was obliged to marry Annie Brooks, a quite pretty colored woman whom he had betrayed. They did not live together and the husband had tried to obtain a divorce without success. He had expressed his determination to get rid of her. One morning her body was found in a pond with her throat cut from ear to ear. A broken cane, a razor and a cuff button which proved to be the property of Hamilton were found on the banks of the pond.

Presidential Nominations.

The president has sent the following nominations to the senate: William Edmond Curtis, of New York, to be assistant secretary of the treasury; Charles S. Hamlin, of Massachusetts, to be assistant secretary of the treasury; James H. Fokles, of Illinois, to be controller of the currency; James Meline, of the district of Columbia, to be assistant treasurer of the United States; T. Stobo Farrow, of South Carolina, to be second auditor of the treasury; Dudley O. Watson, of Michigan, to be collector of customs for the western district of Michigan.

Two Expensive Freight Wrecks.

An extra freight on the Detroit, Lansing & Northern left the track at the junction of that road and the Flint & Pere Marquette at Redford Junction, completely blocking the tracks of both roads. No one hurt.

Two freight trains on the Michigan Central collided between Lansing and Bath. The orders were to pass at Lansing, but the conductor made a mistake in reading his order. No one was hurt, but the loss to the company was heavy. Trains were delayed all day on account of the collision.

Miss Effie Clark, of Spokane, Wash., a member of the freshmen class at the Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., was shot and killed by E. R. Smith, of Spokane, whose offer of marriage she had refused. Smith then killed himself.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

NEW YORK, April 10.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Speculation has been renewed in wheat, with an advance of about 2c. Corn dropped off and oats 1@2c on small transactions, while pork fell $1 per bbl, lard 90c and hogs 50c per 100 lbs. The monetary situation is not essentially changed. The great excess of imports over exports continues. [illegible] has been stronger; decisions of courts in both controversies has given encouragement to western buyers, but there is little evidence of foreign disposition to purchase and unfavorable crop reports tend to discourage purchasers of stocks. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 224, for the corresponding week of last year the figures were 208.

Representative Ewing Married.

Hon. A. E. Ewing, member of the legislature from Hillsdale, and Miss Charlotte Bailey, a charming young lady teacher to the Grand Rapids schools were married at the latter place by Rev. M. Maynard, of Sparta, at her home with a small circle of friends in attendance. After a brief wedding trip they will go to Lansing until the legislative session closes and then will live in Hillsdale.

Alex. Grodi, of Monroe, stood on the outer end of an apple limb and sawed himself off from the body of the tree. He has two broken ribs.

MERCURIAL

Mr. J. C. Jones, of Fulton, Ark., says of S.S.S. "About ten years ago I contracted a severe case of blood poison. Leading physicians prescribed medicine after medicine, which I took without any relief. I also tried mercurial and potash remedies, with unsuc-

Strong Witnesses.

Among the thousands of testimonials of cures by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is that of Nathan Allisons, a well known citizen of Glen Rock, Pa., who for ten years had shortness of breath, sleeplessness, pain in left side, shoulders, smothering spells, etc.; one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and one box of Nerve and Liver Pills, cured him. Peter Jaquet, Salem, N. J., is another witness, who for twenty years suffered with Heart Disease, was pronounced incurable by physicians, death stared him in the face, could not lie down for fear of smothering to death. Immediately after using the New Cure he felt better and could lie down and sleep all night, and is now a well man. The New Cure is sold also free book, by Baker Hall.

Mothers and Daughters.

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends pursuaded me to try a bottle of Duiam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years and am now, sixty years old, but feel as young as at thirty.

HOOKER THE CHOICE.

THE REPUBLICANS VICTORIOUS IN THE ELECTION.

Republican Candidates for the Supreme Justice, Regents and a Majority of the Circuit Benches Elected—Very Light Vote Polled—Pluralities by Counties.

Rain prevented the polling of a full vote in most localities this spring, but in some places the local feeling was so strong that a large showing was made. No comparison can be made with previous elections, however, as Republicans and Democrats each lost or gained in their strongest or weakest places. The Republican state ticket was elected entire by pluralities ranging from 10,000 to 11,000. The following table gives the pluralities by counties on the state ticket, being based on the vote for justice. The vote on regents will be about the same:

The amendments to the constitution submitted to the people by the state legislature were carried. The amendment which is intended to provide better roads throughout the state received very few "nays." The amendment providing for an increase in the salaries of various state officers was scratched the most frequently and in some quarters was almost swamped. Perhaps the most curious result of the election was the selection of circuit judges. Twenty out of thirty-three judicial districts show Republican candidates elected while the majority of the remainder were non-partisan candidates.

ELECTRIC CAR SMASHED.

Ran Into by a Fast Passenger Train—The Careless Motorman Fatally Injured.

A passenger train on the Grand Trunk and an electric street car collided at West Bay City with results disastrous to the street car and its passengers. There were seven persons on the car, including the motorman. The latter was talking with someone on the car when he came to the crossing, which is at a sharp curve in the Grand Trunk tracks, and failed to notice the approaching train, which was late and was going very fast. The car had stopped at a switch to pass another car, and as this was close enough to comply with the law regarding stopping before crossing another track the car kept right on. The passenger train struck the electric car almost square in the middle, crushing it in like an egg shell and carrying it nearly 50 feet from the track. The motorman, Ed Vreeland, was thrown 30 feet into the air. His collar-bone was broken and he received severe internal injuries, and it is thought they will result fatally. All the passengers were more or less injured.

Suicided Because He Was Defeated.

Wm. H. Kitchen, proprietor of the City Hotel, in the village of Rogers City, committed suicide by taking a large dose of carbolic acid. He was nominee for supervisor, and worked hard at the polls all day. When the votes were counted he was found to be defeated. This, added to domestic troubles, made him despondent, and he took his own life. He was a pioneer in the county and generally respected.

John Weaver, the colored man who killed his mistress at Three Rivers, got 20 years at Jackson.

A new explosive to take the place of gunpowder has been introduced in the Germany army. Contact with another chemical compound is necessary to secure an explosion. It does not heat the weapon.

A fire which threatened to wipe out a large portion of Adrian started in a barn in the business portion of town, but was kept to seven barns, which were totally destroyed. Loss about $2,500, partly insured. The City hotel was badly scorched.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

Sixty-second day—No quorum and no session in either Senate or House.

Sixty-third day—The consideration in the supreme court of the motion to dismiss the application of Senator Turnbull and Representative Barkworth for a mandamus to compel Lieut.-Gov. Giddings, the clerk of the Senate, Speaker Tateum and the clerk of the House to show cause why they omitted to print in the legislative journal protests filed in the Senate and House was an attraction which kept many members of both Senate and House from the session. Attorney-General Fitz and Judge Cooley were the opposing counsel and the arguments were strong. While in session the Senate received a petition for the passage of a capital punishment bill. A bill prohibiting the imprisonment of United States convicts in prisons of Michigan was passed. Other bills passed: Appropriating $7,200 for a new colony house and other improvements at the Michigan Asylum for the Insane; amending the act relative to the election of county commissioners of schools; repealing an act relative to the confinement in prisons of this state of persons sentenced in the United States courts; for the relief of Rose Mary Leitch. The following bills were passed in committee of the whole: Prohibiting the use of the terms "bank," "banker," or "bankers" to designate the business carried on by corporations or persons not organized under the banking laws of this state or the United States; amending the law relative to writs of error so that they may be filed within two years of trial instead of one, as at present; for the incorporation of Happy Home clubs. House.—Representative White submitted the petition of numerous citizens of Newaygo county for the creation of the county of Stockbridge. Referred to the committee on state affairs. A bill to protect the fish in lakes and streams of St. Joseph county for the period of two years was passed and given immediate effect. Representative Church's bill to amend act 245 of the public acts of 1881, was discussed and sent back to the committee on railroads. It provides that whenever a highway is to be opened across the tracks of a railroad company, the company shall receive actual damages for right of way, shall build the approaches, cattle-guards, etc., and receive therefor a sum not in excess of $50. Representative Mayhew's bill was passed to amend section 7621 Howell's, providing that it shall not be necessary in any action in any circuit court, to except to the charge given to the jury, or to the omission to charge the jury according to law, or to the failure or refusal to charge the jury as requested by counsel in the case; but any party aggrieved by any such charge, omission or refusal to charge may assign errors upon such charge, omission or refusal to charge in his assignment of errors, the same as if exception had been made. Representative Baum's bill for the establishment of a home for the feeble-minded and epileptics, and making an appropriation therefor, provides for a commission with the governor at its head, to receive proposals as to site, select the same, contract for buildings on the cottage plan and have charge of the institution until a board of control of three members has been appointed by the governor and shall have been qualified. It appropriates for the current year the sum of $62,000, and $15,000 for 1894. The game and fish warden bill, and others, were also considered in committee of the whole, received favorable action and were placed upon the order of third reading.

SENATE.—Sixty-fourth day—Bills passed: Providing for the incorporation of Happy Home Clubs of America; providing for the incorporation of supreme and subordinate lodges of the United Home Protectors Fraternity; providing for the incorporation of the supreme commandery and subordinate commanderies of the United Friends of Michigan. The committee on finance and appropriations reported of the Industrial Home for Boys' appropriation bill, with the amount reduced from $125,000 to $90,000. The committee on labor interests recommended the passage of the bill prohibiting the confinement of United States convicts in the Detroit House of Correction and the employment of free labor therein. House.—The investigation at the state prison was referred to the standing committee on that institution. The resignation of Rep. Kirkwood from this committee was not accepted. Bills passed: Regulating omnibus, hack and transfer companies; requiring registers of deeds to keep an index of all deeds and mortgages; making an appropriation of $6,200 for the Northern Michigan Asylum for the Criminal Insane. The House then went into committee of the whole on the general order, and the clerk brought out Rep. Bishop's anti-free pass bill, and on the motion of the introducer of the bill it was informally passed. Rep. Greens bill to authorize the city of Detroit to acquire land outside the city limits for park and boulevard purposes was passed in committee. Also the university appropriation bill for 1894-4.

SENATE—Sixty-fifth day.—The committee on finance and appropriations reported a bill appropriating $500 for the weather service the coming two years, and recommended its passage. The committee on labor interests reported without recommendation a bill providing that all prison-made goods be so branded; for the compilation and collection of statistics of indigence and poverty; providing that all persons employing female help in stores shall provide seats for them when not actually employed. The appointment of John Northwood as a member of the Soldiers' Home board was approved in executive session. HOUSE.—The committee on local taxation reported out a bill to enable the city of Detroit to enlarge its Public Library, and it was placed upon the general order. The sum authorized is $75,000. On motion of Representative Baum, the bill providing for a home for the feeble minded and epileptics was placed upon its passage. A bill requiring the sale, lease or transfer of railroads and street railroads to be recorded in the office of the secretary of state was passed. Also a bill to authorize the village of Davison, Genesee county, to borrow money and make public improvements.

Interesting University Statistics.

The Ann Arbor university calendar just issued shows a grand total of students enrolled in all departments of 2,778. The literary department has 1,491; the law, 639; medical, 334; dental, 189; pharmaceutical, 82; homeopathic, 63. There are 30 names enrolled in two departments.

Forty-four states and fifteen foreign countries are represented. Michigan leads with 1,405 students. Then comes Illinois with 311; Ohio, 217; Indiana, 114; Iowa, 72; Pennsylvania, 72; New York, 67; Missouri, 55; Kansas, 39; Wisconsin, 38. Utah has 30 students. Thirty-four Canadians have come over to get an American education. Other foreign countries are: Japan, China, England, Scotland, Germany, Italy, Bulgaria, South Africa, Barbadoes, Bermuda, Costa Rica and Hawaii.

There are 168 professors and assistant professors, and with the tutors and instructors the faculty will number 300.

Col. Bliss' Silver Wedding.

The silver wedding of Col. and Mrs. A. T. Bliss celebrated at Saginaw was a brilliant affair. About 600 invitations had been sent out and hundreds had responded by their presence, the hearty hand shake of congratulation being given with a will that testified to the popularity of the gallant colonel and his estimable wife. Telegrams and letters of congratulations and regret at inability to be present were received from Gov. John T. Rich, Gen. R. A. Alger and wife, Rev. B. F. Matrou and numerous others from all over the country, conveying the warmest sentiments of esteem.

The Cheboygan Leather Company, when they have finished work on their warehouse and bark shed, will be able to boast of the greatest institution of its kind in the world.

Asiel St. John, a wealthy Hamilton farmer, who was an inmate of the insane asylum at Kalamazoo, escaped from that institution. He broke his bed to pieces, pried the iron shutters off the window and let himself to the ground by making a rope of a bed-sheet. He walked to Hamilton, arrived there with his feet blistered so terribly that his shoes were full of blood. He is now being cared for at his home.

CRIME UPON CRIME.

MICHIGAN'S AWFUL EPIDEMIC OF MURDER.

A Bangor Farmer Kills His Divorced Wife and Suicides.—Farmers Fatal Fight at Victory—Ludington, Negaunee and Saginaw add to the Carnival.

A Murder and Suicide.

Andrew Campbell, a respected farmer, living west of Bangor, shot his divorced wife twice in the head and himself once. Death following instantly in both cases. She obtained a divorce four weeks ago and received possession of all the property. Campbell refused to vacate the premises and she commenced proceedings. He followed her home, and after a short conversation shot her and then himself. Campbell was jealous of [illegible] court of her intimacy with one William Howard. The trouble has been going on for three years. The wife was also jealous on account of the hired girl. The house was burned three weeks ago, probably by him. There were two children in the house at the time of the murder. They were girls, 16 and 8 years old respectively. There are five children the oldest is 16. Mrs. Campbell was a hard working, highly respected woman. The inquest failed to develope any cause for the bloody deed.

Mason County Crimes.

Ludington was considerably shaken up over two probable murders, the first of which occurred in that city. Joe Clark, a tough character, who had been on a drunken spree for a week or ten days, called at the house of George Tanner, on Danaher street, about midnight. He stayed until about 4 o'clock, when he got in a quarrel with Mrs. Tanner, which resulted in Tanner's shooting Clark in the neck and Mrs. Tanner shooting him through the wrist. Tanner and his wife are both under arrest, and Clark will probably die.

William McKay, who lives in Ludington was at his son-in-law's farm at Victory a few miles from Ludington, and got in a quarrel with Andrew Mall, who has charge of the farm. Finally Mall drew a revolver and shot McKay through the breast, making a wound from which he is not expected to recover. Mall is in jail. McKay is an old sailor and was with Dr. Kane in his polar explorations.

An Aged Man's Awful Suicide.

William Watson, an old resident of Tecumseh, and a pioneer of Michigan, took his own life at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. Owen. His advanced age, 82 years past, has rendered him somewhat helpless for some time, this, with acute physical suffering, produced fits of melancholy. After a night of intense suffering he arose early, took his razor and went to the orchard, dropped on his knees and immediately thrust the keen blade into his throat, falling in his own blood and expiring within a brief time.

In 1866 his divorced wife, Mrs. Jane Shedd, had her throat cut from ear to ear by her husband, R. Shedd, who died by his own hand immediately after by cutting his throat with a butcher knife. Family trouble, and the horror of the Shedd tragedy, preyed upon Mr. Watson's mind.

An Unknown Found Dead.

The body of an unknown man was found a mile north of Eagle Mills by some boys who saw the hand protruding out of the snow. The body was that of a man apparently about 25 years old. It was entirely nude with the exception of an undershirt. There is no clue by which it can be identified. It is probably a case of murder, the body having been hid so as to conceal the crime. Were it a case of a man being exhausted and frozen to death he would have been better clothed, unless, perhaps, he was demented and wandered away without his clothes on.

Was This Another Murder?

There is something mysterious about the sudden death of William Kitchen, of Rogers City. It was supposed to be a case of heart disease and the coroner's jury so declared. But there are rumors afloat that corbolic acid was found in his stomach. It may have been a case of suicide. The insurance companies will undoubtedly make an investigation. Kitchen was a clerk for Molitor at the time that the latter was murdered, and this, of course, adds an interesting feature to the mystery.

Saginaw Woman Injured by Her Husband.

Mrs. Archie McArthur is lying very low at the Woman's hospital at Saginaw from injuries received at the hands of her brutal husband. She lay at home for two days and when friends sought to remove her to the hospital he attacked them with an ax. They succeeded in getting her away, however, and officers were sent to arrest McArthur. He fought like a demon but was finally overpowered and landed in jail. The woman may die from the effects of her injuries.

The lightships which have been in winter quarters at Cheboygan have taken on coal, and are now ready to proceed to their stations in the straits as soon as the ice moves out.

Hopkins residents have long wanted a weekly newspaper, and the business men will try to guarantee patronage sufficient to induce some ambitious journalist to undertake the venture.

Gordon Blasdell, of Coleman, died at Saginaw from injuries received at Peters' mill. He was unloading a car of logs when a log rolled over him. He leaves a widow and several children.

Miss Leota Becker, great record keeper of the L. O. T. M. of Michigan, says that order is growing very rapidly throughout the state, its membership increasing since last October from 6,600 to 13,000. One hundred and thirty new hives have been organized in the state during that time.

John Patterson, a well-to-do and highly respected farmer living in the town of Irving, about six miles from Hasting while doing business there at the saw and planing mill of Bentley, Tomlinson & Rider, dropped dead, probably from heart disease. Deceased was 80 years of age and leaves a family

Harvesting Machinery.

M. E. Conklin is already in the field with his harvesting machinery. He will sell the old Walter A. Wood machines, both mowers, reapers and binders, the same as heretofore, and in addition to these he will also control the Minneapolis binder, the Walter A. Wood company having purchased that plant. The Minneapolis binder, known as the steel wheel three-canvas binder, is now generally conceded to be the best binder on the market. Their mowers are now made of steel, of four different lengths; also the Walter A. Wood hand and self-dumping rakes, which have acquired an extensive sale since they were placed on the market four years ago. These machines will afford a first class line, and Mr. Conklin proposes to push them for all they are worth. Two car loads of mowers, binders, and rakes arrived here the rest of the week and are being unloaded. His headquarters will be at Whitenack's hardware store, the same as last year. Look out for a fuller announcement next week.

ADMINISTRATOR'S SALE.

In the matter of the estate of Lewis V. Miller, deceased.

Notice is hereby given, that in pursuance of an order granted to the undersigned, administrator of the estate of said Lewis V. Miller, deceased, by the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Lenawee, on the fourth day of April, A. D. 1893, there will be sold at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the premises hereinafter described, in the County of Lenawee, in said State, on Monday, the twenty-ninth (29th) day of May, A. D. 1893, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day (subject to all encumbrances by mortgage or otherwise existing at the time of the death of said deceased, or at the time of said sale, and also subject to the right of dower and the homestead rights of the widow of said deceased therein) the following described real estate, to wit: All that certain piece or parcel of land situate and being in the Township of Macon, Lenawee County, Michigan, described as follows: The West half of the West half of the South-East quarter of Section Twenty-Nine (29), Town five (5), South Range five (5) East, containing Forty acres of land more or less.

Said above described land is subject to the Dower right of Elizabeth Miller, widow of said deceased, therein.

BENJAMIN F. DEPUY,
Administrator.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

THE DOCTOR.—"One layer of paper is bad enough, you have three here. Baby may recover but cannot thrive."

EVERYBODY knows that wall paper, with its vegetable paste and its colorings in animal glue, is unsanitary, and that to apply repeated layers of such is a very "nasty practice," as well as dangerous. Kalsomine is temporary, rots, rubs off and scales; paint stops "wall respiration" needed to purify walls. Send to us for a paper from Michigan State Board of Health report on this subject, recommending Church's Alabastine and plastics only for walls of dwellings.

Alabastine forms pure, permanent and porous coatings, and does not require to be taken off to renew from time to time; is a dry powder, ready for use by adding water (the latest make is used in cold water and is never sold in bulk); can be easily brushed on by any one; made in white and twenty fashionable tints, and in three shades, from which decorators make the balance of forty shades shown on their card.

N. B.—It is not claimed that all who live within papered walls die much before their time, but they will enjoy better health with wall coatings (PPPP) Pure, Permanent, Porous and Pretty.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys, and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have retained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

Snatched From Death AND THE GRAVE.

A YOUNG WIFE RESTORED TO HER LOVING HUSBAND AND FRIENDS IN GOOD HEALTH.

KEELERSVILLE, Mich., Feb. 1, 1892.

DR. A. OWEN:

Dear Sir—I take pleasure in stating that the Owen Electric Belt purchased from you last May has been worth more than all the medicines in the world to me. On the 27th of January, 1890, I was taken with La Grippe and from that to nervous prostration of the stomach and spine, liver complaint, exitation of the lungs and constipation. About this time I went to consult the best doctor in the county for treatment. I stopped at my mother's home on my return, as my prostration was so great that I could not reach my own home which I dearly loved. I was a young married wife of six months and had kept house only four months. My hopes seemed all blasted as I gradually failed under the care and treatment and nursing by my kind and willing husband and mother, one of the best of mothers. I could not get up or be moved, so my husband sold his farm and turned all of his attention to me. Time passed, and I suffered more than tongue can tell. I could eat nothing to speak of, and what I did eat hurt my stomach. At times I seemed better and then I would get worse. I remained in this condition about sixteen months, or up to the time I purchased your Belt. Then I commenced to improve at once, and life has been brighter ever since. My husband has purchased another farm and we commenced to keep house on Thanksgiving Day, and I have done our work with my husband's help ever since. Before I purchased one of your Belts I could hardly stand on my feet. May God bless you, as the Owen Electric Belt was the means of saving my life and giving me health and strength to live and enjoy life with my husband once more. I cannot say enough for your Belt if I should write half a day. My sudden improvement caused a good deal of excitement, as the doctors and every one around said I would die of consumption. I can eat my three meals every day. If you wish to publish this letter we will answer all correspondents who wish to inquire fully about my case, by sending directed and stamped envelope.

Yours very truly,
MR. EDWIN and HATTIE McGOWAN,
KEELERSVILLE, Mich.

READ THE NEXT LETTER SIX MONTHS LATER.

KEELERSVILLE, Mich., Aug. 21, 1892.

DR. A. OWEN:

Dear Sir—Six months has passed since I wrote my first testimonial letter in praise of your Electric Belt. I cannot say enough for your Belts. I have been improving rapidly since I wrote you the first letter six months ago. Now I am able to do my work, and this week I rode 22 miles to Thunder Knob on the banks of Lake Michigan, camped out over night, and came back the next day over hills and rough roads, 44 miles in all, through the hot sun. I could not have done the same one year ago for the wealth of Michigan. My health has improved so rapidly that others are waking up to the idea that the Owen Electric Belts are the only means by which they can be cured.

I remain as ever your friend, HATTIE H. McGOWAN.

(TRADE MARK.) DR. A. OWEN.

RIDGEWAY RAMBLES.

George Squires is quite sick at present.

T. H. Temple was in Detroit Tuesday.

Chas. Foote was in Constantine last week.

Rob Hicks, of Toledo, spent Sunday with Minnie Barrett.

Elder Yager visited friends in Hillsdale a portion of last week.

Mrs. A. J. Sutton and daughter went to Rea Tuesday afternoon.

I. T. Bush and wife left for their home in Brooklyn Monday.

E. A. Palmer and son, of Adrian, made his father a short visit Sunday.

Ed Palmer and Miss Pettit, of Dundee, called at Dr. Nelson's Sunday.

Fred Gorton, of the Normal, is spending his vacation with the Osgood sisters.

Flota Smith, who has been attending school at the Normal, came home Saturday.

Will Ross, Ella Jackson, Will Hayden and Hattie Conklin called on Lou Arner Sunday.

Mrs. M. D. Britton, of Toledo, made her sister, Mrs. E. Harrison, a flying visit Saturday.

A. R. Arner left for Allegan Monday to telegraph for the C. J. & M. Ry. Co. at the Union depot.

Several have been to Rea since the cyclone passed through that section to see its work of destruction.

Wm. Harriott, of Saline, and Miss Lydia Harriott, of Detroit, visited their niece, Mrs. Sarah Pocklington.

The next meeting of the L. C. S. will be held at the home of Chas. Underwood next week Friday evening.

Fred L. Cook, of Chicago, was the guest of Miss Leila Sutton from Friday until Monday. He has a situation as cashier in Waring Bros. office.

Mrs. E. W. Rappleye, while preparing soap for washing Monday, cut the wrist of her left arm very badly, nearly severing the cords and arteries.

A severe hail and rain storm visited this section Wednesday night, breaking out several window lights for T. H Montgomery and others in that neighborhood.

A. J. Sutton, having bought J. D. Arner's interest in the mercantile business of Sutton & Arner, will continue the business at the old place in the Waring block. He respectfully asks those having an account with them to call and settle as soon as convenient, and would be pleased to receive a call from any wishing anything in his line.

The sixth annual election of officers of the W. C. T. U. was held at the church last Thursday afternoon, resulting in the following:

President—Mrs. Addie Kelly.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. M. A. Lowe.
2nd Vice Pres.—Josie Dibble.
Cor. Sec.—Sarah L. Rappleye.
Treasurer—Mary Sutton.
Chaplain—Elizabeth Linn.
Supt. Flower Mission—Mrs. Jacob Arner.
Supt. mothers' meeting—Mrs. John Arner.
Supt. of the needy—Mrs. M. A. Lowe and Mrs. Tamer Pocklington.
Supt. Press Work, Narcotics and Franchise to be supplied.

One of the most enjoyable events that has taken place in our village for several months was the gathering of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sutton on North street, Saturday evening, in honor of their daughter Leila's nineteenth birthday. Upwards of fifty guests were present, including the following from abroad: Joe and Mary Eaton, Tecumseh; Prof. Bowerman, Britton; Eugene and Grace Harrington, Blissfield; Prof. Fred Gorton, of the State Normal, Ypsilanti; Rob Hicks, Toledo, O.; Fred L. Cook, Chicago. A short program of instrumental and vocal selections was furnished by the friends, after which refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served by the hostess. The evening was spent in a very entertaining manner and all join in declaring it a grand time. In behalf of those present we wish for Miss Sutton many more pleasant birthday anniversaries, and may each birthday yet in store be brighter than the one before.

Ho for The South.

Two Cheap Excursions are announced by the Mobile & Ohio Railroad to the most productive and most healthful States in the Union, Mississippi and Alabama, where thousands of acres of Choice Farming Lands can be had in tracts to suit at your own terms. Trains will leave St. Louis Union Depot at 8:35 p. m., on April 11th and May 9th, 1893. Cheapest of cheap rates. Your nearest Railroad Ticket Agent, or E. E. Posey, Mobile, Ala., or F. W. Greene, General Agent, 108 N. Broadway, St. Louis, Mo. are prepared to give you descriptive matter and full particulars regarding the South and the excursions. Now is your chance to investigate the natural advantages and many inducements of the South.

PENTECOST POINTERS.

Mrs. Nellie Thielan is still, we regret to say, quite ill.

Mrs. Freeman Card, who has been sick in bed all winter, is now able to sit up and her many friends have hopes of her recovery.

Postmaster Buck has had an attack of pneumonia added to his previous troubles, but is now able to sit up, though still very weak.

Mrs. Bert Carruth, who was taken sick with measles while visiting her sister, Mrs. Albert Vanderpool, is now so far recovered as to be able to return home to Adrian.

Mr. E. Hendryx went to the barn Wednesday evening, after the storm, to shut a door which he heard swinging, and was startled to find one-half of the roof taken off the stock barn by the wind. The stock were not injured.

Landlord Putnam & Son, proprietors of lovely "Lake Park Place" at Sand Lake, are busy getting ready for the summer's campaign and several handsome turnouts from Adrian have visited our pretty lake resort, looking over their cottages and making ready for their summer outing.

TIPTON TOPICS.

Misses Edith Burns and Lizzie Smith are visiting friends in Toledo.

Rev. J. Patchin, of the Congregational church, will leave us soon to take a charge in Ohio. Much regret is expressed, as his loss will be keenly felt.

An interesting incident was a short business call recently on our village by one of murderer Latimer's capturers. He gave a very interesting account of the affair.

The recent wind and hail storm took the roof off of Mr. Tom Hendrick's barn. With the exception of some trees and fences leveled to the ground no other damage is reported.

Apparently spring has come to stay with us a while and farmers are busy putting in their crops. Everything seems in their favor, so there are smiles and pleasant words everywhere, "which doeth good as a medicine."

A Temperance concert will be given at the M. E. church by the Epworth League Sunday evening, April 30th, at 7:30. Everybody invited to attend. The young people are trying very earnestly to make their meetings interesting and they should be encouraged.

THE RIDGEWAY CREAMERY.

Ridgeway has a new business industry which will add considerably to the importance and trade of our hustling neighbor. We refer to the creamery which has recently been started. During a brief stop at Ridgeway a few days ago we took occasion to examine the institution and interview the manager, and gathered a few facts which will doubtless be of general interest.

The building is located on North street, about forty rods north of the main corners. It is 28 by 38 feet in size and substantially built, as though it had come to stay. The "Elgin" process, so-called, is the one in use. The machinery consists of a ten-horse power engine and fifteen-horse power boiler, one separator, called the Alexandria, a 600-gallon milk vat, a 400-gallon cream vat, and a churn with a capacity of 300 pounds of butter. There is a refrigerator room for storing butter and a neat office apartment, furnished with a steam radiator and other fixtures, including one Babcock milk tester. The entire building is heated by steam.

The creamery was opened for business on the 27th day of February and took in 1500 pounds of milk, from which 65 pounds of butter were made on the following day, and the business has been steadily growing every week since. Mr. M. Glines, of Breesport, N. Y., who has had sixteen years' experience in butter making, fills the position of Superintendent and butter maker. Mr. T. H. Temple is business manager. Dr. Loree is the present proprietor, that is, he has taken a lease of the property from the stockholders for a term of years. Dr. Loree has decided to conduct the business on the co-operative plan, deducting four cents per pound from the price of butter at the creamery, with which to pay expenses and the rental of the plant. The business has already nearly reached the point to yield a profit, and is making for that goal with steady strides. The receipts of milk average nearly one ton a day at present. The product is now finding ready sale at four cents above Elgin prices, with a steady demand. The list of patrons is growing every week and the management feel confident that by the first of June next the output will be double what it is at present. The prospects are very favorable for a permanent and lucrative business.

OBITUARY.

William A. Usborne eldest son of our townsman, John Usborne, departed this life on Friday, April 14th, at three a. m., aged 40 years. His health had not been good for some years, and his ailments finally developed into consumption, which confined him to the house during the entire winter just past. He bore his sufferings with manly fortitude and seemed reconciled to his fate. He possessed a quiet, modest disposition and filled the humble station which Providence had alloted to him, with credit. He leaves an aged father, a brother and a sister to mourn his untimely departure. The funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon at his father's residence, Rev. J. P. Varner officiating, and the remains were deposited in the family lot in the Tecumseh cemetery.

Martha, beloved wife of James G. Oliver, died at her home in Franklin, April 13th, 1893. The deceased was born at Ticehurst, England, Oct. 30th, 1829. She was a devoted wife, and affectionate mother and a respected neighbor. She leaves a husband and ten children to mourn her loss, all of whom were present at the funeral.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to extend our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us in our late bereavement. Also to the choir who so kindly furnished singing at the funeral.

It is said that Chicago water has bugs in it. This will not frighten Chicago people however, for the residents of the windy city rarely indulge in water drinking.

President Cleveland is being criticised by the republican press for the removals made by him in the past month. The papers do not stop to consider that the number of officials released have only reached 576, while Mr. Harrison in his first thirty days decapitated 1,328 democrats.

While Buffalo and Cleveland are quarreling over their respective populations Detroit is flourishing like a green bay tree and can show more people than either of them. The hue and cry raised in some quarters about hauling down the American flag at Honolulu is simply a piece of jingoism. The administration is opposed to all bull dozing tactics. When the provisional government can stand alone, it will then be in order for Uncle Sam to negotiate with it for annexation.

Christopher Columbus's descendant, Don Christobel Colon de Toledo, de la Conday Gante, Duke of Veragua, Marquis of Jamaica, and admiral and adelantado, mayor of the Indies, will soon be with us and bring his name with him. It is fortunate that his illustrious ancestors discovered such a large continent. With a little crowding and by turning it up sidewise we shall be able to get the whole name into the continent which Christopher is popularly supposed to have discovered.—Boston Globe.

Ex-Premier Mercier of Quebec, and several other prominent Canadians were in Washington last week. Speaking of annexation Mr. Mercier said: "There is a strong sentiment in Quebec for annexation under the proper circumstances and conditions. That is, we wish to become an independent nation, so that we can negotiate for annexation upon terms that will be advantageous for Canada, and not for Great Britian, as would be the case if the negotiations were carried on from London, as they would necessarily have to be under present conditions."

After abolishing a superfluous office Secretary Morton learned that it was occupied by Robert Blaine, a brother of the late ex-Secretary of State. When told by a prominent Democrat that he thought the removal ill-timed, the Secretary is said to have replied that "it did not matter to him whether the brother of James G. Blaine or Andrew Jackson was removed; he could not keep a man for sentiment and pay him out of the people's money." If public office is a public trust this is surely the correct view of sinecures, no matter who fills them.

The plain old farmers who employed Latimer made the orthodox detective methods appear at a disadvantage. They simply invited the murderer to come along, gave him something to eat, loaded him into a wagon without so much as a pair of handcuffs to restrain him, and landed him safely in the Jackson prison after having a pleasant talk on the way and eliciting some interesting statements from the remarkable prisoner. There was no flourishing of shooting-irons, no grand stand plays. It was simply a case of hitching up the team and hauling him back.

The preparations for the President's trip to Chicago involve nothing more than an arrangement of certain railway schedules to accommodate the special train. The extreme simplicity attendant upon the movements of a President of the United States is in marked contrast with the police, military and other precautions deemed essential nowadays whenever a European ruler may take a journey by rail. Indeed, few things could serve to illustrate more sharply the difference between American and European ideas and systems of government than the forthcoming presidential journey.

TAX REFORM DEPARTMENT.

(This department aims to give every one's ideas about taxation (not tariff). Write your opinions briefly, and they will be published or discussed in their turn by the editor or by a member of the Taxation Society. Address "Taxation Society," this office or P. O. Box 88, Buffalo, N. Y.)

Very Much Mixed About Taxation.

The editor of the Columbia Times, Cincinnati, O., says:

"Tax Reform" is the title taken to itself of an association, with headquarters at Buffalo, N. Y. It discusses and invites discussion of taxation in its varied phases, with the object of ultimate universal conviction that taxation should apply only to landed property, and that it be taxed for all it is worth or all it would sell for. The remodeling of the long practiced system of levying on personalty and realty so as to exempt personalty and increase or treble the levy on real estate to maintain government would surely prove a vexatious job, and not one fraught with blessing. Certainly the person rich with dollars of money, on which there could be no tax under the proposed reform, would not seek to invest in land, in which every dollar of it would be subject to taxation, and just as certainly the land owner would become extremely determined to sell his land for money in order to avoid payment of taxes. Under such conditions in less than half a life-time, probably in Henry George's days, land would lose its money value. Improvement and progress would get a knock-down, and the land become valueless and ownerless; hence free to all as the air that is breathed. The article to the Voice signed, Bolton Hall, shows careful preparation and ability. But for the overruling avarice and penchant in the majority of men for the "almighty dollar," which he failed to have in view in writing it, it would be as logical in point as it is smooth in preparation. The tax reform and all reforms are desirable, all well-meaning persons, whether worth much or little, will admit. But a proposed reform that would make A who has $1,000 worth of land pay an increased tax to enable B who has $1,000 in dry goods or bonds or money to go free of tax would appear, and be, too palpably unequal in application to be fruitful of good. Doubtless, however, the association, embracing the intelligence it does, will bring out a great deal of expression—some fallacious and some pertinent—on the subject, and possibly through a continuous investigation may really solve the 'tax problem' and evolve into existence a better condition for every man, both as to preparation for his death and his taxes."

REPLY.

Neither the advocates of a single tax, on land values, or those who favor taxing real estate only, have ever proposed to double or treble the levy on real estate. In the state of New York for instance, the abolition of all taxes on personal property would at most add but one-ninth to the tax rate. Even this slight increase would be merely nominal, since real estate owners would receive direct benefits, through the greater production and investment of capital in all branches of industry consequent upon its relief from taxation which would more than compensate them.

The fears of the Times editor that if land were as free as air to all, it would become "valueless and ownerless," are wholly without cause. There is not the least danger that men will stop using valuable land merely because they would not be taxed on their personal property—stocks, machinery, improvements, &c.

If dry-goods or money are taxed, the tax will be shifted to the consumer or borrowers of money. Interest will be higher, less money will be invested in business of manufacturing, and real estate will fall in value. A tax on real estate is the most equal because every person either owns or uses real estate.—Taxation Society Editor.

Just Taxation: Not Socialism.

It seems that a contest is coming in American politics between those who favor freeing labor by raising public revenues by the taxation of monopoly values, and those who believe in a socialistic government which shall own and manage all industries. Against the latter scheme the National Economist, official paper of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union, makes some pertinent objections. Replying to a socialist paper which claimed that because the Christian religion taught co-operation as the law of right living, therefore, Socialism was Christian, the Economist says:

"A more dangerous argument could not be circulated among free and independent people. Christ did not teach any such thing in the sense contemplated in this article. Christ taught that virtue and merit should be rewarded and vice and wickedness punished. Of all the wicked systems ever advocated by man, and the most directly opposed to the teachings of Jesus Christ and his apostles, the one that would rob man of his freedom and independence, and submerge him with no rights and responsibilities in a government so centralized and despotic that it exercised supreme power, and the subjects became merely atomic parts of a unified whole in which there could be no conflict, is the worst and most pernicious and debasing.

"The loss of life in the conflict engendered in the competitive system is a very small matter compared to the loss of life and character, of happiness and soul, that must attend the degenerated and hopeless condition of man with nothing to encourage him to virtue and action. God inaugurated the competitive system in all kinds of animal and vegetable life, and the wisdom of His laws is always demonstrated when they are fully understood. Therefore, when man finds his conclusions so widely at variance with the laws and teachings of God as are those of the socialist, he should revise his creed and study the situation until an enlightened understanding causes him to appreciate the wisdom of the Most High, where dense ignorance had prompted him to seek to excel it."

Stop Taxing Improvements.

ITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 15, 1893.

MR. BOLTON HALL, New York City—Dear Sir: In a recent letter you called my attention to the platform of the New York Tax Reform association. I have since examined the same carefully, and have read the book entitled, "Who Pays Your Taxes?" I find myself compelled to differ from the views expressed in the platform. I think the taxing of improvements on real estate would prove as pernicious as taxing free capital. Moreover, to drive farmers away is as bad as to drive capital away. I believe in combining an income tax with real estate taxation. I fear that the exclusive taxation of real estate would, on the whole, increase the burdens of the farmers.

Very truly yours,
EDWARD A. ROSS,
Political Economy and Finance, Cornell College.

REPLY.

You are undoubtedly correct in the opinion that taxing improvements on real estate would prove as injurious as taxing capital, yet there has been no system of taxation devised except that proposed by Henry George (which the farmers are not ready to adopt) that will not tax capital in some form.

We venture to disagree with your belief that if real estate alone were taxed, the farmer's burdens would be increased. The assessed value of the farm lands of this state is only about ten per cent. of the entire valuation of real estate. Exempting personal property would in the long run benefit the farmers more than almost any other change in existing conditions.

In regard to an income tax there is little more to be said than in the chapter of "Who Pays Your Taxes," devoted to that subject, which shows the weakness and fallacies of that form of taxation.—New York Tax Reform Association.

Less Taxation—More Factories.

The proposed repeal of the ordinance exempting manufacturing plants in this city from taxation is a step which should not be taken without the most serious deliberation. Since its passage several new manufacturing enterprises have been established here, some of them within the limits of city taxation, but the largest and most productive, like the great works at Sparrow's Point and Curtis Bay, without those limits. The latter, however, doubtless expect to be brought within the city at no distant day and to thus enjoy the benefits of tax exemption. A sentiment, moreover, is growing in other parts of the state in favor of the exemption of manufacturing plants from taxation, and a number of the most important towns in the state have either secured the privilege from the legislature or intend to ask for it next year. It is also within the probabilities that those flourishing manufacturing centers below Baltimore on the Patapsco, seeing the advantages which this city reaps from exemption, will soon apply for it, so that the city council should be careful in acting upon the proposal for a repeal of the law.

Precipitate action of this sort may not only frighten capital away which proposes to invest in manufactures here in Baltimore, and influence that already invested to take flight, but it may dampen the hopes of the thriving towns in the counties which have lately taken a fresh start, and are anxious to enjoy privileges which have aided the growth of Baltimore.—Baltimore American.

Pity the Poor Bachelor.

The serious proposition by the provincial government of Quebec to impose a tax or license of from $50 to $500 upon bachelors has created something of a sensation in the cool and breezy land. There is no disposition upon the part of the unmarried men to treat the matter flippantly, as it is believed the government is in earnest. It is complained in Quebec that there is a growing indisposition upon the part of men to get married and that there is no excuse for monasticism. In some of the far western states there is a girl famine, but in Quebec the supply is largely in excess of the demand.

From what point of view the question is regarded or upon what theory the tax is proposed we are not advised. It may be that failure to marry is regarded as a crime, to be punished by fine or imprisonment. Or it may be that celibacy is regarded as a blest estate, for which any man should be willing to pay liberally. If the first theory is the one to be adopted, then great injustice may be done. Many men would be only too glad to get married, but can find no one who is willing to marry them. It would be manifestly improper to punish a man for not doing what he can not do.

Rewards for Land Sharks.

Unequaled taxation has many phases. In some towns unoccupied or unimproved land is held at high prices for building purposes. Its value may be yearly increasing by reason of the demand for it, yet because no income is derived from it, the assessors allow it to be taxed for perhaps a tenth of the price which the owner asks for it, until a sale is actually made to some one who desires to improve it, or lives upon it to the benefit of the town, when the taxes are put up at once, as they are productive property. This is virtually offering a premium to the land sharks who gather up such lots and hold them until they make exorbitant profits by selling to those who need them. Thus the increase of the rich man are paying a less tax than the smaller fields of the market gardener, or even the building lot and family garden of the mechanic by the side of him. The former is classed as unimproved land, and the two latter as productive land.

MR. LABOUCHERE said: "I do not pay any attention to this Henry George nonsense; but if someone would propose one tax on land values, that would be worth something."—Pr. Illustration.

Chicago's Population.

There is probably no city of importance in the world that can show such rapid and wonderful growth as Chicago since its destruction by fire. To-day its population is about 1,200,000. Mr. Peter Van Schaack, one of the leading merchants of that city said in conversation, that a large number of his personal friends, as well as scores of representative men throughout the Northwest with whom he had conversed upon the subject, had found St. Jacobs Oil a pain-curing and healing remedy of the most extraordinary efficacy. It is the Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Backache, Bruises, Burns, Swellings etc.

A GOLD MINER DISCOVERS SOMETHING MORE PRECIOUS THAN GOLD

A REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM AND KIDNEY TROUBLE WHICH WORKS WONDERS, AFTER EVERY OTHER REMEDY, INCLUDING A "SWEAT" TREATMENT WITH THE INDIANS FOR A YEAR, HAD FAILED TO RELIEVE.

A STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

CROOK CITY, S. D., Jan. 29, 1

The Owen Electric Belt and Appliance Co., Chicago, Ill.:

GENTLEMEN—I have been for some time considering the propriety of writing you a few lines, relative to my experience with the Owen Electric Belt and Appliance obtained from you about eighteen (18) months ago. Justice to your company, and a desire on my part to make known to others who may be suffering from a similar affliction the relief I obtained from your institution, prompt me to send to you a voluntary statement of my case.

I am a gold miner by occupation, and have been for many years. I crossed the plains to California in 1852, and since then have been in most of the prominent mining camps in the then territories of Oregon, Washington, British Columbia, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, and at present in Dakota. Leading the rough and exposed life incidental to my occupation, caused me to fall a victim to rheumatism which finally utterly prostrated me in Helena, Mont., in '65." I was under the best medical treatment obtainable in Montana for one year, with but slight improvement, and was finally advised to live among the Indians, and subject myself to their "sweat" treatment. This I did and remained with them about a year, obtaining only temporary relief.

Since that time I have been a chronic sufferer—suffering pain and torture indescribable almost continually. It would be useless to attempt to describe my sufferings. It must be sufficient to state that I suffered from rheumatism in its worst form. I spent large sums of money, changed climate, visited Hot Springs, lived alternately high and low altitudes, and employed the best medical advice obtainable, hoping to alleviate, if not cure my complaint. It was all to no purpose, and I had about despaired of ever recovering fully my shattered health, when my attention was called to the Owen Electric Belt by a fellow miner, Mr. J. C. Johnson, of Creek City, who also suffered from rheumatism, and who claimed to have derived great benefit from a Belt obtained from you. I had tried so many remedies that I was fairly discouraged and skeptical about obtaining relief from any source, but finally determined it was my duty to give your appliance a trial. I will also state right here that, since coming to the town, I have also suffered greatly from kidney disease.

At last I sent for one of your Belts, and applied it carefully, according to the printed directions accompanying the same, and can now truthfully say, as I now do to you, that I am no longer troubled with my kidneys, that I am entirely free from rheumatism, and I consider my health as perfect. All this I consider is owing to your valuable and priceless Owen Electric Belt, and I feel I am only performing a duty in paying a deserved tribute to Dr. Owen in sending this unsolicited statement of my case for his information.

Sincerely your friend,
JOHN MULVANE,
Crook City, Lawrence Co., S. D.

Ayer's Pills

Are better known and more generally used than any other cathartic. Sugar-coated, purely vegetable, and free from mercury or any other injurious drug, this is the ideal family medicine. Though prompt and energetic in their action, the use of these pills is attended with only the best results. Their effect is to strengthen and regulate the organic functions, being especially beneficial in the various derangements of the stomach, liver, and bowels.

Ayer's Pills

are recommended by all the leading physicians and druggists as the most prompt and effective remedy for biliousness, nausea, costiveness, indigestion, sluggishness of the liver, jaundice, drowsiness, pain in the side, and sick headache; also, to relieve colds, fevers, neuralgia, and rheumatism. They are taken with great benefit in chills and the diseases peculiar to the South. For travelers, whether by land or sea, are the best, and should never be omitted in the outfit. To preserve their medicinal integrity in all climates, they are put up in bottles as well as boxes.

Ayer's Pills

"I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for several years, and always found them to be a mild and excellent purgative, having a good effect on the liver. It is the best pill used."

MORTGAGE SALE.

On the 8th day of May, 1893, William P. Emens of Macon, Lenawee County, Michigan, signed to N. Nathaniel Boid of the same place, a certain piece or parcel of land situate in the Township of Macon in the County of Lenawee and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: The North three-quarters of the East half of the North-west quarter of Section Thirty-four (34), Town five (5), South, of Range five (5) East, containing Sixty acres, more or less, to secure the payment of Five Hundred and Fifty two dollars and interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum in two years from date of said mortgage, which said mortgage was, on the 24th day of May, 1893, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said Lenawee County, in Liber of Mortgages, on page 502.

And no suit has been made in the conditions of said mortgage by the non-payment of the money secured thereby, by which the power of sale therein contained has become operative.

There is claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of Seven hundred and Twenty-seven and fifty-two hundredths Dollars ($727.52), and no proceedings at law or in equity have been commenced to recover the same or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, the said premises above and in said mortgage described will be sold at public Vendue to the highest bidder, at the East front door of the House in the City of Adrian, in said County (that being the place of holding the Circuit Court within and for said County) on the Tenth day of June, 1893, at one o'clock in the afternoon, to make and satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage, the costs and expenses of this foreclosure and sale, including the fee of Twenty five Dollars, as provided by statute and in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

Dated March 10th, 1893.

HOW IT IS RECEIVED.

Comments of the Press Upon the Tariff Reform Club's Proposed Tariff Bill.

ALL GOOD MEN.

Some Republican papers assert that the special tariff reform committee of the Reform club is "impudent" in suggesting a tariff bill. This is a charge worthy of being embalmed among the curiosities of protectionism.

The committee is composed of men who have studied the tariff for many years. One of them has been secretary of the treasury. Another is a distinguished lawyer of large practice in customs cases. Two others are well known writers on economic subjects. If any opinions except those of protected manufacturers may be serviceable, surely those of the members of this committee are entitled to consideration.

No protectionist thought it impudent when the Wool Growers' association, the Home Market club, the American Protective league and a small army of bounty-fed manufacturers went to Washington and absolutely dictated to Mr. McKinley's committee the rates of duty that should be adopted for increasing taxation for their profit. But when a number of gentlemen, thoroughly equipped for the service, offer their suggestions for lightening the burdens of the people they are denounced as impudent. They have not, after the fashion of the protectionists, ordered congress to accept their views. They have not sent their report as an official document to the president or the secretary of the treasury. They have simply, for the benefit of the consumers, made their contribution to the current discussion.

They are willing to defend their work, which in its general principles is good. If any one imagines that he can answer and confound these gentlemen by calling them impudent he had better not undertake a controversy with them. He will discover, if he does, that sterner weapons than hard names are essential to victory.

It is because this committee has undertaken to advocate the cause of the people against the protected manufacturers that its members are called impudent. But the people have demanded reform. A reform congress will not be likely to reject on frivolous grounds the result of the studies of men who for years have been recognized as tariff experts.—N. Y. World.

THANKS DUE.

The thanks of the democratic party are due for the pains they (the committee) have taken in preparing a tariff reform bill to be submitted to the ways and means committee of the coming congress.

The bill prepared by these gentlemen consists of eight schedules. * * * All duties are ad valorem, as they should be.

The bill is a thoroughly democratic measure. While we cannot say that it is faultless and while no such claim is made for it by its authors, we believe that it if were passed as it stands, without the change of an item, it would make the best revenue-producing tariff the country ever had. By this we mean that it would give the largest revenue to the treasury while imposing the least burden upon the people. It would create a temporary deficit in revenue, but this would soon be made up by the increased importation of foreign wealth into the United States.

It is possible that the ways and means committee of the house of representatives may do better. We sincerely hope it will. But if it does no worse it will redeem every tariff reform pledge that has been made by the democratic party and inaugurate a new era of great and steadily increasing prosperity.—St. Louis Republic.

ALL AGREED.

These are all gentlemen whose views upon the best methods to reduce tariff taxation, while securing adequate revenue for the government's needs, are entitled to careful consideration. They do not differ in any material degree. They are agreed that the first step to be taken is to relieve materials of manufacture from burdens that have been unnecessarily imposed. This is, of course, the base of all tariff reform.

In the same spirit, these gentlemen agree that the necessaries of life should be taxed as lightly as possible, considering the requirements of the revenue. This is not only sound economics, but is common justice. The protective tariff has weighed most heavily on those least able to bear it. Many articles of food have been taxed for the pretended benefit of the farmer, while in the matters of clothing, carpets, bedding, crockery, glassware, building materials, window glass, tin plate and many forms of metal goods, the things used most in the homes of men of moderate means, by laboring men and women and their families, have been taxed at a very much higher rate than the things used by the more well-to-do classes.—N. Y. Times.

A GREAT WORK.

This club has done more to awaken the people to the necessity of tariff reform than any other similar organization.

The Reform club considers ad valorem duties the only just ones. The principal arguments against these duties are the difficulty of correctly appraising the goods and the possibility of fraud by means of undervaluation. The difficulties exist really for two classes only: Customs officers and importers. The convenience and interest of both these classes should not be considered before all other classes have been taken into account. It is true that high ad valorem duties are an incentive for fraud, but this will not be the case if the duties do not range higher than 25 per cent. on the average. Specific duties, on the other hand, impose a heavier burden upon the poor than upon the rich, because both pay the same amount, although quality and price of the goods differ widely. In addition, the ad valorem duty follows the fluctuations in price, and the constant cheapening, through new inventions and other changes in the method of production. As soon as the goods become cheaper, the duty declines correspondingly. The very opposite happens in the case of specific duties; it may to-day amount to 50 per cent. of the value, and, as the price of the merchandise declines, rise to 75 and even 100 per cent. within a comparatively short time. A tariff for revenue would, under the circumstances, become highly protective without a change in the rates of duty, solely through the incessant cheapening of production.

The beneficiaries of the robber tariff will bring their heaviest guns to bear upon this bill and attempt to produce differences of opinion among the democrats. The fact remains, however, that it can but be of the greatest value to have started the discussion thus early, and the Reform club deserves great credit for its timely undertaking.—N. Y. Staats Zeitung.

DIFFERS FROM M'KINLEY.

The tariff bill of the Reform club, of New York, has at least the advantage of representing the business side of the tariff question. It is not assumed to be the conclusive word on the question when the next tariff bill is framed, but is part of a variety of information sought with a view to guidance. It is the antipode of that on which the McKinley committee most relied. Their system of action was to call the manufacturers of the country together, ask them how much duty they wanted and then admit their claim, thus paying them for campaign contributions to the republican party already rendered and establishing a basis for further assessment.—Boston Herald (Ind.).

DESERVES CONSIDERATION.

The bill and the arguments of the committee are entitled to more consideration than such documents in general receive, because those who prepared it are men of reputation, who have long and deeply studied the question and are without any personal interest in it, except such as is common to their fellow-citizens. The subject itself is the one which chiefly divided the people in the recent election. It is the one which, more than any other, will divide the new congress when it shall come together. It touches nearly all the industries in the nation directly or indirectly. There is no way to avoid this. The people have pronounced for tariff reform in unmistakable tones, and the only way to give them what they have asked for is by a bill in congress.—N. Y. Evening Post.

WELL INFORMED.

That club includes many of the most distinguished tariff reformers of the country—men who have made a life-long study of the subject, men who have followed it into its details and are prepared to indicate the technicalities by which certain industries receive undue profits from the great American system of protection of the workingman. It is certainly as creditable to these gentlemen to tender their aid in the formulation of a measure as it was for them to tender their aid in the education of the country on the tariff question, and we all know that few organizations did more valuable service than this one in that work. There is no more proper or inoffensive form in which their suggestions could be made than the formation of a bill embodying their ideas.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

NOVEL BUT A.

This method of drafting a tariff bill is entirely novel of late years, but it is thoroughly democratic. Hitherto it has been the custom for manufacturers, the direct beneficiaries of protection, to pool their interests and then make demands upon a republican congress, which promptly yielded to them. The great mass of the people were not consulted in such matters. * * * The best feature of this new undertaking of the Reform club is that it will serve to direct the attention of the industrial world to the fact that reductions of the tariff will be made in less than eighteen months.—Albany Argus.

STUDY THE BILL.

The New Tariff Bill Should Be Studied By the People—How to Procure It.

The Reform club bill is the first tariff bill ever framed entirely in the interests of the people and without dictation from manufacturers or those with "vested rights." The makers of it are all eminent as scholars and several of them as philanthrophists. They are all recognized as authorities on the tariff question. With due consideration for past and present conditions they have made a bill too good to be fully appreciated at once, hence they have published it six months before congress meets, in order that proper time may be had for general discussion. Speakers will also be sent out to discuss its merits, and perhaps to aid in securing petitions to congress in favor of this or a similar bill. It will not do for the people to trust entirely to their representatives in congress. Popular sentiment must express itself. Many representatives did not understand the full import of the last election: others have weak backs or elastic consciences, which would bend and stretch before millions and billions of dollars that will be represented in Washington in opposition to such a measure. "Vested interests" are quick to begin work along effective lines. They have already cried out against this bill and will leave no stone unturned to prevent its passage. They wish to continue their robbery of the people and will bribe and corrupt congress if possible in the future as in the past. The only antidote for the poison is the strong assertion of public sentiment in editorials, speeches and petitions. Let it be manifest in a way that shall leave no doubt in the minds of our representatives of what is expected of them.

The Reform club proposed tariff bill is now ready for free distribution at the office, 52 William street, New York City. Send in your address and secure a copy. If you are a farmer, mechanic clerk, professional man or common laborer, it will pay you to study this bill and to ask your congressmen to support it or a similar one.

Don't Like It.

Serious review of the New York Reform club's tariff bill is an impossibility. Like most of the later productions of Shearman and Wells, it is a curiosity of imbecility.—Chicago Inter Ocean (Rep.).

DR. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous irritation, and all disorders attendant with inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years.

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

GALVANIZED

It is not enough to make portions of a windmill galvanized. That is the way to get a galvanized mill. That is the way to get a galvanized mill. That is the way to get a galvanized mill. The Steel Aermotor is galvanized after being completely built, and is therefore protected from rust and decay.

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermoter. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country."

Though sold, we were naught to make all of the 20049 Aermotors in '91, and after eight weeks of '92, here we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing we manufacture exhaustive scientific investigation and experiment were made by a skilled mechanical engineer in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, presided by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best articles at less than the poorest is sold for, '92 it furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb, the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one $100, write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

THE CYCLONE AT REA.

The cyclone which swept over the little hamlet of Rea on Thursday of last week was the worst hurricane that has ever visited this section within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. We gather the following particulars from last week's Dundee Reporter.

The people who first saw the clouds describe them as coming toward them from two directions as above stated—funnel-shaped masses, seeming to join at the edge of the village, striking with tremendous force the Protestant Methodist church, ripping off two-thirds of the roof, hammering down the steeple, one side and parts of the front and rear walls of the building making a frightful appearance. This was a pleasant, cozy, substantial brick church, erected in 1874, and dear to the hearts of many of the now saddened people. The bell and part of the steeple were carried some distance on the side, while the strokes struck by the boys seemed to toll out the doom of the church. The Bible was firmly fixed to its sacred place, steadfastly maintaining its position (as it has ever done amid storm and war), though covered with the dust and plaster of the falling roof. The organ was dumb amid the ruins around it.

OVERMYER'S STORE WRECKED.

Mr. A. E. Overmyer's store was the most total wreck of the place, one side and parts of the roof were taken to quite a distance. The whole building was first moved 30 feet from its foundations and then torn part from part like matchwood, leaving the whole contents of this large store in a most frightful jumble, while he seemed the calmest and most considerate man in the jostling crowd, full of faith and pluck for the future.

JOE SMITH'S SEVERE LOSS.

The elevator of J. D. Smith was driven from its foundation, one end tipping toward the railroad, entirely wrecking the inside. It contained 3000 bushels of wheat and oats, most of which lies on the ground. Large portions of it will be a loss.

The depot building is partly unroofed and otherwise damaged, but remains on its foundation.

The store and postoffice building owned by E. L. Moore sustained extensive damages, while his large barn at the rear of the store is a total wreck.

Enos Austin's house had a part of its roof lifted and shattered in the wind, his barn lay flat, corn crib was torn to atoms, also top of his buggy flew away, and trees were broken in two, which made a disconsolate appearance about the yard; all presenting a scene of ruin, while his maple grove, a short distance in the rear of the house, was nearly demolished.

The blacksmith shop and two houses of Clark N. Miller were extensively damaged, but he bore up like a hero.

One end of T. J. Young's sawmill was blown off, the stack broken and a part of it carried away.

The second story of the residence of William Wright was swept away, strewing his household goods about the yard. His barns and orchard were also ruined.

Nearly every building in the village felt the force of this breathing monster, being torn down, moved from their foundations, unroofed, windows broken, or sides battered in, giving the appearance of an awful devastation.

Joshua Kent's residence was partly unroofed and generally damaged, and his orchard is torn up by the roots.

The large barn erected last year by Chas. Stanger was a terrible sight, being twisted from its foundation and wrecked generally.

Harrison Shaw's buildings upon his farm were also greatly damaged. Mr. Shaw is one of the heaviest losers by the disaster. He was the owner of the store and residence in Rea occupied by Mr. Overmyer.

THE SCENE OF SADDEST EXPERIENCES

occurred at the Henry P. Crain farm, half a mile north of Rea, upon which were two dwelling houses and barns. One house was occupied by Mrs. Crain and daughter and Miss Sadie Webster, the other by Jacob Hiser, Jr., and wife. Both dwellings and barns were total wrecks.

DIED IN HER HUSBAND'S ARMS.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiser had retired and were suddenly aroused by the dreadful noise of the cyclone, but before they had time to escape the house went down with a crash, striking and pinioning them under the fallen timbers. Misses Edie Crain and Sadie Webster liberated Mr. Hiser from his position and then he succeeded in rescuing his wife and carried her forth in an unconscious state, after which she died in his arms in about 20 minutes. Mr. Hiser is injured quite severely and fears are entertained that he may not recover. He and his dead wife were removed to his parents' home in the western part of the township, on the turnpike.

Mrs. Crain's residence also went down, took fire and was consumed, together with nearly the entire contents, except a few articles carried by the gale into the fields. Mrs. Crain's limb was broken near the knee and she was otherwise severely injured. She was removed to the neighboring house of Floyd Tingley, which was only partly destroyed, where her injuries were treated by Drs. Haynes and Unger, who had been sent for. Yesterday afternoon she was removed to the residence of H. A. Stewart in this village.

The Boston people have discovered that bous pokukol is Volapuk for baked beans, and they are correspondingly happy.

Buckingham's Dye for the whiskers does its work thoroughly, coloring a uniform brown or black, which, when dry, will neither rub, wash off, nor soil linen.

World's Fair Visitors.

Intending visitors to the World's Fair will be enabled to secure satisfactory accommodations, at reasonable rates, at either the many hotels or private residences listed in a book entitled "Homes for Visitors to the World's Fair." This book is for sale at the Lake Shore Railway ticket office in this city. It's a good thing, call and see about it. N. S. Satterthwaite, Agent.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

This is the worse storm of the season thus far.

Dr. E. Hause was an Adrian visitor yesterday.

Fred B. Boynton, of Adrian is visiting friends in town this week.

Jim Elliott began clerking at Lowry's grocery store Monday morning.

We have several new advertising cards this week, all of which will be of value to purchasers.

Avery & Co., have a new announcement this week, on the subject of "tea." Be sure and read it.

Fred Osborne of Saginaw, is spending a part of his vacation from the U. of M. with Tecumseh friends.

Street Commissioner Hyde has opened the spring campaign and is already doing some good work on the streets.

F. L. Pratt, of Monroe, drew the gold watch, given away by Tucker's Metropolitans. The lucky number was 5300.

We dropped into Hosmer & Son's store the other day and found that his stock of goods was going rapidly. Everything is sold at so cheap a figure that everybody can buy. Fancy books for graduating presents; watches, clocks, and jewelry of all kinds are sold at astonishingly low prices. This reduction sale will continue only a short time and people who are wise will avail themselves of this opportunity at once.

"Poor patriots, partly purchased, partly pressed, Quite quaking, quiet quarters quickly quest." Heroism and patriotism glorified. Bravery rewarded, cowardice made ridiculous, and villainy punished in the remarkable Military Drama, "By Force of Impulse.'" at the Opera House, Thursday evening, May 4th. You will get double the value of your money, and at the same time assist a worthy charity.

BY FORCE OF IMPULSE.

TECUMSEH, MICH., APRIL 20, 1893.

LOCAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Harry Dunn, after a week's visit in Tecumseh, left last Saturday for Kansas City, where he has obtained a business position.

We are glad to learn that Wm. Hayden, who has been quite seriously ill for several days, is improving rapidly with prospects of a speedy recovery.

Gov. Rich has appointed Friday April 28th as Arbor Day. Prepare to plant a tree on that day. It is recommended that appropriate exercises be held in the public schools.

McCann Bros' new clothing store was the center of attraction last Saturday, it being the day of their opening. They have a very neat store and a fine assortment of goods, and the outlook is favorable for a large business.

A. W. Mills has been Ohio State agent for the Page Woven Wire Fence but two and a half months, and he has already shipped from the factory at Adrian to 30 Ohio agents, over one hundred miles of fence.

Did you ever hear Jehiel Davidson sing? No! Well, you're lucky, part-ly, but come to the Opera House on Thursday evening, May 4th, and witness the Military Drama, "By Force of Impulse." Jehiel won't sing.

A note from our old friend Sumner Dins announces his removal to Suite No. 99 Washington Street, Chicago. People in this vicinity who may have any legal business in Chicago, will find it to their advantage to give him a call.

A Special examination of candidates for teachers' certificates will be held at the court house, Adrian, on Saturday, April 29th, 1893, beginning at 9 a. m., standard time.
C. F. FIELD,
County School Commissioner.

Satterthwaite Bros' have procured the services of F. E. Ferguson, of long experience in plumbing and furnace work in Adrian, which places them in position to make bargains on extentions of their connection both for yard and house use.

Reginald de Koven's new waltz which is hears played on so many pianos nowadays, has proved so popular with young women that a second edition of the April Ladies' Home Journal, containing the music, has been found necessary, the first edition of the magazine existing of 700,000 copies.

Mr. John Ketchum, wife and family, of Buffalo, are spending two or three weeks among old Tecumseh acquaintances. Mr. Ketchum married his first wife in Tecumseh nearly thirty years ago, who was Miss Adele Read. She was one of the most accomplished musicians ever living in our village.

"Did'nt the Government pay all it owed to?" "Yes, $11 or $13 a month, but with the thought of the future world before me, and the love of wife and children in my heart, allow me to say I would not for hire go into one great battle for all the gold this Government could give me. No man who sets a value on human life could be hired to go into battle." Don't fail to attend "By Force of Impulse," at the Opera House Thursday evening, May 4th.

H. S. Lee was in Adrian on business last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Snell were guests of H. J. Snell's family over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Barnes, of Adrian, were Tecumseh visitors last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Ham attended the K. of P. party at Adrian last Friday evening.

Remember the G. A. R. Entertainment at the opera house Thursday eve. May 4th.

The water works main was tapped Monday, to supply the Garlinghouse livery barn with water.

Supervisor McNair started on his rounds last Monday morning with a big book under his arm.

The Tecumseh State Savings Bank [illegible] Monday morning, April 24th.

S. Erwin Conklin, of Decatur, Ill., spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron H. Conklin, of this place.

If you intend taking water from the water works call on J. M. Ingersoll for estimates, one door South of Marsh's market.

The G. A. R. Entertainment to be given Thursday evening, May 4th, ought to draw a full house. See cast of characters elsewhere.

Frank Tucker's Metropolitans finished their week's engagement here Saturday evening with the rousing western comedy, "Davy Crockett." The work of this company deserves great credit, as every evening's entertainment seemed to eclipse the one previous.

Shall the new Lake Shore depot be built on the old site or up in town near the Council Building? That question is now agitating the public mind. A depot in the latter location would be a great advantage not only to the public but also to the railroad company.

The Adrian Times appeared last Saturday attired in a new spring suit which fits to a dot. The Times always presents a tasty appearance but in its new dress, it looks like a maiden of sweet sixteen. The Times evidently purposes to lead the procession during the centennial year.

Read the announcement of the Chicago Enteriainment Bureau in another column. People who intend visiting the World's Fair should engage their rooms beforehand if they would avoid trouble and extra expense. Call at this office for circulars and full particulars.

George Kay now fills the position of clerk at the Lilly House, which for the past five years has been held by Tom Moffatt. Tom, we understand, goes to Chicago. Mr. Kay during his clerkship in Lowry's grocery store demonstrated his business qualifications, and he will doubtless do equally well in his new position.

Dr. N. W. Tracy, the Kentucky colonel, is in trouble at Detroit. He went into Cahoots with the W. C. T. U. there, hired the auditorium for $750 a week, and started his crusade. Of course it has been a failure, and now the colonel gets mad and says some very harsh things from the platform. Meanwhile the W. C. T. U. is trying to help out, by starting a subscription paper.

The Ladies Guild of St. Peter's church, met at Mrs. M. E. Corey's on Thursday last, as announced. The following ladies were elected officers for the ensuing year:

The official canvass of the last election dealt very kindly with Editor Field, increasing his plurality from 152, as first given, to 325. He led the entire ticket. For Supreme Judge the Democrats had 68 plurality in the County.

Church Bills & Co., bankers at Ithaca, who were obliged to close their doors in December last, on account of the Bills & Koch and O. P. Bills & Co's failures, have already paid 75 cents on the dollar, and will soon pay everyone in full. The depositors were paid 50 per cent, within 30 days from date of suspension.

The Ball Game for the benefit of Co. C., between the males and females, has been arranged for next Tuesday evening, April 25th, at the Opera House. The male battery will be Mike Eckart, and Dr. Reed. Will Ross and Thede Harris will assist the females. McLouth's Orchestra of five pieces, of Adrian, will furnish the music, during the game and for a dance afterwards. Reserved seats on sale at the usual place.

An interesting suit was tried before Justice Burridge last week; the suit an action in trover to recover a road wagon which the treasurer of Ridgeway, Mr. Witt, had levied on to collect a ditch tax assessed against Wm. Curtis. The suit began Thursday morning and lasted until Saturday noon. Attorney Mains of Homer and W. C. Burridge appeared for the plaintiff and Smith and Westerman for defendant. The jury rendered a verdict of no cause of action, and the plaintiff appealed to the Circuit Court.

The idea is being agitated to build the new Lake Shore passenger depot uptown. The probable site would be the vacant lot just north of the Council building. The scheme is a good one and should be carried out; not only would the railroad be benefited, but for the better accommodation of passengers, the new location would be of inestimable value, while the building itself would be a great improvement to the appearance of the town. We hope to see every public spirited citizen in the front rank and on the right side.

Dr. E. B. Edgers started on Tuesday for Waterloo, Iowa, where he will make his home in the future. He has made many friends during his brief residence here who will regret his departure.

The Lenawee County Savings bank has had prepared from the plates used in the new County Atlas, a quantity of township maps for distribution among its patrons in the various townships throughout the county. These maps are conceded to be the most complete in every detail that have been published and it was only after much persuasion, and at large expense that the bank was enabled to use the plates. The maps are neatly mounted with brass trimmings ready to hang on the wall. We acknowledge the receipt of one of the maps, which will be very handy to have in our sanctum.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

IN FRIGHTFUL FURY.

A TORNADO OF AWFUL POWER CAUSES TERRIBLE RUIN.

Father and Mother Cremated in the Ruins Before Their Helpless Children's Gaze—Ypsilanti Visited by the Cyclone—The Storm at Other Points.

A cyclone of the Western Kansas stripe paid Ypsilanti a flying visit and left unmistakable evidences of its visit and character. As a result of this hurried call a large portion of the business section of the town was badly demolished. It was just growing dusk, when the Ypsilantians observed a dark bank of clouds moving up from the southeast, but it was thought to an April shower and no particular attention was paid to it.

Soon the wind began to blow, and before the people knew what had happened houses, barns, roofs, trees, etc., were flying in all directions. This lasted less than three minutes, and all was silent and dark. The electric light wires had been blown down, and there was no light. Rain added to the terror of the people, but soon the sky cleared and a beautiful calm settled down over the scene of desolation.

An investigation of the damage done was made as soon as possible. Prof. J. C. McClenahan's handsome residence was the first building struck, and it was razed to the ground. Chicago avenue was made a scene of devastation; fine maples were torn from the ground, fences leveled, Benevolent hall was destroyed, Wm. Drisley's house unroofed. Then a large double brick dwelling was entirely demolished, Cleary's Business college unroofed and otherwise seriously injured, H. M. Curtiss' Carriage factory leveled to the ground and Drapers' opera house entirely ruined. Scenes in the Hawkins House were very lively; a number of guests were eating a late supper when suddenly without warning, the whole upper portion of the wing where the dining room is located fell in upon them. Several dining-room girls and several guests were in the room and all escaped with hardly a bruise. Yost's livery barn was unroofed as was the Dolsin block and Worden's store building. The Laible block was unroofed and the telephone exchange nearly destroyed. The Occidental Hotel and Fairchild's meat market were damaged. The north wall of the Bucklin block was torn out and the wind tore up a barn standing in rear of the block and, with its contents, including three horses, landed at the foot of the hill on meadow land near the Huron River.

Continuing its eastward course, the storm cloud swept across the river mowing a path through that residence portion of the city, badly damaging dwellings and barns that lay before it. Coming as an hour when the streets were lined with people, it seems like a miracle that no one should have been killed.

Two People Cremated in the Ruins.

At Royal Oak the storm just grazed the village proper. Nearly everything in its path was leveled to the earth. To the southwest a fire soon started, to add misery to the destruction wrought, and but a few minutes later another fire was seen to the north of the village. The inhabitants turned out with their lanterns, but could do little save to help extricate the live stock from some demolished barns, and express their sympathy to neighbors who had suffered losses.

The first fire referred to was that of the residence of Christian Brick, on the town line road. The house was utterly torn to pieces, and to add to the desolation the wreck took fire. Mr. and Mrs. Brick and their three children were in the house at the time. The children managed to extricate themselves, but the father and mother were caught in the flames and were actually burned alive before their children's eyes.

The barn of a Mr. Kleinaw was wrecked and Mr. Kleinaw went out with a lantern to extricate his horses, his lantern was kicked over and the debris set on fire. This was the second blaze spoken of above. Other places destroyed about Royal Oak were: David Evans' home, and the homes of John McClure, Andrew Campbell, Ira Barnum, Frank Knowles, and L. D. Finn. Several other residences were damaged but not destroyed.

One Person Killed at Rea.

At the little village of Rea, near Dundee, the cyclone struck the house of Jacob Hiser, a farmer, killing his wife and badly injuring him. The remains of the building took fire and a hard fight had to be made to save the rest of the village. Mrs. H. P. Crane had a leg broken from falling timber from her house, and several others were badly hurt. The M. E. church was unroofed as were over 25 other houses. Several farmers suffered severe loss in cattle, horses, etc., killed by falling timber and fire. The store of A. E. Overmyer is a total wreck, the post-office and grocery store of Ed L. Moore is flat on the ground.

At Other Points.

A terrific thunder storm passed over Croswell and neighborhood. A barn one mile east town, belonging to David French, was struck by lightning and completely destroyed, together with nine head of cattle, one horse, seed grain, farm implements, etc. Mr. French was in the barn at the time working with a horse when the flash came and killed the horse in the next stall, and set the barn on fire. Mr. French and one horse escaped uninjured.

Lexington also experienced an electric and wind storm. A great many trees were blown over and buildings shaken up.

Eighty-six year old Nelson White, of Dundee, has got blood in his eye. The council ordered a street through one of his village lots, and cut several fruit trees down for him. The captain says he protected the union with his money and his life, and he is ready to do the same by that village lot.

Charles McKrill, who was employed as a janitor at the capitol at Lansing until the middle of January, when he began to show signs of insanity, shot himself dead. He was 35 years old and leaves a widow. He had just been adjudged insane and was to have been taken to the the asylum.

DESCENDANT OF COLUMBUS.

Duke Veragua and Party Land in New York—Royally Received.

Don Christobal Colon, of La Corda, duke of Veragua, marquis, of Jamaica, and admiral and adelentodo, mayor of the Indies, the lineal descendant of Christopher Columbus, chief of the World's Fair commission from Spain, arrived at New York on the American Line steamship New York. He was met by Commander Francis W. Dickens, U. S. N., the representative of this government, and by the special committee of citizens appointed by Mayor Gilroy to receive the distinguished guest and his suite and extend to him the freedom of the city. Commander Dickens delivered an address of welcome on behalf of the government.

The duke, as were all the rest of his party, was dressed most quietly. He is a small, thin man, with dark, thick, but not long side whiskers, a la Chauncey Depew, plentifully tinged with gray. The duke's brother, Don Luis Barboles, could easily be mistaken for him. They resemble each other in almost every respect and both bear the likeness of the accepted prints by which the great discoverer, Christopher Columbus, has come to be known.

The party was composed of the duke of Veragua, his wife Elizabeth of Aguilra, his son, the duke's brother, the marquis of Barboles, and his nephew, Commander Dickens, U. S. N., and Mrs. Dickens and John Austin Stevens.

THE KINETOGRAPH.

Edison's Latest Wonder Transmits Motion as the Telephone Transmits Speech.

Thos. A. Edison has finally announced the nature of his individual exhibit. It is the kinetograph, the last of a series of wonderful inventions, displayed in connection with the most versatile group of phonographs ever brought together. It is to the eye what the phonograph is to the ear. A mechanical retina which stores away a living picture to be reproduced in all its action, every movement faithfully shown at any time and in any place. With the kinetograph it is possible to show in Chicago Chauncey Depew delivering a speech aboard the flagship Chicago in New York harbor. Not a photograph of arrested action, but the living man, his every gesture, the play of expression on his face, the movements of his lips. It will transmit and reproduce in motion of any kind for any distance.

Iowa Woman Shoots Her Husband.

Hiram Cornell was shot and seriously and perhaps fatally wounded by his own wife at her house in Iowa. The tragedy was the result of domestic trouble of long standing, culminating in an attempt on the part of Mrs. Cornell to defend a caller whom her husband found leaving the house. Cornell and his wife have been having trouble for years and of late they have not been living together. He has twice been arrested for assault upon her, but had agreed to keep away. He failed to do so, however, and became intensely jealous of her. He claimed she was being visited by other men and called on her and threatened her. She then got a revolver for protection. Cornell got an officer and set watch on the house. After waiting some time they were rewarded by catching a sewing machine agent leaving the house. Cornell rushed at him and a terrible struggle followed. Mrs. Cornell heard the noise and came bravely to the rescue with her revolver in hand. At an opportune moment she aimed it at her husband and fired. The ball entered the right shoulder from behind, inflicting a serious, perhaps fatal wound.

Filthy Water for Drinking.

For years the children attending the public schools at Bay City have been compelled to drink hydrant water, which comes practically from the filthy Saginaw river, or to go thirsty. The board of education has at last taken steps toward securing a purer supply. The water will be boiled in the future unless reasonable terms can be made with the dealers of some of the table waters on the market.

A Sad Death.

Fred Washington, bound from Pinconning to Saginaw, died on the train just before reaching Bay City. It seems that he was put on the train by a physician at Pinconning who did not tell the conductor of his condition. When the conductor collected the fares the man was too nearly dead to give an account of himself.

Fred Heg collected $8 bounty on a wolf which he shot in the southern suburbs of Grand Rapids. This is the first wolf bounty paid there in many years.

James Frechill, who, on Nov. 9 last shot and killed Sam Holland at Crystal Falls, has finally been arrested at Negaunee, and will be tried on a charge of murder.

W. H. Vanderpoort has been made assistant professor of mechanics at the Agricultural college. He has been superintendent of the shops at the college for some time.

At a Galesburg revival a pastor is said to have glorified over an anticipated cholera epidemic. He said it would wipe hard drinkers and tobacco users off the earth.

Secretary Perry F. Powers, of the Michigan League of Republican clubs, has issued a call for a convention of the clubs at Lansing, April 21, to elect delegates to the national convention at Louisville, Ky., May 10.

The Detroit presbytery in session at Mt. Clemens selected Rev. Geo. Wallace, of Plymouth; Rev. W. S. Jerome, of Pontiac; John Cameron and S. M. Cutcheon, of Detroit, as delegates to the general assembly at Washington, May 18.

A switching freight train on the Michigan Central railroad at Battle Creek, ran into Benjamin Welch's dray wagon and instantly killed his valuable team of dray horses. Welch escaped and will sue the railroad company for damages.

The Spring Lake resorts will be lively this summer. Improvements are being made among the cottages and three 20-room hotels are building. Improvements to the extent of $110,000 are also being made on the Spring Lake house.

The Manistee, Filer City & East Lake electric railway has began running.

Mothers and Daughters

Over twelve years I was afflicted with a very serious female difficulty and for the last sixteen months was under treatment of three of the very best physicians that money could employ. Under their skillful treatment I gradually grew worse until they decided they could render me no permanent help. One of my friends pursuaded me to try a bottle of Dullam's Great German Uterine Tonic, and after taking three bottles, can say I am in better health than I have been for twenty years and am now sixty years old, but feel as young as at thirty.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss.

At a session of the Probate court for the County of Lenawee holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, on Friday, the 31 day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three.

Present Richard B. Robbins, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of William Wright, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Joseph Wright and Simon Gould executors of the last will and testament and upon the estate of said deceased, alleging that the funeral expenses and debts of said deceased and the expenses of administration thus far incurred, have been fully paid and that they are now ready to render their administration account, and praying that said account may be allowed, and that the residue of said estate may be assigned according to the terms of the will of said deceased and for such other order and decree as to this Court shall seem proper.

It is Ordered, That Monday, the first day of May next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at law of said estate, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said court then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.

And it is further ordered, that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

IN HONOR OF JEFFERSON.

The U. of M. Democratic Club Give a Banquet in Ann Arbor.

The second Jeffersonian banquet of the U. of M. Democratic club at the Palace Rink, Ann Arbor, was an enjoyable affair, although most of the prominent speakers who were expected did not materalize, and their places were substituted by orators from Detroit, Jackson and elsewhere. Among the gentlemen of national reputation who were announced to speak only John DeWitt Warner, of New York, appeared. However, the addresses delivered were extremely interesting.

The rink was elaborately decorated with red, white and blue bunting and flags, while potraits of Cleveland and Jefferson were handsomely decorated. After the banquet Hon. Edwin F. Uhl, of Grand Rapids, was introduced amid cheers as president of the evening. Complimentary remarks by him on the University brought fourth a sturdy U. of M. yell.

Hon. John W. Champlain was introduced to deliver the address of welcome in place of ex-Judge Montgomery. Toastmaster Uhl expressed his regrets that Mr. Stevenson could not be present and introduced to the asembly Hon. John J. Enright, of Detroit, on the sentiment, "What of the Young Men."

Congressman John DeWitt Warner spoke happily on "Jefferson's Legacy to His Party." His speech was the best of the evening.

Alas, for Human Expectations.

Lewis F. Lane, the treasurer of Lake Ann township, Grand Traverse county, was short in his accounts. He has occupied the office for the past year, and was a candidate for re-election at the recent election, but was defeated. When Lane was called upon to deliver the funds to his successor he refused, nor would he pay several small orders. He was arrested for embezzlement. An examination of his books places his shortage at $1,840.65. Lane kept a store at Lake Ann, and has always enjoyed an excellent reputation. He used the money in his business, feeling confident that he would be re-elected and could then easily restore it.

Religion in Politics Don't Pay.

The startling announcement was made by the Saginaw Globe that the religious warfare carried on there would seriously impair the business prospects of Saginaw. E. Germain, who operates one of the most extensive mills in the state, will remove to some other city, if the Globe's information is correct. Mr. Germain usually employs about 400 hands. Last year he paid $127,000 in wages and handled 42,000,000 feet of lumber. It is said that he has become satisfied that the mingling of religion with polities will impair business prospects, and is looking for another location.

Don't Want Smoking at the Soldiers' Home

H. F. Graves, of Adrian, the new commandant of the soldiers' home at Grand Rapids, says there are one or two little reforms that he expects to work out; for instance, when he was at the home recently, he saw an aged comrade at the hospital very near death's door, and in the atmosphere breathed by the dying man were the fumes from the pipes of some of the fellow-inmates.

Killed by a Runaway at a Funeral.

A sad accident occurred at Brighton which resulted in the death of Patrick Donely, of that place. He and his wife were attending a funeral, and while in the procession the horse became frightened at an engine and ran away, throwing out its occupants, killing Mr. Donely. Mrs. Donely cannot live.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 17.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: The ruling fact in the business situation is the outgo of gold, $4,500,000 last week with the prospect of a large amount this week. Treasury gold is again reduced below $2-, ogoro in excess of the million fund and there is more talk of bond issues, with the old doubt whether these would meet the real difficulty, which is the enormous excess of imports over exports of goods. In speculative markets cotton is a quarter lower, the pressure of enormous stocks here and abroad being felt as should have been expected, while reports of increased acreage come from the south, in cheat the Chicago corner forced May above 9c, while the world buy at New York, and receipts at western ports were nearly 2,000,000 bu in four days. Prices have advanced only ½c, while corn declined ½c and oats advanced ½c. Pork products are a shade stronger and also oil, but coffee weaker. At nearly all points, both north and south, collections are rather slow with somewhat more active demand for money at most. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 205. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 226.

U. of M. Daily in New Hands

The newly-elected board of editors of the U. of M. Daily organized themselves as follows: Charles A. Denison, '94 law, managing editor; E. K. Towl, '93 lit.; Norman Flowers, '96 lit., and H. A. Spaulding, '94 lit., assistant managing editors. S. W. Curtiss maintains his position as business manager until the close of the university year. A. Bailey, '94 dent., and H. B. Gammon, '94 lit., were chosen assistant business managers.

The Eighth Michigan infantry will hold its annual reunion at St. Johns, June 16.

FROM MANY PLACES.

NEWS ITEMS OF VARIOUS KINDS FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

Western Cyclones Wipe Several Towns off of the Face of the Earth and Kill a Number of People.---Big Strike at the World's Fair Cut Short.

Eastern Kansas and western Missouri were visited by terrible cyclones and hurricanes. In Kansas the area of the storm was bounded by the three tiers of counties from the eastern border. At Pure City, Missouri, William Walker and his two children were caught in the wreck of their home and killed. Many others were injured. Willis and Pewattan, small towns of about 500 inhabitants each, were totally destroyed. At Stanbury almost every building in its path was torn to pieces, and several people were killed. Parker, a hamlet ten miles south of Independence, was almost entirely destroyed. Many houses were demolished and cars were badly wrecked. The loss of life is believed to have been great, but the death list is not obtainable owing to the destruction of the telegraph lines. It is reported that several towns in Brown county were more or less damaged and that many lives were lost.

In Indiana.

A tornado swept over the southern portion of Kokomo at four o'clock in the morning, demolishing the machinery room and boiler rooms of the American Strawboard mills. Robert Douglass, an employe of the mills, was instantly killed by the falling walls. The loss will exceed $30,000.

The storm struck Greencastle at 3 o'clock and did much damage. The roof of the female dormitory at the DePauw University was blown off and a number of dwellings were in a like manner disfigured. At Montezuma the Riverside Hotel was wrecked, part of it being carried away and much other damage resulted. Several persons were fatally injured.

In Iowa.

A storm visited Davenport, Iowa, which was fierce and destructive. The amount of the rainfall was nearly two inches. The basements and first floors in the business part of the town were flooded. One furniture factory was damaged to the extent of $5,000.

THE PRISONER ESCAPED.

A Kansas Mob Starts to Hang a Negro but While They Quarrel He Gets Away.

A mob gathered about the jail at Salina, Kas., and was constantly increased by recruits from neighboring towns, who came in by the train load to participate in the lynching of Hudson, the Negro who ravished Mrs. Frost and murdered her infant child. For a long time the mob was deterred from action because of the fact that reputable witnesses swore that Hudson was at a farm six miles out of the city, notwithstanding Mrs. Frost positively identified him. An assault was finally made on the jail and the prisoner was rescued. The jail yard had scarcely been left when the mob began to quarrel about the prisoner, and before three blocks had been traversed it broke out in a riot. Two men were fatally injured. While the fight was going on attention was directed from the mob's victim, and before it was known Hudson had been run off from the mob and placed in the National hotel, where he is now closely guarded.

WORLD'S FAIR STRIKE.

Over 4,000 Mechanics Quit Work—A Settlement Effected.

Trouble had been brewing among the union men employed at the World's Fair grounds at Chicago for some time and an order to strike was finally issued by the leaders. Delegates were sent to call the men off and in a short time 4,000 union men had quit work. Several serious conflicts were narrowly avoided between union and non-union men and matters looked very serious for the big show, but the first evening brought the trouble to a focus. A committee of the labor leaders and the World's Fair council of administration held a meeting and an agreement was signed which provide that either union or non-union artisans or mechanics may be employed; that union hours and wages shall govern all employes, and that union men shall not be discriminated against. The men returned to work at their old hours and wages.

The Behring Sea Patrol.

Secretary Herbert has decided upon the detail for the Behring Sea patrol this season. The fleet that will lock after American interests in Alaskan waters this summer will consist of seven vessels, and they will sail from San Francisco soon after May 15. The flagship of the squadron will be the Mohican, now Admiral Skerrett's flagship at Honolulu. The Petrel, on the Asiatic station, will be ordered to proceed direct to Alaska, and the Adams, at San Francisco, will be sent out to relieve the Mohican. Admiral Skerrett then transferring his flag to either her or the Boston. The fleet will thus consist of the Mohican, Petrel, probably the Alliance or Alert, the fish steamer Albatross and the revenue cutters Rush, Bear and Corwin.

Ed. Adams, a Grand Rapids switchman, was fatally injured by being caught between two cars.

The condition of affairs in Armenia is becoming more serious daily. Constant arrests of Armenians are reported in private letters. It is estimated that between 1,800 and 2,000 Christians are now in Turkish dungeons. The recent announcement that the sultan proclaimed a general pardon of American prisoners was merely humbug.

George Otto, a German farmer who lives near South Haven, has a peculiar well on his plantation. It is said that for at least half a day before an approaching storm the water in it begins to be agitated, which keeps increasing in violence until a roaring sound is heard just before the storm sets in.

Otto Piotter, the man held in bail for several days on suspicion of murdering Louis Schilling, at Kalamazoo, has been released. He feels greatly grieved over his treatment, and his friends say they will make trouble. Nothing like positive evidence that he had anything to do with the murder could be secured.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Sixty-eighth day.—The committee on judiciary reported a substitute bill providing that justices of the peace may take bonds in the sum of $100 for the appearance of drunks and disorderlies, and may suspend sentence on condition that the prisoner take the gold cure treatment and remain sober for a period of 10 days. The same committee reported adversely on the bank half-holiday bill, and it was tabled. The bill exempting sewing maceihes from levy and sale on execution, was favorably reported. The state prison committee recommended the passage of a Senate bill providing for a new board of control for that institution. HOUSE.—In committee of the whole on the special order—appropriation bills. The first taken up was a bill appropriating $76,500 for three cottages, a barn and 120 acres of additional land for the Northern Michigan Asylum at Traverse City; agreed to. A bill directing the State Board of Corrections and Charities to select a site of not less than 320 acres, for an asylum in the Upper Peninsula and making an appropriation of $75,000 for site and buildings, was then taken up. It provides for a board of control of five persons, to be appointed by the governor, and makes an appropriation of $67,500 for 1894, making the total appropriation $142,500; agreed to. The bill making an appropriation of $80,000 for a colony house, boiler house, boilers, water tower, electric lighting, etc., at the Michigan Asylum for the Insane, at Kalamazoo, was taken up and agreed to. A bill appropriating $8,326 for the State Public School at Coldwater for 1893 and $35,000 for 1894 was passed without objection. Also a bill appropriating $21,000 for the Michigan School for the Blind for 1893 and a like sum for 1894. The committee rose, reported progress, and then Representative Moll called up his bill for the dredging and improvement of Black River in Sanilac county, for drainage and sanitary purposes, and making an appropriation of $18,000 therefor. It failed to pass was reconsidered and tabled.

SENATE.—Sixty-ninth day.—The clerk submitted the House concurrent resolution for a committee to go to Chicago and prepare for the advent in that city of the Michigan legislature, their wives, officers, clerks, etc., at the World's Fair opening; tabled. The board of auditors and the attorney-general sent in communications stating that the state has no claim to the High school site in Detroit, that it is the property of the United States. His passed: Providing for the construction of a coal house and machinists' lathe for the Michigan Asylum for Dangerous and Criminal Insane; protecting the fish in the Saginaw river and its tributaries; prohibiting the catching of small-mouthed bass in Walloon lake, amending the law relative to the government of the state prison; for a new board of control for the school for the blind. Bills lost, reconsidered and tabled: Amending the law relative to paying a bounty for the killing of English sparrows; amending the law relative to trials in criminal cases relative to the challenging of jurors; amending the law relative to courts held by justices of the peace. HOUSE.—Bills passed: Appropriating $10,000 for the Michigan Mining school, $2,000 of which is for a new engineering building; for the government of the school for the Blind; amending act incorporating and consolidating cities of Saginaw and East Saginaw; appropriating $15,000 to clean out and deepen the channel of Black river in Sanilac county. In committee of the whole appropriation bills were considered. Bills were passed: Appropriating $70,000 for the Industrial Home for Girls for two years; appropriating $69,500 for the Michigan School for the Deaf for two years; appropriating $15,000 for the State Mining school; prohibiting the giving of free passes to state officers, members of the legislature and the judiciary; amending the free school act; appropriating $68,000 for the Eastern Michigan insane asylum; relative to return sunmons for jurors; prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons; to open Grand Lake on Sundays; requiring fire insurance companies to pay a tax of 2 per cent upon their income; requiring insurance companies to file an annual statement of their liabilities with the insurance commissioner upon a 4 per cent basis; to establish an insurance bureau; for better protection of animals against cruelty; to regulate the shooting of dog-fighting cock-fighting, the shooting of birds from traps except English sparrows. An attempt was made to pass a bill for three state normal schools, but the measure was defeated. The committee then arose and reported progress and the House passed a concurrent resolution providing for a committee to investigate the management of the Agricultural college.

SENATE.—Seventieth day.—Bills passed: Appropriating $100,000 for the Industrial Home for Boys; authorizing proceedings in circuit courts in chancery for the platting of lands owned by idiots, lunatics and other incompetent persons; amending the law relative to the incorporation of associations for the purpose of constructing, owning, controlling and leasing the buildings for hotels, elevators and public halls; amending the game law so as to allow the shooting of squirrels from September 1 to December 1 and ducks and other water fowl from December 1 to January 1. Bill not passed: providing for the incorporation of grand, district and subordinate lodges of the Loyal Orange institution of the state of Michigan; reconsidered and tabled. The House concurrent resolution for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the Agricultural College was so amended as to provide for a committee of three Senators and three Representatives and then adopted. HOUSE.—Appropriation bills passed: Appropriating $8,326 for maintenance and improvements at the state Public school at Coldwater; $35,000 for the Michigan School of the Blind; $20,000 for the state industrial Home for Girls; $10,000 for the Michigan School for the Deaf. Other bill passed: Creating an insurance bureau; amending the insurance laws; providing that the insurance companies shall show no discrimination between white and colored persons in the rates of insurance; authorizing the Lansing Street Railway company to extend its line to the Agricultural college; regulating the right of way for carriages etc.; Bills reported: Providing that promissory notes, sight drafts etc., shall be payable on the day named therein, unless three days of grace are specified, thereon; reconsidered and tabled; to authorize the City of Detroit to acquire lands for parks and boulevards outside the city limits; amending the life insurance act in relation to levying a tax of one per cent on premiums, was declared by Representatives Henry and Gordon to be class legislation intended to decrease the revenues of the state increase the profits of insurance companies. A resolution was adopted calling for the appointment of a committee by the speaker to make arrangements for quarters for members of the legislature at the dedication of the Michigan building at Chicago April 29, the excursion to be made without expense to the state. A system appropriation measures had a very stormy time. The bill making an appropriation of $35,500 for two cottages, land and a barn at the Northern Asylum at Traverse City, was read a third time. Representative Willey moved to refer this bill and the one making an appropriation for an Upper Peninsula asylum to the committee on ways and means. The latter has never been considered by that committee, and if an Upper Peninsula asylum is established the Traverse City asylum will not need additional cottages or land. The motion to refer was carried. Representative Sumner called up the bill making an appropriation for the Michigan Insane asylum at Kalamazoo. The friends of the Traverse City asylum secured the reference of this bill also. Representative Tripp made a strong plea for the passage of the Eastern Michigan asylum appropriation bill now, because of the necessities of that institution since the fire. Money to make repairs is needed there at once. A motion to refer was lost and the bill was then passed and given immediate effect. A bill authorizing the manufacture of a $30 machinists' lathe and the construction of a $2,000 building at $30 a year for the dangerous and criminal insane at Ionia to be paid for with surplus funds, was passed.

The drug store of J. J. Brown and George Rogers' harness shop were destroyed by fire at Okemos. Brown's loss is $1,000, with an insurance of $2,400. Rogers loses $1,000. The town is without protection against fire.

Secretary Baker, of the state board of health, has sent a letter to physicians, asking them to keep a close surveillance over recent immigrants, owing to the danger from typhus. There is an immigrant in a Canadian hospital who is suffering from that disease.

A society of organized charities was formed at Grand Rapids with Hon. T. D. Gilbert as president. The subscriptions to the society amounting to $5,672. The membership fee will be $5, and several hundreds members will join. Its object is to systematize the giving of charity to applicants for outdoor relief.

CLINTON, MICH., APRIL 20, 1893.

Geo. Kies came here the last of the week.

Chas. Marr returned to Detroit, Saturday.

Mrs. J. W. Bradner visited Manchester Tuesday.

Frank Johnson went to Lansing the first of the week.

Miss Lou McDerMott is home from Detroit for a few days.

E. R. Smith has been out of town for several days on business.

Neil Williams is home from the University for a short vacation.

Lyle Gibson has taken quarters in the rooms occupied by P. J. Rogers.

Miss Eva Shimman came up from Petersburg Tuesday for a few days' visit.

M. F. McClure expects to open his new bakery to the public Thursday, April 27th.

E. G. Hanford, the Woolen Mill salesman, arrived in town last week, for a few days stay.

D. H. Davis is doing dental work and as might be expected is giving excellent satisfaction.

L. K. Davis has been quite sick for nearly two weeks with the grip. He is now able to be out.

The St. Ambrose Society gives a Musical Friday evening at the residence of Mrs. J. L. Tuttle.

Blue Ribbon meeting at the town hall next Sunday. A good program has been prepared. Let everyone turn out.

Mrs. Florence Montgomery of Chicago called on freinds hear Tuesday. She is visiting her mother in Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. E. VanDeMark drove to Rea Sunday, to see the wreck caused by the cyclone.

Frank Scoville came here Friday from South Bend. He has given up his position in the woolen mill there and will remain here indefinitely.

B. O. Randall & Co. are installed in their new store. At least a greater part of their goods have been moved and they are doing business there.

P. J. Rogers and W. H. Katner have united their business interests and welcome customers with two-fold cordiality at the rooms hitherto occupied by Katner.

Mrs. Mary Codling, who has been at South Bend for several weeks, returned home last week. She is now in Blissfield with her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Keyser.

The L. O. T. M.'s gathered in $17 at their ice cream social last Friday evening, in spite of the fact that a roaring fire was needed to make the hall comfortable.

H. D. Niblack is packing his household goods and will move to Ypsilanti next week. Mr. and Mrs. Niblack have many friends here who regret their departure.

Mrs. Priest is improving the convenience and appearance of her house by building quite an addition. We hear she intends renting a part of it when completed.

Chas. Parker, an old Clinton boy, who has been in the upper peninsula for some time, is spending a few days with friends here. He will go from here to Vassar where he expects to remain.

About thirty-five friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Ham Niblack walked in upon them last Saturday evening for the purpose of paying them a farewell visit and wishing them all sorts of good things.

The regular meetings of the Masonic bodies will occur next week as follows: Chapter, Tuesday evening; Council, Thursday evening; Blue Lodge Saturday evening, and Golden Rod Chapter Wednesday evening.

A large number of visitors from neighboring lodges were present at the special communication of Clinton Lodge F. and A. M. last Saturday evening. Another special meeting was held Tuesday evening of this week for work in the third degree.

Miss Pauline Ragatzky was at Dr. Tuttle's from Monday afternoon until Tuesday. The lady was not successful in obtaining pupils in German here, but has organized a class in Tecumseh and left here Tuesday morning to commence her duties there.

Mr. Crowell Eddy started for Hornersville, N. Y., last Monday, for the purpose of having an operation performed on his hand. He was accompanied by his daughter Libbie and expects to be absent several weeks. Henry Eddy and wife, of Vinton, Iowa, are taking charge of the farm during their absence.

Frank Tucker's theatrical company have been giving some very creditable entertainments here this week. With their limited accomodations in the way of stage room, scenery, etc., their presentation of popular plays was quite wonderful, especially so in the production of "Ranch 10" Their unvarying good-nature under the most trying circumstances, such as having elegant costumes torn by splinters on the stage, etc., won the good opinion of all. The selections by Prof. Grennell's orchestra each evening were alone worth the price of admission.

TO HORSEMEN AND BREEDERS.

Nutpatch, Standard, Rule 6, Reg. Vol. VII. Bay Stallion, 16 hands; foaled 1884. Bred by Glenview Farm, Louisville, Ky. Nutpatch is large, handsome and very fast; can trot in 2:25 without much work. He is one of the best bred sons of his illustrious sire, and a great stock horse. He is a sure foal getter, and his colts are large, strong and very handsome, and show splendidly at the trot.

Nutpatch was sired by the greatest sire that lives or ever has lived, age considered, Nutwood, 2:18 3-4. The sire of 104 in 2:30 or better, 22 of which have records from 2:20 to 2:09 3-4 in 1891. He had 19 sons and 18 daughters that had produced trotters in 1892. 31 of his sons and 25 of his daughters produced fast ones, while he got 26 with records from 2:30 to 2:15 1-4. This is the best showing ever made by any [illegible] to date. His sons and daughters produce early and extreme speed. His daughter, Manette is dam of Arion, 2-year old record 2:10 3-4, as a 3-year-old 2:10 1-2; the fastest colt ever foaled, and sold for $125,000 cash. He made the season of 1892 for $2,500. Only one Stallion in the world produced at 4 years old a yearling colt that got a record below 2:30, and that is Woodline by Nutwood.

Nutwood by Belmont, he by Alexander's Abdallah, he by Hambletonian 10; here are four great stallions because they all had great dams. Miss Russell is dam of Nutwood 2:18 3-4, Maud S. 2:08 3-4, Rustique 2:21, Cora Belmont 2:24 1-2, Russia 2: 28, and six sons that have produced extreme speed, also 4 daughters that produced speed. Lord Russell out of Nutwood's dam got Kremlin, 2:07 3-4, the acknowledged race horse stallion of the world.

Nutpatch's first dam, Patchen Maid, is the dam of Astral, 2:18, and Marshal Kleber, sire of Mistake 2:29 3-4, etc.; she by Mambrino Patchen 58, brother to Lady Thorn 2:18¼, and sire of London, 2:20 1-2 and 23 others. Dams of Crawford (p) 2:09 3-4, Riley Medium (p) 2:10 1-2, Constantine 2:12 1-2, and 80 other standard performers; also grandsire of Nightengale 2:10 1-2, Walter E., 2:11 3-4, etc.; second dam Lady Eleanor, by Mambrino Chief 11, sire of Lady Thorn 2:18 1-4, 5 others, and dams of Director 2:17, Piedmont 2:17 1-4, Iona 2:17 1-2, and 21 other standard performers. Also sire of dams of 62 speed producing sires, including Red Wilkes, Almont, Belmont, etc.

TERMS—The terms have been placed at the very low figure of $25.00 for the season.

Thin or gray hair and bald heads, so displeasing to many people as marks of age, may be averted for a long time by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

I had a severe attach of catarrh and became so deaf I could not hear common conversation. I suffered terribly from roaring in my head. I procured a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm, and in three weeks could hear as well as I ever could, and now I can say to all who are afflicted with the worst of diseases, catarrh, take Ely's Cream Balm and be cured. It is worth $1,000 to any man, woman or child suffering from catarrh. A. E. Newman, Grayling, Mich.

Every poor poet knows that writer's cramp is never so hard to cure as when it's in the stomach.

Many rise in the morning with a headache and no inclination for breakfast. This is due to torpidity of the liver and a deranged condition of the stomach. To restore healthy action to these organs, nothing is so efficacious as an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills.

Men who never take a stand anywhere else frequently have to take one in a street-car.

It would be worth while for the ladies to bear in mind that if they take a gentle course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in the spring, they will have no trouble with 'prickly heat,' 'hives,' 'sties,' boils or 'black heads,' when summer comes. Prevention is better than cure.

'I'm onto your game,' as the fly remarked when it settled on the checkerboard.

Four to eight drops of 'Adironda,' Wheeler's Heart and Nerve Cure will relieve the worst case of Nervousness every time.

'That air is very familiar,' said the musician, as a gust of wind took his hat away.

By using Hall's Hair Renewer, gray, faded or discolored hair assumes the natural color of youth, and grows luxuriant and strong, pleasing everybody.

It is doubtful whether a blind man can possess the prophetic gift; he is no seer.

It is not what its proprietors say but what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, that tells the story. Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

German is the general partner and Edwin J. Ennis is the special partner, and that the said special partner, Edwin J. Ennis, has contributed the sum of two thousand dollars as capital toward the common stock, and that the said partnership is to commence on the tenth day of April, 1893 and is to terminate on the tenth day of April, 1896.

ERNEST L. GERMAN,
EDWIN J. ENNIS.

Dated this tenth day of April, 1893.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—COUNTY OF JACKSON

On the tenth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three, before me, a Notary in and for the County of Jackson, came Ernest L. German and Edwin J. Ennis, known by me to be the individuals described in and who executed the within certificate, and they severally acknowledge that they executed the same.

I ALSO SELL THIS SEASON THE CELEBRATED MINNEAPOLIS BINDER,

This Binder, as it stands to-day, has more friends than any other three canvass binder made.

The "Minnie," with the only 40 inch drive-wheel, stands out alone against the craze for pretty machines, which has tempted makers to reduce their wheel four and even six inches in diameter, and reduce the other proportions of their binders all the way through. The farmers say to us: "The big Minnie wheel don't slip, drives strong, and runs well on all ground." We make it as firm as an island. We shape the rim to shed sand instead of spooning it up and pouring it on gears and hub when the wind blows or the machine tips. This powerful wheel runs the machine through thick and thin—particularly thick. No other compares with it for the big hustling West. While you cheerily sail your "Minnie" through perhaps a storm-tossed crop, and not a wave of trouble rolls across your peaceful breast, look at your neighbor foundering with his 34-inch-wheel pleasure binder, and don't gloat, but silently bless the "Minnie" that there is nothing small about her but noise.

PATENTS

FOR INVENTIONS.

Equal with the interest of those having claims against the government is that of INVENTORS, who often lose the benefit of valuable inventions because of the incompetency or inattention of the attorneys employed to obtain their patents. Too much care cannot be exercised in employing competent and reliable solicitors to procure patents, for the value of a patent depends greatly, if not entirely, upon the care and skill of the attorney.

With the view of protecting inventors from worthless or careless attorneys and of seeing that inventions are well protected by valid patents, we have obtained counsel expert in patent practice, and therefore are prepared to Obtain Patents in the United States and all Foreign Countries, Conduct Interferences, Make Special Examinations, Prosecute Rejected Cases, Register Trade-Marks and Copyrights, Render Opinions as to Scope and Validity of Patents, Prosecute and Defend Infringement Suits, Etc., Etc.

If you have an invention on hand send a sketch or photograph thereof, together with a brief description of the important features, and you will be at once advised as to the best course to pursue. Models are seldom necessary. If others are infringing on your rights, or if you are charged with infringement by others, submit the matter to us for a reliable OPINION before acting on the matter.

If you are interested in the condition of your eyes, call on the noted Dr. Galleher. He is an expert in his profession. Eyesight is precious—more valuable than any other of the special senses. The Docter has treated in the last 12 months more than 3,500 cases of all forms of eye trouble and errors of refractions, such as Glaucoma, Ulceration of the Cornea, Granulation of the lids, Presbyopia, Paralysis of Accomodation, Spasm of Accomodation, Hypermetrobia, Aphakia, Myopia, Astigmatism, Anisometropia, Strabismus, Diplopia, Asthenopia, etc. Have you ever stopped to think how many people in this world are blind from their own negligence and carelessness in not giving their eyes attention at the proper time? You now have the opportunity of consulting one who gives all his time in treating cronic eye trouble. Thousands of persons in this world that do not use glasses that should, then again there are thousands of persons using glasses they think suited to their eyes, but the truth of the matter is, the glasses do not correct the trouble, but aggravate it and produce headache, spots before the eyes, inflamation, granulation, winking, trembling spells, various nerve and brain affections, catracts, burning and smarting of the eyes, etc.; entailing not only positive injury to the sight, but untold misery and blindness.

Prof. Bowerman and his friend Babcock will leave for Chicago Saturday night to attend the Centennial Ball given in the city of winds Monday evening. We wish them a pleasant trip.

L. A. Brown made a business trip to Tecumseh last Sunday on his wheel, and judging by the beautiful Henry Clay polish on his brogans we imagine it to have been after moonlight when he came home.

"Bank open" is how the placard read last Sunday. We are pleased to learn they do a good business but to do this on the Sabbath looks a little off. We imagine that the cashier, who is also town clerk, must have had a town road or a ditch to lay out and forgot to turn over.

Upwards of a hundred of the friends and neighbors of Dr. R. H. Nelson and family gathered at the church last Friday evening to give them a surprise. After the necessary arrangements were completed a committee called at their home and escorted them to the church, where an hour was spent very pleasantly. Dr. Loree called the friends to order and in a few well-chosen remarks presented the Doctor and his wife with a silk upholstered base rocker as a token of their esteem for them. We are sorry to lose them from among us as the Doctor's services as a skilled physician have been much appreciated, as well as the social and other qualities of himself and family. But he thinks it is for the best and we sincerely trust that it may be so, and can assure the Hudson people that our loss will be their gain.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

President Higinbotham Says it Will Surely Open on May 1.

Chicago, March 30.—The following address has been issued by President Higinbotham:

"Because of many misrepresentations and misstatements relative to exposition management and affairs being in circulation through the press and otherwise, both in this country and abroad, and in reply to many letters of inquiry or complaint touching the same matters it seems advisable that some official statement regarding them should be made public. Therefore I respectfully ask that the widest publicity be given to the following:

The exposition will be opened in readiness for visitors on May 1.

An abundance of drinking water, the best supplied to any great city in the world, will be provided free to all. The report that a charge would be made for drinking water probably arose from the fact that hygeia water can also be had by those who desire it at one cent a glass.

Ample provisions for seating will be made without charge.

About 1,500 toilet rooms and closets will be located at convenient points in the buildings and about the grounds, and they will be absolutely free to the public. This is as large a number in proportion to the estimated attendance as has ever been provided in any exposition. In addition to these there will also be nearly an equal number of lavatories and toilet rooms of a costly and handsome character, as exhibits, for the use of which a charge of five cents will be made.

The admission fee of fifty cents will entitle the visitor to see and enter all the exposition buildings, inspect the exhibits and in short, to see everything within the exposition grounds, except the Esquimaux village and the reproduction of the Colorado cliff dwellings. For these as well as for the special attractions on Midway Plaisance, a small fee will be charged.

Imposition or extortion of any description will not be tolerated.

Free medical and emergency hospital service is provided on the grounds by the exposition management.

The bureau of public comfort will provide commodious free waiting rooms including spacious ladies' parlors and toilet rooms in various parts of the grounds."

Harvesting Machinery.

M. E. Conklin is already in the field with his harvesting machinery. He will sell the old Walter A. Wood machines, both mowers, reapers and binders, the same as heretofore, and in addition to these he will also control the Minneapolis binder, the Walter A. Wood company having purchased that [illegible] as the steel wheel three-canvas binder, is now generally conceded to be the best binder on the market. Their mowers are now made of steel, of four different lengths; also the Walter A. Wood hand and self-dumping rakes, which have acquired an extensive sale since they were placed on the market four years ago. These machines will afford a first class line, and Mr. Conklin proposes to push them for all they are worth. Two car loads of mowers, binders, and rakes arrived here the first of the week and are now being unloaded. His headquarters will be at Whitenack's hardware store, the same as last year. Look out for a fuller announcement next week.

Cheap World's Fair Hotels.

Although the building ordinance requiring brick or other hard building material does not extend to the district surrounding Jackson Park, police regulations run everywhere, and, no matter of what material a building is to be composed, it is not lawful to construct it in a manner to endanger life.

All around Jackson Park on the three land sides hundreds of buildings are rushing up at a mad pace to be ready for occupancy by the opening of the Fair. To even the inexpert eye many of these buildings are dangerous. Neither in exterior walls nor in interior supports are they trustworthy. As they are all of wood, the danger of fire in that quarter is greatly enhanced by their number and the closeness with which in many cases they are huddled together.

The building department may lack authority to tear them down. The police department may not have authority under common law to deter their owners from deceiving the public into occupying them after they are up. But there is no doubt that police regulations can be applied to correct the flimsiness of their construction. Many of them are so grossly defective in all respects that the first furious south wind will blow them down. Others will burn in a few minutes if fire once start in their neighborhood, and the fire department could no more quench the blaze than put out ignited tow. The time to prevent catastrophes from these shells is the present time.

The Lake Route to the World's Fair, via Picturesque Mackinac.

Avoid the heat and dust by traveling on the Floating Palaces of the Detroit & Cleveland Steam Navigation Company. Two new steel passenger steamers have just been built for this Upper Lake route, costing $300,000 each, and are guaranteed the grandest, largest, safest and fastest steamers on the Lakes; speed 20 miles per hour, running time between Cleveland, Toledo and Chicago less than 50 hours. Four trips per week between Toledo, Detroit, Alpena, Mackinac, Petoskey and Chicago. Daily trips between Detroit and Cleveland; during July and August double daily service will be maintained, giving a daylight ride across Lake Erie. Daily service between Cleveland and Put-in-Bay. First-class stateroom accommodations and menu, and exceedingly low Round Trip Rates. The palatial equipment, the luxury of the appointments makes traveling on these steamers thoroughly enjoyable. Send for illustrated pamphlet. Address A. A. Schantz, G. P. A., Detroit & Cleveland Steam Nav. Co., Detroit, Mich.

ASTHMA CURED.

Dr. Taft, proprietor of Taft's Asthmalene, Rochester N. Y will send to any of our subscribers suffering with asthma, a trial bottle of Asthmalene Free, who will send him their post-office address. The Doctor is known to be reliable and his remedy a most valuable one; it is endorsed by many medical publications and used in all parts of the U. S., Europe and Australia.

The following clipping from the Chicago Post shows very clearly how Mr. W. T. Hall, the well-known Dramatic Editor and Critic of that paper, regards the promised production in "The MacKaye Spectatorium," which The Columbian Celebration Company is building in Chicago. At the conclusion of a long article, on the press view of the model, Mr. Hall said: "Enthusiastic applause from the little company greeted every scene and every remarkable manipulation of the lights and, at the conclusion, there were those present who predicted that the Spectatorium would rival the Fair itself. Mr. MacKaye was showered with congratulations and voted a wonder and there was not a dissenting voice. It is safe to say that it will attract more attention here, during the Fair, than did the Eiffel Tower in Paris. No description can carry any idea even of the model and what will the great and complete whole be."

TECUMSEH, MICH., APRIL 27, 1893.

The gallant Detroit has had her trial rip and won a glorious success. No one will begrudge that big bonus to the men whose skill and judgment made our swift new warship a possibility.

Mr. Cleveland was naturally very cordial to Mr. McKinley, for, with the single exception of Mr. Harrison, McKinley did more than any one else to make Cleveland's re-election inevitable.

President Cleveland has made but one appointment since the adjournment of the Senate, and that was a U. S. marshal who had been nominated but failed of confirmation. It is thought that but few more appointments will be made for several weeks, as Mr. Cleveland's time will be fully occupied by other matters.

The Earl of Craven, who is in this country on matrimonial business, has a coat of arms tattooed on his flesh according to the reports of New Yorkers who have been honored with a sight of him while at his "bawth" It is a great privilege for a New York plutocrat's daughter to be allowed to marry any member of the peerage, but especially one who is artistically tattooed in the height of the Fiji Islands fashion.

At his church in Detroit Sunday Rev. Reed Stuart discussed the Sunday closing of the world's fair. We are quite positive that all those who listened to it or have read it in Monday's Free Press have different ideas upon the subject from those they formerly possessed whether they are in favor of closing the fair or keeping it open on Sundays. We regret that we have not the space to publish the whole discourse.

It is stated upon apparently good authority that President Cleveland has about decided to abrogate all the reciprocity treaties and agreements made by the Harrison administration, because of his belief that they have failed to increase our trade with those countries. Secretary Gresham has been talking the matter over with the ministers of the countries interested and they all favor, it is said, abolishment of reciprocity, as inaugurated by Mr. Blaine.

President Cleveland has written as a sentiment for the New York Press Club souvenir book, to be published at the World's Fair: "The people must be educated, for the people rule." This is an aphoristic truth self-evident enough to appeal to the most superficial reader or the deepest thinker. But the precept conveyed is one far more disregarded than it should be, and especially with regard to education in the privileges and responsibilities of citizenship.

The administration has been passing through just about the same financial condition that confronted the Harrison administration for the last two weeks of its existence, and the cause is believed to be the same—a conspiracy to force an issue of bonds by draining the Treasury of gold; and unless Secretary Carlisle is mistaken in his calculations the result will be the same. Bonds will not be issued until everything else shall have failed. Indeed, some of the best lawyers are of the opinion that bonds cannot be legally issued.

The most significant event of the week was Mr. Carlisle's refusal to go to New York to confer with Wall street bankers on the situation, or to invite them to Washington to confer with him. This was particularly pleasing to those who think that Wall street has been wielding more influence than it is entitled to in the management of National finances. Secretary Carlisle has been of that opinion for many years, and as long ago as 1881, when he was a member of the House of Representatives, he made one of the strongest speeches against Wall street domination ever made in Congress.

Of course, Assistant Postmaster General Maxwall is whacking off heads as fast as possible among the fourth class Postmasters. He was put there to do it, just as Headsmen Clarkson was put there four years ago. The fact that Clarkson made 1,328 appointments from March 4, 1889, to April 3, of which 825 were removals, logically made a great many commissions expire during the month of March; but Maxwell hasn't been much more than half equal to his predecessor, as he managed to make no more than 878 appointments from the 4th of March until the 3d of April, only 370 of which were removals.

Dairymen Discuss Taxation.

A recent issue of the American Dairyman contained an editorial criticising the platform of the New York Tax Reform association, which favors the exemption of capital from taxation, and declaring that the adoption of such a change in the tax laws would ruin the farmers by placing the main burden of taxation on them.

The following reply was published in the next issue of the paper:

TO THE EDITOR OF THE AMERICAN DAIRYMAN—Dear Sir:—"Your arguments in favor of attempting to tax personal property are probably the best that can be made for that side of the taxation problem, but as they are founded on an entirely erroneous idea of the practical workings of the system which we advocate, we beg to reply to some of the statements in your editorial.

The first objection to our proposal to exempt personal property from taxation is that under its operations the farmer would be "reformed off of the earth." Since it is the increase in his personal property (such as stock, implements, carriages, furniture or money) that marks the growing wealth of the farmer, it is hard for us to see the logic of your claim that he would be injured by freeing all these from taxation. Why should he cease to produce or save wealth, simply because he has not to pay a fine on every $100 worth of new property?

Your protest against adding to the mortgaged farmer's burdens is one with which this association agrees. There is nothing in our platform of principles to warrant your assertion that we wish the farmer to pay the "main burden of taxation." We desire nothing of the kind. Your mistake arises from the popular belief that because the farmers own the greater part of the area of the land, they also own the same proportion of its value. Nothing could be further from the facts. The assessment returns for this state prove that the real estate of the purely farming districts is not worth one-fifth of that of the cities, towns and villages, so that if taxes were levied on real estate alone, not one-fifth would be paid by the farmers. Single lots in New York city, Brooklyn or Buffalo often sell for more than the value of an entire township in the rural sections of the state.

With reference to the taxation of mortgages it must be evident to you that this would be double taxation. As the farmer has both farm and money, while the mortgagee has only the paper evidence of the loan, it would be decidedly unjust to tax him on something he does not possess.

If mortgages were taxed, since money will bring an equally high rate of interest in other investments, the result would be either one of two things. No capital would be loaned to farmers, who would be bankrupted by mortgagees calling in their loans; or the tax would be charged over to the borrower in the shape of higher interest, a bonus for getting the money, etc. Very true is it, that something can not be had for nothing.

Your sentiments in favor of the toiling masses are also indorsed by us. We do not propose to exempt the "ownership of wealth that is aggregated outside of real estate," for the simple reason that there is no such wealth. What is generally called personal property—stocks, bonds and mortgages—are mere-ly tities to real estate, in the form of railroads, coal or oil lands, etc. Bear in mind that personal property can not earn one dollar of income without involving the use of real estate, and you will see that the "money aristocracy" must directly or indirectly pay their share of taxation.

NEW YORK TAX REFORM ASSOCIATION,
Bolton Hall, Secretary.

The Only Way Out.

Down on the eastern coast, where the British province of Nova Scotia juts out into the Atlantic, that king of game fishes, the salmon, is captured by a method which your true angler considers very unsportsmanlike. A long net, knit from fine, strong twine, is run out from a point or headland a distance of several hundred feet. The end of the net is looped so as to form a large pouch, in which the only opening is a narrow passage, where the end overlaps the side of the pouch for several feet. Buoyed by blocks of wood, and anchored firmly by heavy weights, the fish trap is ready for business.

Swimming with the tide comes a lordly salmon, the most active and wary of the finny tribes. Lazily floating, occasionally lunching on some small fry, he is at once the emblem of security and freedom. Suddenly he stops. His progress is barred by a curiously meshed obstruction which lies directly across his watery path. He will go around it, and so he turns toward the shore. Soon he finds the water getting shallow, and still that barrier is before him. He swims out to sea again, keeping close to the net. Presently he sees a narrow opening through which he can easily pass. The next moment he finds he is entirely surrounded by netting. In vain he swims furiously around, or leaps out of the water in the attempt to get over the net. The way by which he entered is still open, and were he but wise enough to do so, he has only to go out. But the overlapping nets confuse him, so angry and desperate he rushes madly at the opening in the net; the meshes yield slightly, and there, firmly fastened by the gills, he remains until hooked up by the fisherman's gaff and thrown into a boat.

THE farmers of this country have been slowly but surely meshing themselves in a net of class legislation. Special privileges to monopolies have been readily granted by legislatures elected by the plundered producers.

At last it would seem that the people are awakening to the fact that if they are poor, it is simply because they have been robbed. But instead of turning away from the paternalism which has enslaved them, the farmers, seeking the shortest way out, blindly and stupidly hasten to enact more class legislation. So we find them to-day fighting for—not freedom for all, but special privileges for themselves. Will they learn wisdom from the failures of the past? Who knows?

The salmon still tries to escape by going through the net.

WHIDDEN GRAHAM.

Freedom the Only Real Remedy.

That there are wrongs to remedy in our political and social systems there is no room to doubt. That the masses of the people have been aroused by both real and fancied injustices to a high degree of unrest can not be denied. Favored classes have got more than their share of the products of labor, especially of farm labor, and have been the specific pets of legislatures, courts and executive. Concentrated capital has been arrogant and oppressive, and it is folly and worse for our politicians or political economists to ignore the fact. But what is to be the remedy? Suggestions of remedy are numerous, sometimes good, sometimes bad and sometimes partly good and partly bad. Henry George conceives that taxing the land only would be a remedy; the Bellamyites have taken "Looking Backward" as a possible reality, and are advocates of extreme socialism as a remedy. Some changes in our government, some trifling and some radical, have been suggested as remedies. A large circulation medium is the one proposed by some as a cure; government ownership of railroads is another proposed relief, while the anarchist would break down all government and introduce a go-as-you-please system.—Farmer's Voice.

COMMENT BY A SINGLE TAXER.

It is not concentrated capital that oppresses the people, but monopoly in one form or another. No matter how great the amount of wealth combined under one management, it can not compel the masses to pay tribute unless it possesses some special privilege granted by law. It would seem evident, therefore, that the repeal of class legislation which enriches individuals or corporations, is the one thing needful.

In the case of special privileges, or franchises, in land (mining, timber, mill site on valuable city lots); the simplest remedy is the taking for public uses all the values derived from such lands. This would be equivalent to freedom of opportunity for all, and is a reform upon which the various schools can agree.

From the Leading Republican Paper in America.

The report of the auditor-general for last year shows that, after paying all the expenses of government, there remained an unexpended balance of six million dollars in the treasury. These figures show conclusively, as has already been demonstrated from the auditor-general's report for 1891, that the state has absolutely no need whatever for the personal property tax, and that it ought, therefore, to be immediately repealed.

Assuming that not one dollar more of interest bearing property will be returned for taxation, the state will collect, during the present year, from this source alone, nearly three million dollars, which it clearly does not need, and which it can not possibly spend in any legitimate way.

We have already shown how unjust, unequal and oppressive this tax would be, as to those who do pay it, even if such a tax were necessary to defray the legitimate expenses of government. When the official report of the finances of the state so conclusively show that the tax is absolutely unnecessary, it is the clear duty of the legislature to repeal it, and to repeal it without delay. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Taxes On Bark.

We are asked to write about dog laws. Our friend has a dog for a neighbor which howls all night, steals all day and frightens the cats. He favors a law taxing dogs. What good will that do? Is the bark of a taxed dog sweeter than that of an untaxed dog? Is a taxed dog more honest or less terrifying to cats than an untaxed dog? And what about the equities of the case? If it is right and proper for our neighbor to keep a dog, ought he to be taxed for doing what it is proper for him to do? If it is improper and wrong for him to keep a dog, ought the government to accept a bribe to allow him to do what it is improper for him to do? is it true that as the taxes on improvements, houses, capital, goods, tend to diminish the amount of improvements, houses, capital and goods, so a tax on dogs will tend to decrease the number of dogs. But it will, very likely, spare the pup which troubles our friend.—Christian Patriot.

Fining Industry and Thrift.

There are more than a million and a half of savings bank depositors in New York state. They will all be deeply interested in a law proposed at Albany which provides, among other things, for the taxation of savings bank deposits.

Such a scheme, at a time when the state is out of debt, will not be received with much favor. In fact, it will arouse intense opposition, even though deposits of less than $1,000 are not included within its scope.

Anything that tends to discourage habits of thrift, which the savings banks in an eminent degree inculcate, ought to be frowned upon by legislators. A law like the one referred to would be a step in the wrong direction. —Nyack Journal.

It is only of late years that rheumatism has been treated as a blood disease. But that this is a correct theory is proven by the extraordinary success attending the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla in this painful and prevalent malday. It seldom fails of radical cure.

Why is it that a man thinks he is doing things up brown when he is painting the town red.

PHYSICIANS PUZZLED.

Many persons are unable to sleep on their left side. The cause has long been a puzzle to physicians. Metropolitan papers speak with great interest of Dr. Franklin Miles, the eminent Indiana specialist in nervous and heart diseases, who has proven that this habit arises from a diseased heart. He has examined and kept on record thousands of cases. His New Heart Cure, a wonderful remedy, sold at Baker & Hall's. Thousands testify to its value as a cure for Heart Diseases. Mrs. Chas. Benoy, Loveland, Colo., says its effects on her were marvelous. Elegant Book on heart disease free.

Saved Her Sight

Medical Science Failed

Another Wonder Performed by HOOD'S Sarsaparilla.

"My little girl, Hazel, is now four years old. Two years ago she had the Grip. After recovery her eyes grew inflamed and suppurated. For over 7 months she had to have her eyes bandaged and stay in a dark room. The family doctor and an oculist did everything possible. She did not improve and even grew worse. At last after six months he gave us the discouraging opinion that the cornea of one eye was destroyed

And Sight Entirely Gone

That it was doubtful if she would ever be able to see any with the other, as the sight was rapidly being destroyed in that also. We thought her doomed to permanent blindness. She suffered intensely from it and kept her head buried in the pillows in fear of the light. It light was admitted to the room she would cry as if

Burned With a Hot Iron

As she was weak and badly run down we thought before continuing the treatment we would try to build up her system and renew her strength. We began giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She began to improve rapidly and by the time she had finished the first bottle we were able to remove the bandages and found that she could bear the light and that the sight was returning, much to our delight. She took two bottles and then was as well as ever. It is now a year since, and her eyes

Are Permanently Cured

She can see perfectly, has had no signs of any further trouble and is in every respect perfectly healthy. We have great faith in

Chicago's Population.

There is probably no city of importance in the world that can show such rapid and wonderful growth as Chicago since its destruction by fire. To-day its population is about 1,200,000. Mr. Peter Van Schaack, one of the leading merchants of that city said in conversation, that a large number of his personal friends, as well as scores of representative men throughout the Northwest with whom he had conversed upon the subject, had found St. Jacobs Oil a pain-curing and healing remedy of the most extraordinary efficacy. It is the Great Remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Backache, Bruises, Burns, Swellings etc.

A HOME MISSIONARY

JOSEPH ADDISON HALLOCK (Octogenarian.)

HIS EXPERIENCE WITH T

OWEN ELECTRIC BE

AN OLD MAN

WITH PROGRESSIVE IDEAS AND HIS DESIRE TO ENLIGHTEN THE PUBLIC.

The winter of 1884-85 was my first experience with rheumatism. I was traveling as a home missionary, and with great difficulty and suffering I reached my appointments. It was located in my [illegible] back. From that time to this year of grace, 1891, I have suffered more or less under the grip of that disease. About [illegible] years later, liver complaint, and the [illegible] mel taken to cure it, fastened upon [illegible] walls and organs of my chest, a rheu[illegible] affection from which I was never wholly free, and at times even a breath was cruelty. Yet, in a general way, my health has been as good, perhaps better than the average of men.

During the last days of the late year I bought of Dr. Owen two of the Owen Electric Belts. One I have worn, the other daughter has worn. In either case the remedial has been satisfactory. The rheumatism of my chest and hips I can no longer find. A limited case of varicocele, of more than thirty years standing, after two weeks' use of the Belt, has diminished to a small lump, and a few days later could not be found. A nasal catarrh of years has been affected the substance of the nose that a friend in jest twitted me of brandy. My nose itself again, and other symptoms of nasal and throat catarrh are fast disappearing my deafness of seven years with them.

I have studied electricity in its bearings upon mental and physico mental phenomena for fifty years, and have seen its wonders in these directions, and, the nerves prepared, my attention was easily turned to its efficiency in controlling the nerve circles and motions of the living, as galvanism does those of the recent dead.

I have no wish to undervalue any appliance which carries a real electric power from a genuine battery to human nerves with a gentle, a genial force; but I do wish to do my utmost to disarm public fears as to the well-ordered Electric Belts.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because it contains the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is Several corrections should be made in the table. Thus the duty on silk spun in skeins, is put at 15 per cent.; the present duty is 35 per cent. and the value of the imports $1,093,384. This amount should be deducted from the total for silk. The duty on woolen yarn is changed from 63.70 to 15 per cent. The value of the imports is $710,537, which should be deducted from the total for woolens. The value of the imports of pig iron and scrap iron should be deducted from the total of iron and steel. The table is slightly inaccurate in other wyes but will serve to give an idea of the rates of dutjes.

BEATS M'KINLEYISM.

Mexico's High Tariff and Starvation Wages.

Mexico has a higher tariff than that of the United States. But enlightened nations do not regard the economic policy of Mexico as exceptionally wise. Probably not even Mr. McKinley would be willing to admit that the Mexican tariff should be taken as a model.

Attention is directed to this subject by a dispatch from Washington stating some of the changes recently made in duties on imports by the Mexican government. Most of the changes made are in the way of reductions, but there are a number of important increases, made on lines of protection. Stallions, which have been charged $30 each, are hereafter to be admitted free. The duty on carded wool has been reduced from 15 cents to 12 cents per kilo, but where changes have been made in the duties on fabrics containing wool they have been in the direction of increase. On tobacco the duty has been raised from $1.25 to $1.50 per kilo, and on cigars from $5.50 to $7. On cotton fabrics the rate has been raised from $4 to $6 per kilo. And so on.

These statements do not convey to the general reader a very clear idea of the actual burden of Mexican duties. A table recently published by the bureau of statistics, to which allusion has already been made in these columns, shows the ad valorem equivalents of the duties on the various classes of goods imported into Mexico for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1889. From this table it appears that the value of free goods was $13,506,230, and that of dutiable, $26,518,664. The amount of duties collected was $22,477,965. The average rate on dutiable, therefore, was nearly 85 per cent. The average on dutiable goods imported into this country during the fiscal year 1892 under the McKinley act was 48.71 per cent. The following, compiled from the table published by the bureau, shows the amount of duties collected on different classes of articles and the ad valorem equivalents of the duties on each class. Some serious errors in the calculation of percentages have been corrected, otherwise the figures are taken directly from the table:

	Duties collected.	Per cent. of duty.
Cotton goods	$7,447,395	98.70
Linen and hemp goods	671,501	99.15
Woolens	1,986, 21	123 11
Silks	378,314	95.92
Silk Mixtures	510,120	133.93
Stone and earthenware	41,245	50.42
Food products	3,789,270	77.42
Glass and china	686,885	112.94
Gold, silver and platinum	27,907	8.71
Iron and steel	1,259,183	83.40
Copper and its alloys	324,225	55.00
Tin, lead and zinc	39,289	57.70
Small wares	503,498	76.60
Machinery and apparatus	128,206	24.24
Carriages and materials for	116,206	64.80
Arms, powder and ammunition	172,631	61.06
Wood and manufactures of	$38,523	77 91
Paper and manufactures of	1,141,250	86.09
Skin and leather goods	290,212	70.00
Medicinal drugs	997,449	58.70
Miscellaneous	1,671,382	76.47

It will be seen that about twice as much revenue is collected from cotton goods as from any other source, and that the average rate of duty on such goods was 98.7 per cent. in 1889, and yet the rate on such goods has been raised from $4 to $6 per kilo, or 50 per cent. This would make the rate equal to about 148 per cent., or higher even than the enormous rate on woolen goods. There is a very strong probability that the exports will fall off largely under the higher duties and that the revenue will be diminished rather than increased.

One of the economic effects of the enormous duties is seen in the comparatively small amount of imports. This amount is about $40,000,000, or about $3.45 per head of population. Our imports for the fiscal year amounted to about $870,000,000, or $13.47 per head of population. The Mexican duties average over 73 per cent. higher than ours, and we import nearly three times as much per capita. If our duties were reduced one-half our imports would probably be more than doubled, while home production would be largely increased.

High wages cannot be offered as an excuse for the enormous tariff rates of Mexico. The rates of wages in Mexico are much lower than the average European rates. In fact, they come about as near as possible to starvation rates. There is "pauper labor" in Mexico if anywhere, and yet no American manufacturer pretends to fear Mexican competition. It is true that Mexican labor is exceedingly inefficient, but our McKinley economists refuse to make any allowance for the greater relative efficiency of American labor.—Chicago Herald.

No Reason Why New England Monopolists Should Not Help the Creator of Their Wealth.

Gov. McKinley recently declined to receive gifts offered for his relief from security debts contracted through his unfortunate confidence in the McKinley bill, but a recent telegram announced that "the trustees of the Gov. McKinley estate having consented to receive contributions for the relief of the estate. Hon. John D. Long, Hon. Albert Clarke and T. N. Harte have been appointed a central committee for New England to receive contributions."

Mr. Clarke is president of the celebrated Home Market club, founded to enforce Mr McKinley's idea that the more wealth we get from abroad the poorer it makes us.

This idea has been a great boon to the New England Brahmans, and they can well afford to go down into their well-stuffed pockets for the relief of the McKinley estate. It is a pity that there is not some way of frying enough fat out of them to pay the debt without having to rely on their grudging charity for what were more properly demanded as a right.

Mr. McKinley has done more for these people than was ever done for them before. He has succeeded in getting them greater opportunities for gathering where they have not strewed and reaping where they have not sown than they ever had before, and it is scandalous that they should have to be urged to contribute to relieve the McKinley estate very much as they would have to be urged to part with their jaw teeth.

Gov. McKinley is certainly as much entitled to a share of the proceeds of the McKinley bill as they are, and their fat ought to be fried to furnish it.—St. Louis Republic.

KEEP IT ROLLING.

Every Farmer is Interested in a Reform of the Tariff and Should Watch His Congressman.

Unless the next tariff bill is constructed entirely, or mainly, of ad valorem duties, it will be but a half-hearted tariff reform bill, no matter how low the duties. A fight is already on between the manufacturers and importers, who generally favor specific duties, and the guardians of the people's interests, who must always advocate ad valorem duties. The subject is admirably discussed in an article by Mr. Thomas G. Sherman, printed in the New York Times.

Manufacturers and importers in New York and other cities are holding meetings and drawing up resolutions and petitions to present to congress in favor of specific duties. They will send delegations of influential men to Washington, at the proper time to spend large sums of money where it will "do the most good," and to see that their wishes are respected. The people at large have but one way in which to meet these wealthy organizations. They cannot afford, as individuals, to stop work and go to Washington, and they would not know how to proceed after they got there. Neither is it convenient to organize and send delegations. Their only course is to send in petitions to their representatives in congress asking that the new tariff bill be for revenue only, in accordance with the Chicago platform, and that it contains only ad valorem duties. It will pay every farmer and laborer in this country to read Mr. Shearman's article and to tell his congressman why he should favor ad valorem and low duties. Keep the tariff reform ball rolling.

What the Tribune Thinks.

Such a little job as the preparation of a tariff bill is a mere pastime for the members of the reform club of this city. They are more than willing to relieve the president, the secretary of the treasury, the ways and means committee, yet to be appointed, and both houses of congress of all responsibility in the matter.—N. Y. Tribune (Rep.)

—Gov. McKinley has "fixed the responsibility" for the national government on the democratic party. The American people did this several months ago, after full deliberation and with their eyes wide open. The sponsor of the tariff law evidently still thinks that they are very great fools.—N. Y. World.

because the alleged steel wheels put out by inexperienced manufacturers have no design in durability without being made with that the Steel Wheel is unsafe. Judge the thing by the Aermotor.

In this year's blizzards and cyclones the Aermotor loss is proportionately much less than any wooden wheel, while the loss of the imitation steel ones has frequently been total.

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermoter. Where one goes others follow, and we "Take the Country."

Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 8 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, bearings in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For '92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers. If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27-29 Beale St., San Francisco.

L. M. WALDRON, Agent, Tecumseh.

GALVANIZED. It is not enough to make portions of the steel parts that are exposed to the weather of galvanized iron, as is done by the Aermotor Co., but all parts should be galvanized after being cut, punched and formed, as the Steel Aermotor and Steel Tower are now galvanized, thus giving absolute protection from decay.

The Aermotor pneumatic water Supply System enables you to supply every part of your house with water without an Elevated Tank.

The Great Healer of all Inflamed Injuries and Disorders.

It is constantly effecting the most wonderful cures, while the unparalleled demand with which it meets, stamps it at once as the greatest medicine of the age for outward application.

The most incredulous are convinced, and the most skeptical are compelled to believe in the power of this great remedy.

WHAT IT CURES.

All Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Sore Throat, Lameness, Rheumatism, Piles, Inflammation of Lungs and Bowels, Bronchitis, Croup, Salt Rheum, Chilblains, Affection of the Spine, Erysipelas, Nervous Irritation, and all disorders attendant with Inflammation.

It never fails to restore the natural functions of the skin and equalize the circulation of the blood. By this means a controlling power is gained over the most malignant forms of disease. It penetrates to every portion of the human frame; every bone, muscle, vein, nerve and ligament is searched out and made sensible to its soothing and healing influence. Hence it copes readily with internal as well as external diseases.

Over 40 Years,

This Ointment has been used by the people throughout the United States, and our confidence in its qualities is such that as we have no space here to insert any of the numerous certificates of cures which we have from all parts of the country, we simply ask those readers of this notice who have ever used this Ointment, to frankly state their experience with it to inquiring friends. If but one in a hundred would do this we should be perfectly satisfied with the result. Full directions for use will be found on pamphlet around each bottle.

Price 25 and 40 cents per bottle. Sold by all dealers in medicine.

KING OF THE BLOOD

The Most Thorough Purifier of the Blood Yet Discovered.

Cures all Humors, from a Pimple to the worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the stomach.
It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

Its name is its best description as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced.

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife.

It cures DROPSY, general or partial.

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.

It eradicates the effects of Venereal Disease and Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

CHICAGO ENTERTAINMENT BUREAU.

Are You Going to the Big Fair? Then Secure Your Accommodations Beforehand.

The experience of strangers in Chicago during the World's Fair Dedicatory exercises proves beyond doubt the great practical value of the services offered by the Chicago Entertainment Bureau to its patrons. During the week mentioned it was an impossibility to obtain rate hotels, for less than five dollars per day, and all the leading hotels refused to receive additional guests.

CHOICE ACCOMMODATIONS.

Appreciating that there are many expecting to visit the World's Fair at Chicago, who wish to realize a greater degree of comfort than can be had in overcrowded hotels or boarding houses, the Chicago Entertainment Bureau offers its services to attain the desired result.

We have contracted for a number of choice, well-furnished rooms in private residences, within a reasonable distance of the Exposition grounds, which can be obtained through us for any portion of the season, at rates considerably less than those charged by all of the first class hotels.

ESTIMATE OF NECESSARY EXPENSES.

1. It is generally expected that the railroads will agree upon half fare to and from the Exposition.

2. For rooms secured through this Bureau, the general price will be $1.00 per day for each occupant, usually two in a room. Persons to whom privacy and luxury are more of an object than economy, can be provided with accommodations suitable to their tastes at proportionately higher rates.

3. Meals: Most of the private families will, if desired, furnish breakfast at reasonable rates. Our apartment houses have restaurants in their immediate vicinity. The other meals will naturally be taken at the Fair Grounds or in the city. Persons so disposed need not lay out more than from $1.00 to $1.50 a day for their meals.

"The great mass of visitors will doubtless perfer to arrange, as a matter of economy, to take their meals from day to day whenever it may best suit their convenience.

"It is estimated that from 50,000 to 100,000 people can be satisfactorily served with meals and lunches within the Exposition Grounds alone, and the extended and constantly increasing list of restaurants hotels and boarding houses all over the city will more than double these facilities—at prices to suit all conditions and demands."

4. General: Admission to the Fair is 50c.

The necessary daily expenses for those who employ the services of this Bureau need not exceed $2.50 to $3.00.

For a term of ten days this would amount to $25 to $30, and for a month $75 to $90.

Incidential expenses should of course be provided for, according to the tastes and inclinations of each visitor.

The following membership fee will be charged to secure the Bureau against loss. No one however runs any risk even upon this small outlay, as the membership tickets are transferable.

Adults,	$2.50
Teachers,	2.00
Students,	2.00
Children under 15 years,	1.00

We have secured the agency for this Bureau for Tecumseh and vicinity. Circulars containing full information and particulars are furnished gratuitously to all who apply for them. Every member will receive a pocket map of Chicago free. A very complete guide to the city and Exposition grounds will be furnished at the low price of twenty-five cents each, and each membership certificate will be accompanied by a pocket map of Chicago without extra cost.

The Bureau has just made this concession to parties, which will doubtless prove a winning card. The advance fee charged with the application will be refunded on the charge for rooms after the applicant reaches Chicago. It is not a bonus therefore but simply an advance installment to protect the Bureau for their trouble and expense in engaging rooms beforehand.

The Bureau has recently added two very desirable locations to the rooms under their control. One is a new brick building at 4509 Lake avenue.

It is located upon one of Chicago's finest residence streets, free from noise of street cars, within twelve blocks of the Exposition, and only two and one-half blocks from an Illinois Central station, the best means of transit between the city and the main entrance to the grounds. First-class breakfasts will be provided at the apartments. Guests will naturally prefer to take their other meals at the Exposition restaurants or down-town, where they may happen to be. The rate will be $2.50 and $3.00 per day for each guest, including breakfast.

The other is the Cottage Grove Inn, a two-story brick building of fifty rooms, located on Cottage Grove Avenue, between 32d and 33d Streets. Its location is unsurpassed, being mid-way between the City and the Exposition Grounds with the cable car line passing by the door and within four minutes' walk of the 31st Street Illinois Central Railroad Station. It has been newly painted and decorated throughout, and been equipped with good beds and all other essentials to a comfortable family hotel for the accommodation of guests. First-class restaurants, barber shops and laundries are in the same block. Rates only $1.00 to $1.50 per day for each guest.

Call at the HERALD office for circulars and further information.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

At eight o'clock last evening, before a large assemblage of friends and relatives, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Van Tyne, on Maiden Lane, Susie A., their only daughter, became the wife of Henry W. McClure. At the appointed hour, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Rhoda Benedict, the bridal couple entered, and standing beneath a floral wishbone listened to the impressive words of Rev. Wm. H. Babbitt which made them husband and wife.

The bride's dress was of cream colored Henrietta cloth, while the groom appeared in conventional black.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, evergreens, wedding bells and white satin ribbon. After congratulations and rice throwing had ceased the company were seated to an elaborate repast and at a late hour dispersed, wishing the happy couple a life of sunshine.

The presents were many, costly and beautiful, testifying to the prominent place which Susie and Henry hold in the hearts of their friends and associates. They have both lived among us from early childhood and Tecumseh will continue to be their home. Good wishes and congratulations without number accompany them as they start on life's journey, in which the HERALD begs leave to join.

The business men of Tecumseh need a telegraph office up town, and what is more, they intend to have one. The Lake Shore Company can easily grant us this accommodation by building a depot uptown.

"The Company's Husbands" is the title of a pleasant little comedy in one act, adapted for amatenr acting and parlor representation, which will be published in Harper's Bazar for April 29th. The author is Rosemary Baum.

At the World's fair grounds Sunday thousands of people viewed the century plant, which has been so accommodating as to put forth its glorious yellow blossoms for the opening of the greatest exposition of the world.

James M. Fuller, of New York city, was in town last Friday and favored the HERALD with a call. He was called to Detroit on detective business and came this way for a brief visit with some of his old Tecumseh acquaintances.

The Tecumseh High School Base Ball Association met Friday night and elected the following officers: President, Tom Owens; Secy. and Treas. Philip M. Keusch; Captain, Edward S. McClure. Challenges sent to any of the above officers will receive prompt attention.

Read the announcement elsewhere of the Detroit and Cleveland Steam Navigation Co. They will put two new floating palaces on the lakes this year, which will be ready for service early in June. They will be run on the line between Cleveland, Detroit and Mackinaw.

The young people of South Macon will give a Conundrum Social, at Grange Hall, on Friday evening, April 28th. Refreshments, warm syrup and biscuit. Ladies are requested to furnish biscuits and pickles. Proceeds for the benefit of the hall. A cordial invitation to all.

"The Greatest Show on Earth!' Well no, not exactly, but the Grand Military Drama. By Force of Impulse is an entertainment of rare merrit. It is clean-wholesome, bright and sparkling. It is funny but not coarse, nice but not naughty, witty but not severe. In an entertaining manner it teaches a lesson of patrotism that should not go unheeded. Opera House Thursday evening, May 4th.

During a short business trip to Adrian the other day we happened to meet Geo. Caldwell, the compiler of our new Lenawee County Atlas. He was as happy as usual and hard at work to make up his financial loss on the atlas. We understand that he is contemplating getting up a similar atlas for Washtenaw county. It the people of that county want a first class work of that kind they will give him all the encouragement possible.

A young boy who was taken to the Presbyterian church Sunday, by his father and mother, is evidently more familiar with the atmosphere of a theatre than the solemn surroundings of a church. After composing himself for a while in awaiting the commencement of the services, his impatience finally overcame him, and turning to his mother the child asked, "When is the curtain going up, mamma?"—Adrian Times.

The following appears in the Cleveland Press of Monday: Wm. Bresie, the founder of Glenville, died in Tecumseh, Mich., Sunday evening. Mr. Bresie originally owned a large tract of land in what is now Glenville and amassed a fortune from the sale thereof. He removed to Tecumseh only a few years ago, and was 76 years old at the time of his death. His wife, a son, and Mrs. E. M. Crowell, his daughter, survive him.

Mrs. W. E. Hall, nee Emilie Hamilton, and daughter, of Covington, Ky., were called to this place by the serious illness of Mrs. Emily Haight, who is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Will Hall, one of Tecumseh's boys, now in Covington, Ky., was elected 1st. Lieut. of Co. G. 2d. Reg. Kentucky National Guard, one of the crack companies of the State, at a late election.

I am prepared with stock, tools and experience to extend water pipes to your lawn and house. Call and obtain prices. One door south Marsh's Market, Rail Road street.
J. M. INGERSOLL, Licensed Plumber.

The servant girl puzzle was amusingly worked out yesterday. An Adrian and Tecumseh gentleman each scoured their neighboring towns for a domestic. Each seemed imbued with the idea that one must go out of town to fill his mission.—Adrian Times.

Chas. L. Albaugh is already in the field with the Deering Harvesting Machinery again this season, and he confidently expects to beat all former records in that line. In the estimation of many farmers the Deering binders are the best made, and there are some valuable improvements in the latest manufactured machines. Look out for an advertisement next week.

The Tecumseh State Savings Bank opened their doors and began business Monday morning, J. H. Smith officiating as Cashier. They have fine rooms, which are elegantly furnished, an array of solid stockholders, a good capital to start with and begin business with flattering prospects. They intend to do both commercial and savings bank business, and will pay a reasonable interest, under certain rules, on all savings deposits. The institution has evidently come to stay.

We clip the following from the Glenville Times, April 14: William Bresie, of Tecumseh, Michigan, is spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. Crowell, Doan street. Mr. Bresie was the first sleeping car conductor in the United States and perhaps in the world, running 11 years between Buffalo and Cleveland. He was also one of the first trustees of this village, and solicited the stock and operated the street railway from Wilson avenue to Doan street. He sold what is known as the Benbower property and moved to Tecumseh, Mich. He is thinking seriously of locating here in the near future.

The Ball game Tuesday evening for the benefit of Co. C. was literally a howling success. From the moment of the appearance of the rival nines, until the close of the game, the audience was convulsed with laughter. The costumes of the lady players were artistically ludicrous, and taken with the novelty of the affair, made a decided hit. The company have been to considerable expense in arranging the game and now that they are supplied with regalia, it would seem as though such an entertainment might be successfully put on in some of the neighboring towns. At the close of the game a three hour dance was indulged in, McLouth's orchestra furnishing the music. Below is given the players and their positions. The score stood 45 to 51, in favor of the males:

F. O. Tefft, C. F.
Comfort Chase, L. F.
W. C. Burridge, Umpire.

About three weeks ago Wm. Bresie went to Cleveland, Ohio, to visit his daughter, Mrs. Crowell, and was taken sick there. He came home as soon as able, but continued to grow worse after his return and died Sunday evening, aged 76 years. The deceased in early life was farmer, landlord, railroad conductor on N. Y. Central, also Lake Shore, and living in Cleveland. For the past twenty years his home has been in Tecumseh. He has been village councilman and township supervisor, and has been regarded as one of our foremost citizens. His restless energy and genial salutations will be missed in our community. The funeral services were held at the family residence yesterday afternoon and were largely attended nothwithstanding the stormy weather. A formal obituary notice will appear in a future issue.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

IRA WATERMAN, Clerk.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Lenawee, ss

At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Lenawee, holden at the Probate office in the City of Adrian, on Monday, the 27th day of March, in the year one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-three.

Present, Richard R. Robbins, Judge of Probate

In the matter of the estate of Sarah M. Beebe, deceased

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of J. Ely Beebe, executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, praying that he may be empowered and licensed to sell the real estate of said deceased in said petition described for reasons therein stated.

It is ordered, that Monday, the Eighth day of May next, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs-at-law of said deceased and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be holden at the Probate office, in the city of Adrian, and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted

And it is further ordered, That said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the TECUMSEH HERALD, a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

RICHARD R. ROBBINS, Judge of Probate. (A True Copy.) A. E. Barager, Probate Register.

REMARKABLE ESCAPES.

Two Murderers in Sing Sing Prison Lock Their Guards in and Escape.

Murderers Thomas Callister and Frank W. Rohle, both under sentence of death, have escaped from the condemned cells of the Sing Sing (N. Y.) prison. When Guard Glynn entered the condemned cell building, at an early hour he was astonished at discovering the two night watchmen locked in the murderers' cells. When the guards were released they told a remarkable story.

Guard Hulz said that at 7 o'clock the night before he passed supper in to Pallister. The condemned man threw a handful of pepper into the guard's eyes. Hulz was blinded and Pallister rushed on him, took his revolver away from him and, under threats of death, forced Hulz into Pallister's cell, first taking the keys away from him. He then locked Hulz in the cell and unlocked the cell of Murderer Frank Rohle. The two murderers then unlocked the cells of Carlyle W. Harris and Murderer Osmund. They invited these two to escape with them. Both Harris and Osmund refused the offer to escape.

The two murderers climbed to the top of the cells and knocked off the scuttle in the roof. In this way they got on the roof, climbed down into the yard and made their escape, whether by the river or over the walls is not known. It is supposed that Pallister had been saving the pepper given him daily with his meals with the object of escape in view.

A BIG STRIKE ON.

Employes of the Union Pacific Road at Various Places Quit Work.

Five hundred men are out of the Union Pacific shops in Omaha, Neb., and the machinists' and blacksmiths' shops are deserted. The officials state they are well prepared to undergo a strike.

The men employed in the Union Pacific shops are out at Cheyenne, Wyo. A warrant has been sworn out against Supt. O'Herne, who drew a revolver on John Tighe as the latter pulled the signal bell for the strike.

Employes of the Union Pacific shops and round house failed to return to work at Kansas City, Mo., after the noon hour. The men are orderly, and simply left their work and refused to return until the matter should be settled.

The men claim that the company has acted in bad faith concerning the fulfillment of an agreement entered into to allow the force of men employed to reduce itself when the time was below the standard of nine hours a day.

Carter Talks Seals Intelligently.

In resuming his argument before the tribunal of arbitration Mr. Carter, United States counsel, claimed that the seals were not ferae naturae, but private property when nourished and tended by man. The seals frequenting the Prebyloff islands were, Mr. Carter contended, guarded and cherished by the United States and therefore a species of husbandry was formed, giving a property right in the seals.

Continuing, Mr. Carter said that Great Britian claimed the right to prey upon animals whose very existence today was due to the efforts of the United States. The extermination of seal life in Behring sea had been prevented by the United States, and this action of the United States was worthy of the recognition of humanity, who still benefited from the seal industry.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Bradstreet's says: The backward season and rain storms, with a tendency on the part of jobbers generally in staple lines to trade more conservatively, color general trade rather less favorably, than a week ago. In addition, quotations have gone off on wheat, corn and oats, pork and lard, on rice and coffee among food staples the reduction in the last being due to the pricking of the bull bubble blown by the European speculator in that berry. There is a manifest halt in the rate of progress of general trade compared with like seasons in previous years although the volume of business is of large proportions. Enormous stocks of wheat at home and in Europe and a coat for Europe cause traders to be very conservative and constitute the dead weight on prices. Monetary doubts have overshadowed all other influences at New York, but have not yet greatly affected trade at most other points. Wheat has fallen 2½c, corn 2½c oil 2½c and coffee 1½c, and pork and cotton are lower. Collections throughout the country are at most points slower than usual, and conditions such that monetary stringency might occur if exchange with this center were embarrassed. Meanwhile exports of merchandise in April fall much below last year's, while imports increase nearly 20 per cent. so that the excess of imports is very large. The business failures occuring throughout the country during the last seven days number 208. For the corresponding week last year the figures were 201.

A Crew of 28 Persons Lost.

The British ship Gowanburn, which left Newcastle, New South Wales, over two months ago for San Francisco has doubtless been lost, and it is probable that her crew of 28 have shared a similar fate. J. J. Moore & Company, shipping merchants of San Franciso, are in receipt of cable advices that her figurehead and cabin were found on the coast of New Zealand.

The dowager duchess, of Southerland, is seriously ill and may not be sent to the Hollowell (London) jail to serve out her sentence for contempt of court.

HOME RULE VICTORY.

GLADSTONE AND HIS FRIENDS RALLY

To the Standard of Ireland's Freedom and Carry the Bill Through a Second Reading Against Heavy Opposition.—Death in a Terrific Southern Cyclone.

London cable: The house of commons was crowded with members and spectators on the occasion of the second reading of the Irish home rule bill. Mr. Balfour closed the opposition and his arguments were repeatedly cheered. He said there were no reasons sufficient to meet this important constitutional change; that it was absurd to hold England responsible for Ireland's woes, that the bill was a decisive step toward a final separation and that it would result in the disintegration of the empire; that the bill, if it passed, would entail loss and hardship upon all classes in Ireland. Irish ambitions would center in the new Dublin parliament. Irishmen would regret the imperial parliament as a foreign and defeated body. "If you commit this great political crime," said Mr. Balfour, in closing his speech, "you make yourselves responsible for any irreparable national disaster and all hopes of a peaceful and united Ireland will vanish forever." Prolonged cheers and counter cheers followed this peroration.

When Mr. Gladstone arose to close the debate there was tremendous cheering. The old gentleman was in fine condition and his voice clear and distinct. He said: The principal weapons of the opposition, were bold assertions, persistent exaggeration, constant misconstruction and copious, arbitrary and baseless prophecies. True, there were conflicting financial arrangements to be dealt with, but, among the difficulties nothing existed which ought to abash or terrify men desirous to accomplish a great object. The present bill sought to close a controversy that had lasted for centuries. Ireland's loyal acceptance of the present bill should cause distrust and disbelief to vanish. There had been no disaffection of the Irish mind since the door of hope had been opened. The persistent distrust of the Irish people, despite all they could do, came simply to this—that they were to be pressed below the level of civilized mankind. When the boon of self-government was given to the British colonies, was Ireland alone to be excepted from its blessings? To deny Ireland home rule was to say that she lacked the ordinary faculties of humanity.

Mr. Gladstone's closing words were: "You cannot be surprised that we have undertaken the solution of this great question, and as on the one hand, it is not the least of the arduous efforts of the liberal party so, on the other hand, it will have its place in history—aye; and not remote, but early history—as not the least durable, fruitful and blessed among its accomplished acts."

The bill passed the second reading by a vote of 347 to 304.

MANY WERE KILLED.

A Death-Dealing Cyclone Cuts a Path of Ruin Through the South.

Special from Meridan, Miss.: A cyclone originated in Jasper county, 35 miles south of here, and traveled in a northeasterly direction. A settlement of negro cabins was destroyed and a number of the unfortunate inmates perished. Col. Berry's magnificent plantation was swept clean. From this point to Barnett, 30 miles south of here, the storm was especially severe. Dr. T. J. Krouse, one of the largest plantation owners in the south, was badly injured. His son had his skull crushed, and his wife and daughter were slightly hurt. A negro on Dr. Krouse's plantation, named Henry German, with his wife and nine children, were imprisoned under the ruins of his cabin, and fire originating from the kitchen stove slowly roasted the unfortunate wretches to death. Three miles east of Barnett the wind struck a neighborhood of farms and destroyed many houses. A little further on three negro cabins were struck. Two negroes were killed and several badly wounded.

North of Shuberta the storm created havoc among the negro cabins on the different plantations. Reports of the damage as are received indicate an awful loss of life and property. All along the 30 miles of the cyclone's path is strewn the dead carcasses of horses, cattle and all descriptions of live stock, while crops are ruined. The loss will reach into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Cholera's Campaign Commenced.

St. Petersburg: The official cholera statistics just issued show that from March 14 to March 27 there were 406 new cases and 120 deaths in the government of Podolia, and from March 27 to April 13, 113 new cases and 35 deaths in the government of Oofa. Elsewhere in the empire 15 new cases and seven deaths are reported.

Vienna: Two cases of cholera and one death from the disease are reported from Onuth, in Bukovina. Four cases have occurred in Nove Mamapovce.

Terrible Accident at the World Fair.

One of the large pieces of modern ordnance forming part of the United States government exhibit at the World's Fair grounds caused the death of two soldiers. By the breaking of some gearing Sergeant James W. Warwick and Corporal M. J. Kern were crushed under the gun which fell while it was being hoisted into place. The weapon weighs fourteen tons. Warwick was flattened into pulp.

Senator Pasco, of Florida, was elected to succeed himself.

THREE SCALDED TO DEATH.

The Cylinder Head of a Steamer's Engine Blows Out with Terrible Results.

A shocking disaster, resulting in the death of two men, the probable fatal injury of a third and the severe scalding of a fourth, occurred in Lake St. Clair. The "straightback" steamer Choctaw, Capt. W. W. Brown, coal-laden, from Cleveland to Milwaukee, had fairly entered the lake when the cylinder head blew out with a terrific report and frightful results.

Nelson Chambers, the cook, who was standing nearest the engine at the time, was so badly scalded that he died within 10 minutes. C. Jones, fireman, 30 years old, residence unknown, died in a few minutes after reaching the marine hospital at Detroit. F. P. Thompson, oiler, was badly burned about the hands, face, neck and head, and in the mouth and throat from inhaling the escaping steam; recovery doubtful. F. Smith, engineer, had his hands badly scalded, but his condition is not dangerous.

The immense iron hull shook from stem to stern with the shock, and as the action of the engine ceased she broached to under the strong easterly gale prevailing. Capt. Brown immediately ordered the anchor dropped and the Andaste, a vessel of the same line as the Choctaw, was signalled and took the injured men men to the U. S. Marine hospital, Detroit.

LATER.—Thompson died from the effects of his injuries, this making the third victim. It is now believed that a faulty steam gague was responsible for the disaster.

DEATH IN THE GALE.

14 PEOPLE DROWNED IN LAKE MICHIGAN AT MILWAUKEE.

Crew of 11 People go Down in the Lake With the Schooner Hayes—The Wind Blew 70 Miles an Hour and Did Great Damage.

Lake Michigan has been the scene of some harrowing windstorms, but the one related in the following dispatches are doubtless without a parallel in the history of the great lakes. The disaster which occurred at Milwaukee could n t be foreseen:

The crib at the end of the intake tunnel of the city water works, situated some 3,000 feet out in the lake, was washed away and of 15 men who were employed there in the shaft which reaches to the shore, but one is known to be alive. Some were doubtless washed off by the huge billows which have been tumbling on the shore and others perished in the air shaft, where they sought shelter, and which filled with water. At daylight no vestige either of the crib or the house that surmounted it could be seen and there were but faint traces here and there of the government breakwater that was hidden in the mountains of surf that broke over it. The entire prospect as far as the eye could reach was one awful spectacle of seething, boiling roaring billows that seemed to unite with the clouds in the sky. On the beach were two lumber-laden crafts that had vainly sought shelter behind the breakwater, while the shore was strewn with wreckage.

About 200 feet of the breakwater, which was thought to be staunch enough to withstand the severest storm, had been washed away, and the massive timbers and planks were tumbled in disordered heaps upon the shore.

LATER.—Thousands of people gathered on the shore when the news of the disaster had been made known. About 9 o'clock when the crowd which had been straining their eyes to see the bottom of the crib (which, being anchored by stonework to the bottom of the lake, still remained), which was visible between the huge waves. Suddenly some one cried out: "I see a man." Powerful glasses were soon sweeping the angry waves, and sure enough there was a man clinging to the pump, the only remaining piece of machinery.

The tug Welcome, with a lifeboat and men, started at once for a battle with the waves. It was a heroic struggle, and when Capt. Peterson finally reached the crib with a rope and a life preserver a sorry sight was presented. Three corpses were rolling about the crib, and James Miller, the sole survivor, was too week to longer help himself. After being cared for at Emergency hospital he told the following story: "It was 5 o'clock in the morning when we found that water was entering the air tight compartment of the shaft where we had taken refuge for the night. We took a vote to decide whether we would risk leaving the shaft. It was decided to leave. Only five of us succeeded in reaching the outside. The nine men who were not strong enough to get out were drowned by the water coming into the shaft and four out of the five who got out were mangled or drowned by the tremendous floods which were lashed over the crib. At what hour the house was washed away I do not know. It had disappeared when we got out of the shaft."

Schooner Hayes and Crew Went Down.

Chicago special—First reports: The steamer A. P. Wright left here at 6 o'clock with the schooners Hayes and Danforth in tow for the lower lakes. An hour afterward they encountered a terrific east gale. The tow line of the Danforth parted, and she drifted ashore four miles north of the harbor entrance, parted in the middle and soon went to pieces. The Hayes was burning torches for an hour before the Danforth broke adrift, and reports are current that the Hayes has foundered. She was commanded by J. P. Minskey and had a crew of 10 men. Her cargo was corn for Buffalo. The crew of the Danforth was taken off by life-saving crew.

LATER.—After the Danforth had cut loose from the Hayes and the Wright the latter two continued to battle with the storm. For almost 36 hours the crews kept the vessels safe from the demon wind, but the fight was unequal and the crew of the Hayes had to signal for assistance. The Wright took the crew off and not much too soon, for the Hayes stayed above the waves but a short time. The Wright finally made port.

The Storm in Detroit, and Vicinity.

The Detroit weather office reports that for the first time since the office was established its wind instrument, signal pole and signal lights and flags were carried away. As the wind becomes a gale in weather office parlance when it reaches 34 miles an hour, this 70-mile gale is entitled to be called a howler, and made things lively for the few early navigators on the lakes. The Detroit and Cleveland boats made good time in spite of the gale of which fact the officials are very proud. One of the lofty electric light towers was blown down and just missed a number of residences the occupants of which slept no more that night. Signs were blow down and windows broken—several of the latter being valued at from $50 to $150 each.

The gale did a large amount of damage among the boat houses along the river front in the neighborhood of the Belle Isle bridge. Steam yachts and cat boats anchored close to the docks were smashed against each other, the roofs of the boat houses were carried away, and the floating docks lifted up on the land. The total damage will reach about $15,000.

The Storm at Various Points.

At Racine, Wis., the schooners Kewaunee and Bertha Barnes went on the beach and the former went to pieces.

At Toledo, O., water entered some of the big grain elevators and the schooner Tuxbury, with coal, went down, as did the steamer Pillsbury, near Turtle Island light.

Throughout the upper peninsula heavy snow as well as winds prevailed and caused a cessation of traffic. Telegraph wires were down in all parts of the state and in some localities fruit and grain was injured.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.—Seventy-second day.—The bill for branding prison-made goods was killed. The bill authorizing the village of Highland Park, a suburb of Detroit, to issue sewer bonds was passed. In committee of the whole the following bills were passed: Making it unlawful for foreign insurance companies to place, or cause to be placed, insurance on property in this state in offices outside of Michigan; amending laws relative to the taking or catching of fish in the inland waters of the state; providing that persons employing females in stores shall provide them with seats; appropriating $11,000 for the Mining school; amending the railroad law so as to make it a misdemeanor to pass through or under a railroad gate at crossings; amending the act prohibiting the soliciting or issuing of unauthorized fire or inland marine insurance policies; making telegraph companies common carriers; amending the act to prevent the spread of cholera. HOUSE.—The rules were suspended and a bill authorizing the city of Escanaba to raise money with which to construct sewers was passed, and was given immediate effect. Also to authorize the village of Hancock to acquire land and construct water works. Representative Sumner moved to resuscitate the Green park and boulevard bill, authorizing Detroit to acquire property inside or outside of her limits for park purposes, and there being no objection the vote was reconsidered and the bill tabled. The Speaker announced as the committee on the part of the house to investigate the Agricultural college, Representatives Linderman, Holdridge and Chamberlain. Also, as a committee to make arrangements for the entertainment of legislative visitors from Michigan to the World's Fair, without expense to the state, Representatives Butler, Sumner and Baum. Bills passed: Authorizing the township of Millen, Menominee county, to aid in the construction of a bridge across the Menominee river; regulating the construction of buildings to be used for hotels, elevators, etc.; amending the act regulating fire insurance companies.
